Clemson Football 1992 — Defending ACC Champions

Vickery Hall

Clemson strives for firsts and attempts to be the best in all phases of its athletic program. This includes the academic side of a student-athlete's experience at Clemson.

Vickery Hall, Clemson's $55 million dollar academic advising facility for student-athletes is one of the largest tangible examples of that pursuit. The two-story, 27,000-square-foot building located on the East campus is believed to be the first in the country originally constructed for the purpose of academic advising for athletes.

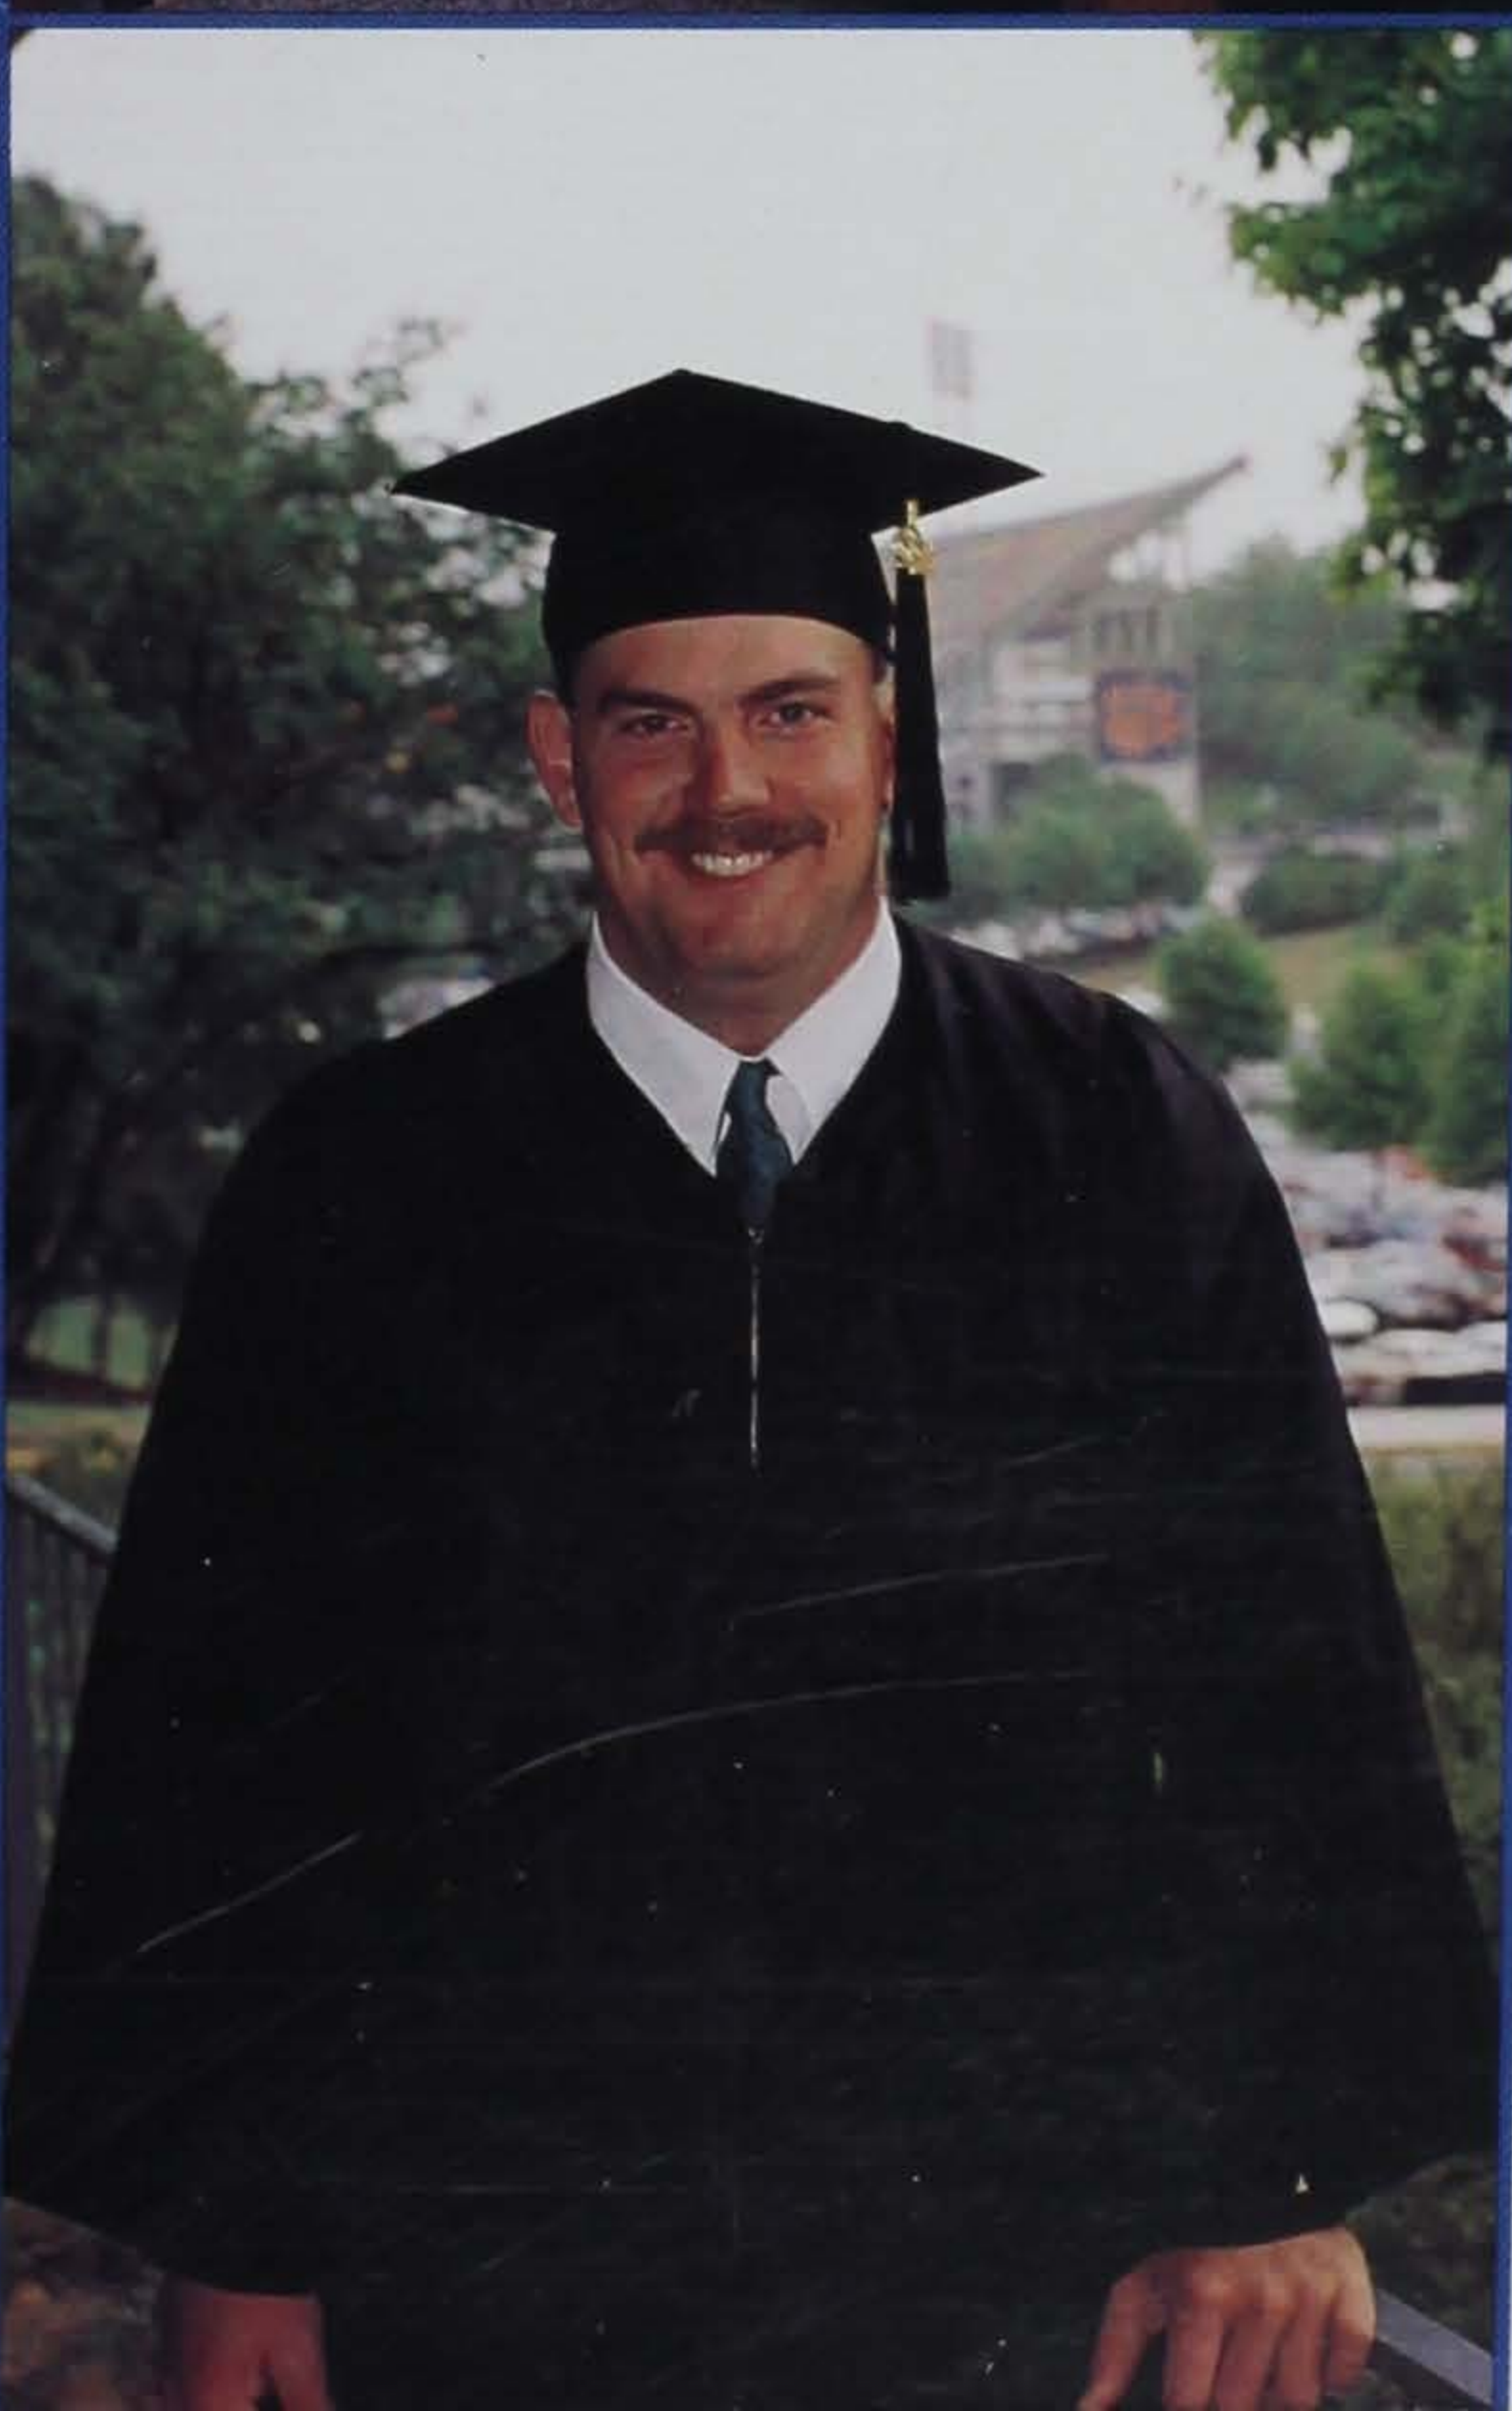

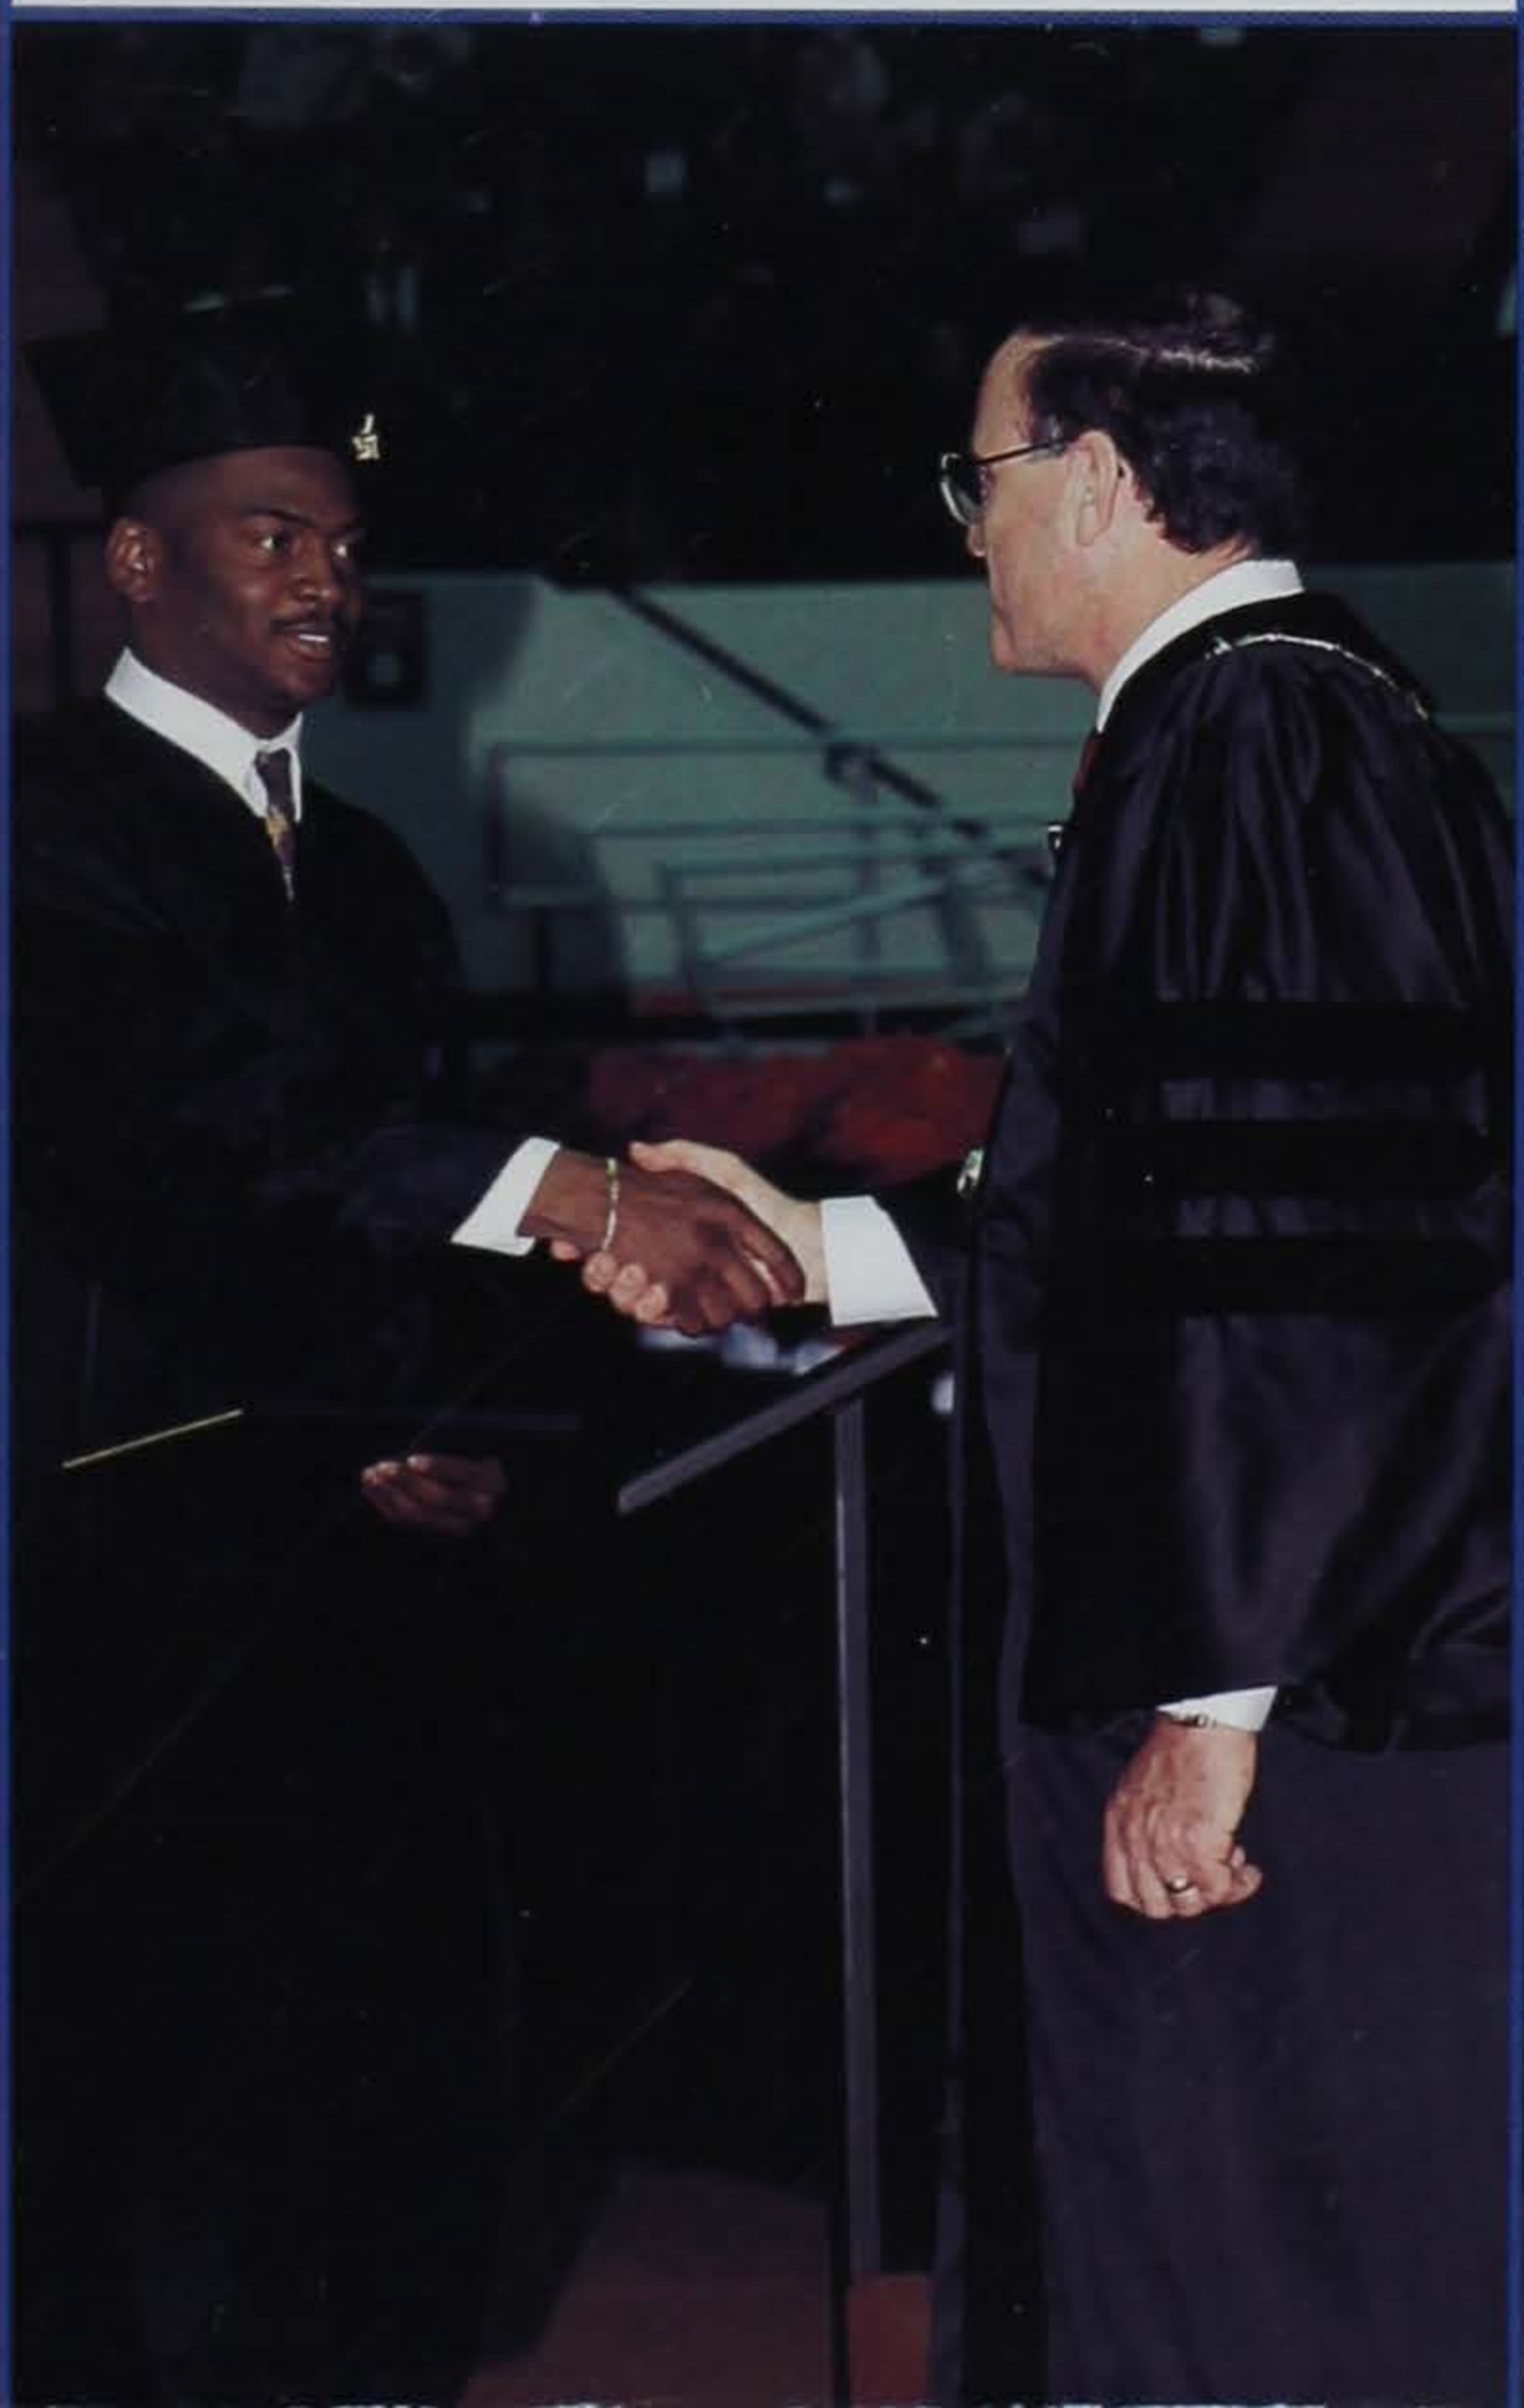

The structure has a 13,000-square-foot study and tutoring area on the second floor for the evening tutoring sessions. Here, individual study rooms are monitored with plenty of isolated areas for one-on-one attention.

The computer resources area consists of a general computer tutoring room, a computer science tutoring room and support space. There are 18 MacIntosh computers available for processing papers and other projects with tutors available.

A 175-seat auditorium is used for classes, guest speakers, meetings, and review sessions. It is also the site of many guest lectures the athletic department provides for its athletes on subjects that range from money management to media relations.

The academic advising program and the establishment of this building should enhance the academic progress of all Clemson athletes. In the spring semester of 1992, 109 student-athletes earned a 3.0 or better, the highest total for any semester in Clemson history. Among the graduates in the 1991-92 academic year were first-team All-Americans Jeb Flesch and Rob Bodine, and starting quarterback DeChane Cameron. Additionally, All-ACC offensive lineman Bruce Bratton was a member of the C.A.A. Academic All-American First-Team.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson. "It makes a philosophical statement about the institutional commitment — giving our students the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We are very serious about that."

On the Cover: Clemson is the defending ACC Champion. The Tigers have more ACC titles than any other school (13). Terry Smith and Robert O'Neal are the top offensive and defensive returnees for 1992, respectively. Their outstanding ability should contribute to another Top 10 attendance year in Death Valley.

Tailback Rodney Blunt was the leading rusher for the Tigers in 1991.

Press Information

If you're assigned to cover a game in Clemson's Memorial Stadium this fall, the following hints will be helpful:

ENTRANCE TO STADIUM/PRESS BOX

Enter through Gate 13 which is located on the press box (South) side of the field at the southeast corner. If you need to pick up tickets at our press will-call gate, they will be at Gate 13. Come through Gate 13, and go straight ahead to the elevator, which will take you to the press box.

PRESS BOX

There are two levels to Clemson's press box, located in the center of the club level of the South stands. The first level contains the photo deck, a dark room, the outside PA, stadium operations and security, along with booths for field telephones, radio networks, and athletic officials for Clemson. The second level is for the print media, with seating accommodations for 104 members of the working press. This level houses Clemson's famous buffet and the work room.

WORKING CREDENTIALS

We'll appreciate getting these as early as you know your assignment. Requests for working press and photo passes are honored from SPORTS EDITORS of DAILY newspapers and RADIO AND TELEVISION SPORTS DIRECTORS ONLY. Make requests directly to Tim Match. There is not room for individual radio stations in the press box, only the two networks of the participating schools. Spouses, dates, non-workers, and anyone 16 years of age or younger, are not permitted in the press box.

FAX AND ELECTRONIC SERVICES

Our press box is equipped with eight outside phone lines for your electronic equipment, at no charge to your paper. We will have two FAX machines at the game, which can be used on a first-come, first-serve basis, and we also have press box assistants who are available to send your copy or stats as necessary. THERE IS NO CHARGE FOR THESE SERVICES.

It is the responsibility of each paper to make prior arrangements for season-long or individual game phone installations, which gives the paper first priority on that phone. Electrical and phone jacks are at each seat. Call (803) 780-2800 to install a phone at your seat.

There are also three other phones which are reserved for radio voice reports for an hour after the game's conclusion.

LOCKERROOM INTERVIEWS

The team dressing rooms are located beneath the west endzone stands, to your left from the press box. The two SIDs will escort writers wishing postgame interviews to this area with about three minutes showing on the scoreboard clock. The Clemson dressing room is closed to all media, but Coach Ken Hatfield will be in his interview room (Tiger Lettermen's Room) and players chosen by media members will be in their interview area (underneath west stands) for postgame comments following a short team meeting.

1992 ACC FOOTBALL WEEKLY SATELLITE FEED

The Atlantic Coast Conference Office will offer a one-hour satellite highlight feed for conference teams and interviews of players and coaches on a weekly basis. The feed will take place on 12 consecutive Wednesdays beginning on September 2 and running through November 18. The feed will run from 9:00 AM-10:00 AM and can be picked up on Galaxy 6, Transponder 7 (Channel 7).

1992 ACC FOOTBALL TELECONFERENCE

The Atlantic Coast Conference offers a weekly teleconference with the school's head coach on each Wednesday throughout the football season. The teleconferences are scheduled to run from September 2 through November 18, 11:00 AM-12:30 PM. Listed below are the times for each head coach:

Time	Coach
11:00-11:10	Bill Dooley, Wake Forest
11:10-11:20	George Welsh, Virginia
11:20-11:30	Dick Sheridan, N.C. State

12:00-12:10	Bobby Bowden, Florida St.
12:10-12:20	Barry Wilson, Duke
12:20-12:30	Ken Hatfield, Clemson

ACC FAXBACK

For the first time ever, the ACC will use a "Faxback" machine. Each school in the conference will post its releases on a master fax board at the ACC office. Members of the media may simply dial the phone number of the board from their fax machine and access up to five different releases on one call. The media pays for the call, but will have the benefit of getting a specific release early in the week.

To access the teleconference or the faxback service, or if you have any questions about the ACC satellite feed, please contact Brian Morrison at the ACC Office: (919) 854-8787.

Antonio, John

This man holds a special place in the hearts of Tiger fans and in the pocketbooks of sports marketing entrepreneurs. Antonio invented the Tiger paw, the distinctive logo of the Clemson athletic teams that has become synonymous with this University's athletic success. Antonio was an innovative account executive with Henderson Advertising in Greenville, and prior to the 1970 season, unveiled the Paw as Clemson's new logo.

Clemson announced the Tiger Paw through a series of press conferences on July 21, 1970. A plane carrying various administrators and coaches made stops in Charlotte, NC, Florence, SC, Charleston, SC, Columbia, SC, Atlanta, GA and Greenville, SC in that order and on the same day.

It has shown up all over the country on items owned by Clemson fans. Many institutions with a feline as its mascot have used the logo, or an impression of it. The painting of the Tiger Paw on cheeks of Clemson fans has also become popular and imitated at schools all over the country.

Attendance

Clemson ranked eighth in the nation in average football attendance last year with an average of 76,371. It marked the ninth straight year that Clemson ranked in the top 10 nationally in attendance. With a reshuffling of numbers in the opponent's area and in student seating, Clemson's capacity is now 81,473. With standing room, Clemson is capable of hitting the 85,000 mark. Here is a year-by-year rundown of the top 10 finishes.

Award Finalists

Clemson had three players challenge for national position awards in 1991. Ed McDaniel was among the final 10 players chosen as candidates for the Butkus Award, the honor given to the top linebacker in the nation. Levon Kirkland was one of the final 12 semifinalists for the Lombardi Award. Kirkland had been among the final five for the Butkus Award in 1990.

Robert O'Neal was among the final 20 players chosen for the Thorpe Award and he most surely will be among the elite for that award again this year.

Here is a list of Clemson players who have been finalists for national position awards:

Year	Award	Rank	Name, Pos
1983	Outland	1 of 9	William Perry, MG
1984	Lombardi	1 of 4	William Perry, MG
1987	Outland	1 of 3	Michael Dean Perry, DT
1988	Thorpe	1 of 16	Donnell Woolford, CB

Bryant, Jeff

Clemson has many famous alums in the NFL, past and present. Michael Dean Perry has been an All-Pro choice three straight years, while Jeff Bostic recently won his third Super Bowl Championship ring. Charlie Waters, Bennie Cunningham, Jerry Butler and Dwight Clark are names of former Tigers who were stars on Super Bowl teams or All-Pro selections.

One player who has racked up some solid numbers, but has not gotten much attention is Seattle Seahawks defensive tackle Jeff Bryant. All Bryant has done is start for 10 years in the NFL, rank second in Seahawks history in sacks with 57.5, and play in 143 games, including 136 starts. He is also fourth in career starts and fourth in caused fumbles and fumble recoveries. The native of Atlanta was first-team All-Rookie in 1982 and second-team All-AFC according to UPI in 1984. And, he is still going strong heading into 1992.

Bryant was an All-American on Clemson's 1981 National Championship team as a senior, and was the sixth pick of the entire NFL draft, the third highest pick in Clemson history. Congratulations on a great career.

Calhoun, John

This Senator from the state of South Carolina proposed a bill in the house in 1955 making it a state law that Clemson and South Carolina had to meet in football once a year. The two teams have met every year since 1909.

Clemson, SC

The city of Clemson has a population of about 11,000 fulltime residents. But, on Saturday afternoon's in the fall, when over 80,000 fans are in the stands, that population increases significantly. In fact, Clemson moves all the way to the second largest city in the state on a home football Saturday when over 80,500 fans are in the stands. Only the city of Columbia is larger. Charleston has a population of 80,414, so that is why we have to list the qualifier for 80,500. So, when Clemson meets Florida State this year, Clemson will be the second largest city in the state. But, when Clemson meets UT Chattanooga, the city will be the third largest in the state.

Conference

Clemson is a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Tigers were charter members in 1953. Prior to that, Clemson was in the Southern Conference from 1921 to 1952. Clemson was in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association before that, and has been a charter member of every conference with which it has been affiliated.

Conference Championships

Clemson has more ACC titles than any other school, as the Tigers won or shared the ACC title in 1956, 1958, 1959, 1965, 1966, 1967, 1978, 1981, 1982, 1986, 1987, 1988 and 1991. The 13 won or shared titles is five ahead of Maryland's total of eight. Clemson won the Southern Conference in 1940 and 1948.

Country Gentleman

Clemson is famous for its Tiger mascot and his pushups after each Clemson score. But, the school used to have two mascots. In addition to the Tiger, the school used to also have the Country Gentleman, a student dressed in purple tails and top hat, carrying a cane. The Country Gentleman concept came about as a result of references to Clemson made by Greenville News Sportswriter Carter "Scoop" Latimer as The Country Gentleman. Clemson had the two-mascot system until the early 1970s.

Dan's

Members of the media enjoy a free meal when they cover football games all over the country. Clemson provides one of the finest spreads in the nation with fried chicken, and other Southern delicacies.

The media has Clemson, Bob Bradley and the late Dan Gentry to thank for this tradition. In the 1950s, Dan Gentry owned a hamburger establishment in downtown Clemson, virtually the only fastfood restaurant in the town. He was a great Clemson fan and had over 600 photos of Clemson athletes, past and present, on the walls of his dining room and counter.

Bob Bradley, in the infancy of his SID career at Clemson, thought it would be a good idea to serve a meal prior to the football games at Clemson. He approached Mr. Gentry about serving as the caterer for all home games. Gentry took pride in the job and began the tradition of fine cuisine in the Clemson press box. Other schools around the country soon improved on their pregame meal and the rest is (burp) history.

Death Valley

Name synonymous with Clemson Memorial Stadium. The Stadium was dubbed this affectionate title by the late Lonnie McMillian, a former coach at Presbyterian. He used to take his teams to play at Clemson, and they rarely scored, never mind gained a victory. Once he told the writers he was going to play Clemson up at Death Valley.

It stuck somewhat, but when Frank Howard start calling it that in the fifties, the term really caught on. It has been Clemson's home since 1942 and the 1991 season marked the 50th full season of play in Death Valley. Clemson has a 15-game unbeaten streak in Death Valley entering the 1992 season.

Educators

Former Tiger football players have been successful in all fields of endeavor, but the education field seems to stand out. Three former Clemson football players have gone on to become college or University Presidents.

James "Mutt" Gee, an all-state performer for Clemson on the gridiron in 1916 and 1917 was the President of East Texas State University between 1947 and 1966. Walter Cox, a starter on Clemson's first bowl team in 1939, was Clemson's President in 1985 and 1986. Former All-American Tom "Black Cat" Barton, who played for the Tigers in the 1950s, is currently the President of Greenville Technical College in Greenville, SC.

There are many other former players who are in secondary education, including one of the "Bruise Brothers". William Devane teamed with William Perry to give the Tigers the top middle guard combination in the nation in 1981, helping Clemson to the National Championship. Devane is currently a special education teacher at Hart County High School in Georgia.

Emergency Phone

In case of emergency at Clemson Memorial Stadium, call (803) 656-2999. The Clemson University police number is (803) 656-2222.

Esso Club

When you want to cover a Clemson football weekend and capture the true flavor of the entire proceedings you have to make a pit stop at the Esso Club. If this sounds like a combination bar and gas station, well, you're right. Clemson fans for many years have frequented this famous weekend watering hole just a drive and a nine-iron from Death Valley. It is a favorite establishment for Brent Musberger and Sports Illustrated's Curry Kirkpatrick.

Experience

Clemson has a very experienced coaching staff, in fact the nine assistant coaches collectively have 113 years of Division I experience between them. Larry Van Der Heyden, who has been at Clemson since the 1979 season, has 27 years experience as a full-time coach at the Division I level.

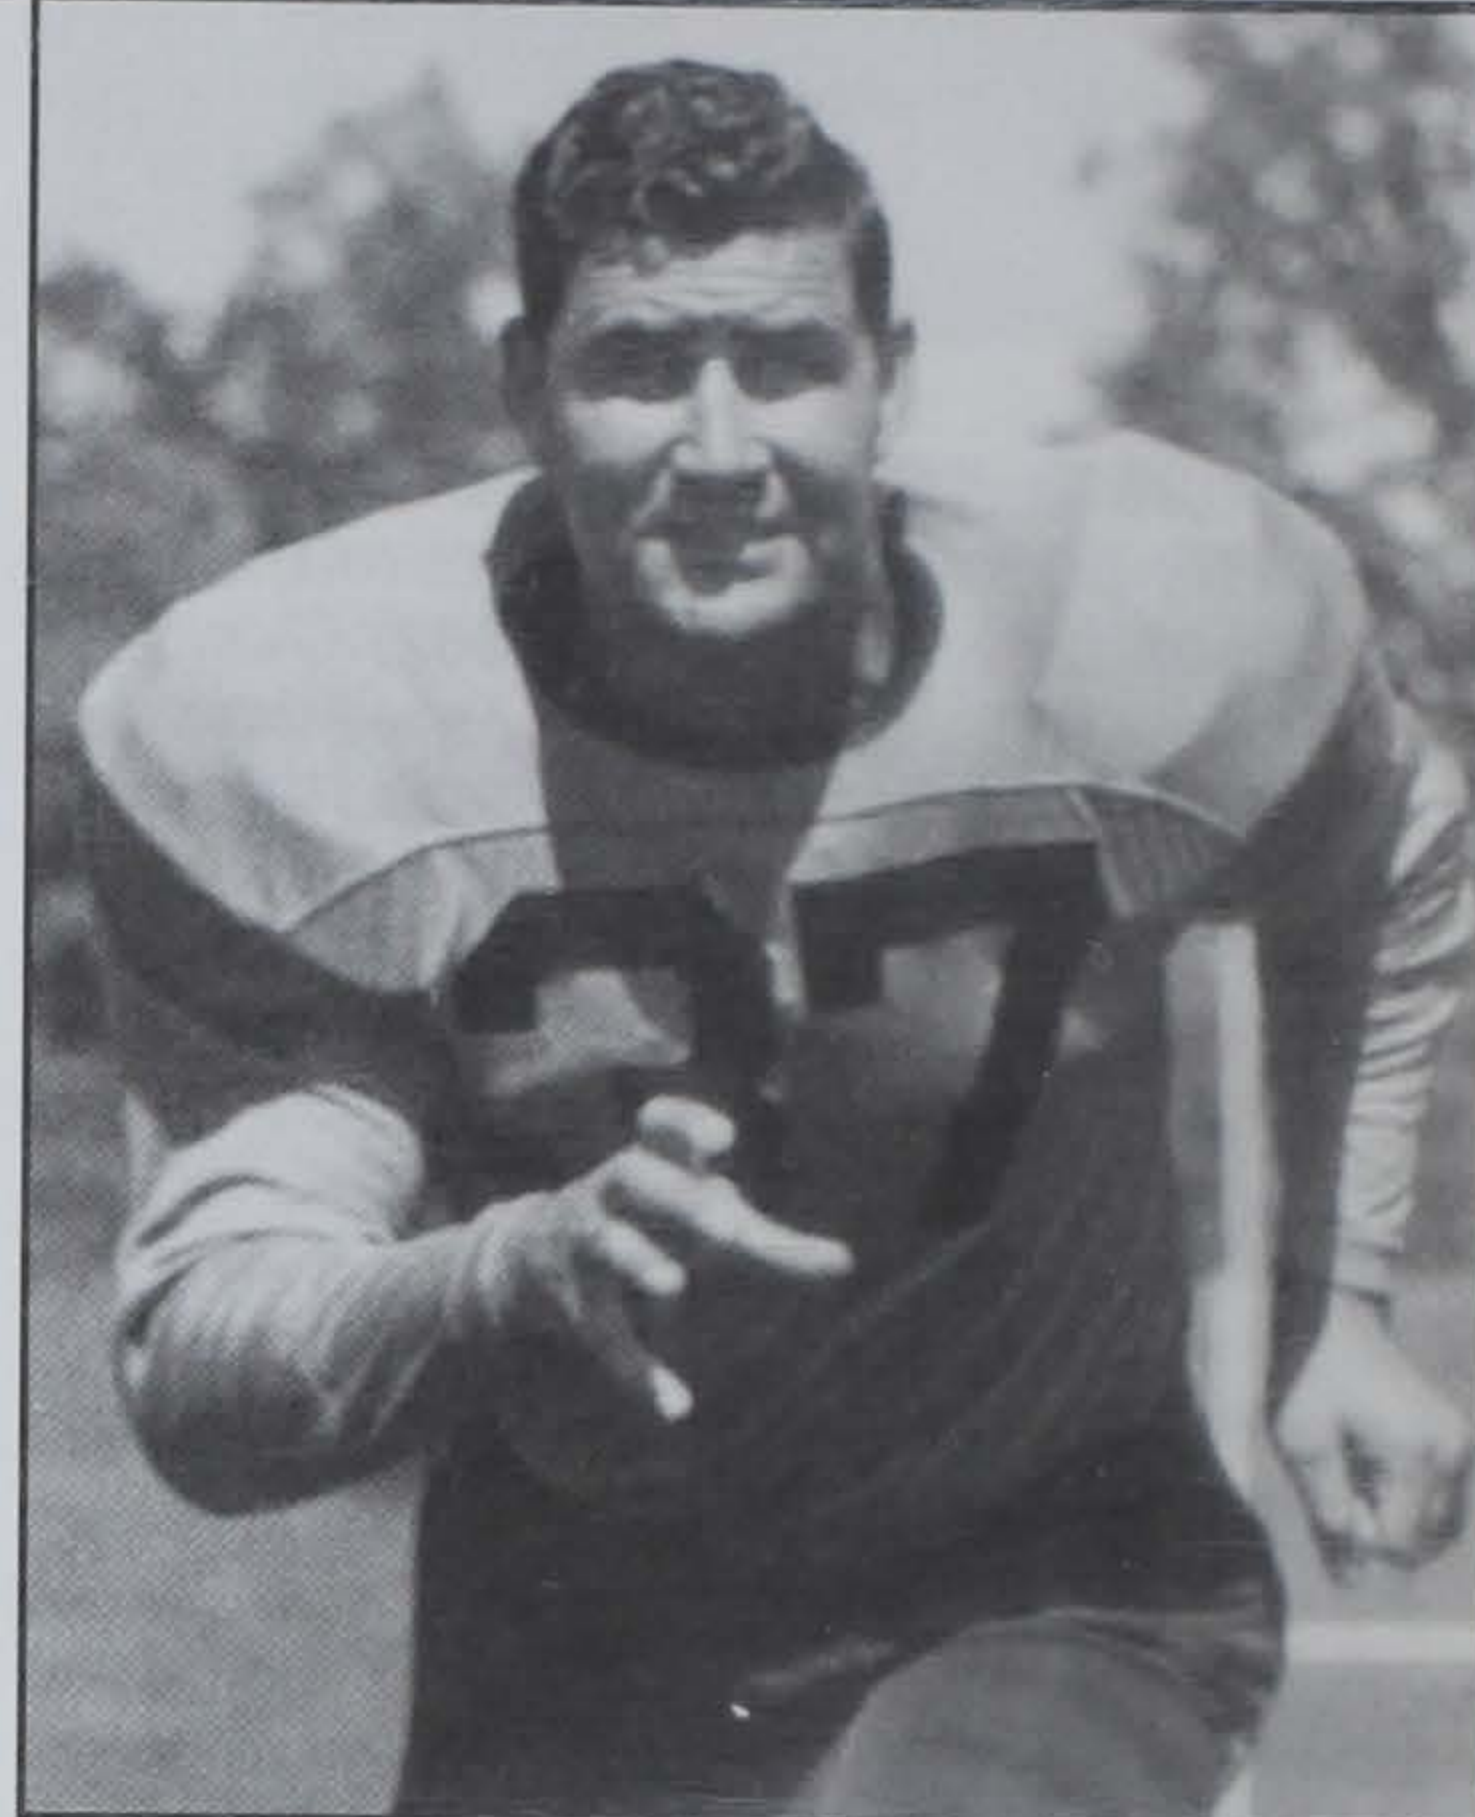

Defensive coordinator Ron Dickerson is the second most experienced coach even though he is in just his second year at Clemson and is only 44 years of age. Dickerson is in his 21st season as a Division I full-time assistant.

As far as the rest of the staff, Larry Beckman is in his 17th season, Les Herrin and Wally Ake are in year number 13, Larry Brinson and Roger Hinshaw are in their 10th years, Richard Wilson is in his sixth and Rick Stocksill is in his fourth year at the Division I level.

This year's staff is the same as last year's, even in terms of position assignments. Very few staffs in the country have this stability from one year to the next.

Florida State

The ACC has a new member, as Florida State joined the conference on July 1, 1991. The Seminoles will compete for the league title in 1992, an amazing accomplishment for league schedule makers. Bobby Bowden's team did not play a league schedule last year and did not compete for any league stat titles, or All-ACC honors. But, they will be a full addition this year. In fact, just about everyone thinks the Seminoles are going to come right in and win the ACC in their first full year.

Tom "Black Cat" Barton is one of three former Clemson football players to serve as a university president.

Watch out for Florida State SID Wayne Hogan and assistant SID Rob Wilson when it comes to competition on the golf course. The old golf adage certainly applies here: never make a golfing wager when playing against someone who has their last name on their clubs.

First Rounders

Clemson has had more first-round draft picks than any other ACC school. Chester McGlockton, the number-16 pick of the 1992 draft by the Los Angeles Raiders, became the 14th first-round pick in Clemson football history. The Tigers have had two more than Maryland over the years, while ACC newcomer Florida State is third with 10.

N.C. State follows the top three with nine, while North Carolina has had eight, Virginia and Georgia Tech have each had seven and Duke has had five. Wake Forest has never had a first-round pick, but many players have gone on to fine NFL careers.

Over the years, Clemson has had 150 players chosen in the NFL draft, including four this past year. In addition to McGlockton, Levon Kirkland was a second-round pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers, Ed McDaniel was a fifth-round pick of the Minnesota Vikings and Curtis Whitley was a fifth-round pick by San Diego.

Goalposts

NCAA regulations stipulate the pipe must be 4" in diameter, must have posts that are 20' or more in height and 18-6 apart. This is the same width as the pros and closer than the 23-4 that existed in college football between the 1950s and the 1990 season. Clemson had one of the most successful field goal kickers in the country last year, as freshman Nelson Welch connected on 19-28 field goals and finished fourth in the nation.

The crossbar is 10' high. The Clemson student body tore down the goalposts in the end zone with the grass bank after Clemson's emotional 52-27 win over Maryland in 1983, the only time the goalposts have come down at Clemson.

The shortening of the width of the goalpost will again be important in terms of strategy this year. Clemson is 222-300 (.740), and has averaged of 18.6 field goals a year since 1980.

Heisman, John

Yes, the same guy they named the trophy after used to coach at Clemson. You have to go back to the 1900-03 era to find him, but he brought Clemson its first unbeaten season in 1900, a 6-0 ledger. Heisman coached at Clemson for four seasons making an astronomical $1800 a year. In 1904, Georgia Tech offered him $2250 and he was gone to Atlanta.

Clemson should have scraped up the extra money to keep him. With John Heisman as head coach, Clemson beat Georgia Tech 73-0 in 1903. Two years later, with Heisman at Georgia Tech, the Yellow Jackets downed the Tigers, 17-10. Coaching does make a difference.

Hoover, Doc

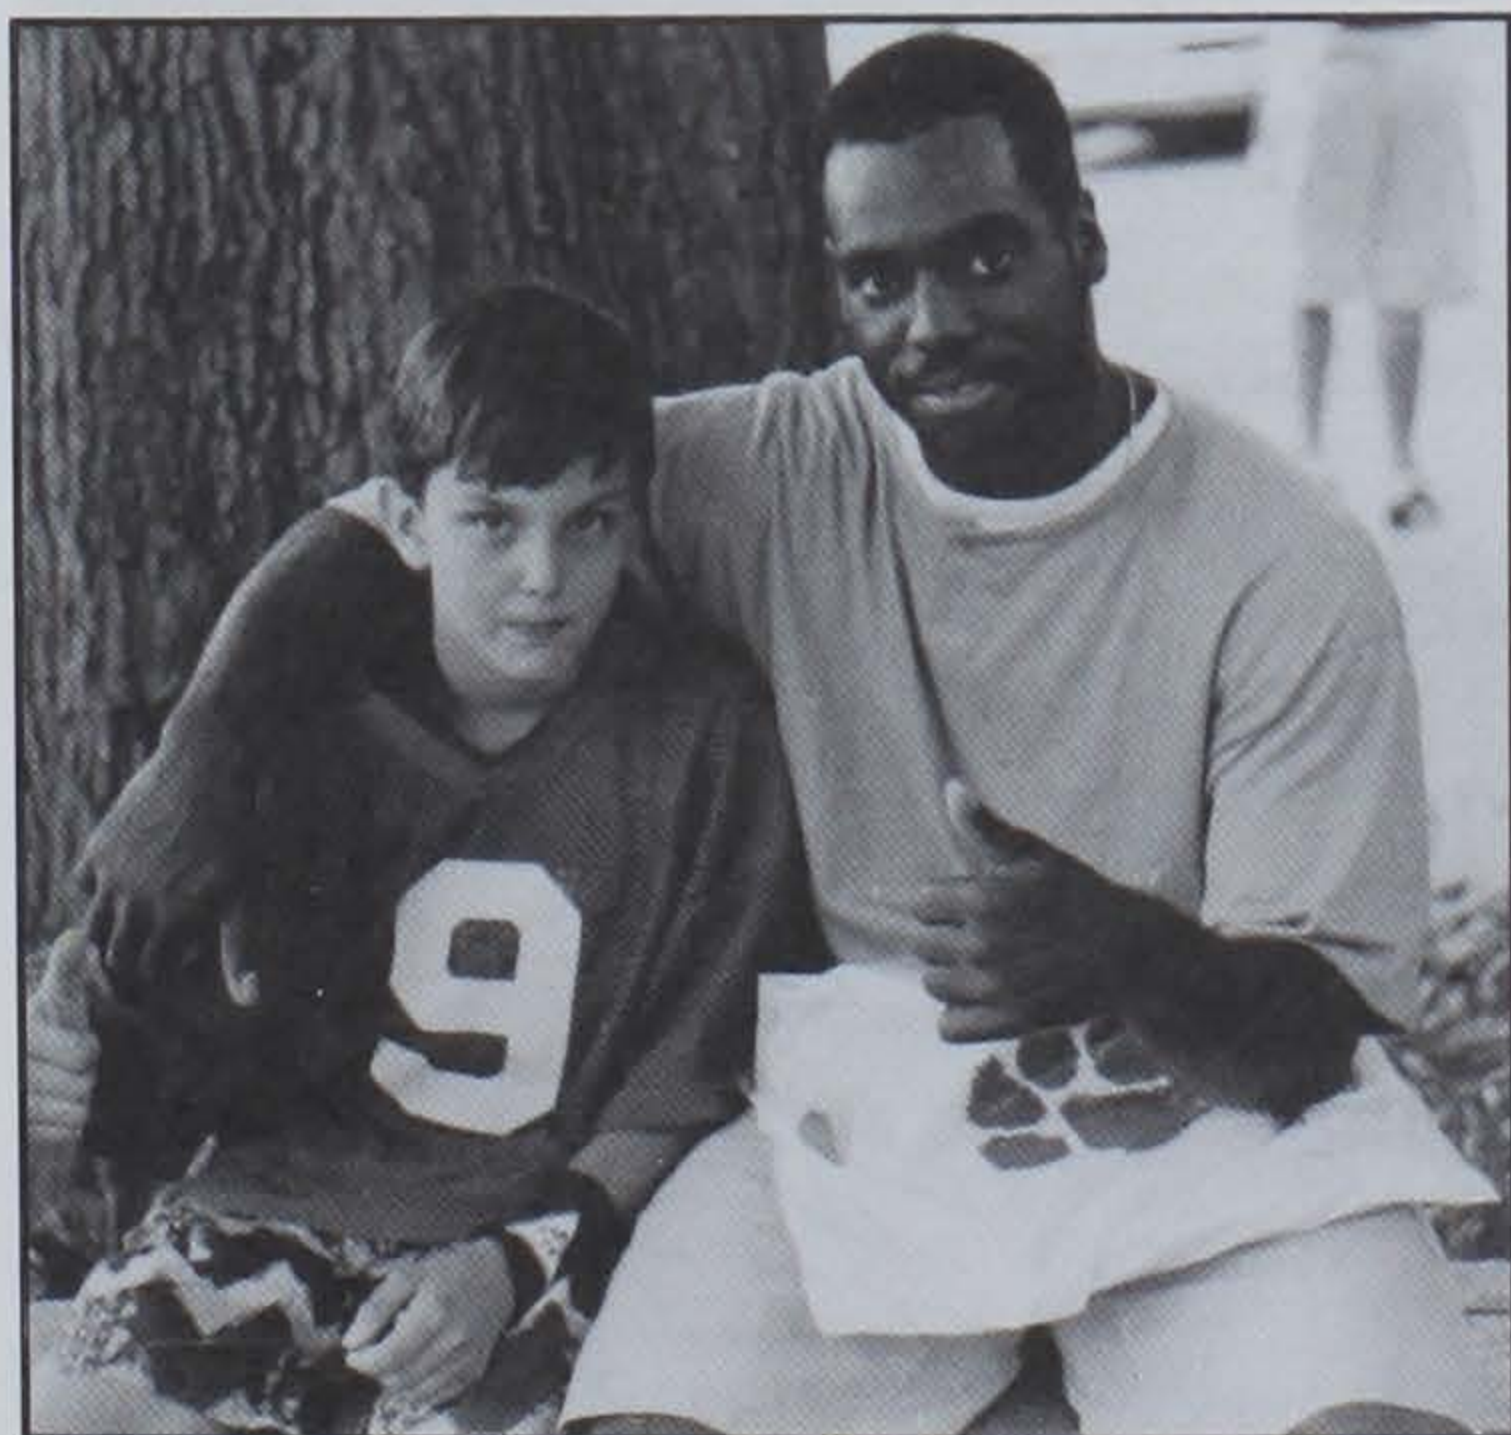

Fred Hoover has moved up to number-two on the list of Clemson employees with the most consecutive years of service to the athletic department. Baseball Coach Bill Wilhelm is the only one ahead of Hoover. The longtime trainer and assistant athletic director has been with Clemson since 1958 and like Bob Bradley, has never missed a football game. Fred's streak is at 364 entering this season, not bad for a Florida State graduate.

Hunter, Bill

Dr. Bill Hunter is the guy to call if you are doing a story on "Running Down the Hill", the most celebrated facility entrance in all of sport. Dr. Hunter, still a Clemson resident, was a starter on Clemson's 1942 team, and he was one of the first Tiger players to run down the hill.

Inflation I

A ticket to the Clemson-South Carolina game in 1896 cost 25 cents. Two thousand people attended the game. This year's ticket is $18. Clemson has the second most

Inflation II

When Clemson first built Memorial Stadium in 1942 the construction cost of the 20,000 seat stadium computed to $7.20 a seat. When Clemson added 15,000 seats with an upper deck over the north stands in 1983 the average cost was $866 a seat.

IPTAY

IPTAY, Clemson's athletic scholarship fundraising organization, has a new official name. It was changed last year from "The IPTAY Club" to "The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation." The name change was made to coincide with the real purpose of the organization, to raise scholarship funds for student-athletes.

IPTAY stands for "I Pay Twenty a Year", the original name with a meaning deriving from the minimum contribution of its donors when the organization began in 1934.

But, the organization does a lot more for Clemson and its students. IPTAY also funds band travel, contributes to the improvement of the athletic facilities, varsity and non-varsity, and has established the IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment. This endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. The IPTAY Academic Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of any kind at Clemson.

Johnson, Jimmy

Jimmy Johnson, formerly of Miami (FL) and now the rising star of the NFL coaching ranks with the Dallas Cowboys, used to be an assistant coach at Clemson. Few people realize this because he never stayed for an entire season, in fact he never coached in a game.

His term of employment at Clemson began January 15, 1970 and ended March 10, 1970. He was hired as an assistant on Hootie Ingram's first staff at the whopping salary of $14,400. It seems he was given a more significant rate of pay at Oklahoma, shortly after he began his Clemson career.

He never even stayed long enough to work a spring practice, but did have enough time to have a head shot made for the SID office. And, he is the answer to a great trivia question. Who is one of only two former Clemson assistant coaches to guide a team to the National Championship? Danny Ford is the other.

June 6

This is a good day for coaches, at least at Clemson. One of the most unusual facts about the Clemson coaching staff is that three of the members have the same birthday, June 6. Ken Hatfield was born June 6, 1943; offensive coordinator Larry Van Der Heyden was born on June 6, 1939 and running backs coach Larry Brinson was born June 6, 1954. All three were excellent athletes by the way, maybe there is something to that horoscope stuff.

Hatfield is still 12th in NCAA history in career punt return average. Van Der Heyden was inducted into the Iowa State Hall of Fame and was all-conference in football and baseball.

Johnson is one of two former Clemson assistants to lead a team to the National Championship.

Brinson played in two Super Bowls with the Dallas Cowboys and was in the NFL for five seasons.

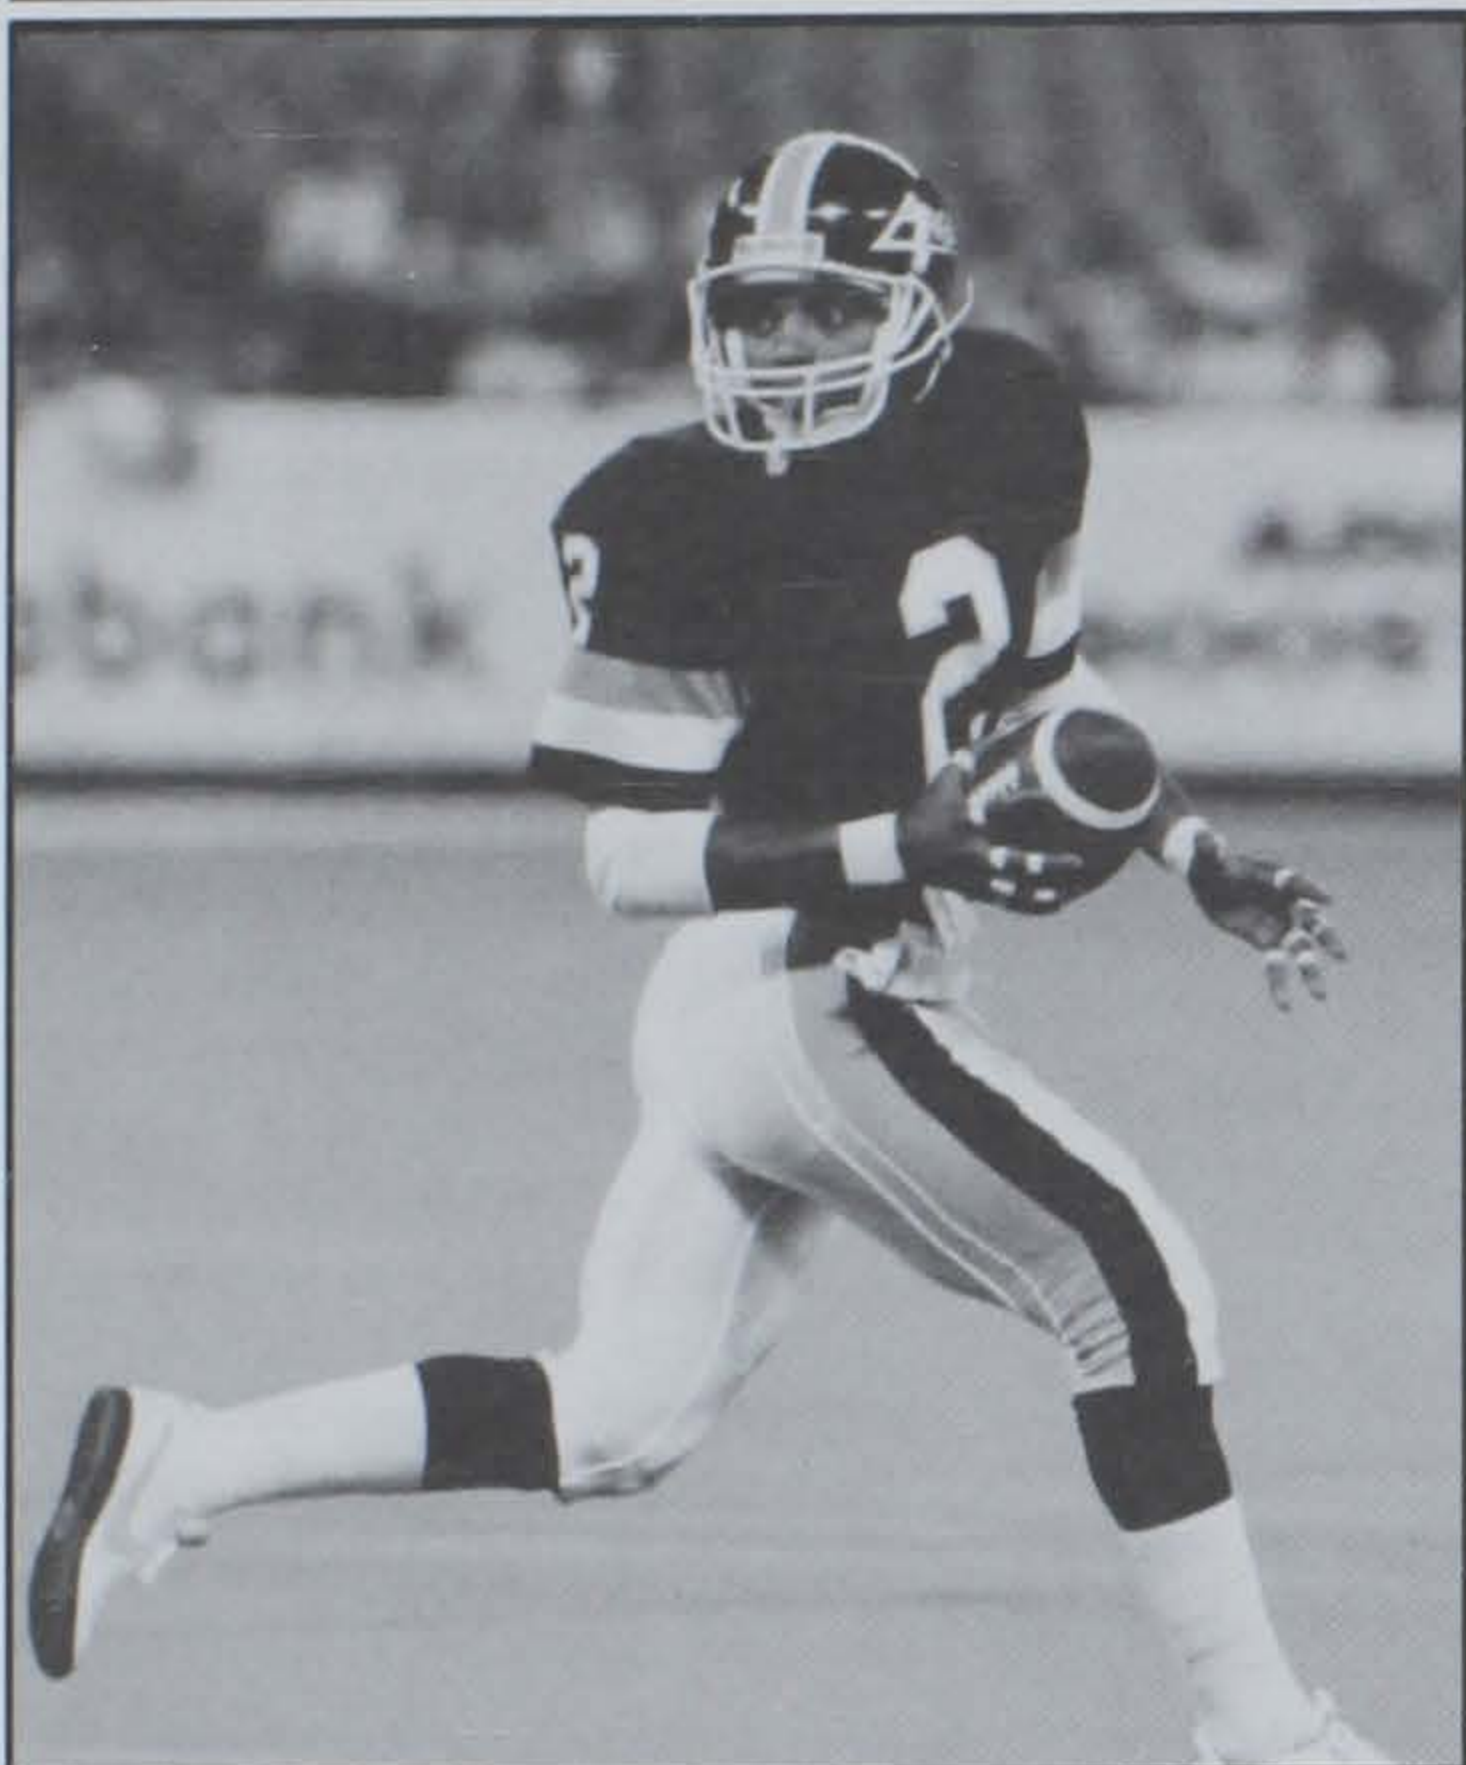

Kids

During the 1991 season, the Clemson football squad played host to some important guests, as two very special groups of kids came to spend the afternoon at Clemson. A group of boys from the Tamassees DAR School and from the Boys Home of the South each came to spend an afternoon with the Tigers. The kids went first to football practice, where they observed drills ("I didn't know they were that big!!" was the comment most frequently made) and were greeted by Coach Hatfield. While the players did their post-practice run, the kids tried on helmets, shoulder pads, or anything else the players let them try on. Afterwards, each kid met his "partner" for the evening, and went with that player to the weightroom, the training room, or the lockerroom.

After the players got dressed, each kid met his partner for dinner at the training table. From the lively conversations, it was hard to tell whether the kids, or their partners were having more fun. After lots of soft-serve ice cream and autograph gathering, some of the kids went for walks around campus with their partners. Several of the players got letters from the children. In fact, one Friday before the team left for a road game, linebacker Kenzil Jackson remembered that it was his "partner's" birthday, and he had to make sure his "partner" knew that he was going to dedicate all of his tackles to him the next day.

Kids II

Cornerback Norris Brown got to spend a lot of time with kids this summer, as he worked as a youth counselor with Sunbelt Human Advancement Resources, Inc., in nearby Seneca, SC. Brown was involved with helping find jobs for low income and handicapped youth between the ages of 14 and 21. The senior from Conway, SC, was also in charge of organizing a cookout for the kids associated with the group, so while he wasn't driving kids back and forth to their summer jobs or going to his own summer school classes, he was busy visiting local businesses, looking for donations of food, supplies, etc. to feed the kids and the two dozen Tiger football players that also attended the picnic.

Pleasant is first in Toronto Argonauts history in career interception return yardage.

Legend I

Frank Howard is known as Legend I around Clemson and he has the hat to prove it. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame during ceremonies at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City on December 5, 1989. Howard is still a person in demand for the banquet circuit.

Howard won 165 games at Clemson, including a still conference record tying 96 victories as an ACC coach between 1953-69. He led Clemson to six bowl games, won eight conference titles and had six final AP Top 20 rankings.

He still comes to work every day in the Clemson Athletic Department. His office number in the Jervy Athletic Center is (803) 656-2100. Give him a call for some great quotes, information on Clemson football history, or to take out an advertisement in Kickoff.

Legend II

SID at Clemson between 1955-89 football seasons, Bob Bradley has officially retired from his SID slot. He has seen 404 consecutive Clemson football games, and has scored 95 percent of the ACC basketball tournament games since the tourney was formed. He has been President of CoSIDA, has been in the sports information Hall of Fame forever, and is a former Recipient of the Arch Ward Award as CoSIDA Man-of-the-Year.

In November of 1988 the press box at Memorial Stadium was named The Bob Bradley Press Box. At his retirement banquet in the summer of 1989 he was presented with an automobile by the Athletic Department (complete with bow at midfield at Memorial Stadium) and the financing for a pontoon boat from his former student workers, the ACC Sportswriters Association, SIDs from around the country and the ACC office.

He still puts in quite a few hours for us (like, everyday) and actually scores more baseball games than when he was on the job fulltime. He has already written two books on Clemson football and is rumored to be working on a third. Give Bob a call at (803) 656-2114 to purchase an ideal Christmas present.

Lights

Night football comes to Clemson this year for the first time since 1956. Thanks to the combined efforts of ESPN and an ACC policy (vote by 7-1, guess who voted against it) that requires ACC teams to move one game a year for TV.

We got out of it last year, but there were a few 3:30 games that brought the ire of some fans. For those of you new to Clemson football, we have a loyal fan base of people who drive to every game from 100s of miles away. Many drive five hours, watch the game and drive home five hours. So, a night game causes some problems in terms of sleep and economically if they want to spend the night in a hotel.

The new television contract with the CFA determines future ACC appearances based on the number of appearances each league has had in recent years. Each conference has a minimum number of appearances in a year, but if a team declines to move a game, it counts toward the appearances, even if the game is not televised. Plus, there is the loss of revenue.

Thus, the penalty on the ACC, not just Clemson, has become too great.

So, Clemson will meet Florida State on ESPN at 7:30 PM on September 12, 1992, the first night game at Clemson since September 22, 1956 when the Tigers downed Presbyterian 27-7. There are no other night games scheduled at home.

The way the Clemson-Florida State games have been in the last two meetings we don't think Tiger fans will mind the inconvenience. Most Clemson fans weren't able to sleep for a couple of days anyway after the 24-21 FSU win at Clemson in 1988 and Clemson's 34-23 win at Tallahassee in 1989.

Lost & Found

At Memorial Stadium, if you can't find it go to the Gate 1 information booth. Hopefully someone else did and it will be there.

Medical Facilities

Available during football games under Section J on the South Side, under Section T on the North Side and Section E under South Top Deck of the stadium. There also is one under the North Top Deck.

Memorial Stadium

Here are some height measurements in Memorial Stadium that were determined by Mark Kistler in a survey he performed for a class last year:

Height Above the middle of the 50-yard line to:

Top of the South Upper Deck:	159 feet
Camera Deck on South Side:	92 feet
Top of the Hill:	27 feet
Mounted Rock on the Hill:	26 feet
Top of West end zone:	47 feet
Top of Upper Deck, North Side:	177 feet

It is also interesting to note that the distance from the Rock to the bottom of the hill, or the path the team takes when it runs down the hill, is exactly 100 feet. The middle of the field is a foot higher than the back of the end zone at the bottom of the hill. That explains why Death Valley drains well.

Ninety Six, SC

Hometown of Clemson's 1990 ACC Rookie-of-the-Year tailback Ronald Williams. Wouldn't it be great if Ronald switched his number to 96? I suppose the NCAA rules don't allow it for a tailback, but maybe we could say he was a tight end who just happened to carry the ball a lot.

Ronald will attempt to use his hometown as a goal for his rushing total on a per game basis. If Williams averages 96 yards a game over the regular season he would hit 1056 for the season. All running backs shoot for that magic 1,000-yard mark. Williams had 941 yards as a freshman in 11 games, an average that would make the residents of Eighty Five, SC happy...but there isn't one.

For his career he is averaging 90 yards a game. He played only six games last year due to an injury and averaged 97.5 yards a game. Hopefully he will be healthy this August and will be able to get that career average to 96 yards a game. If he plays 12 games this year, he will have to gain 1258 yards to average 96 yards a game for his career.

Why Ninety Six, SC? You will have to get Ronald to tell you the story, but it has something to do with an indian squaw running 96 miles to meet up with a soldier, who...she had been dating. She also had some important information about an indian attack.

Northport High

High School in Northport, NY that has invoked a Clemson tradition into their pre-game regimentation. This past season the Northport Tigers mounted a larger (much larger than the one at Death Valley) rock at the entrance to Tiger Field. The team rubs the rock as they enter the field for each game for supernatural powers, similar to the powers it gives Clemson.

Well, the geological addition to Tiger Field must have worked because the team finished with a 9-1 record, won the Rutgers Cup given each year to the best team in Suffolk County, and outscored its opposition 320-100.

The idea came from Northport quarterback David Sumner. "We wanted to do something to jazz up the place. I was watching a Clemson game on television and they have a rock by their field. That gave me the idea."

Phillips is in his silver anniversary season as "The Voice of the Tigers."

Super Bowl Champion Joe Gibbs and ACC Champion Ken Hatfield have a common interest.

Orange & White

Publication founded by former Clemson Assistant SID Al Adams that is in its 15th season of issue. Al is no longer with the paper, but he is still going strong, serving as the reliable State Farm Agent of Forest City, NC. We are still waiting to see Al in one of those State Farm commercials.

To contact the publisher, Phil Batson, call (803) 654-6553. It is now the official publication of IPTAY and replaces the IPTAY report, which dated back to 1952.

Orange Pants

Special garb worn by Clemson Tigers in big games. Clemson has a 21-3 record in orange pants since they were first worn for the 1980 South Carolina game. The only teams to beat Clemson in orange pants are South Carolina (22-21 in 1984), Florida State (24-21 in 1988), and Virginia (20-7 in 1990). Clemson's average margin of victory is 17 points per game when wearing the pants.

The Tigers wore the orange three times last year, with wins over North Carolina in Chapel Hill, Maryland in the ACC clincher at Clemson, and in the win over Duke in Tokyo.

The Tigers also wore purple jerseys for the first time since 1939 when they unveiled them at the top of the hill prior to the 29-19 win over N.C. State. That emotional win propelled Clemson to the ACC title. Clemson also wore purple jerseys against California in the 1992 Citrus Bowl.

Overflow Crowd

The all-time overflow crowd at a game involving Clemson took place at the South Carolina contest of 1946. Counterfeiters had produced 5,000 game tickets for the state rivalry, thereby leading to a crowd of 30,000 people attempting to enter a 25,000-seat stadium. Fans crashed the gate and made their way to the sidelines.

The game went on, but it made for a crowded sideline. In fact, much of the game fans watched the game from the field when the ball was at the opposite end. Frank Howard recalls fans coming up to him on the sideline trying to send in plays.

Penn's Thin Natural Leaf

Type of chewing tobacco Frank Howard chewed in the forties. When they were pouring the concrete for the stadium in 1942, Howard put a plug in each corner of the stadium, giving it his form of an artistic signature.

Phillips, Jim

"Voice of the Tigers" in his Silver Anniversary year providing commentary on Clemson football. Phillips won the Brian Piccolo Award of broadcasting in 1982 when he gave the play-by-play account of the Western Carolina game only five days after back surgery. He recreated most of that game while standing up with a walker. He is also the voice of Clemson basketball and baseball. His voice is in the minds of nearly all contemporary Clemson fans when they recall a memorable Clemson moment.

Earlier this year he was honored by winning the South Carolina Master Award for lifetime achievement in broadcasting in the state. He will also be inducted into the Clemson Hall of Fame this fall.

Pleasant, Reggie

Clemson's senior class from the 1984 football season was one of the best in school history. The group had a 25-game unbeaten streak at home, had three top 15 seasons, won a National Championship and two ACC crowns. The group included first-round draft choice William Perry, All-America kickers Dale Hatcher and Donald Igwebuike, and All-ACC quarterback Mike Eppley.

Of the group of original scholarship players, only Perry is still active in pro football. But, one member of that class, a walk-on, is still playing pro football. Reggie Pleasant was a sixth-round draft choice of the Atlanta Falcons in 1985 and played with that team for a couple of years. But, he has found a home in Toronto.

Pleasant, who is president of his own engineering firm in Atlanta, GA, has quietly become one of the top Argos in the last decade. His 658 career interception return yards are the best in Argo history and his 38 career interceptions rank second in franchise annals. Three times in the last five years he has been an Eastern All-Star and last year he helped the team to the Grey Cup Championship.

Racing Fan

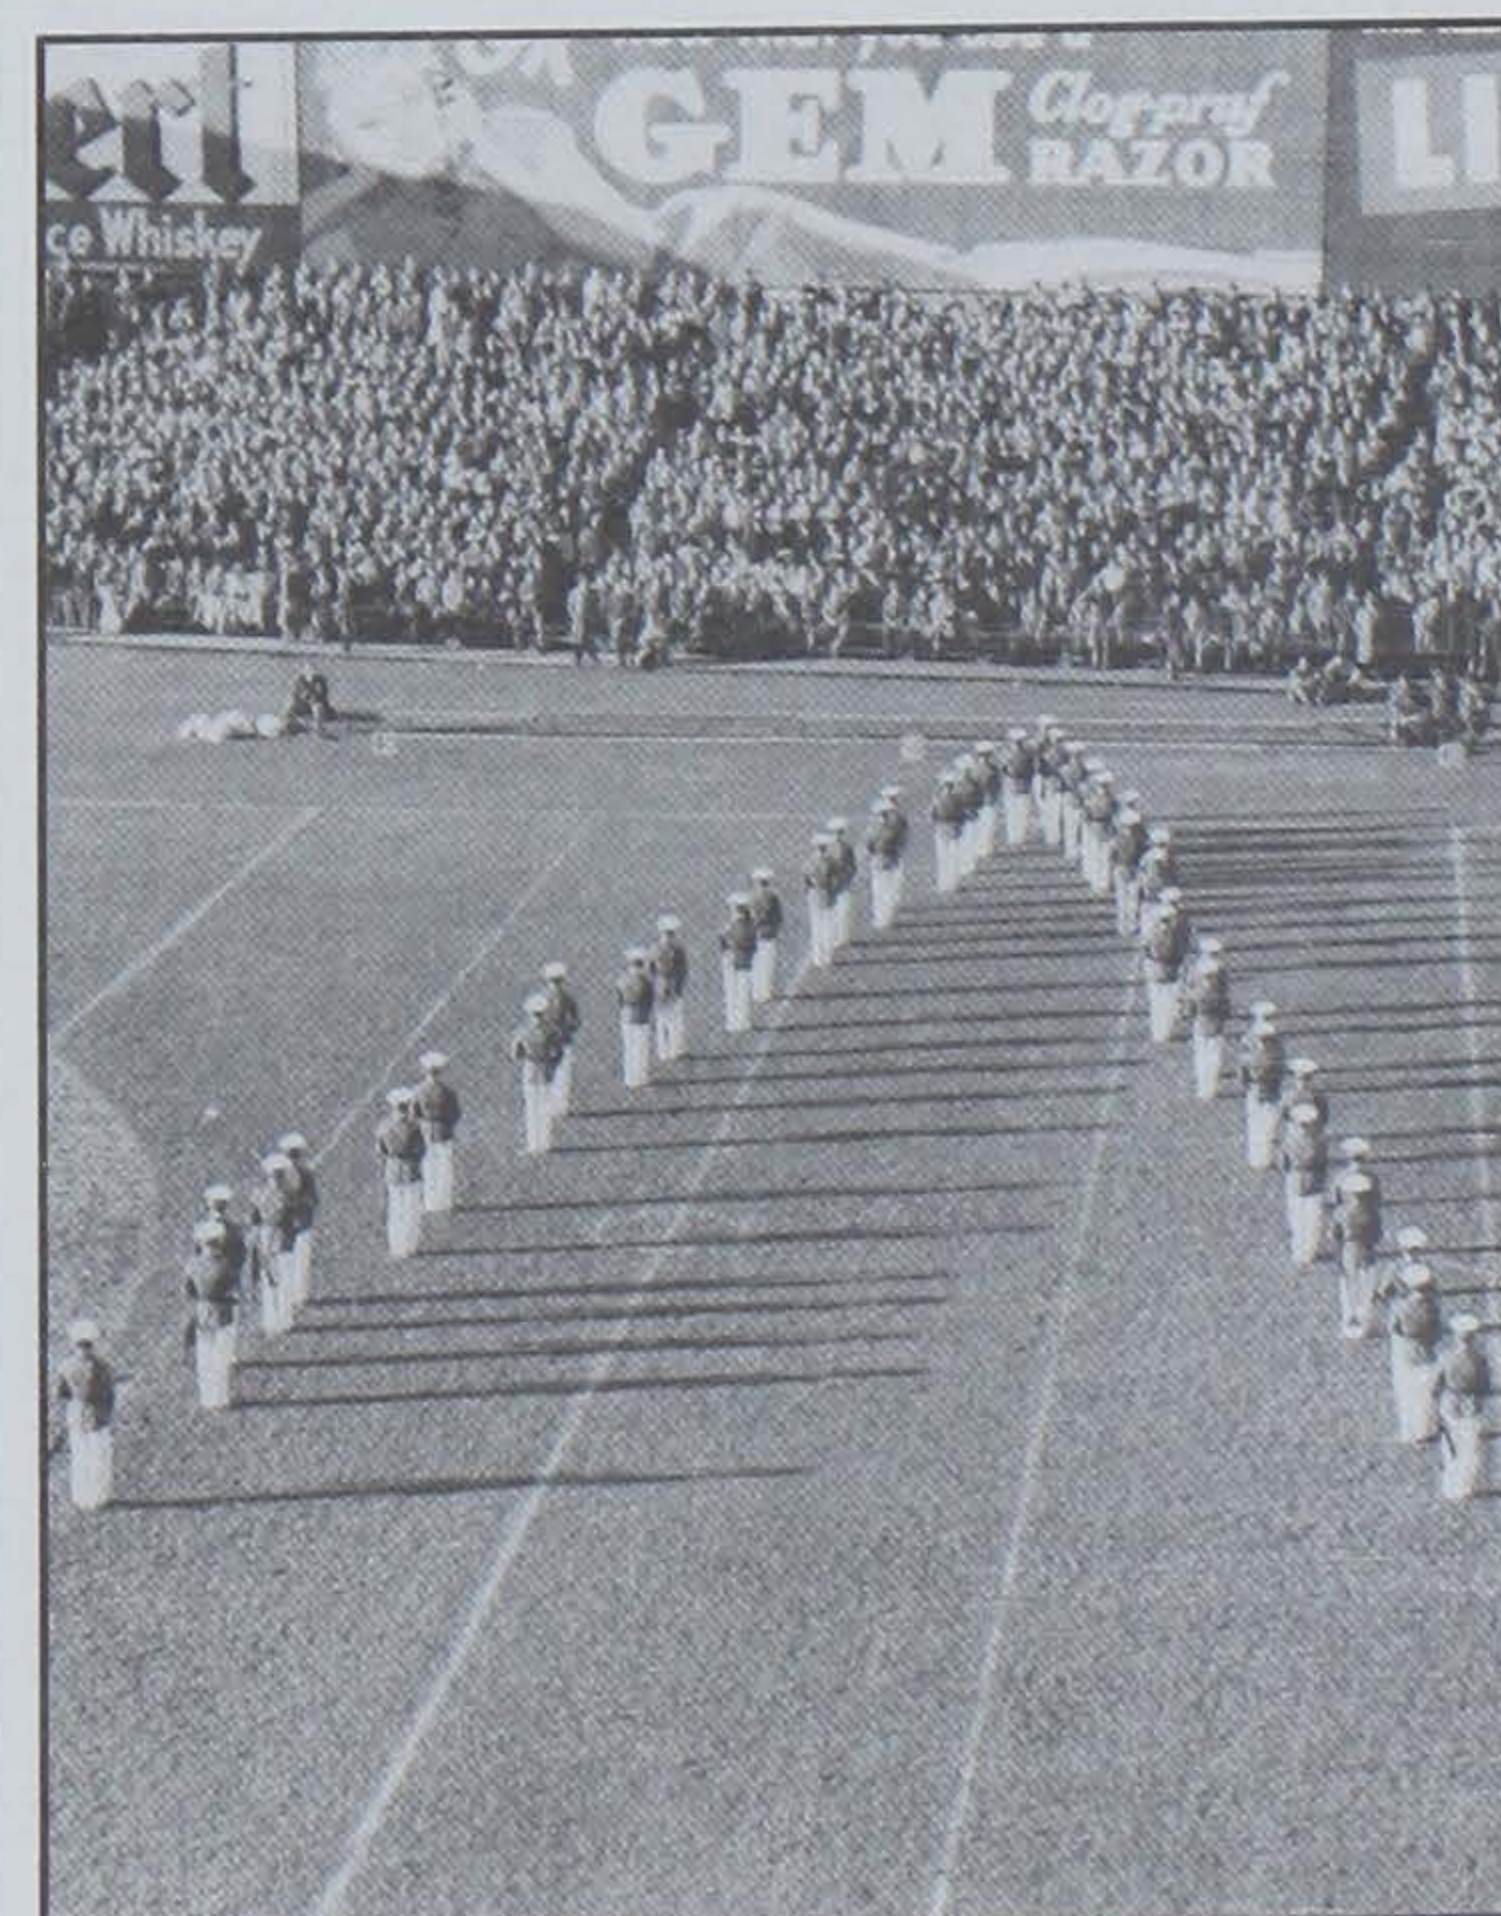

Clemson Head Coach Ken Hatfield follows the NASCAR scene, not fanatically, but at least enough to attend the race in Darlington last April. Coach Hatfield gave the invocation prior to the race and spent some time with Joe Gibbs's racing team.

Recruiting

Recruiting classes should never be ranked until the members of the group are seniors in college. But, recruiting junkies just can't wait that long. As a result, each year services from all over the country issue rankings.

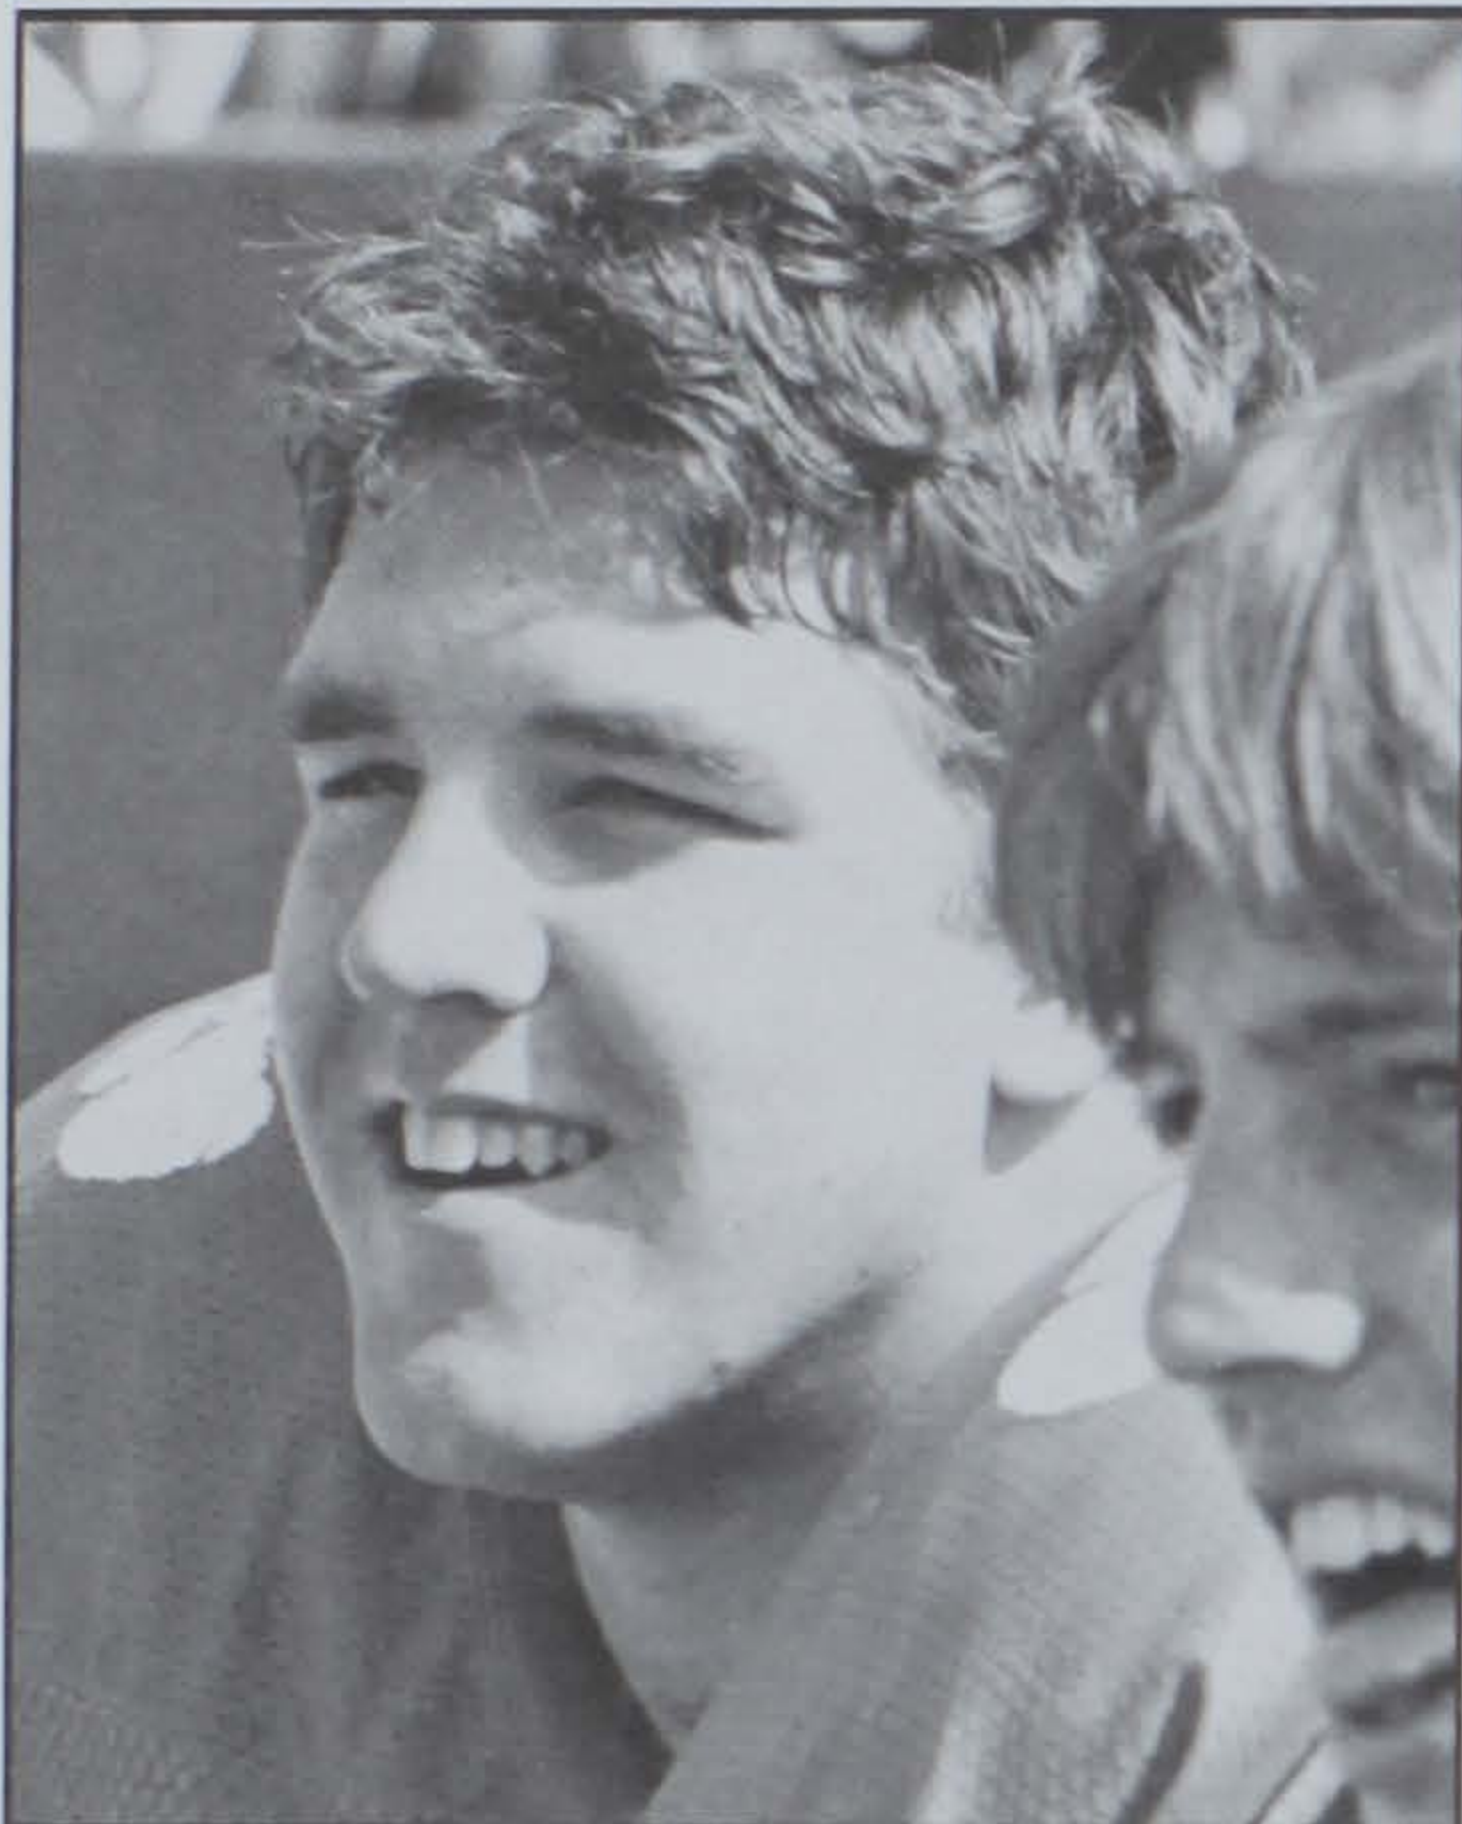

According to these rankings Clemson had a very good recruiting year in 1992 under Ken Hatfield. According to Super Prep, the Tigers were sixth in the country, trailing only Florida, Miami, Colorado, Michigan and Texas A&M. According to Blue Chip Illustrated, the Tigers were ranked ninth in the nation. Many others ranked Clemson's class in the top 10. Twelve of Clemson's signees were Super Prep All-Americans, while six were USA Today All-Americans of some degree. According to Max Emfinger, Clemson signed three of the top five passing and running quarterbacks in the nation.

But, keep in mind that these are just ratings, listings that don't take into account any intangibles. In 1991 Clemson had four first-team All-Americans in Rob Bodine, Jeb Flesch, Levon Kirkland and Ed McDaniel. They provided the core of a group that led Clemson to 39 wins in four years. None of the four were ever ranked among the top 200 players in the nation coming out of high school. Bodine was a walk-on, Flesch had the smallest bio in the 1987 Clemson press guide, and Kirkland and McDaniel made one all-state team between them coming out of high school.

So, to find out how the strength of the 1992 Clemson recruiting class rates, buy a copy of the 1996 press guide.

Retired Numbers

There have been two numbers retired in Clemson football history, #4 and #66. The number-four is in honor of Steve Fuller, a first-team Academic All-American in 1978 and a third-team on-the-field All-American the same year. He was also a two-time ACC Player-of-the-Year and won a Super Bowl Championship ring with the Chicago Bears.

The number-66 is retired in honor of Banks McFadden, Clemson's first All-American in 1939. He guided Clemson to the Cotton Bowl that year and generally put Clemson on the football map. He was the third pick of the 1940 NFL draft. He also had his #23 retired in basketball at Clemson and was also an All-American in that sport. He is the only football player in Clemson history to be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame.

Riggs Field

Currently the home of Clemson's national championship soccer program (1984 and 1987), but it was the home of Clemson football prior to Memorial Stadium. The field is named after Walter Merritt Riggs, Clemson's first football coach. He coached Clemson in 1896 and 1899. He had an 8-5 record for those two seasons, but ironically, he never coached a game at Clemson. All his 13 contests were played on the road.

Rings

A total of 14 former Clemson players have picked up 21 Super Bowl Championship rings over the years, including Jeff Bostic, who won his third ring this past year with the World Champion Washington Redskins. Terrence Flagler, Dwight Clark, Bennie Cunningham, Jim Stuckey, and Charlie Waters are the former Tigers with two Super Bowl championship rings apiece. Seven of the last eight years Clemson has had at least one representative on the Super Bowl Championship team.

Rock, Howard's

When the Clemson team gathers to Run Down the Hill (see Running Down the Hill) the players rub Howard's Rock because of the mystical powers it is supposed to give Clemson players. The rock is mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill and was given to Coach Frank Howard by a friend (S.C. Jones '19) who picked it up in Death Valley, CA. The Rock was first placed on the pedestal at the top of the hill on September 24, 1966, a game Clemson won 40-35 over Virginia. The team started rubbing the rock prior to running down the hill for the first game of 1967, a 23-6 win over Wake Forest on September 23, 1967.

Running Down the Hill

One of the most exciting 25 seconds (about 35 seconds when Clemson dresses 120 players for homecoming) in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint. After Clemson's last warmup the team retreats to the home dressing room located under the West Stands. At about 12:50 (for normal 1:00 P.M. game), the team boards two buses and drives around the periphery of the stadium to the east side of the field. After everyone is properly collected, the cannon sounds, Tiger Rag is played and Clemson charges down the hill and onto the field. It is one of the most celebrated entrances in sport.

The Tigers have done it for every home game since 1942, except for 1970, 1971 and four games of the 1972 season. In all, the Tigers have run down the hill 224 times heading into 1992.

How in the world did the tradition of running down the hill start? There is no long involved explanation, it used to be the quickest way to get to the field. When the stadium was built in 1942 the football lockerrooms were in Fike Fieldhouse.

When the players were finished getting dressed they used to walk out the front door and walk down the street to "The Hill". Coach Howard continued the tradition when lockerrooms were finally built inside the stadium because Clemson fans used to get so fired up when they gathered at the top of the hill. That's when the buses came into use to make the trip from the lockerroom to the other side of the stadium.

The Tigers now have a record of 164-53-7, a .748 winning percentage, when they run down the hill. Clemson is 6-9 (40 percent) when it doesn't use the hill as its entrance. Coach Hatfield does not plan on changing a tradition with stats like that.

Section GG

This is the green grass section of the hill, which is located in the East Stands. (See Running Down the Hill.)

Senior Platoon

Senior group who represented Clemson at various sporting events. We are talking more than just Clemson events also, as the group performed at Yankee Stadium and many other sites over the years.

In 1942 the platoon disbanded because of World War II, so this is the 50th anniversary of the last year of the senior platoon. There was considerable competition for membership in this elite group. The fast-stepping (double cadence) drill unit performed intricate maneuvers during its routine and always ended its show with the Queen Ann salute.

Singing Tigers

What was the largest church choir in the nation last year? Unless Jeff Bostic and his Hogmates at Washington got a group together, we think the Singing Tigers rank as the biggest.

This group of Clemson football players performs occasionally during Sunday services at the New Holly Light Church in Pendleton, SC. Because of the demands of football, it has not been an every Sunday performance, but the group of defensive tackles Al Richard, Kelly Gomillion, Brentson Buckner and David Davis, linebacker Kenzil Jackson, tailbacks Rodney Blunt, Derrick Witherspoon and Ronald Williams, and defensive back Tony Mauney, have been known to add something to services directed by the Rev. Curtis Hill, the pastor of the church.

Davis, who played four seasons with the Tigers and is pursuing a pro football career, was the leader of the group. "I think if David sang the anthem before a game it might take 20 minutes the way he gets into a song," said Ken Hatfield. "David ought to be on Star Search," said Mauney, an alto in the group. "When they are singing, our church gets pretty full," said Rev. Hill, who oversees the group.

Skyboxes

The prime location to watch a Clemson football game. Memorial Stadium is one of just a handful of on-campus college stadiums to have private executive suites. Clemson has more executive suites than any other on-campus stadium in America (108 total, with 74 available for sale to individuals and corporations) and the average cost, including an average of 22 tickets, is $18,000 a year.

The suite is completely furnished with 22 theater seats, has a stereo system, kitchenette, closed circuit TV, maid service, meals, programs, and is completely temperature controlled. Fans have their choice of piping in crowd noise, the PA system or the Clemson radio network.

Sporting News Rankings

Each year the Sporting News provides rankings of college teams and individuals by position. The Tigers are ranked 16th in their preseason poll and six Tigers are mentioned in individual rankings. This leads to a good starting point as far as Clemson all-star candidates for 1992.

Robert O'Neal is listed as the number-one free safety in the nation by the book and is a first-team All-American. The senior from Georgia is also ranked as the number-two preseason candidate for the Thorpe Award. Rudy Harris is cited as the number-five full-back, while junior offensive guard Stacy Seegars is ranked number-five in the country, also. Nelson Welch is ranked as the number-six placekicker and Terry Smith is the number-eight wide receiver. On defense, Wayne Simmons is the number-seven linebacker in the nation.

Student Attendance

Clemson fan support is legendary and one of the reasons is the outstanding loyalty of Clemson students. This is especially true over the last couple of years as each of the top five student attendances of all-time has taken place in the last two years. In 1990 an average of 9,380 students attended Clemson home games, while last year an average of 9,226 students attended the contests in Death Valley. The all-time record is 11,143 for the South Carolina game in 1990. That could go by the board twice this year when Florida State (Sept. 12) and South Carolina (Nov. 21) come to town.

Superstitions

Here are some of the superstitions performed by Clemson players on the 1992 squad:

Brentson Buckner—falls on his face on purpose during pregame warmups. Clemson won a pivotal game last year when he did it in warmups, so he does it prior to every game now.

Kenzil Jackson—sleeps in the locker room before the game. He also puts some chewing gum in a last page of the game program and then places the page in the back of his locker.

Talent Pool

When Clemson met Notre Dame at Death Valley in 1977, 36 future NFL players appeared in the game. Thirteen Tigers on the roster for that game went on to the pros and 23 from Notre Dame. The future All-Pro players who performed in that game from Clemson included Jerry Butler, Dwight Clark, and Jeff Bostic. Future All-Pros from Notre Dame included Ross Browner, Bob Golic and Joe Montana.

Telephone Installations

To order phone lines for a broadcast or a telephone by your seat in the press box call Southern Bell in Columbia at (803) 780-2800.

Ten-Time All-American

James Trapp will be an important part of the Clemson football team this year. The senior defensive back has been a reserve behind some NFL calibre defensive backs the last three seasons (Jerome Henderson and Dexter Davis to name two), but it is his turn to challenge for a starting position.

Trapp has an even heavier burden with the Clemson track team. Trapp, now in his senior season in track also, is the first 10-time All-American in Clemson history. In fact, he was the first five-time All-American.

He has career bests of 6.17 in the 55-yard dash indoors and 10.03 in the 100 meters outdoors. He is also the anchor leg on Clemson's 4X100 meter relay team. Last winter he won the National Championship in the NCAA Indoor meet in Indianapolis in the 200 meters, the first Clemson national champion in men's track in an individual event. He also finished third in the 100 meters outdoors at the NCAAs in Austin, TX. He was a major reason Clemson finished second in the nation in indoor track last year.

In the 1991-92 academic year he and Larry Ryans became the first Clemson athletes to play on three top 20 teams in the same year. The Tiger football team finished 19th in the final AP poll and the outdoor track team was 12th.

Tigerama

World's largest pep rally, this is one of the best examples of Clemson spirit. The Friday night before Homecoming about 40,000 people come to Memorial Stadium for a combination pep rally, beauty pageant, fireworks display and skit presentation.

This is not to be confused with Barnyard Burn, which is something special for South Carolina home games. It involves a bon-fire that torches a chicken coop. It is held the Friday night prior to the South Carolina game and takes place in the parking lot outside the stadium.

Two-on-the-Fifty

Most often heard request by Clemson Ticket Manager Van Hilderbrand. He has a few more tickets to juggle than most people in his position due to the double deck on both sides, but they will be hard to come by due to these top 20 preseason rankings Clemson has attained. His number is (803) 656-2118.

Whitey

Legendary ACC coach who has many ties with Clemson. It must be a weird week for the Jordan family when Clemson plays North Carolina this year. Whitey Jordan, one of the Tar Heels' assistant coaches, played baseball and football at Clemson and also served as an assistant football coach for the Tigers between 1959 and 1972.

Jordan had an outstanding senior year (1959) as a receiver with Frank Howard's team, as he caught 12 passes for 368 yards and three scores. The 30.7 yards per reception is second in Clemson history in terms of yards per catch for a season, trailing only the 32.1 posted by Gary Cooper in 1988.

Jordan is one of the few coaches to serve a third of the ACC schools. In between his stints at Clemson and North Carolina he was on the Wake Forest football staff.

Will Call

Located at Gate 13 at Clemson Memorial Stadium, Tim Match usually drops the passes off by 11:00 A.M. for a 1:00 P.M. game.

Whitey Jordan played football and baseball for the Tigers and was an assistant coach for 14 years. Now he hopes to beat the Tigers November 7 in Death Valley.

Outlook

Nineteen-ninety-two is a year the United States determines its leadership at many levels of government. It is the priority item on every national newscast over the next four months because these decisions affect this country's "winning percentage" concerning issues of national and international affairs for four more years and, in many ways, beyond.

While there won't be any elections, Clemson football coach Ken Hatfield will be looking for some leaders in 1992, leaders who will step forward with one idea in mind: The Team Comes First. The Tigers have the third best record in college football over the last five years, but with the loss of four first-team All-Americans from the 1991 team plus six other starters, finding new leaders through the team concept will be a priority item.

"I don't know how many games we will win this year, but I do know the key to our level of success will be playing well as a team," said Ken Hatfield, who has a 19-4-1 record in his first two seasons at Clemson. "The team must come first. We all have to play well as a team from day one of spring practice. Everything we do must be done with the team in mind."

Obviously, the team first attitude must be spread by leaders, and seniors who have been a part of a 29-6-1 record the last three years (the sixth best record in college football) will figure prominently. "We are looking for players like Wayne Simmons, Ashley Sheppard, Robert O'Neal, Larry Ryans, Les Hall and many other seniors to step up this year and take on the leadership role. I have confidence these seniors will come through in this area."

Hatfield's 1991 senior group posted a 39-8-1 record for four years, the second most wins in ACC history for a senior class. All-America outside linebacker Levon Kirkland (third in Clemson history in sacks), All-America inside linebacker Ed McDaniel (third in Clemson history in tackles), All-America middle guard Rob Bodine (third in Clemson history in tackles for loss) and All-America offensive guard Jeb Flesch (second in Clemson history in knockdown blocks) have all graduated.

Additionally, All-ACC center Mike Brown, second-team All-ACC offensive tackle Bruce Bratton and starting quarterback DeChane Cameron, the winningest starting signal caller in Clemson history, have also earned their degrees and will not return. Another talented athlete who will not return is All-ACC defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, a junior in 1991, who was the number-16 pick of the entire NFL draft (LA Raiders).

Overall, Hatfield must replace five starters on offense and five on defense from his top 20 team of a year ago that led the ACC in total offense and total defense. But, 12 starters do return, equally distributed between the offense and the defense, plus All-ACC placekicker Nelson Welch.

"This year we have to find some linebackers who will take on people and run to the football. We lost some outstanding linebackers from last year and this will be a priority area on defense.

"Offensively, we will start with the center position and the offensive line in general. We have to find a center because Mike Brown and Curtis Whitley played over 95 percent of the snaps last year. We also must find replacements for Jeb Flesch, one of the best linemen in Clemson history, Bruce Bratton and Kelvin Hankins.

"We scrimmaged a lot this spring in order to get the offensive line experience. We like to have two complete lines ready when we enter a game and to do that we must have some younger players step up. The increased amount of scrimmaging also gave Richard Moncrief more work."

Hatfield does have some players returning who are of star quality, including three players who were first-team all-conference in 1991 and another who has been chosen to some preseason All-America teams for 1992. Terry Smith had 52 catches last year, most by a Tiger in 10 years and the top total for a wide receiver in the ACC. Robert O'Neal has been first or second-team All-ACC each of the last three years and is a Thorpe Award and All-America candidate at free safety. Sporting News calls him the number-one safety in the nation entering the 1992 campaign.

Sophomore Nelson Welch was fourth in the nation in field goals per game as a red-shirt freshman and may do double-duty as a punter and placekicker this year. He had 19 field goals to tie Chris Gardocki's freshman record. Stacy Seegars was not All-ACC last year, but he has been named a first-team preseason All-America guard by College & Pro Football Weekly and a third-team choice by Sporting News and Football News.

"This team does not have the depth the last two Clemson teams have had," said Hatfield. "But, there are some fine athletes coming along from the players who red-shirted last season. Plus, we have a fine group of freshmen entering this year. I am looking forward to the first day of practice in August."

Clemson led the ACC in rushing last year with 255 yards per game, the eighth best figure in the nation. Players who accounted for 78.9 percent of the rushing yardage are on the roster for the 1992 season.

The Tigers gained over 400 yards per game in total offense last year, just the second 400-yard team in Clemson history. A more diversified passing attack that threw more passes to every possible receiver in the offensive set averaged over 150 yards per game in 1991, and was a major reason Clemson led the league in total offense. The top nine receivers, who accounted for 98 percent of the receptions and yardage, return for 1992.

"In my first year at Clemson (1990) we had very young players at all the skill positions. In fact, it was our youngest backfield in 50 years at Clemson. Now our strength on offense is at wide receiver and the running back positions.

"Terry Smith is one of the top receivers in the nation and is an All-America candidate. He had a super year catching the football. Larry Ryans is also an outstanding wideout who has world class speed. I think the receiving corps is one of the overall strengths of this team. They have the combination of speed, football smarts and good hands."

Smith led all ACC wide receivers last year with 52 receptions for 829 yards and six scores. The native of Clemson, SC was a first-team All-ACC choice as a sophomore. He is already ranked seventh in Clemson history in reception yardage (1309) and is tied for seventh in total receptions (86). He had consecutive 100-yard receiving games against Maryland and South Carolina last year, the first Tiger to do that in 14 years.

Smith's reception total and yardage total ranked as the highest by a Tiger since 1981 when Perry Tuttle was leading the ACC in receiving. Clemson's current top offensive threat led the conference in total reception yardage in 1991 and already has the Clemson record for receptions by a freshman and a sophomore. He was a fourth-team preseason All-American by Football News and Sporting News this year. A year ago, as a red-shirt sophomore, he was chosen as a first-round draft choice in a mock draft by Sports Illustrated.

Ryans is the other returning starter at the wide receiver position. The native of Greenwood, SC, who is also a four-time All-America hurdler on the Clemson track team, had 20 receptions for 273 yards in 1991. He led the team in kickoff return yards (319) and average (22.8), and was fourth on the team in all-purpose running. A veteran of over 1,000 career plays, Ryans has made significant improvement each year he has been at Clemson.

Jason Davis, Dwayne Bryant, Lance Easton and red-shirt freshman Henry Guess are also players who will figure prominently in Clemson's attack that uses at least four receivers per game. Bryant is the best of the reserves after picking off six passes for 98 yards last year as a sophomore, and he led all wide receivers in knockdown blocks with 25. He did that while playing less than half the offensive snaps.

Davis was also a fine blocker, picking up a knockdown every 14 plays, best among wideouts on a per play basis. Easton is a senior who has played quarterback and also returned kickoffs for the Tigers, while Guess has a prototype build for a wide receiver at 6-2, 200 pounds. He finished second in the state of South Carolina in the 100 meters his senior year of high school and has been clocked at 4.45 in the 40.

"We have some good backs returning, but we are not as deep there as we thought we would be," said Hatfield earlier this summer. "Ronald Williams missed all of spring practice and we are not sure how healthy he will be in 1992 after having reconstructive knee surgery. He has tested well over the summer, but we just won't know until August. Rudy Harris will miss the first three games of 1992 due to a suspension and Paul Caputo was out all spring after he was hit by a car in February.

"We do have Rodney Blunt and Derrick Witherspoon back at the tailback position. Blunt had a great year in 1991. He ran very hard, especially at the end of the season, and was a key reason we were undefeated in our last six regular season games. We gave Witherspoon some time at defensive back in the spring, but he will return to tailback when we start practice in August. Greg Hood was the surprise of the team on offense this past spring. He is a gutsy guy who will see time this fall. Howard Hall is a veteran fullback who hopefully will avoid injury this year, and I look for good things from Marrio Grier this year."

Blunt gained 747 yards in 175 attempts in 1991 and scored four touchdowns. A hard worker at all times, Blunt hit the ground running, literally, when he got the call after Williams's injury. Over the last six regular season games Blunt averaged 91.2 yards per game and finished fifth in the league in rushing yards per game.

The highlight of his season was a 163-yard effort against Duke. Also an accomplished receiver with 20-178, Blunt ranked in a tie for second on the team in receptions. It was the highest reception total for a Clemson running back in over 20 years.

Williams was having a great season with 585 yards in just 82 attempts, a 7.1 average, and was ranked in the top 10 in the nation in rushing through the first five games. But, a knee injury in workouts prior to the N.C. State game virtually shelved him for the season. He had a knee reconstruction to repair a torn ACL. Even though he appeared in just six games, Williams was still a second-team All-ACC choice.

Williams was the ACC Rookie-of-the-Year and first-team All-ACC in 1990 and he already has over 1500 yards in his 17-game career. He reached 1,000 yards rushing just 185 carries into his career, the fastest ascension to that landmark in Clemson history.

pass reception of the season. His 5.0 career rushing average is second best among active Tigers.

Hood is a 5-6, 152-pound dynamo who was the leading rusher in the Spring game with 103 yards in 16 attempts. He gained nearly 100 yards per scrimmage last spring. The former track letterman at Clemson was a personnel recruiter for the South Carolina National Guard last winter.

Rudy Harris was third on the club in rushing in 1991 and second in 1990. He had 524 yards rushing and a team best nine touchdowns last season. Like Blunt, Harris finished with a rush, highlighted by a 126-yard effort against Duke and a 83-yard effort against California in the Citrus Bowl.

The senior from Brockton, MA has 14 touchdowns for his career, more than any other active Tiger. Harris will not be available for the first three games due to a suspension. Harris temporarily entered into an agreement with an agent last January, when he felt he wanted to turn pro. He soon changed his mind. Unfortunately, two of the games he will miss will be against ACC rivals Florida State and Georgia Tech.

Howard Hall, Paul Caputo and Marrio Grier will also be factored into the fullback picture, a position that has had outstanding depth in the two years Hatfield has been at Clemson. Hall has been a starter off and on the last couple of years, but both years a mid-season knee injury has curtailed his productivity in late October and November. Hall had 83 yards in 27 attempts last year.

Caputo started four games at fullback and gained just 20 yards in eight attempts last year, but the senior is an outstanding blocker. He showed his blocking skills when he had eight knockdown blocks in 42 plays of action. He missed all of practice this past spring after he was struck by a motorist while crossing a street as a pedestrian in Clemson last February.

Grier is a red-shirt freshman who will challenge for significant playing time next year. He gained 2700 yards and scored 42 touchdowns in high school and Clemson coaches were impressed with his skills during his red-shirt season. He had 66 yards on nine carries in the Spring game.

Richard Moncrief is the leading candidate to replace Cameron as the starting signal caller for 1992. It will be no easy task because Cameron was second in the ACC in passing efficiency behind Matt Blundin of Virginia in 1991, and led Clemson to a 19-4-1 record over two years as the starter, the best winning percentage in Clemson history.

Moncrief played 154 snaps in 11 games last year and completed 14-32 passes for 216 yards. Three of those passes went for touchdowns, however, and his efficiency rating of 119 for the year was actually higher than Cameron's.

Moncrief, a junior from Montgomery, AL, was the offensive MVP of the Coca Cola Bowl win over Duke when he passed for 51 yards and a touchdown and ran for 46 yards and another TD in a 26-point fourth quarter. An accomplished option quarterback, Moncrief averaged 7.4 yards a carry over his last 21 carries. For the season he gained 183 yards in 32 attempts on the ground and averaged 6.3 yards a play in terms of total offense for the season.

Louis Solomon is the backup signal caller heading into 1992. The only red-shirt freshman among the first two teams of Clemson players on offense, Solomon had a fine spring game, rushing for 68 yards and passing for 48. Three incoming freshmen (Dexter McCleon, Patrick Sapp and Marcus Hinton) who were all ranked among the top 10 running and passing quarterbacks in the country by some services, will also compete for time this fall.

The offensive line will feature all-star candidate Stacy Seegars, a 320-pounder who is the largest offensive guard in Clemson history. Seegars played more snaps than any other player last year (808) and was among the team leaders in knockdown blocks with 46. He might have been Clemson's most improved offensive lineman over the course of last season.

"We are counting on an all-conference season from Stacy Seegars in 1992," said Hatfield. "He made great strides over the course of the season and was one of the reasons we led the ACC in total offense last year."

The native of Kershaw, SC had seven knockdowns in the victory over 12th-ranked N.C. State and graded 84 percent in the victory over South Carolina. A player who works hard on conditioning, Seegars set a Clemson record in the weight room during the off-season with a 1,140-pound entry in the leg-sled push. He was named a first-team preseason All-American by College & Pro Football Weekly, and ranks as a third-team preseason choice by Football News and Sporting News.

Joining Seegars at guard should be Jeff Fortner. The junior college transfer played only 83 snaps in his first year behind All-American Jeb Flesch, but he should see much more action in his senior year. Fortner (287 pounds) and Seegars give Clemson the biggest pair of guards in Clemson history. Dustin Rash, Alex Dial, Joe Boylan and Nick Blinsky are the other scholarship offensive guards who should provide backup strength this year. Dial and Blinsky have seen game action in the past, while Rash and Boylan both red-shirted last year.

Les Hall saw more action than any other reserve in 1991.

Howard Hall hopes to finally have an injury-free season.

Les Hall and Brent LeJeune were not starters last year, but they both saw significant playing time. In fact, Hall was in for 498 snaps, more than any non-starter over the course of the season. Hall actually started two games when Bruce Bratton was injured and he responded with fine efforts. His top game was in the win over Maryland when he graded 88 percent. At 313 pounds and 6-7, he is a player many NFL scouts will keep an eye on this year. LeJeune saw 172 plays of action from scrimmage in earning a letter as a sophomore. The native of Lake Charles, LA was consistent last year, registering at least one knockdown block in nine of the 10 games he played in.

Andre Hewitt and Robert Jackson are a pair of newcomers who will provide backup strength, while Mike Kunz was one of just a handful of freshmen linemen in the last five years to see action. Hewitt was a JC All-American in 1991 who enrolled at Clemson this past January. Jackson, the largest football player in Clemson history at 6-6 and 345 pounds, was the Gatorade Player-of-the-Year in Washington, DC as a high school athlete.

The center position is up for grabs. Mike Brown and Curtis Whitley were outstanding centers last year and major reasons Clemson averaged 5.41 yards per play. John Harris is the leading candidate. The senior played 268 plays as a guard last year, but has played center as recently as the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl victory over Illinois. Trevor Putnam and JC All-American Bryce Nelson will also vie for the position. Nelson moved to the second-team slot with a fine spring. The Coffeyville JC transfer benefitted from his enrollment at Clemson in January of 1992. He was ranked as the sixth best center prospect in the nation by Max Emfinger. Putnam red-shirted last season, his first on the Clemson campus.

The tight end position is in the capable hands of Ty Gibson. The junior had 14 catches for 149 yards last year and was also outstanding as a blocker. He had 12 knockdown blocks against Virginia and was named ACC Player-of-the-Week. The native of Newnan, GA played 607 snaps last year, the sixth highest total among offensive players. Stephon Wynn, who played more offensive snaps than any other freshman last year, and Steve Derriso, an academic honor roll student for 1991-92, are two more returning lettermen at the tight end position.

defense that allowed just 53.4 yards a game during the regular season, the second best rushing defense in college football over the last 20 years.

Gone from the front line are All-American Rob Bodine and All-ACC tackle Chester McGlockton. But, Brentson Buckner, a tackle last year, will be the man in the middle this year as he moves to a guard position. Despite losing two all-star players Hatfield feels the defensive line can still be a strength.

"We had great depth on the interior last year and as a result we have some players returning who saw a lot of action, and played well. Depth at the three down linemen positions has been a key to Clemson's defensive success in recent years and, despite losing two terrific players in Bodine and McGlockton, I think we will still have a formidable front line."

Buckner was seventh on the entire team in total tackles last year with 56. He is third among returning tacklers from last year's defense, best among Clemson's first line of defense. He tallied 10 tackles for loss and 5.5 sacks in a solid sophomore season.

The red-shirt junior averages a tackle every 6.88 tackles over his career, second best among active players. The 310-pounder had his best game at North Carolina last year when he had eight stops, including two tackles for loss and a sack in just 38 plays.

In addition to Buckner, there are five returning lettermen at the three interior defensive line positions. Al Richard is a senior who is a veteran of 30 games and eight starts in his career at Clemson, while Arthur Bussie had 21 tackles in eight games as a reserve in 1991.

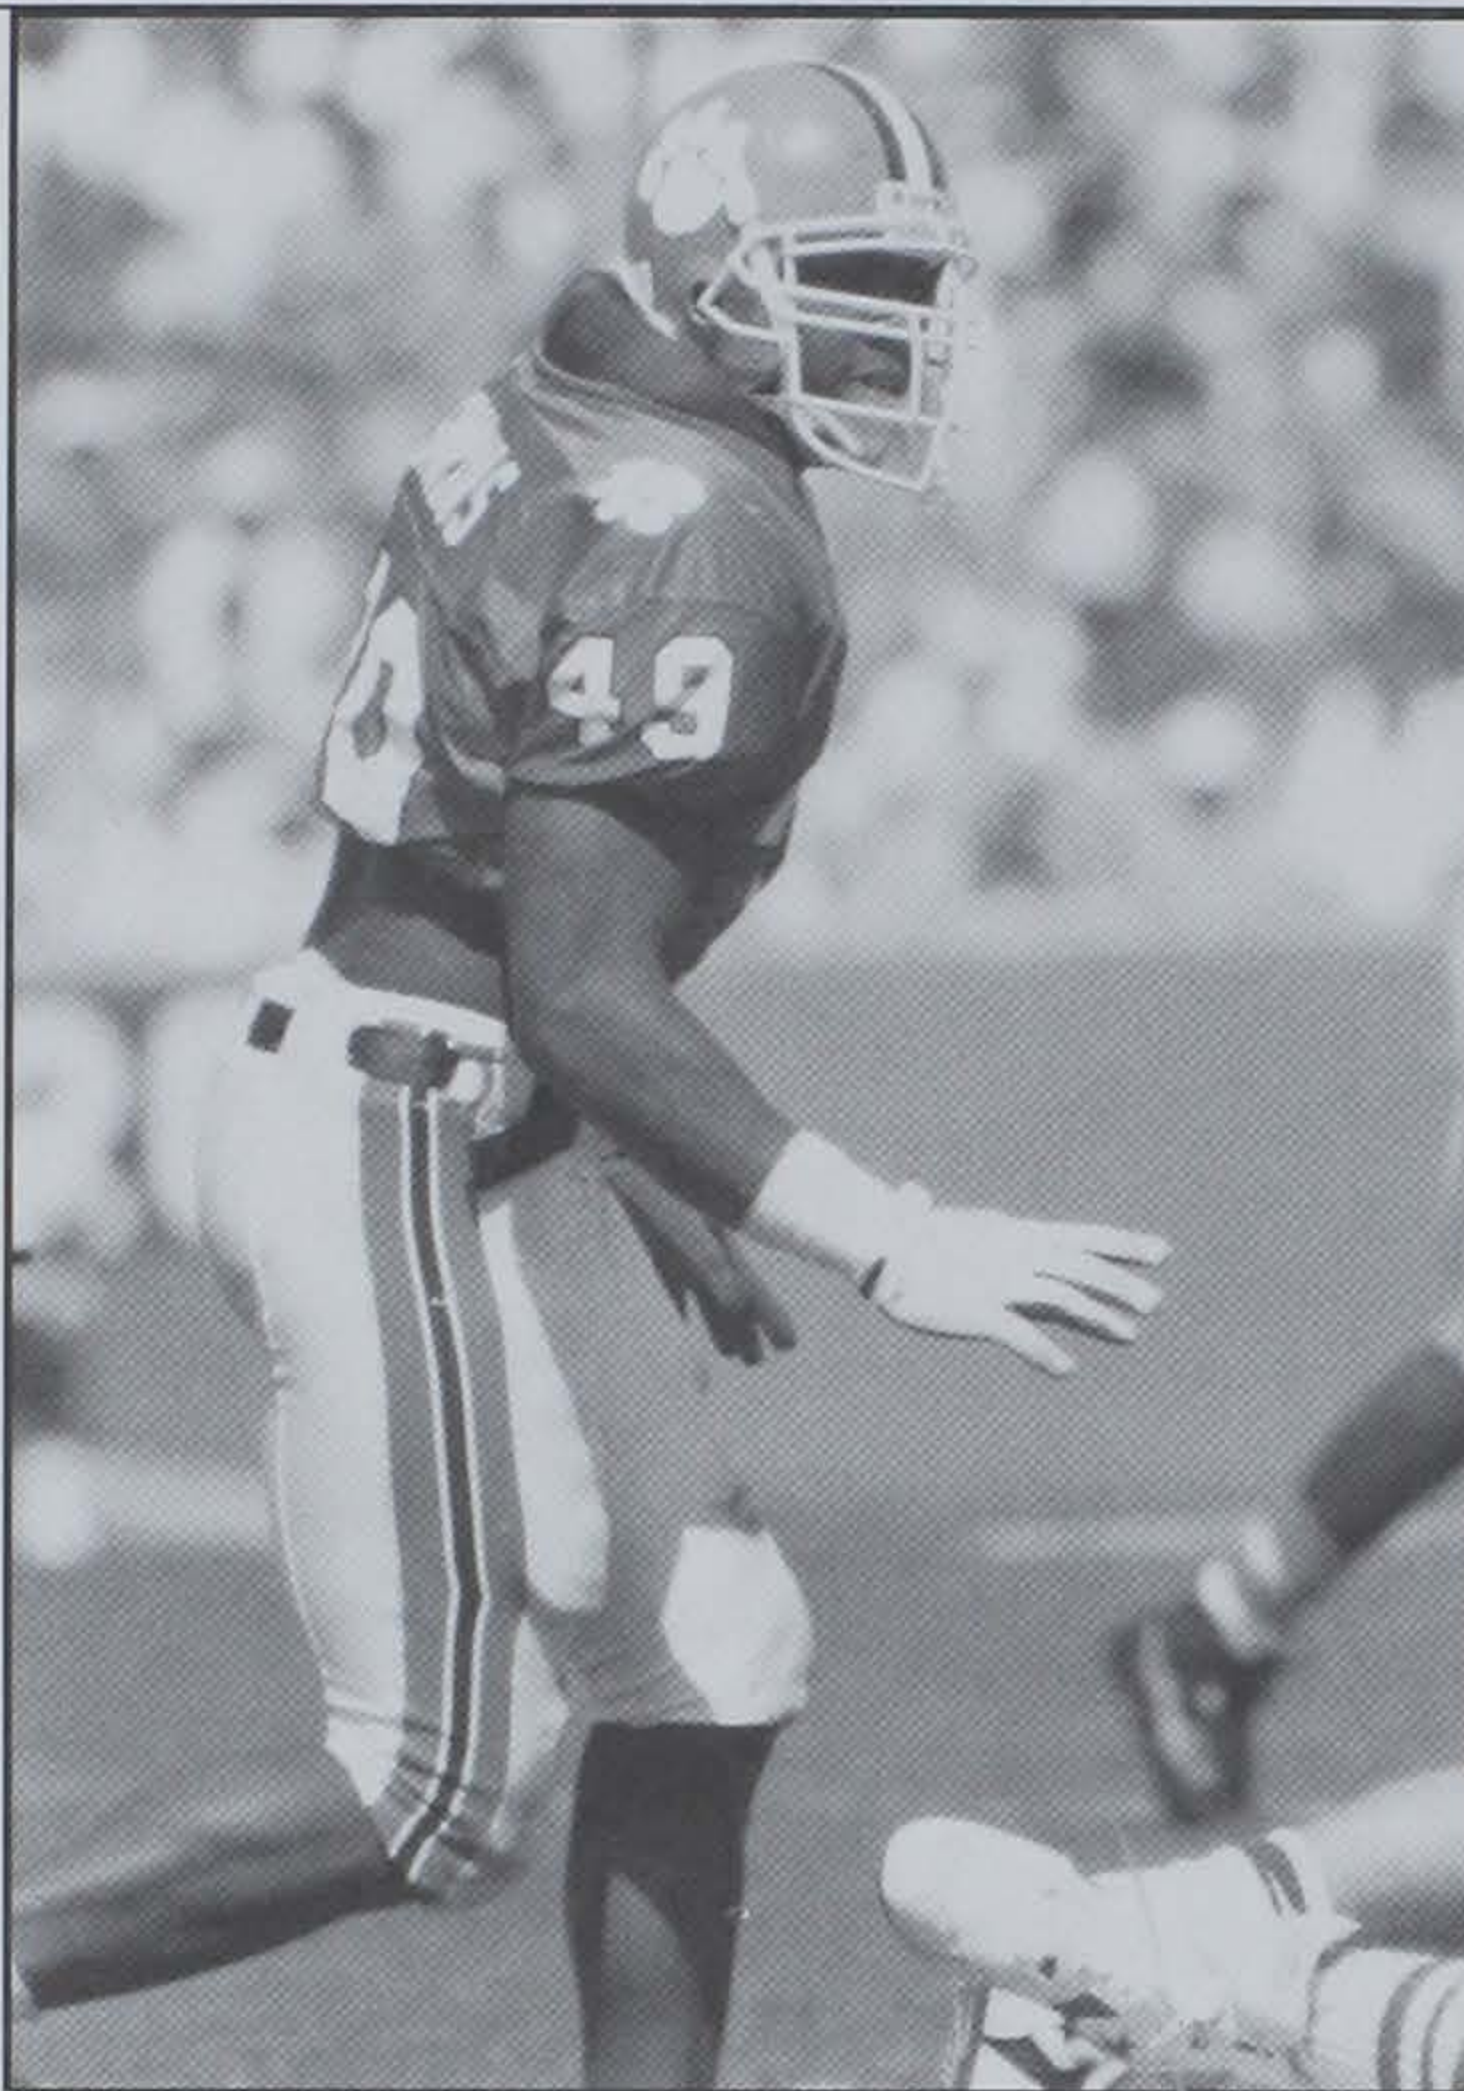

Pierre Wilson played in nine contests last year, while first-year freshman Warren Forney had eight stops in seven games as a reserve. Tyrone Simpson, a letterman from the 1990 team who was out of school last year for academic reasons, also returns to the defensive front in 1992.

All of these players are prime reasons Clemson opponents have reached 100 yards rushing just five times in the 24 games Hatfield has coached at Clemson. "We have a tradition to carry on defensively," said Buckner. "When we ranked first in the nation in total defense in 1990 we brought Clemson football to another level, because Clemson had never been ranked number-one in total defense. Last year we kept it going with a number-one ranking in rushing defense."

The starting outside linebacker positions are set with the return of Ashley Sheppard and Wayne Simmons, a pair of seniors who have played over 900 snaps apiece over the last three seasons. Clemson used Sheppard and Simmons in a revolving system with two-time All-American Levon Kirkland the last three years, but in 1992 this duo should see a higher percentage of the action.

Buckner is a 300-pounder who could be among the best middle guards in the nation.

Simmons has already been a part of three top-five defenses at Clemson.

Simmons, who had 49 total tackles last year, is already ranked in the top 15 in career tackles for loss and sacks at Clemson. He had 11 tackles for loss and six sacks, third best on the team, in 1991. Sheppard, also a demon on special teams, is a 6-5, 254-pounder who had 52 tackles last year, a figure that leads all returning outside linebackers.

Both Simmons and Sheppard have played 36 career games entering their senior seasons. They have been a part of three top five total defense teams and will be looked to for leadership in 1992. Rod Adams, Marvin Cross and James Sims figure to be the younger players who look to Simmons and Sheppard for guidance. Adams played 23 snaps on scrimmage plays and much more action on special teams as a freshman in 1991, while Sims and Cross are both coming off red-shirt seasons.

The inside linebacker position must replace Ed McDaniel and Chuck O'Brien, a pair of fifth-year seniors who combined for 159 tackles last year. Kenzil Jackson and Tim Jones appear to be the leading candidates to see the most playing time at the inside linebacker slots, but first-year sophomore Michael Barber was coming on strong at the conclusion of spring practice.

Jackson is Clemson's leading returning tackler from last year with 63 stops. He played in all 12 games, six as a starter and also had four tackles for loss and seven pass deflections. He was Clemson's top defensive player at Georgia with 10 tackles and three stops behind the line of scrimmage. The only senior inside linebacker on the Tiger squad has 150 career tackles, second among active Tigers.

Jones, a native of Rock Hill, SC, had 22 tackles in eight games and saw most of his action on special teams. Barber had 14 tackles in 11 contests as a first-year freshman outside linebacker in 1991. He will move to the inside linebacker slot for 1992. He was the top defensive player in the spring game with eight tackles and a 31-yard interception return for a touchdown. He showed his athletic ability by diving in the end zone from the five-yard line for the score.

Darren Calhoun, a two-year letterman and special teams standout, will also compete at the inside linebacker slot.

The secondary returns three starters from last year, plus a senior three-year letterman who is among the fastest 200-meter man in the United States.

"We should have a fine secondary this year," said Hatfield. "We gave up too many big plays last year and we will work hard to correct that this spring. Robert O'Neal will be the leader there and one of the leaders of the entire team. He is among the top safeties in the country."

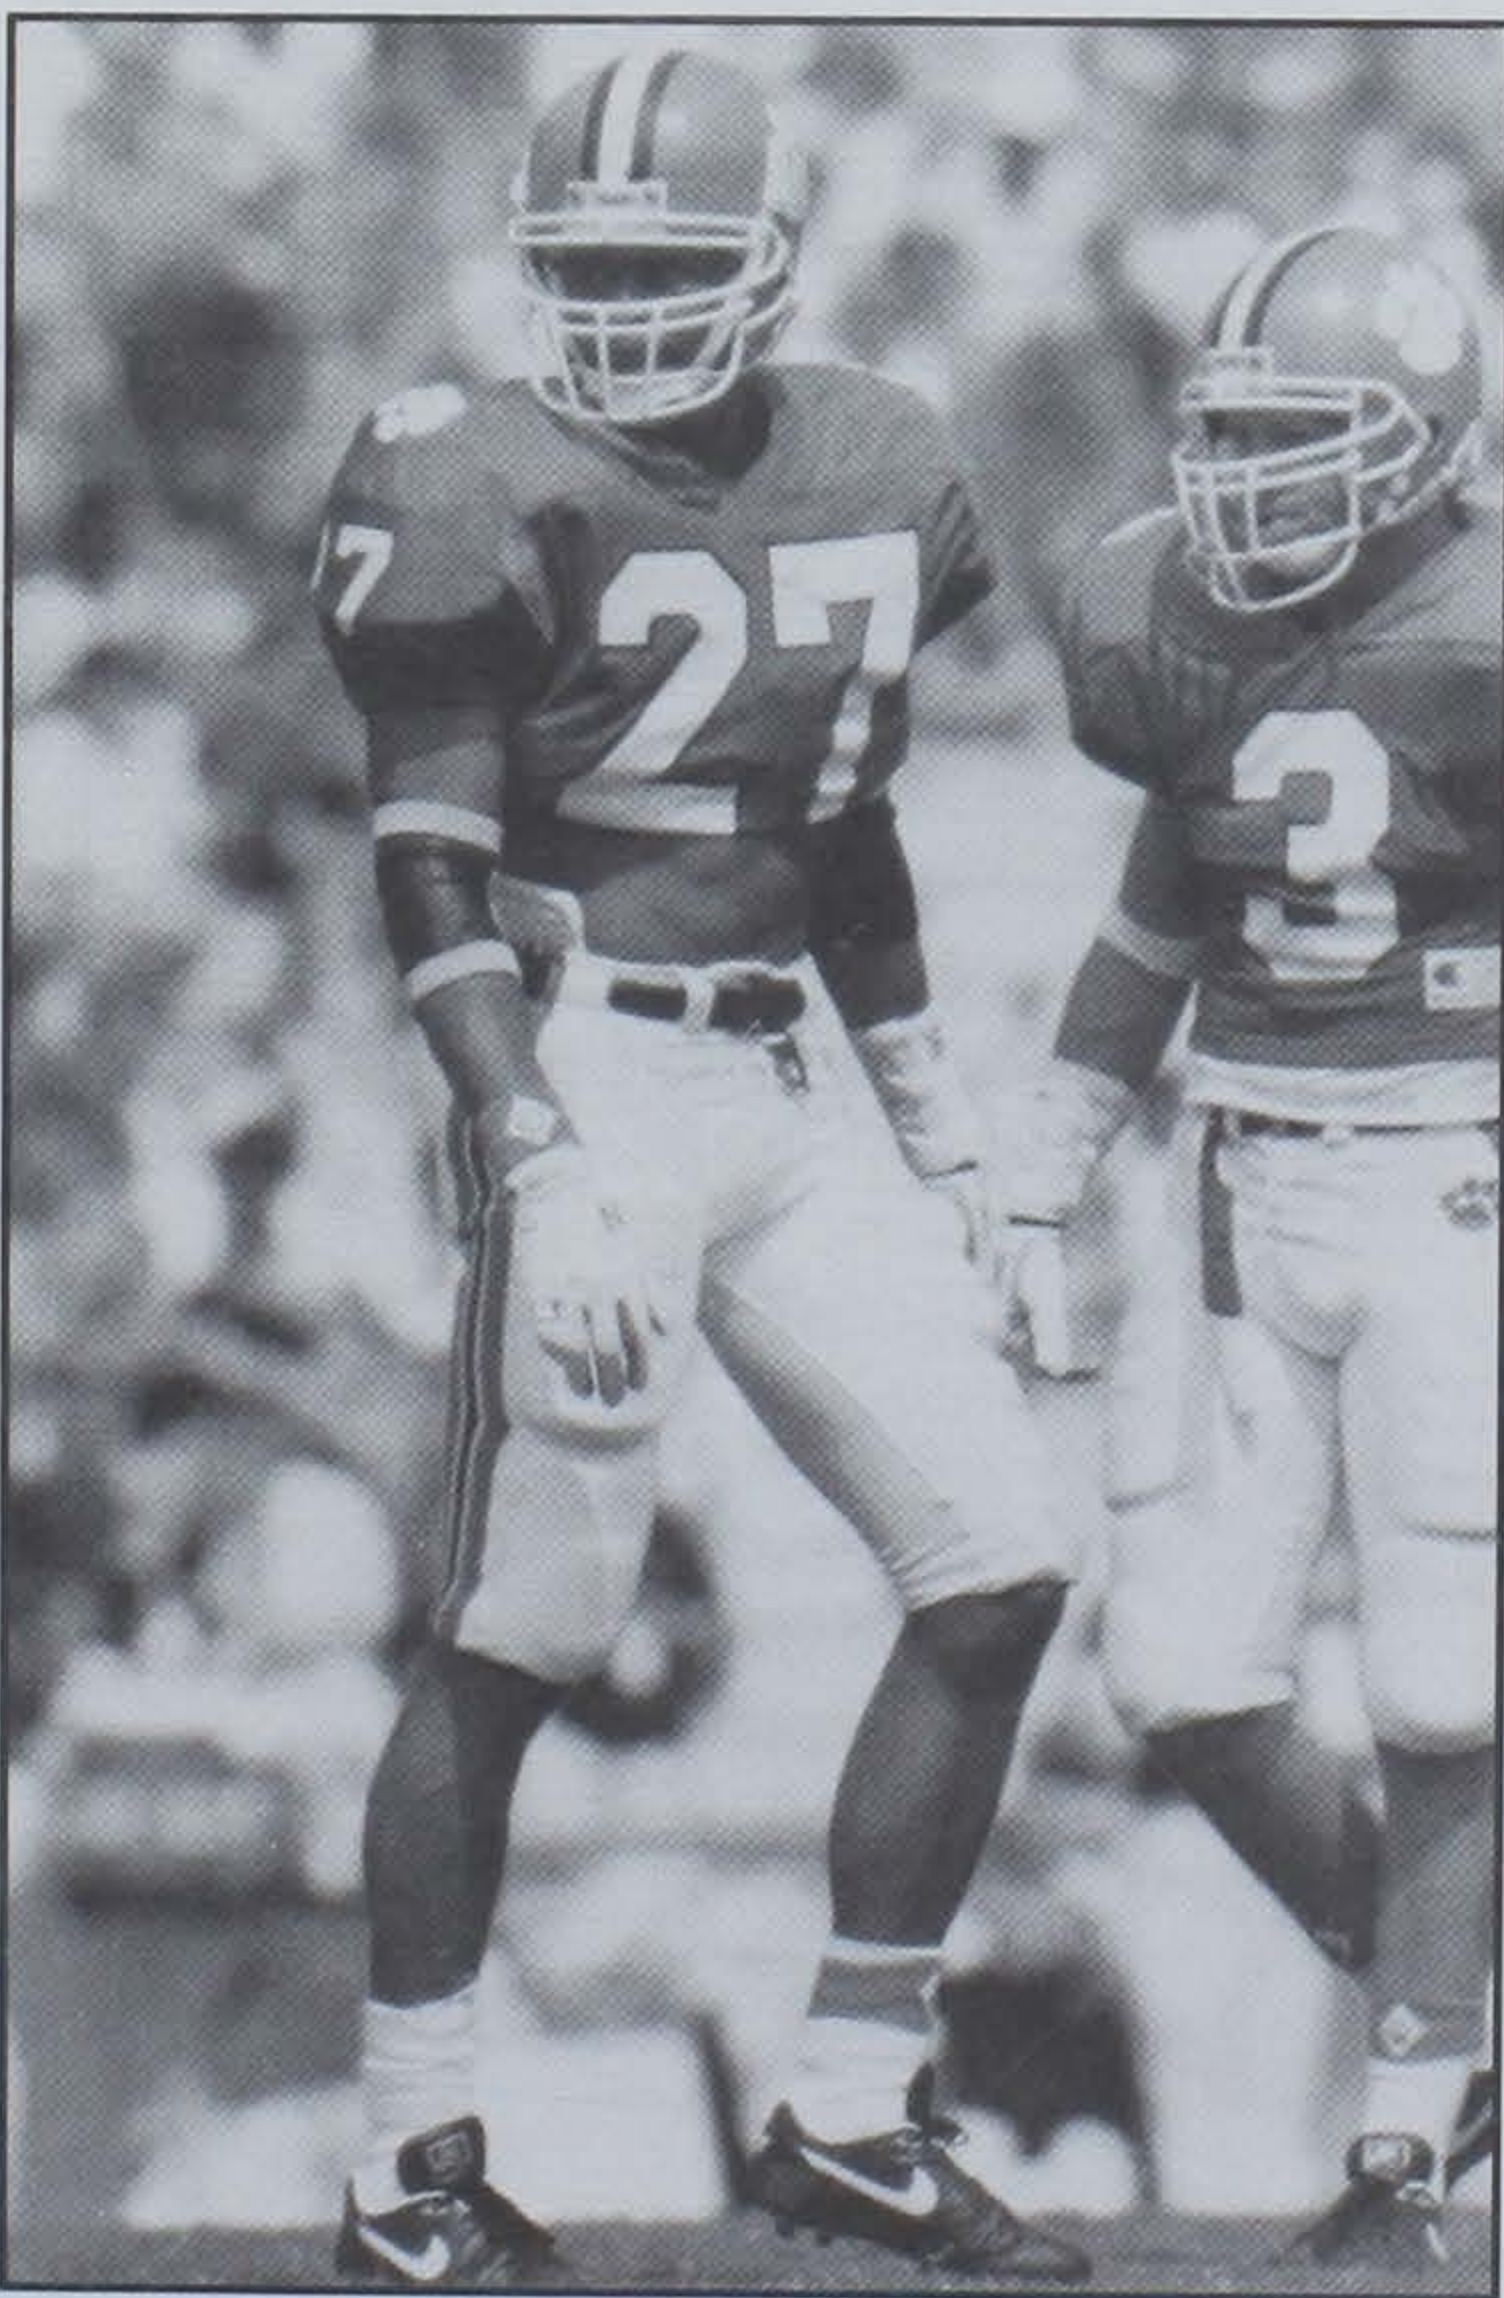

Geter is a returning cornerback who started every game in 1991.

O'Neal is fifth in Clemson history in career interceptions and career pass deflections. The senior from Clarkston, GA was sixth on the team in tackles last year with 59, the second highest total among returnees for 1992. He was second in the ACC with 11 passes broken up. The 1992 Thorpe Award candidate also found time to average 10.4 yards per punt return, 29th best in the nation. O'Neal has a chance to become the first football player in Clemson history to be first or second-team All-ACC in four different seasons.

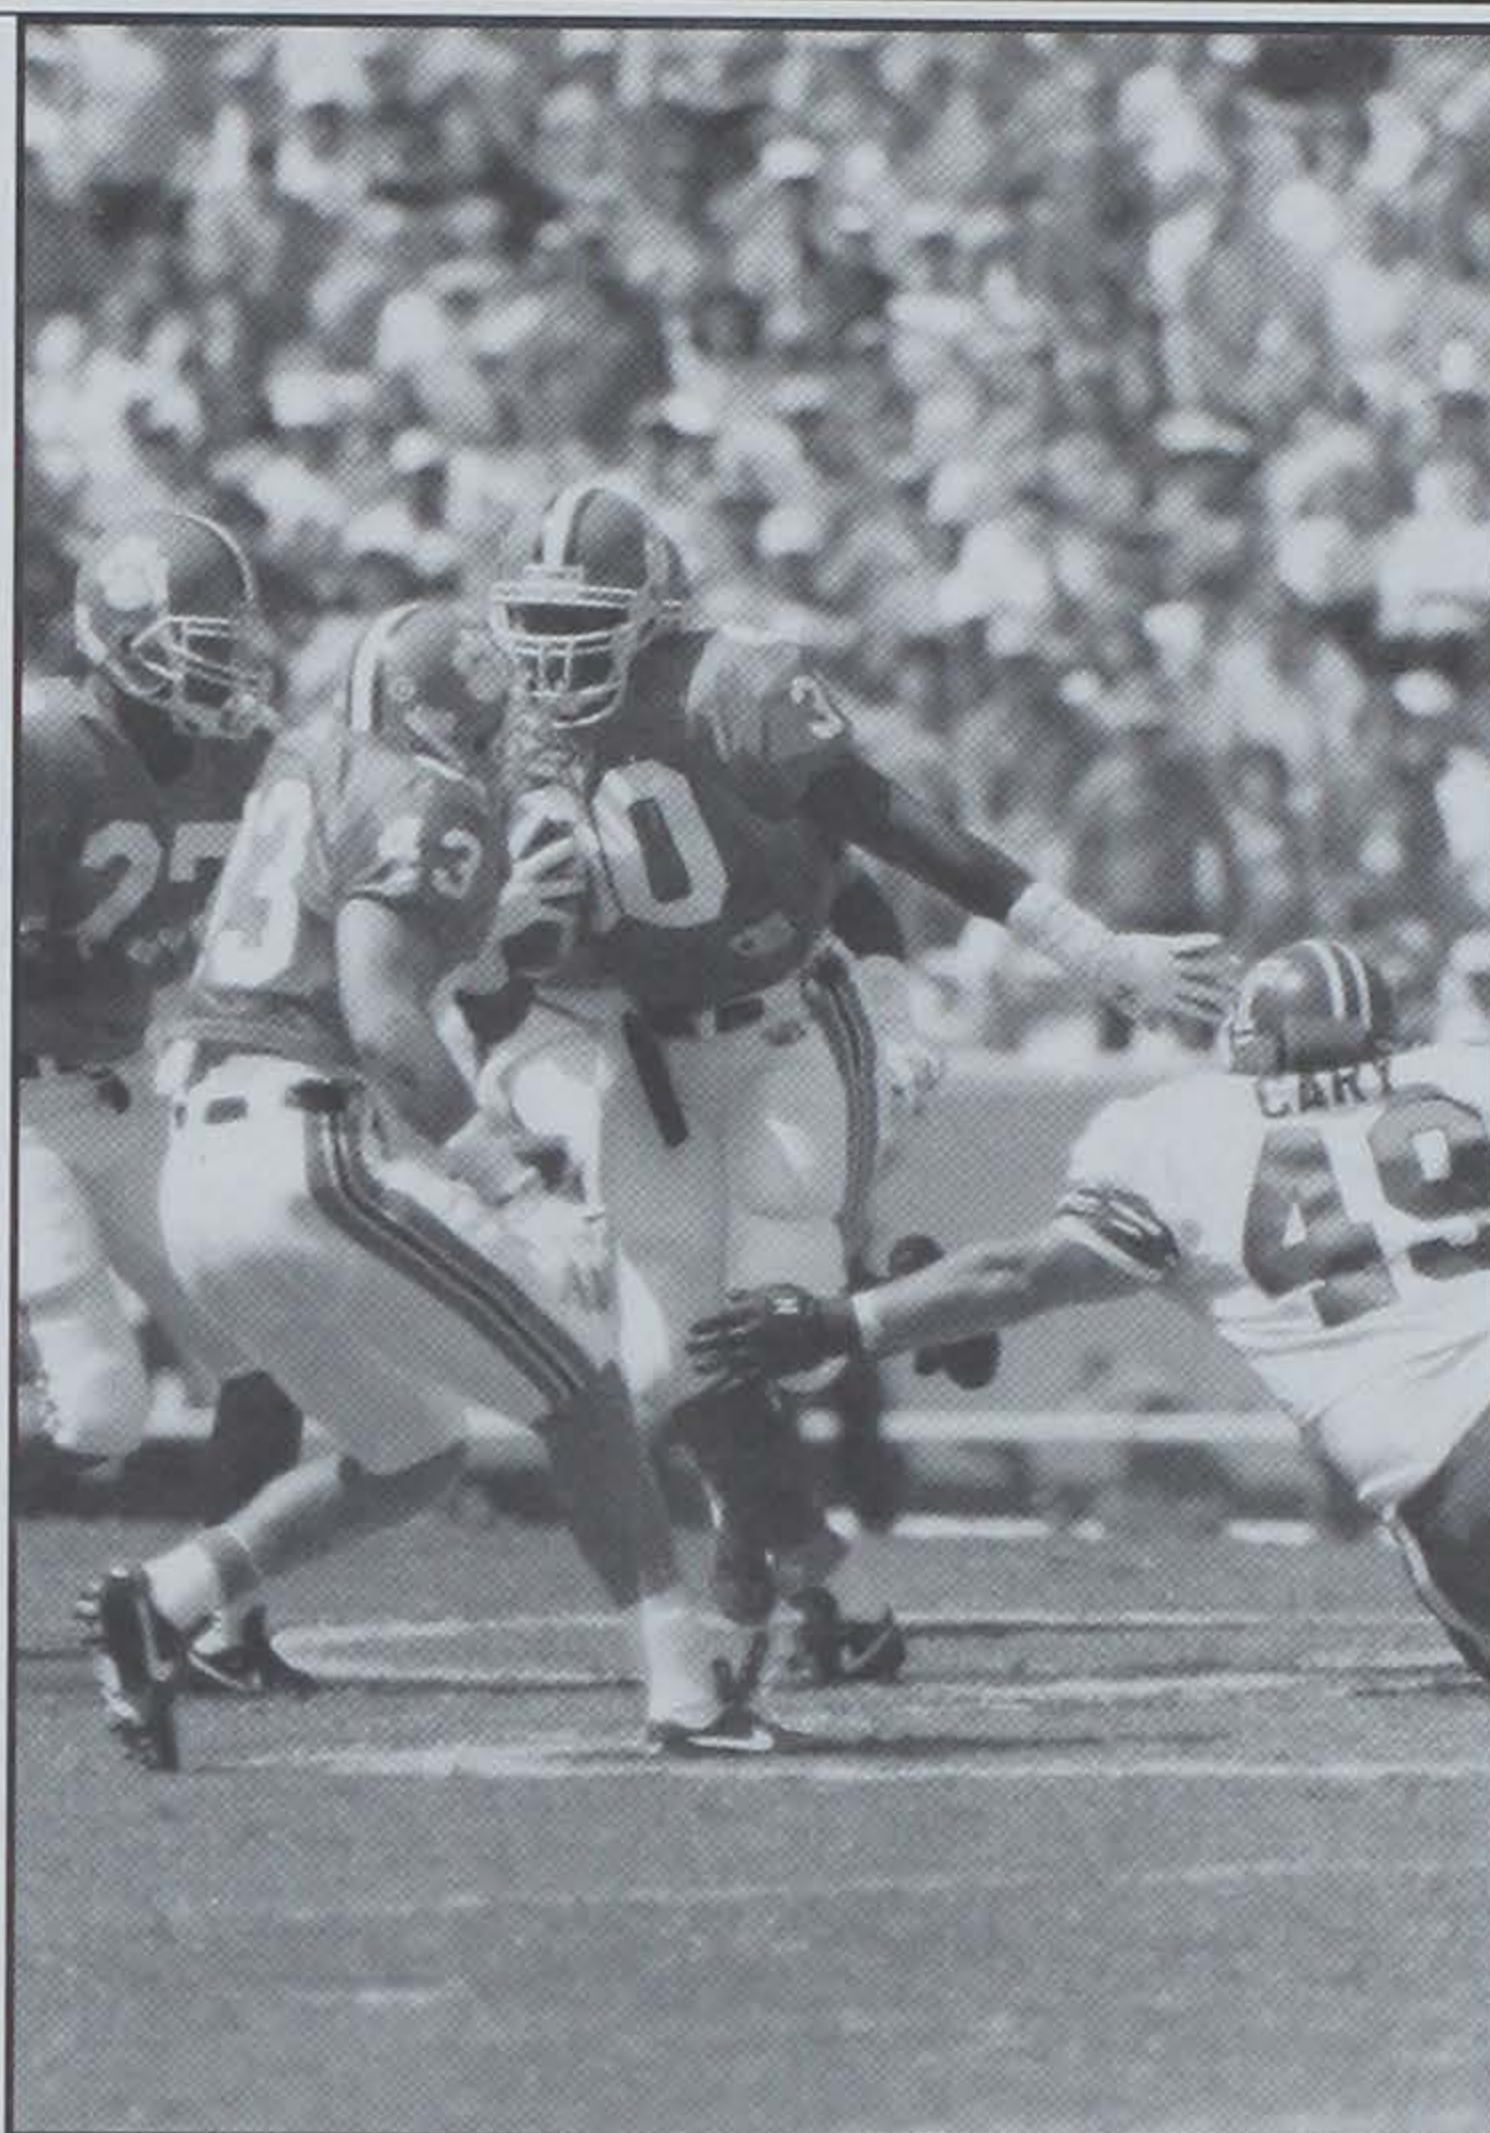

The native of Clarkston, GA has received many preseason honors. He was named the number-one free safety in the nation by Sporting News and has been listed as a first-team All-American by Sporting News, Athlon, and Football News and is a second team choice by College & Pro Football Weekly.

Darnell Stephens will be O'Neal's runningmate in terms of punt returns and at the starting safety positions. Stephens was eighth in the nation in punt returns with a 12.5 average, including an 89-yarder against Maryland, longest in the ACC last year. Stephens played safety and cornerback last year as a first-year freshman and had 40 tackles and six passes broken up. He was a second-team freshman All-American according to Football News.

Butch Fewster, Eldred Ramtahal and Andye McCrorey also figure to see action at the safety slots this season. Fewster was a demon on special teams and was one of just two Tigers to block a punt last year. Ramtahal did not play in a game last year, but had a fine spring practice, while McCrorey was the defensive MVP in the South Carolina North-South game two years ago. He red-shirted the 1991 season.

James Trapp, a 10-time All-American in track, will battle for one of the cornerback spots.

Stephens was eighth in the nation in punt returns and was a second-team freshman All-American in the secondary in 1991.

Eric Geter is a returning starter at one cornerback. The native of Georgia has earned three letters so far in his career. He had 41 tackles and five pass deflections in 1991. Norris Brown, the nickel back in Clemson's defensive alignment last year, has moved from safety to cornerback and could be a starting corner in 1992. He is another three-time letterman who will see much action. James Trapp should also see considerable playing time at cornerback. He is a 10-time All-American in track, was a member of the United States Olympic Team as a member of the 400m relay, and won the national championship in the 200 meters at the 1992 NCAA indoor meet.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Nelson Welch returns as the starting placekicker. He connected on 19 field goals as a red-shirt freshman, including two in the Citrus Bowl against California. He set an all-time Clemson record with five field goals in the victory over N.C. State, including three of over 40 yards. Welch led the ACC in field goals per game and ranked fourth in the nation, as he continued Clemson's outstanding tradition for placekicking even after the goal posts were narrowed in 1991.

Chuck Lynch, the starting punter in 1991, has graduated. Welch might attempt to double up his duties, ala Chris Gardocki, roles he filled during his days as a high school All-American. Walk-on Matt Bullman, a sophomore from Roebuck, SC, is also a candidate who will get many punt attempts in pre-fall drills. Clemson graduate student Roger Hutchins is back for another year as the snapper.

In terms of the return game, Clemson might have the best punt return combination in the nation in Robert O'Neal and Darnell Stephens. Both ranked in the top 30 in the nation in punt returns last year. As far as kickoff returns, Larry Ryans, an All-America hurdler, returns to lead the way. Hatfield could put James Trapp deep for kickoff returns, which could give him a pair of All-America sprinters in that area.

Tigers Win 13th ACC Title

Clemson clinched its 13th ACC championship with a 40-7 victory over Maryland on November 16. The Tigers have now won 12 outright titles and tied for another (1965 with N.C. State) over the years, more than any other school. Maryland is second with eight ACC titles, while Duke is third with seven.

Clemson had not won the ACC championship since 1988. That season, Clemson had a 6-1 record in the league and clinched the championship with a 49-25 win at Maryland. In fact, Clemson has now clinched the ACC title in a game against Maryland each of the last four times it has won the title. In 1987 Clemson clinched the ACC title with a 45-16 win over Maryland, and in 1986 Clemson clinched in a 17-17 tie with Maryland in Baltimore.

Clemson Rushing Defense 2nd Best in Last 20 Years

Clemson won the national total defense championship in 1990, allowing just 217 yards per game. In 1991, Clemson won the national rushing defense championship allowing just 53.4 yards per game. That is the best rushing defense by any team since 1982 and the second best since 1970. In 1982 Virginia Tech led the country by allowing just 49.5 yards a game. Prior to that you have to go back to the 1970 LSU team led by Rock Perdoni that allowed just 52.2 yards per game to find a rushing defense better than Clemson's last year.

Top Rushing Defenses in College Football Since 1970

Rk	School	Year	Y/G

8.	Auburn	1988	63.2
9.	Michigan	1971	63.3
10.	Pittsburgh	1980	65.3

A look to the ACC record book tells us that this is also the best rushing defense in league history. Clemson's 1990 team held the previous record with a 71.7 average. Clemson also broke its own ACC record in terms of rushing defense per attempt. This year's team allowed just 1.63 yards (58.68 inches, or an average gimme putt for a weekend golfer) per rush, breaking the previous ACC record of 2.27 yards per attempt set by the 1987 team.

Clemson allowed just five rushing touchdowns in 1991 and that was just one more than the record of four allowed by the Clemson team of 1981. Maryland's 1981 team and N.C. State's 1967 club also allowed just four rushing touchdowns over the course of a season.

Offense Second Best in Clemson History

Clemson averaged 403.0 yards per game in terms of total offense in 1991, the second best average for a single season in Clemson history. The figure is even better than the average put together by the 1981 National Championship team. Only the 1978 team led by Steve Fuller and Jerry Butler and four other starters who went on to start in the NFL, is better.

Clemson was eighth in the nation in rushing yards per game with an average of 251.6 yards per game, but it is a stepped up passing attack that made the difference in terms of total offense as compared with previously successful Clemson teams. Clemson averaged 151.4 yards a game in the air, hit on 54 percent of its passes and threw just 11 interceptions all season.

Hatfield Among Best in College Football For a Decade

Over the last 10 years, Clemson head Coach Ken Hatfield has the fourth best winning percentage among coaches who have been in Division I for every year since 1982. He also is tied for third in total coaching victories since 1982 with his 92-28-2 record. Ironically, he is tied with Bobby Bowden of Florida State (92-25-3), who will come to Clemson for a contest with the Tigers on September 12.

A look to the charts tells us that only Tom Osborne of Nebraska and LaVell Edwards of Brigham Young have more coaching victories as a Division I head coach than Hatfield since 1982. Hatfield, Edwards, Bowden and Tom Osborne are the only coaches to take a Division I team to a bowl game each of the last 10 seasons.

Clemson Bowl Success

Clemson won five bowl games between 1986-90 and the Tigers have been to a bowl game for seven consecutive years, the longest streak of its kind in ACC history.

Clemson defeated Stanford (27-21, 1986 Gator), Penn State (35-10, 1987 season, Citrus), Oklahoma (13-6, 1988 season, Citrus), West Virginia (27-7, 1989 Gator) and Illinois (30-0, 1990 season, Hall of Fame), during the streak. California ended the run in the 1992 Florida Citrus Bowl.

Eight times in the history of college football a team has won a bowl game in at least five consecutive seasons. Clemson is one of those eight programs. On seven other occasions a school has won at least five straight bowl games, but there have been seasons in the middle of the streak in which that school did not participate in a bowl. Southern Cal is the only school to have two streaks of at least five straight bowl wins.

Smith Had Back-to-back 100-yard Games

Clemson wide receiver Terry Smith had five receptions for 117 yards against South Carolina, the second straight game he had at least 100 yards receiving in a game. He also had 120 yards receiving on four receptions against Maryland on November 16 in Clemson's final home game of the season.

The last Clemson player to pick up over 100 yards receiving in back-to-back games is Jerry Butler. The 1978 All-American had 124 yards receiving against North Carolina, then had 140 yards at Maryland the following Saturday, a game that clinched the ACC championship.

Smith finished off the regular season in grand style with three catches for 68 yards against Duke, but he caught two passes for TDs.

Smith had 52 receptions for 829 yards for the 1991 season. His reception total is the most by a Clemson player since Perry Tuttle had 52 catches in 1981. His reception yardage total is also the most since Tuttle had 883 in 1981.

O'Neal All-America Candidate for 1992

Clemson senior Robert O'Neal was one of 16 semifinalists for the Jim Thorpe Award in 1991. He should be a strong candidate to move further along in the race for the nation's top defensive back in 1992. O'Neal was sixth on Clemson's number-four ranked total defense with 59 tackles. He also had a team best 11 pass deflections and two interceptions. Rarely did opposing quarterbacks throw his way.

Terry Smith had back-to-back 100-yard receiving games in 1991, the first Tiger to do that in 13 years.

Heading into his senior campaign, the four-year starter has 28 career pass deflections and 10 interceptions. He ranks fifth in Clemson history in career deflections and is tied for fifth in career interceptions. Donnell Woolford, Delton Hall, Dexter Davis and Terry Kinard, all players in the NFL or former NFL players, are the only players ahead of O'Neal in terms of career pass deflections.

O'Neal is a preseason first-team All-American according to The Sporting News, and is a second-team choice by College & Pro Football Weekly and Football News.

Four 1991 Tiger Seniors Received All-America Mention

Four Clemson football players, Jeb Flesch (OG, Sr, Morrow, GA), Levon Kirkland (OLB, Sr., Lamar, SC), Ed McDaniel (ILB, Sr., Batesburg, SC) and Rob Bodine (MG, Sr., Velva, ND) received first-team All-America honors in 1991.

It is interesting to note that all four players were never chosen among the top 200 players in the country by any High School All-America service during their prep days. In fact, only McDaniel made an all-state team in high school, and he was not a consensus selection.

Flesch and Kirkland each made four first-team All-America squads for 1991 to lead the way, while Bodine was a first-team selection by Football Writers and McDaniel was first-team by College & Pro Football Weekly. Kirkland was a second-team choice by two services, while Bodine was named second-team by three different services. McDaniel had one third-team selection and two honorable mentions to go with his first-team choice.

Flesch led the Tigers in knockdown blocks last year with 77 and he finished his career second on the all-time Clemson knockdown list with 267. Bodine had a Clemson record tying 27 tackles for loss last season and was second on the Tiger team in tackles with 108. He was a key reason Clemson allowed just 53.4 yards per game on the ground last year, best in the nation and second best by any Division I team in the last 20 years. Only the Perry Brothers (Williams and Michael Dean) have more career tackles for loss at Clemson than Bodine.

Kirkland had 67 stops to rank third on the team this past season. He also had 12 tackles for loss in 1991 and 19 sacks for his career, tied for third in Clemson history. McDaniel led Clemson in tackles with 114, the third time in his four years that he paced Clemson in tackles. He had 389 tackles in his career, third best in Clemson history.

Five of Clemson's Best

Five of the top 12 Clemson defensive players in Tiger annals in terms of tackles for loss were members of the 1991 team. Only one of them will return for 1992, Wayne Simmons.

Senior middle guard Rob Bodine and outside linebacker Levon Kirkland both finished their careers in the top five in Clemson history. Bodine, who had 27 stops behind the line last year, is third with 48 for his career, while Kirkland is fifth with 40. Chester McGlockton, who played just three years before opting for the NFL, moved all the way to sixth in Clemson history. He had three in the bowl game and finished his career with 39.

Flesch Had All-America Season

Senior offensive guard Jeb Flesch had another outstanding game in Clemson's loss to California in the Florida Citrus Bowl. The native of Morrow, GA made his 45th straight start for the Tigers dating back to the fourth game of his freshman season. That is the highest streak in Clemson history and he finished his career second on the Clemson list for total starts by an offensive lineman. He was named a first-team All-American by four services, including AP, UPI and the Walter Camp Foundation.

Flesch helped Clemson gain 503 yards in total offense against South Carolina, 272 rushing and 231 passing. He had eight knockdown blocks and an 81 percent grade. Against North Carolina he had an 84 percent grade on 59 snaps and collected nine knockdowns. He had nine knockdowns against California and finished the season with a team best 77. He concluded his career with 267, just five away from Eric Harmon's record of 272.

Clemson Had 9-1-1 Regular Season

Clemson had only one loss in regular season play, the best regular season mark by a Tiger team since 1982. That year Clemson was 9-1-1 for the regular season, but did not go to a bowl because of probation.

Clemson had a six-game winning streak and a seven-game unbeaten streak heading into the bowl, the longest unbeaten streak and winning streak for a Clemson team heading into postseason play since 1981. That year Clemson had a perfect regular season with an 11-0 mark, then downed Nebraska 22-15 to win the Orange Bowl and the National Championship.

Clemson has had nine seasons of one loss or better in regular season play, given a schedule of at least nine games. Those seasons include: 1938 (7-1-1); 1939 (9-1); 1948 (11-0); 1950 (9-0-1); 1978 (11-1); 1981 (12-0); 1982 (9-1-1); 1983 (9-1-1); 1991 (9-1-1).

100 Yards Tough to Come by vs. Tigers

Clemson saw its streak of not allowing a running back to gain 100 yards or more end in the Florida Citrus Bowl when Russell White had 22 rushes for 103 yards. Clemson had not allowed a running back to gain 100 yards or more in 38 games dating back to November 5, 1988 when North Carolina's Kennard Martin gained 116 yards in 16 attempts in a 37-14 Clemson win.

Over the last five years, covering 60 games, only one team has had over 200 yards rushing against Clemson as a team. Virginia had 213 yards on the ground on 42 attempts against the Tigers in Charlottesville, VA. White had 103 yards rushing for California, but the Golden Bears gained only 146 yards as a team.

Along those same lines, 33 teams have failed to gain at least 100 yards against the Tigers on the ground in those 60 games. Nine of the 12 Clemson opponents in 1991 failed to get over 82 yards rushing against Clemson.

The rushing defense has been especially impressive under Hatfield. The Arkansas graduate has coached Clemson for 24 games so far and 19 games his rushing defense has held the opposition under 100 yards.

Clemson led ACC in 18 Statistical Categories

Although some of these are a little obscure, Clemson paced the Atlantic Coast Conference in more than just the won-loss record. ACC Stats do not include bowl games. Here are 18 team areas that Bodine will be sorely missed in 1992. The All-America middle guard had 27 tackles for loss to lead the nation last year.

Clemson paced the ACC in during the 1991 season:

Clemson Leads All-ACC Selections

Clemson had nine selections on the first-team All-ACC squad last year, more than any other school, and just one choice off the Clemson single season record for All-ACC choices. The Tigers had five of their defensive starters make the first team, while three members of Clemson's number-one ranked offense also were chosen. Placekicker Nelson Welch was also selected.

Two Tigers were chosen to the second team, offensive tackle Bruce Bratton and tailback Ronald Williams. Three of Clemson's first-team selections return for 1992, wide receiver Terry Smith, defensive back Robert O'Neal and placekicker Nelson Welch.

Clemson First-team All-ACC selections

- * Jeb Flesch, OG (First-team All-American, led Clemson in knockdown blocks with 77.)
- * Mike Brown, C (Graded over 80 percent three times, nine knockdown blocks vs. Virginia)
- * Terry Smith, WR (Second in ACC in receptions with 52, he averaged 99 yards a game in receiving over his last four regular season games)
- * Nelson Welch, PK (Set Clemson record with five field goals in key victory over N.C. State)
- * Levon Kirkland, OLB (First-team All-American who is third in Clemson history in sacks, only Perry Brothers have more)
- * Rob Bodine, MG (First-team All-American who had 27 tackles for loss this year. Third in Clemson history in tackles for loss, only the Perry Brothers have more.)

- * Robert O'Neal, FS (First-team All-ACC as a freshman, second-team as a sophomore, back to first-team as a junior)

Blunt Comes on Strong

Rodney Blunt made quite a strong finish to the regular season and ended the year ranked fifth in the ACC in rushing. He averaged 94.6 yards a game over his last five contests, including a career high 163 yards against Duke in the Coca Cola Bowl.

Blunt averaged 20.5 rushing attempts per game over the last six regular season contests, so it was evident he was the workhorse of the Tiger team. The former high school All-American from Pensacola, FL also ranked third on the team in receiving this year with 20 catches for 178 yards, the most receptions by a Clemson running back for a season since 1969, when Ray Yaeger had 21.

Clemson Individuals in ACC Stats

- * Rodney Blunt was fifth in rushing yards per game with 64.2
- * Terry Smith ranked second in receptions per game with 4.1 and first in reception yards per game with 68.9.
- * Terry Smith was tied for second in the ACC in touchdown receptions with six.
- * DeChane Cameron ranked second in the ACC in passing efficiency with 123.14 rating points.
- * Cameron was also second in completion percentage (.575) and second in yards per attempt (7.66).
- * Cameron also ranked fifth in total offense per game (170.0), he was first in rushing yards among quarterbacks (392).
- * Nelson Welch led the ACC in scoring with 7.36 points per game.

- * Nelson Welch led the ACC in field goals per game with 1.6 per game
- * Darnell Stephens paced the conference in punt returns with 14.2 yards per return.
- * Rodney Blunt was ninth in the conference in all-purpose running.
- * Tyron Mouzon ranked in a tie for fourth in the conference in interceptions per game.

Clemson Unbeaten in ACC

Clemson recorded its first unbeaten season in ACC play since 1982, when the Tigers downed Duke in Tokyo last year. Clemson was 6-0-1 in ACC play in 1991, the first unbeaten season for the Tigers since a 6-0 ACC ledger was finished with a win in Tokyo nine years ago. Clemson was 5-1-1 in 1986 when the Tigers won the league, while the Tigers were 6-1 in the conference title seasons of 1987 and 1988. Clemson did not win the league in 1989 and 1990 when Clemson was third and second in the ACC, respectively.

Even though Clemson has had 13 ACC championships, the Tigers have had just five other unbeaten seasons in ACC play in history. Clemson was unbeaten in ACC play in 1956 (4-0-1), in 1967 (6-0-0), 1978 (6-0-0), 1981 (6-0-0) and 1982 (6-0-0).

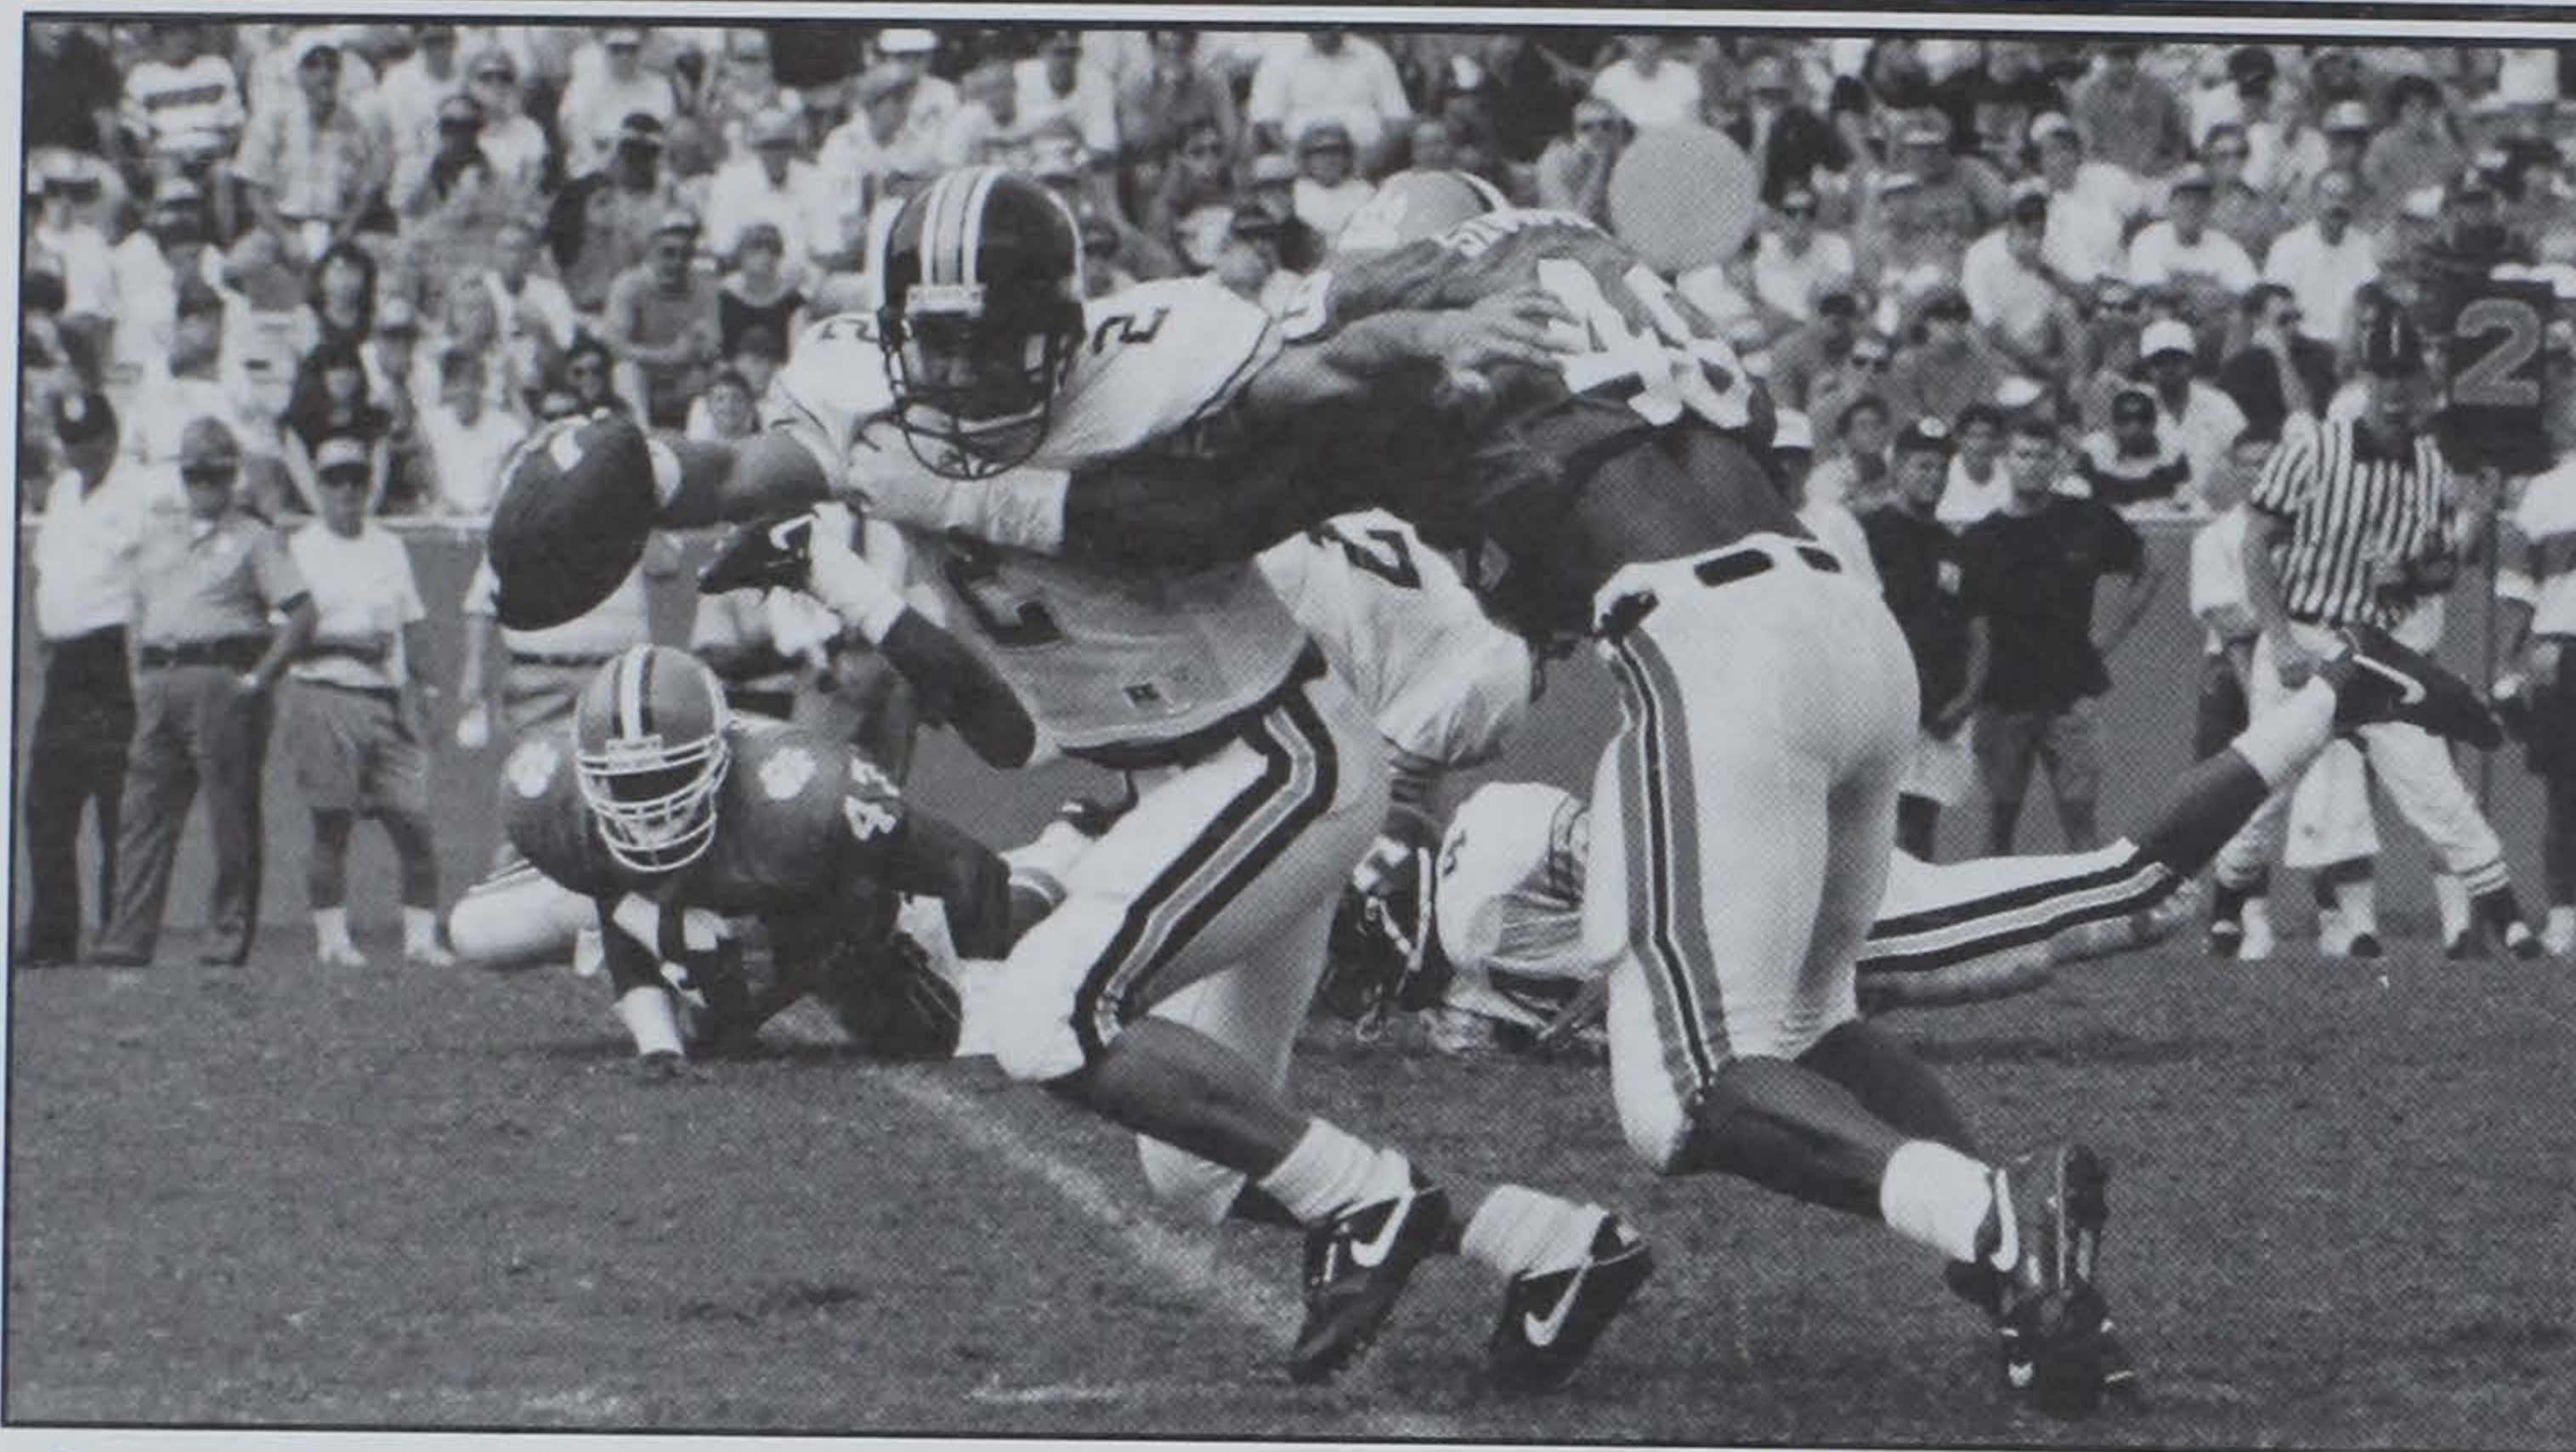

Blunt had the most receptions by a Tiger running back since Frank Howard was head coach.

Hatfield Gains 100th Victory

Clemson Coach Ken Hatfield gained his 100th victory as a head coach when Clemson defeated Duke. He has a 100-53-3 career record heading into the 1992 season. He has a 19-4-1 record as head coach of the Tigers after running up a 26-32-1 record in five years at Air Force and 55-17-1 in six years at Arkansas.

Hatfield has taken a team to a bowl game 10 straight years. Only Bobby Bowden of Florida State, Tom Osborne of Nebraska and LaVell Edwards of BYU have also taken a team to a bowl for 10 straight season. It was the fourth straight year Hatfield has taken a team to a January 1 bowl game.

Clemson was ranked 17th in the final USA Today poll and 18th by the final AP poll. Hatfield has taken each of his last four teams and six of his last seven to a final top 20 ranking.

Clemson Led ACC in Total Offense and Total Defense

Clemson led the ACC in total offense and total defense in 1991. The Tigers became the first ACC team to lead the league in both categories since Maryland did it in 1985 under Bobby Ross. Clemson had not led the ACC in both total offense and total defense since 1978, when a Steve Fuller led offense paced the conference with 427 yards per game and the defense led by Jim Stuckey and Bubba Brown, allowed just 254 yards a game.

Clemson had led the ACC in total offense and total defense in the same year three times, 1978, 1960 and 1957. So, this Clemson team did something only one other Tiger team in the last 30 years has accomplished.

Stephens 8th in Nation in Punt Returns

Clemson first-year freshman Darnell Stephens gained 116 yards on four punt returns against Maryland, the third best punt return game in Clemson history. The only single game performances better than Stephens's took place in 1970 and 1987. The all-time record is 167 yards on four returns by Don Kelley at Maryland on Halloween, 1970. In 1987, Donnell Woolford had 126 yards on five returns against Georgia Tech. Stephens's performance was only the fifth 100-yard punt return day in Clemson history.

A key to his 116-yard day was an 89-yarder in the fourth quarter. That was the fourth longest punt return in Clemson history, third longest in ACC history. Richie Luzzi had a 108-yard missed field goal return at Georgia in 1968 that counted as a punt return in those days. Shad Bryant had a 90 yarder in 1938 against VMI and Bobby Gage had a 90-yarder in Death Valley in 1948 against N.C. State, the only score of the game in a 6-0 Tiger win. As far as ACC history (since 1953), only the return by Luzzi, and a 90-yarder by Dick Nolan for Maryland against Clemson in 1953 are longer.

Stephens received quite a bit of exposure for the return. He was the CNN play of the day for that 89-yarder on November 16 and was also the recipient of the AT&T Long Distance Award. That award goes to the best long play of the day in college football. AT&T also provides a $400 donation to Clemson's scholarship fund in Stephens's name.

Clemson Defense Solid Since 1987

Clemson has been among the top defensive teams in the nation over the last five seasons. In fact, the Tigers have ranked in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense, scoring defense and total defense each of the last five seasons. This includes a number-one ranking in total defense last year and top five finishes in 1987 and 1989.

Clemson Offense Balanced

Clemson had perhaps its most balanced, successful total offense game in recent history in the victory over Maryland. The Tigers gained 460 yards in total offense, exactly 230 rushing and 230 passing. It was the second highest passing game of the season for the Tigers, who had 246 yards at Georgia in a loss in October. Clemson came back with another game of at least 200 yards in rushing and passing in the same game against South Carolina (231 passing, 272 rushing). Clemson was not as balanced against Duke, but did have 455 yards in total offense, 355 rushing and 100 passing.

The South Carolina game also marked just the fourth game in the last seven years that Clemson had over 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing in the same game. The Maryland game marked the first time since the 1989 Wake Forest game that the Tigers had over 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing. That day the Tigers had 218 on the ground and 247 through the air. There have been just 11 games over the last 13 years in which Clemson has had at least 200 in both areas of offense.

Clemson Ranked 18th by AP back to the last poll of 1986). Clemson has been ranked in the top 20 in 78 of the last 83 polls, while the Tigers have been ranked in the top 15 in 60 of the last 82 polls.

Clemson has been ranked in the final AP top 20 every year since 1986, something only two other schools, Michigan and Miami (FL) can claim. The Tigers have had just two losses each of the last six years. Only Miami of Florida has had two losses or less each of the last six seasons.

Tigers Have Scored in 150 in a Row

Clemson has scored in 150 straight games, the longest streak of its kind in the history of the ACC heading into the 1992 season. Clemson has not been shut out since September 15, 1979, the second game of that season. The Maryland Terps downed Clemson that day 19-0. Clemson lost the game even though it set a school defense record for sacks in a game. Clemson has not been shut out on the road since September 23, 1978 when a Clemson team that went on to an 11-1 record, lost 12-0 at Georgia. That Clemson offense had eight starters that went on to play in the NFL, including future All-Pros Jeff Bostic, Dwight Clark and Jerry Butler.

During the last 150 games Clemson has been held to under double figures just 10 times. The last came against Georgia Tech in the Tigers 9-7 victory last year. The last time Clemson failed to score a touchdown came at N.C. State in a 10-3 loss in 1988. The Tigers have scored in double figures 140 times, at least 20 points 104 times, at least 30 points 53 times and at least 40 points 22 times during this 150-game stretch.

Tigers Finish Big November

Clemson had five games scheduled in the month of November in 1991, so Tiger fans were hoping for a big month. This was the first time since 1958 that Clemson had five games in November. Clemson won four of five on the way to a Sugar Bowl bid that year. Clemson also had five games in November in 1933 (2-3), 1929 (2-3), 1918 (4-1) and 1911 (2-3). Clemson was 5-0 in November in 1991.

The month that features Thanksgiving has been a good month for the Tigers of late. In fact, Clemson has not lost a game in November since 1987 when South Carolina defeated the Tigers in Columbia 20-7. Clemson has not lost a home game in November since 1985 when Maryland stopped the Tigers 34-31. The Tigers have won 12 straight games in November dating back to 1987. Over the last 10 years Clemson is 30-5-2 in the month of November.

Bodine Ties Perry's Record, Led Nation

Clemson middle guard Rob Bodine tied the Clemson single season mark for tackles for loss when he recorded four stops behind the line against Duke in the regular season finale. He had 27 tackles for loss in 1991, the same total William Perry had in 1984, his senior year. Bodine will be one of many fine defensive players Ken Hatfield will have to replace in 1992.

Bodine, who was a first-team All-American according to the Football Writers Association, led the nation in tackles for loss per game. He had one more than Ricardo McDonald of Pittsburgh accumulated. It is interesting to note that only nine players in the nation had 20 tackles for loss last year and three played in the ACC. Here is a list of Clemson's single season bests in terms of tackles for loss:

Clemson Players in the NFL

Twenty-one former Clemson players appeared in NFL games last season, while three more played in the CFL. Former Tiger defensive back Reggie Pleasant was an all-star on Grey Cup Champion Toronto last year, while Perry Tuttle was with Winnipeg and Doug Brewster with Saskatchewan.

Six former Clemson players were considered rookies last year, five played for the Tigers in 1990. Terry Allen was a rookie last year, but sat out the 1990 season due to injury with the Minnesota Vikings. One former Tiger in the NFL was Jeff Bostic of the Washington Redskins, who won his third Super Bowl ring. Over the years 14 different former Clemson players have 21 Super Bowl Championship rings.

In addition to the players listed below, Vance Hammond, James Lott and Eric Harmon were on practice squads with various NFL teams last year, while Stacy Long was on injured reserve with the Chicago Bears.

Head Coach Ken Hatfield

When Clemson recorded its victory over Duke halfway around the world in Tokyo, Japan, Clemson head coach Ken Hatfield celebrated not just his first-ever Atlantic Coast Conference regular season title, but also his 100th victory as a head coach. Even though Hatfield has been in coaching only since 1979, he has placed his name among the top mentors in the nation.

Heading into the 1992 season, Hatfield is tied for third with Florida State's Bobby Bowden in wins among active coaches who have coached at a Division I school each of the last 10 years. He posts a 92-28-2 record in that time frame. And Hatfield's .762 winning percentage over the last 10 years ranks fourth among active coaches who have coached at Division I schools in each year of the last decade. In both categories, Hatfield ranks ahead of coaches such as Penn State's Joe Paterno, Notre Dame's Lou Holtz, and UCLA's Terry Donahue.

When Hatfield took over the Clemson program prior to the 1990 season, he was faced with the challenge of continuing the tradition of excellence set in the eighties (only Nebraska and Miami had fewer losses in that time frame than Clemson). Hatfield has more than met the challenge, posting a 19-4-1 mark for the Tigers in his first two seasons, two top 20 finishes and the 1991 ACC championship. The 1991 team was the first Tiger team since 1982 to have just one loss in regular season play.

The victory over Illinois in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl made Hatfield the first Clemson coach to win 10 games in his first year and his .833 winning percentage is the best for a first-year Clemson coach since 1900 when John Heisman was 6-0. The 1990 season included six wins over teams with winning records. Only national champion Georgia Tech had more.

Hatfield was just the eighth coach in the last 13 years to take a team to a Top 10 AP final ranking in his first year with the program.

But Hatfield's impressive debut at Clemson was no big surprise to those who have followed his career. He has enjoyed success throughout his involvement with the sport of football, as a player and coach.

As a player, he helped Arkansas face every challenge in 1964, when the Razorbacks had an 11-0 season and won the national title. As an assistant coach at Tennessee and Florida, he molded countless players into top-notch athletes who competed for Southeastern Conference titles, played in seven bowl games in a 10-year period, and ranked in the final top-20 five times. As a head coach, he took a dormant Air Force program to a number-13 national ranking and a pair of bowl wins. He continued to meet the challenges at Arkansas, his alma mater, guiding the Razorbacks to back-to-back Southwest Conference titles, something that had not been done at Arkansas since Hatfield was a player.

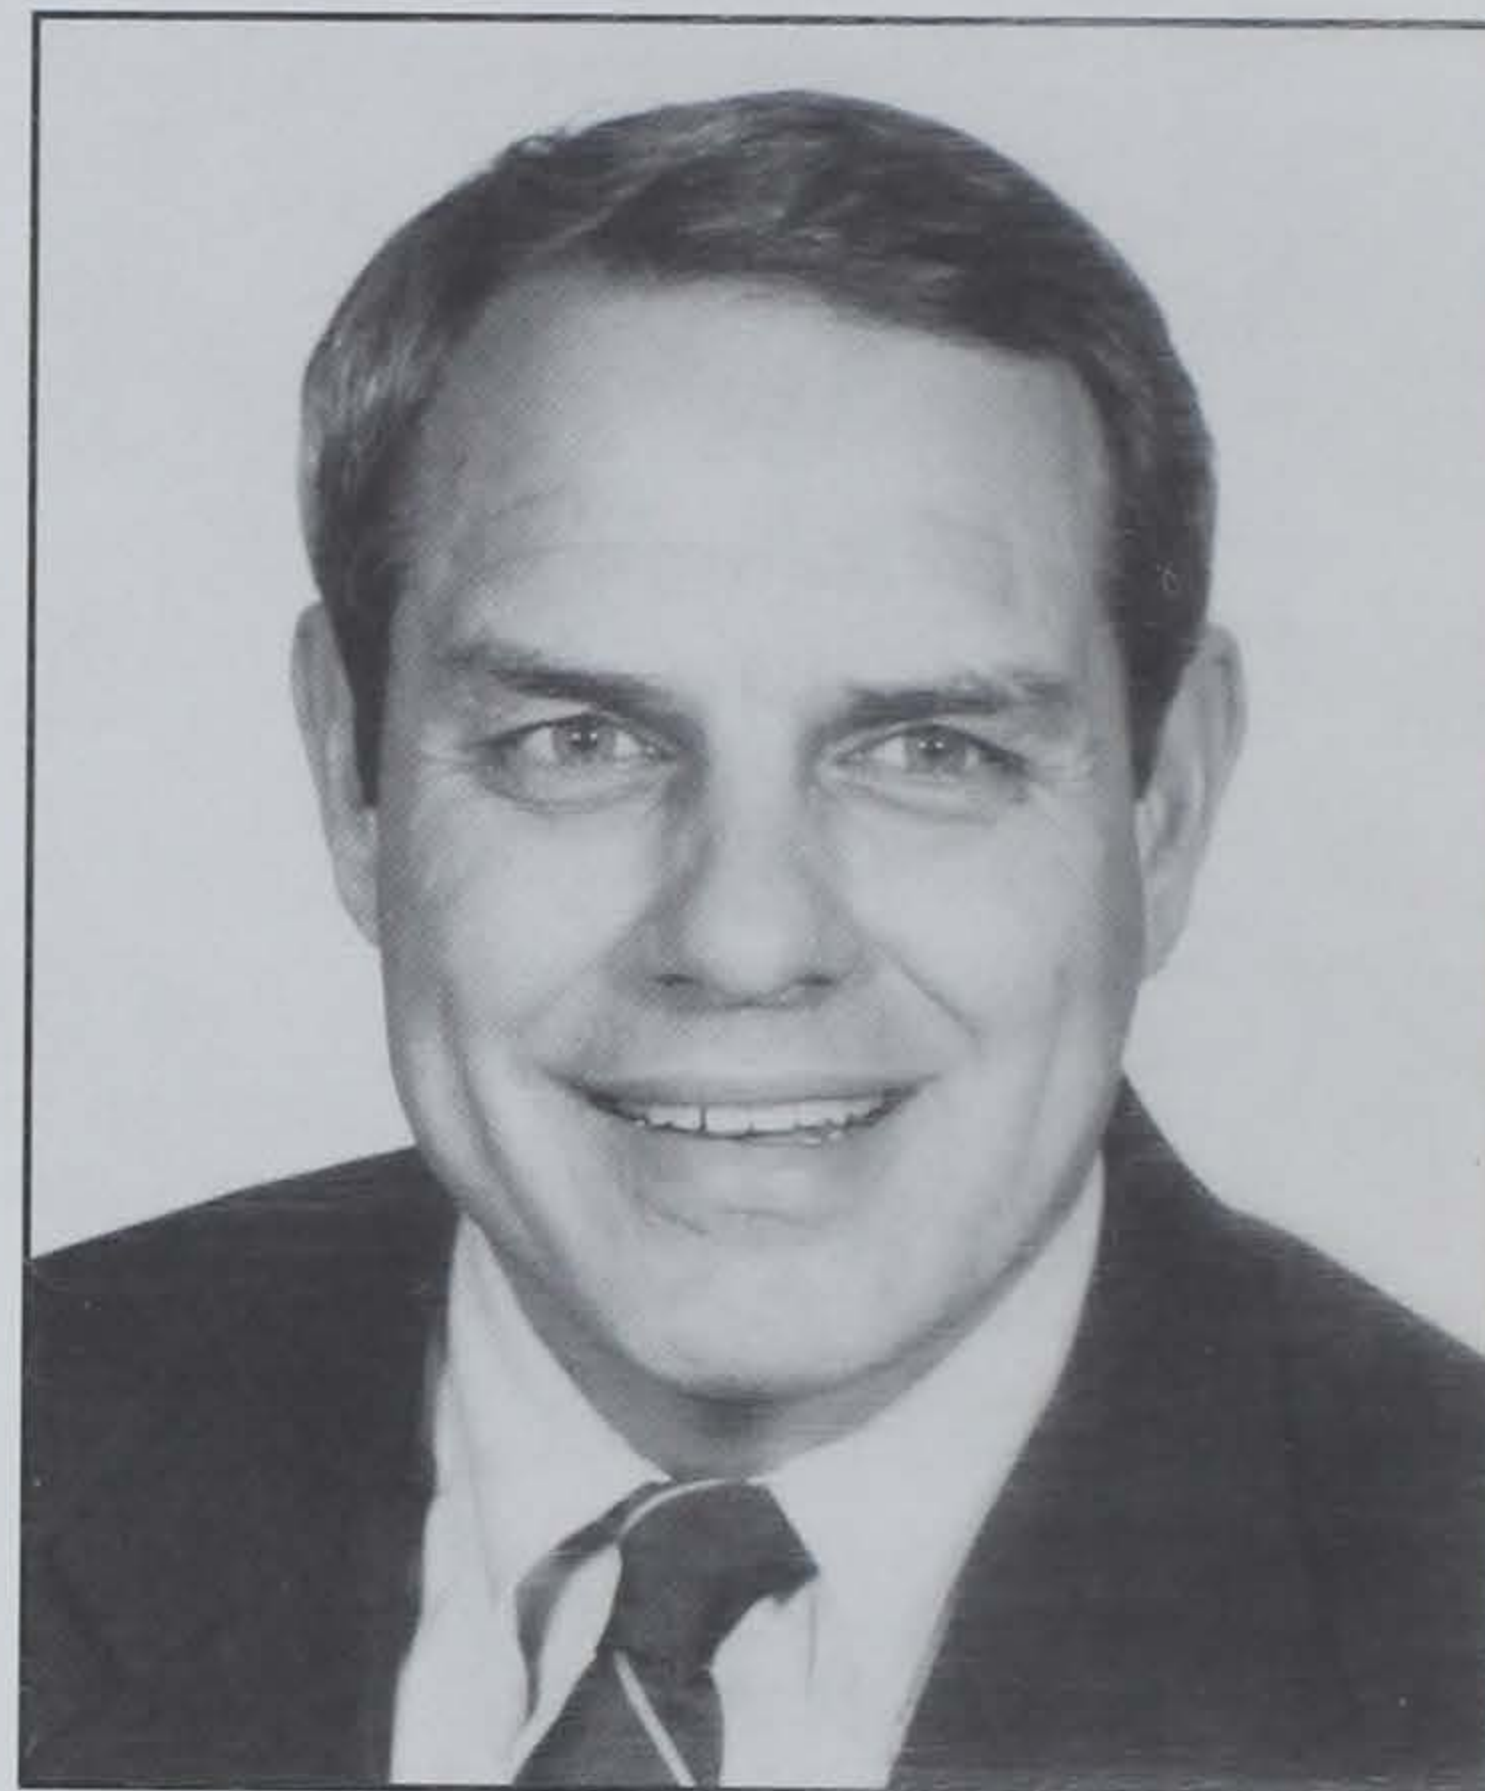

Hatfield has had five 10-win seasons in his career and has accomplished that task at three different schools. He is the only active coach and one of just two in the history of the game to have taken three different schools to a 10-win season.

Hatfield has taken his teams to 10 consecutive post-season bowls, including January 1 appearances five of the last six years. He is one of just four active coaches to take a team to a bowl each of the last 10 years. He is in noteworthy company as the other members of that exclusive club are Tom Osborne (Nebraska), LaVell Edwards (BYU), and Bobby Bowden (Florida State).

Hatfield has an overall record of 100-53-3 (.651), but he has won 78 percent of his games over the last nine seasons (84-23-2). At Arkansas, he posted a record of 55-17-1 over six seasons, a .760 winning percentage. That percentage is second best in Southwest Conference history as only Darrell Royal (Texas 1957-76) had a better percentage.

The native of Helena, Arkansas, played in two bowl games with the Razorbacks, coached in seven post-season games as an assistant and the 1992 Citrus Bowl marked the 10th in which he has been the head coach. Seven times he has coached a team to a top 20 final ranking in the AP poll, and he played on two other top 15 teams. The 9-2-1 ledger and #18 AP ranking in 1991 gave him seven top 20 finishes in the last 10 years.

Hatfield-coached clubs have excelled offensively and defensively, but they have been particularly successful in rushing offense and defense. Each of his last 10 teams have finished in the top 20 nationally in rushing offense, including seven top 10 quarter deficits to gain victory.

Hatfield has taken teams to Jan. 1 bowls five of the last six years, including each of his first two years at Clemson.

The 1986 campaign was another year of success with highlight victories over a nationally ranked Texas A&M club and the Razorbacks' first win in 20 years at Texas. Arkansas advanced to the Orange Bowl and finished 15th in the final AP poll.

Arkansas won the 1988 and 1989 Southwest Conference Championships and the Razorbacks never finished lower than second in his last five years at Fayetteville. He was named Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Year in 1988 as he took the Razorbacks to the league title and a 10-0 start. Miami (FL) defeated Arkansas 18-16 in the Orange Bowl to stop the streak. Seven players off the 1988 club (all re-finishes. This includes last year's team, which averaged 252 yards a game.

Two of his last four Arkansas teams finished in the top three in the country in turnover margin, including his 1988 team that was first in the nation (Clemson was second that same year). Defensively, his clubs have finished in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense six of the last seven years. The Tigers were ranked first in the nation in total defense, second in rushing defense, and second in scoring defense at the end of the 1990 regular season.

Clemson ranked first in the nation in rushing defense and fourth in total defense in the 1991 season.

Hatfield has coached in four major conferences and with independent schools, giving him a diverse background in the finer points of the game. It is one reason he was named the third best teaching coach in college football by Inside Sports Magazine in 1990.

Hatfield began his coaching career immediately after graduation. In the fall of 1965, he served as an assistant coach at Helena-West Helena High School in Arkansas. In 1966, he moved to West Point, where he served as freshman coach for two seasons.

After the two-year stint at Army, he served as an assistant coach at Tennessee for three years (1968-70). The Volunteers went to post-season bowls all three seasons (including two major bowls), won a conference title and ranked in the final top 20 of the AP poll all three seasons, including a number-four ranking in 1970.

In 1971, Hatfield began a seven-year stint at the University of Florida, spending four seasons as a defensive backfield coach and three as an offensive backfield mentor. Florida played in four bowl games during his career in Gainesville and two more Gator teams finished in the AP top 20, including the 1974 team that played Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl.

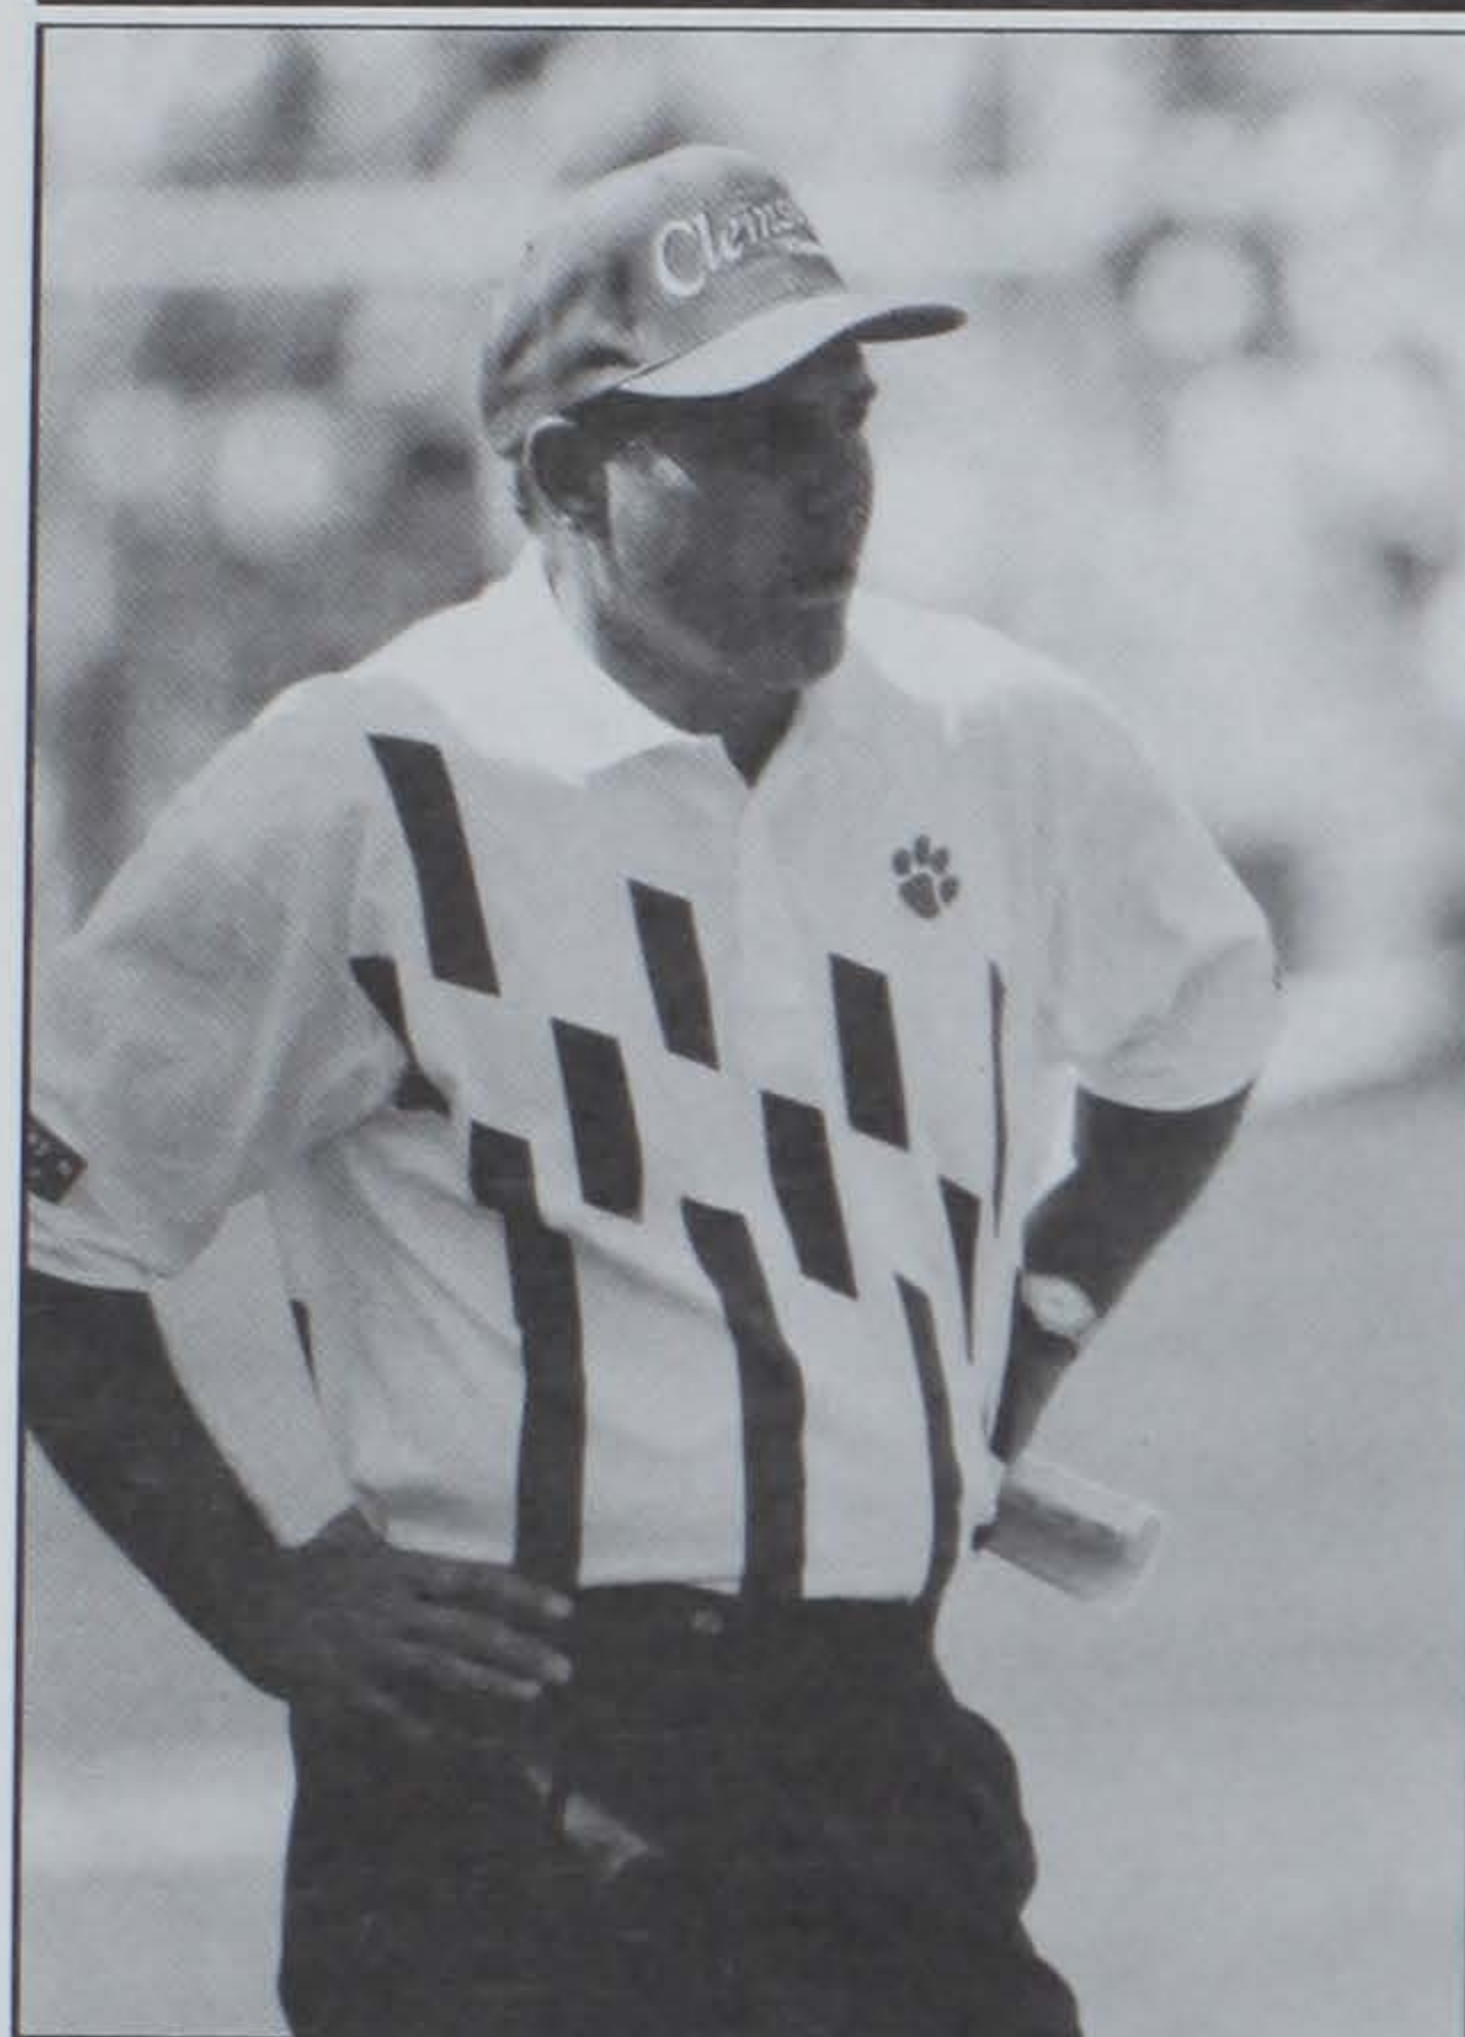

Hatfield became offensive coordinator at the Air Force Academy under former New York Giants Head Coach Bill Parcells in 1978. A year later, Parcells was wooed to the Big Apple and Hatfield became the Falcons' head coach. The Air Force program had not had a winning season since 1973. But by his fourth season, Hatfield had an eight-game winner, led Air Force to its first-ever victory over Notre Dame, and had taken the Falcons to a post-season bowl for the first time since 1971.

In 1983, Hatfield was named national Coach-of-the-Year by the Football Coaches Association (Bobby Dodd Award) after leading Air Force to a 10-2 season that included wins over Notre Dame, Navy and a bowl victory over Mississippi. It was the Academy's first-ever win over Notre Dame in South Bend.

The next year, Hatfield succeeded Lou Holtz at Arkansas, where he would take his alma mater to 55 wins in six seasons, six bowl appearances and four final top-15 rankings. His 1985 club finished with a 10-2 mark and number-12 national ranking, the Razorbacks' first Top 20 finish since 1982. Four times the Razorbacks rallied from fourth

Clemson coach Ken Hatfield has shown over the years that he can lead a program to success in a short period of time. Even though he has been coaching only since 1979, Hatfield has already taken three different schools to final top 20 seasons. The third-year Clemson coach is one of just six coaches in NCAA history to take three different programs to a top 20 AP final ranking. He has led Air Force, Arkansas and Clemson to top 15 finishes. Lou Holtz and Bill Mallory, now at Indiana, have also taken three different schools to top 20 finishes.

field. A recent release by the CFA cited his 1989 Arkansas class for excellence in terms of graduation rate (over 80 percent), one of the top 10 figures in the nation.

"Football is a part of a young man's education. He learns about himself by playing football," states Hatfield. "It gives him a perspective of how to handle defeat as well as victory. Our success at Clemson will be reflected in the lives of our players after they leave Clemson University. We want to help make them the best people they can be. We want to maximize their potential. That is our challenge."

These statements were certainly watchwords for Hatfield as a player and these experiences have helped him in his relationship with his players. Hatfield played for three years at Arkansas (1962-64) and he was a starter on the National Championship team of 1964. A defensive back by trade, he earned his fame as the nation's top punt returner in 1963 and 1964. He also finished as the runner-up as a sophomore and is still the only college football player to finish in the top two in the nation in punt returns three straight seasons.

His most memorable play took place against Texas in 1964 when he raced 81 yards with a punt return for a touchdown in Arkansas' thrilling 14-13 victory. It was the key victory in the Razorbacks' championship season. Altogether, Hatfield scored five TDs via punt returns in his career, including an Arkansas record 95-yard return against Tulsa in 1963.

An accounting major who earned his diploma in the spring of 1965, Hatfield was an Academic All-American in 1964 and was the recipient of the Swartz Award, presented annually to the top student-athlete at Arkansas. The 1964 All-SWC selection was inducted into the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame in 1989.

Vickery Hall

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 18 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. But Clemson's commitment to provide its student-athletes with awesome facilities doesn't apply only to areas of athletic competition, but to academic life as well.

The most convincing evidence of this commitment is Clemson University's new Academic Learning Center, Vickery Hall, which opened in the spring of 1991. The $3 million facility is among the first in the nation devoted entirely to the athletic-academic advising program. The two-story, 27,000-square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes, and consolidates a variety of academic services for their use.

The goal of the facility is to function as a support system in providing the student-athlete the opportunity to reach his or her full potential. Vickery Hall is a commitment by the Clemson University Athletic Department to give each student-athlete a meaningful opportunity to make his or her Clemson experience a fulfilling one, not only during his or her years at Clemson, but long after the student-athlete enters the professional world.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build. It makes a philosophical statement about the institutional commitment - giving our student-athletes the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We're very serious about that," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Given the time pressures of athletic participation and practice, student athletes face a difficult balancing act in trying to perform well both on the playing field and in the classroom. With respect to this, the Clemson academic advising program has provided one of the best academic tutoring and advising programs in the nation over the last several years. The completion of Vickery Hall gives the Academic Advising Program an even greater opportunity to help student-athletes reach the short-term goal of graduation and the long-term goal of success in the world.

Vickery Hall is located in the mainstream of east campus, behind Jordan Hall at the top of Bryan Mall. The facility is impressive aesthetically, but even more so for the many purposes it serves. The main entrance to the building is a 1,570-square foot reception/office area, comprised of five advisors' offices, two graduate student offices, and a conference room. Also located on the bottom floor is the office of Bill D'Andrea, the director of Clemson's student-athlete enrichment program.

The building also boasts a 175-seat auditorium to be used for classes, team meetings, review sessions, and seminars. The various speakers and lecturers who will come to work with Clemson student-athletes as part of the student-enrichment program will also use this facility. The auditorium is equipped with a projection booth and state-of-the-art audio and video equipment and will be available to other campus groups when not in use for athletic advising.

Another area of the main floor, the computer resources area, consists of a general computer tutoring room and a computer science tutoring room. The computer room contains 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses.

The 13,000-square-foot study and tutoring area on the second floor comprises the majority of the center and is used primarily during the evening hours. A large 65-seat study room and nine 20-seat study rooms are designed as classrooms with freestanding desks. One-on-one or small group instruction takes place in 28 small tutoring rooms accommodating eight to 10 students each, two medium tutoring rooms for 20 people each and three large tutoring rooms for 40 people each.

Vickery Hall was dedicated in the fall of 1991. It is named after Ken Vickery (left), former Clemson Faculty Chairman who served Clemson for many years.

Computer Facilities

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computer equipment and has made a commitment to providing the student-athletes at Clemson with such equipment.

Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open six days a week, for 16 hours a day on Monday through Thursday.

The lab staff consists of mostly graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course as well as the many management, engineering and business courses that deal with personal computers. Student-athletes may also arrange tutoring sessions outside normal lab hours any time during the school year.

Computers in the lab can reach many of the other machines on campus, including the NAS mainframe, and are in turn, connected to a world-wide internetwork, allowing lab machines to access computing resources throughout the world.

The following is a list of some of the equipment available:

- * 18 Macintosh personal computers
- * 15 IBM personal computers
- * 5 Laser Printers

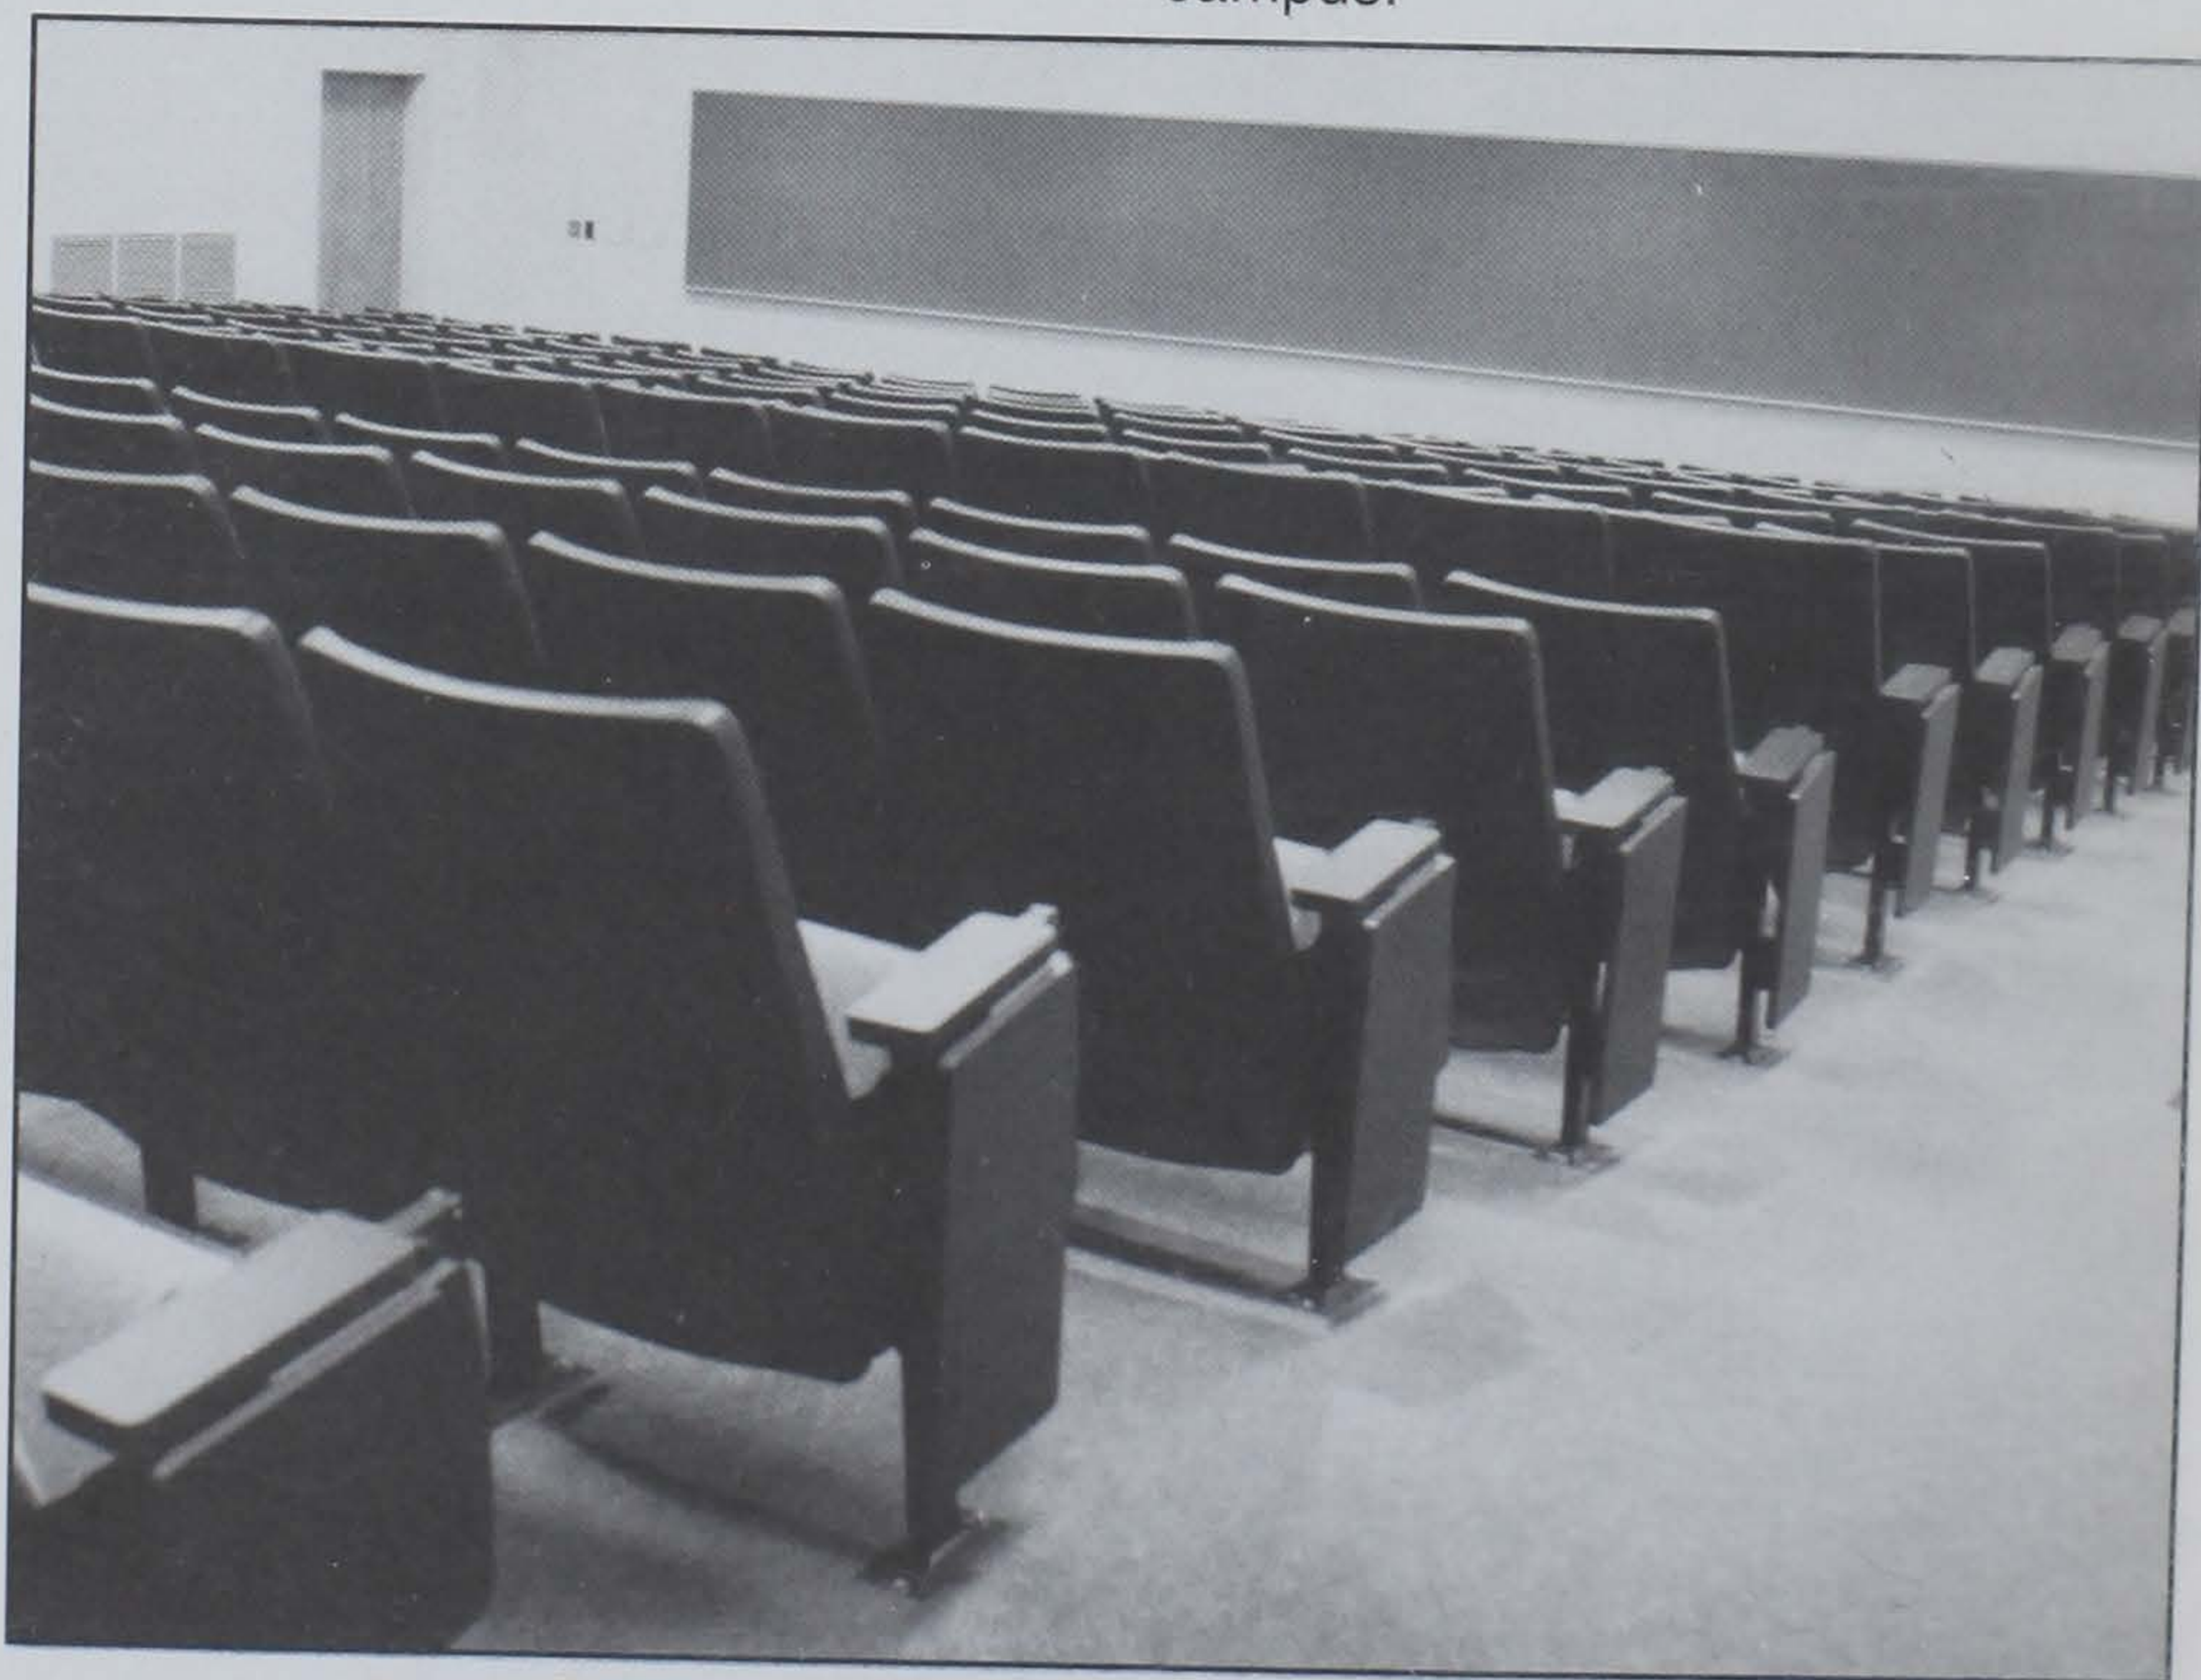

- * 2 Novell Netware Servers (allows users to access and share files from different computers around campus.)

Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program

The Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program is one of the most important programs provided by the staff of Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide help in securing summer employment and to aid in meeting long-term career goals.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center and the Athletic Department, Bill D'Andrea is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with The Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athlete with a job experience and a work history, that he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Long Term Career Assistance Program will be coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and will focus on resume writing and interview techniques so that each student-athlete will be competitive and aggressive when dealing with companies who visit the Clemson campus.

Vickery Hall Auditorium

Personal Growth Program

Another aspect of Clemson University's commitment to help student-athletes reach their potential in all areas of their life - academically, athletically, and socially, is the recently implemented personal growth program. This program is one of the many purposes of the Vickery Hall. This particular area of student development is designed to enhance and support the lives of student-athletes during their enrollment in college as well as in their life experiences after graduation.

Bobby Douglas, the Development Coordinator, and Vickery Hall staff realize that student-athletes have more obligations than a regular college student. The personal growth program seeks to eliminate some of the stresses of adjustment to the higher level of academics and athletics. It is the groups special task to assist the student-athlete by creating a finely tuned balance of all areas to insure success in obtaining a Clemson University degree, by supporting successful athletic practice and competition, enhancing personal growth, and helping with the transition to life after college.

A series of personal growth programs will be offered to student-athletes throughout each semester. Some programs may accomplish their objectives in one session, while others may be ongoing throughout the academic year. Some of the personal growth programs are as follows:

Freshman Success:

This program will seek to make the freshman's adjustment to college life easier by covering many areas of adjustment to university life.

Alcohol and Drug Issues:

The intent of this program is to provide the student-athlete with an overview of the disease of addictions and chemical dependence. Emphasis will be placed on providing basic awareness of how substance abuse effects individuals, families and athletic teams.

Current Topics of Concern:

The idea behind this segment of the Personal Growth Plan is to address issues that effect students such as human sexuality, birth control, date rape, etc.

Career Preparation:

The Career Preparation Plan is to encourage all student-athletes to think about life after sports and after graduation. Many sources of information will be available, from career testing to self-paced computer programs, and even with resume preparation and interview skills.

Nutrition and Eating Disorders:

Eating habits and proper diet are very important in maintaining a sound body and mind. The focus of this program revolves around presenting information so that student-athletes can analyze their own eating habits and carefully choose a balanced diet with enough calories to maintain good health.

Choosing a Major:

This is an important aspect of educational life. This program is designed to help student-athletes make the right choice of major in respect to their career goals.

Personal Finance:

Student-athletes on athletic scholarships are not allowed to have jobs during the academic year. Therefore, it is important to budget personal finances so they do not run out before the semester. This program not only discusses budgeting but also the responsible use of credit.

Stress Management:

All student-athletes face additional concerns during their college days than normal students. Many times these add stress to the everyday lives of student-athletes. The object of this program is to teach the student-athlete ways of identifying and handling personal stress so it does not interfere with the maintenance of good mental and physical health.

Interpersonal Communication:

Communication is necessary in all areas of life to improve happiness, instill contentment and enhance success. Programs dealing with interpersonal communication will involve improvement of listening skills, verbal skills and learning respect for the feelings and emotions of others.

Study Skills/Time Management:

These two topics are combined because a major part of developing good study skills involves having the time to delegate to studying. Objectives of this program are to expose student-athletes to different types of study techniques that are proven effective.

Motivation/Self Esteem:

The objective of this program is to improve the level of self esteem for student-athletes to positively impact their productivity in all areas of campus life.

Goal Setting:

Clemson University wants success for every student-athlete, hence it has put together a strong program about setting goals. Goal setting applies to or is incorporated in almost every other Personal Growth Program.

Clemson University

Clemson University was begun because of one man's dream. Thomas Green Clemson, renowned statesman and scientist, believed that education was the key to improving the quality of life for South Carolinians. He was convinced that a college, dedicated to agricultural and scientific instruction, would help his state overcome the economic turmoil caused by the Civil War and Reconstruction. Mr. Clemson left property and money to the state of South Carolina for the college he envisioned.

The doors to Clemson Agricultural College formally opened in 1893 with 446 students, 15 faculty members, one dormitory, and three classroom and administrative buildings. The college quickly became an important member of the national system of state universities and land-grant colleges. In 1955, the college changed from military to civilian status for students and became coeducational. In 1964, because of the college's expanded academic offerings and research pursuits, the Legislature formally changed the college's name to Clemson University.

Today, Clemson's 1,400-acre campus successfully combines modern academic and service structures with glimpses of the University's past. The campus is situated on what was once Fort Hill Plantation, the homestead of Thomas Green Clemson and before him that of his father-in-law, John C. Calhoun. Landmarks such as Fort Hill, the former home of the Clemsons and Calhouns, Tillman Hall with its clocktower, the statue of Thomas Green Clemson and the outdoor theatre all help retain the air of tradition.

The campus is surrounded by almost 17,000 acres of University Farms and woodlands devoted to research in forestry, agriculture, and agricultural engineering. In addition, 12,390 acres throughout the state are used in Agricultural Experiment Station Research and 4-H Club work, for a total of 30,790 acres. The university also owns overseas acreage for the purpose of teaching and research in Genoa, Italy, at the Charles Daniel Center for Building Research and Urban Studies, and on the Caribbean island of Dominica at the Archbold Tropical Research Center.

The Clemson Student

In a recent survey conducted by the American Council on Education, the majority of Clemson students cited the University's academic reputation as the major influence in their decision to enroll here. That reputation for excellence is reflected in the academic quality of Clemson students.

A little more than 36 percent of Clemson's 1991 freshmen ranked in the top tenth of their high school class. Sixty-one percent were in the top fifth. The average Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) scores for Clemson freshmen are more than 100 points above the national average for college-bound students. This means that a Clemson student's classmates provide stimulation, challenge and excitement.

Employers and professional schools have long been aware of the high quality of a Clemson education, and they actively recruit graduates. The liberal arts education Clemson offers is widely recognized for its emphasis on preparing students to succeed in a world where rapid change transforms every challenge into an opportunity.

A Clemson graduate is prepared for the world of today and tomorrow, with his or her own individual strengths, enhanced by an outstanding education from a nationally respected university. In a world that measures the educational quality of an institution by its instructional programs, distinguished faculty, major research and comprehensive facilities, Clemson measures up by all standards.

Clemson students represent 49 states and 74 foreign countries. The University has students from many different cultural and ethnic backgrounds. This diversity has enriched the educational opportunities for the entire campus and community. Over 17,000 students are enrolled at Clemson. Of the 13,000-plus undergraduates, 71 percent are South Carolinians. The overall ratio of men to women is about three-to-two.

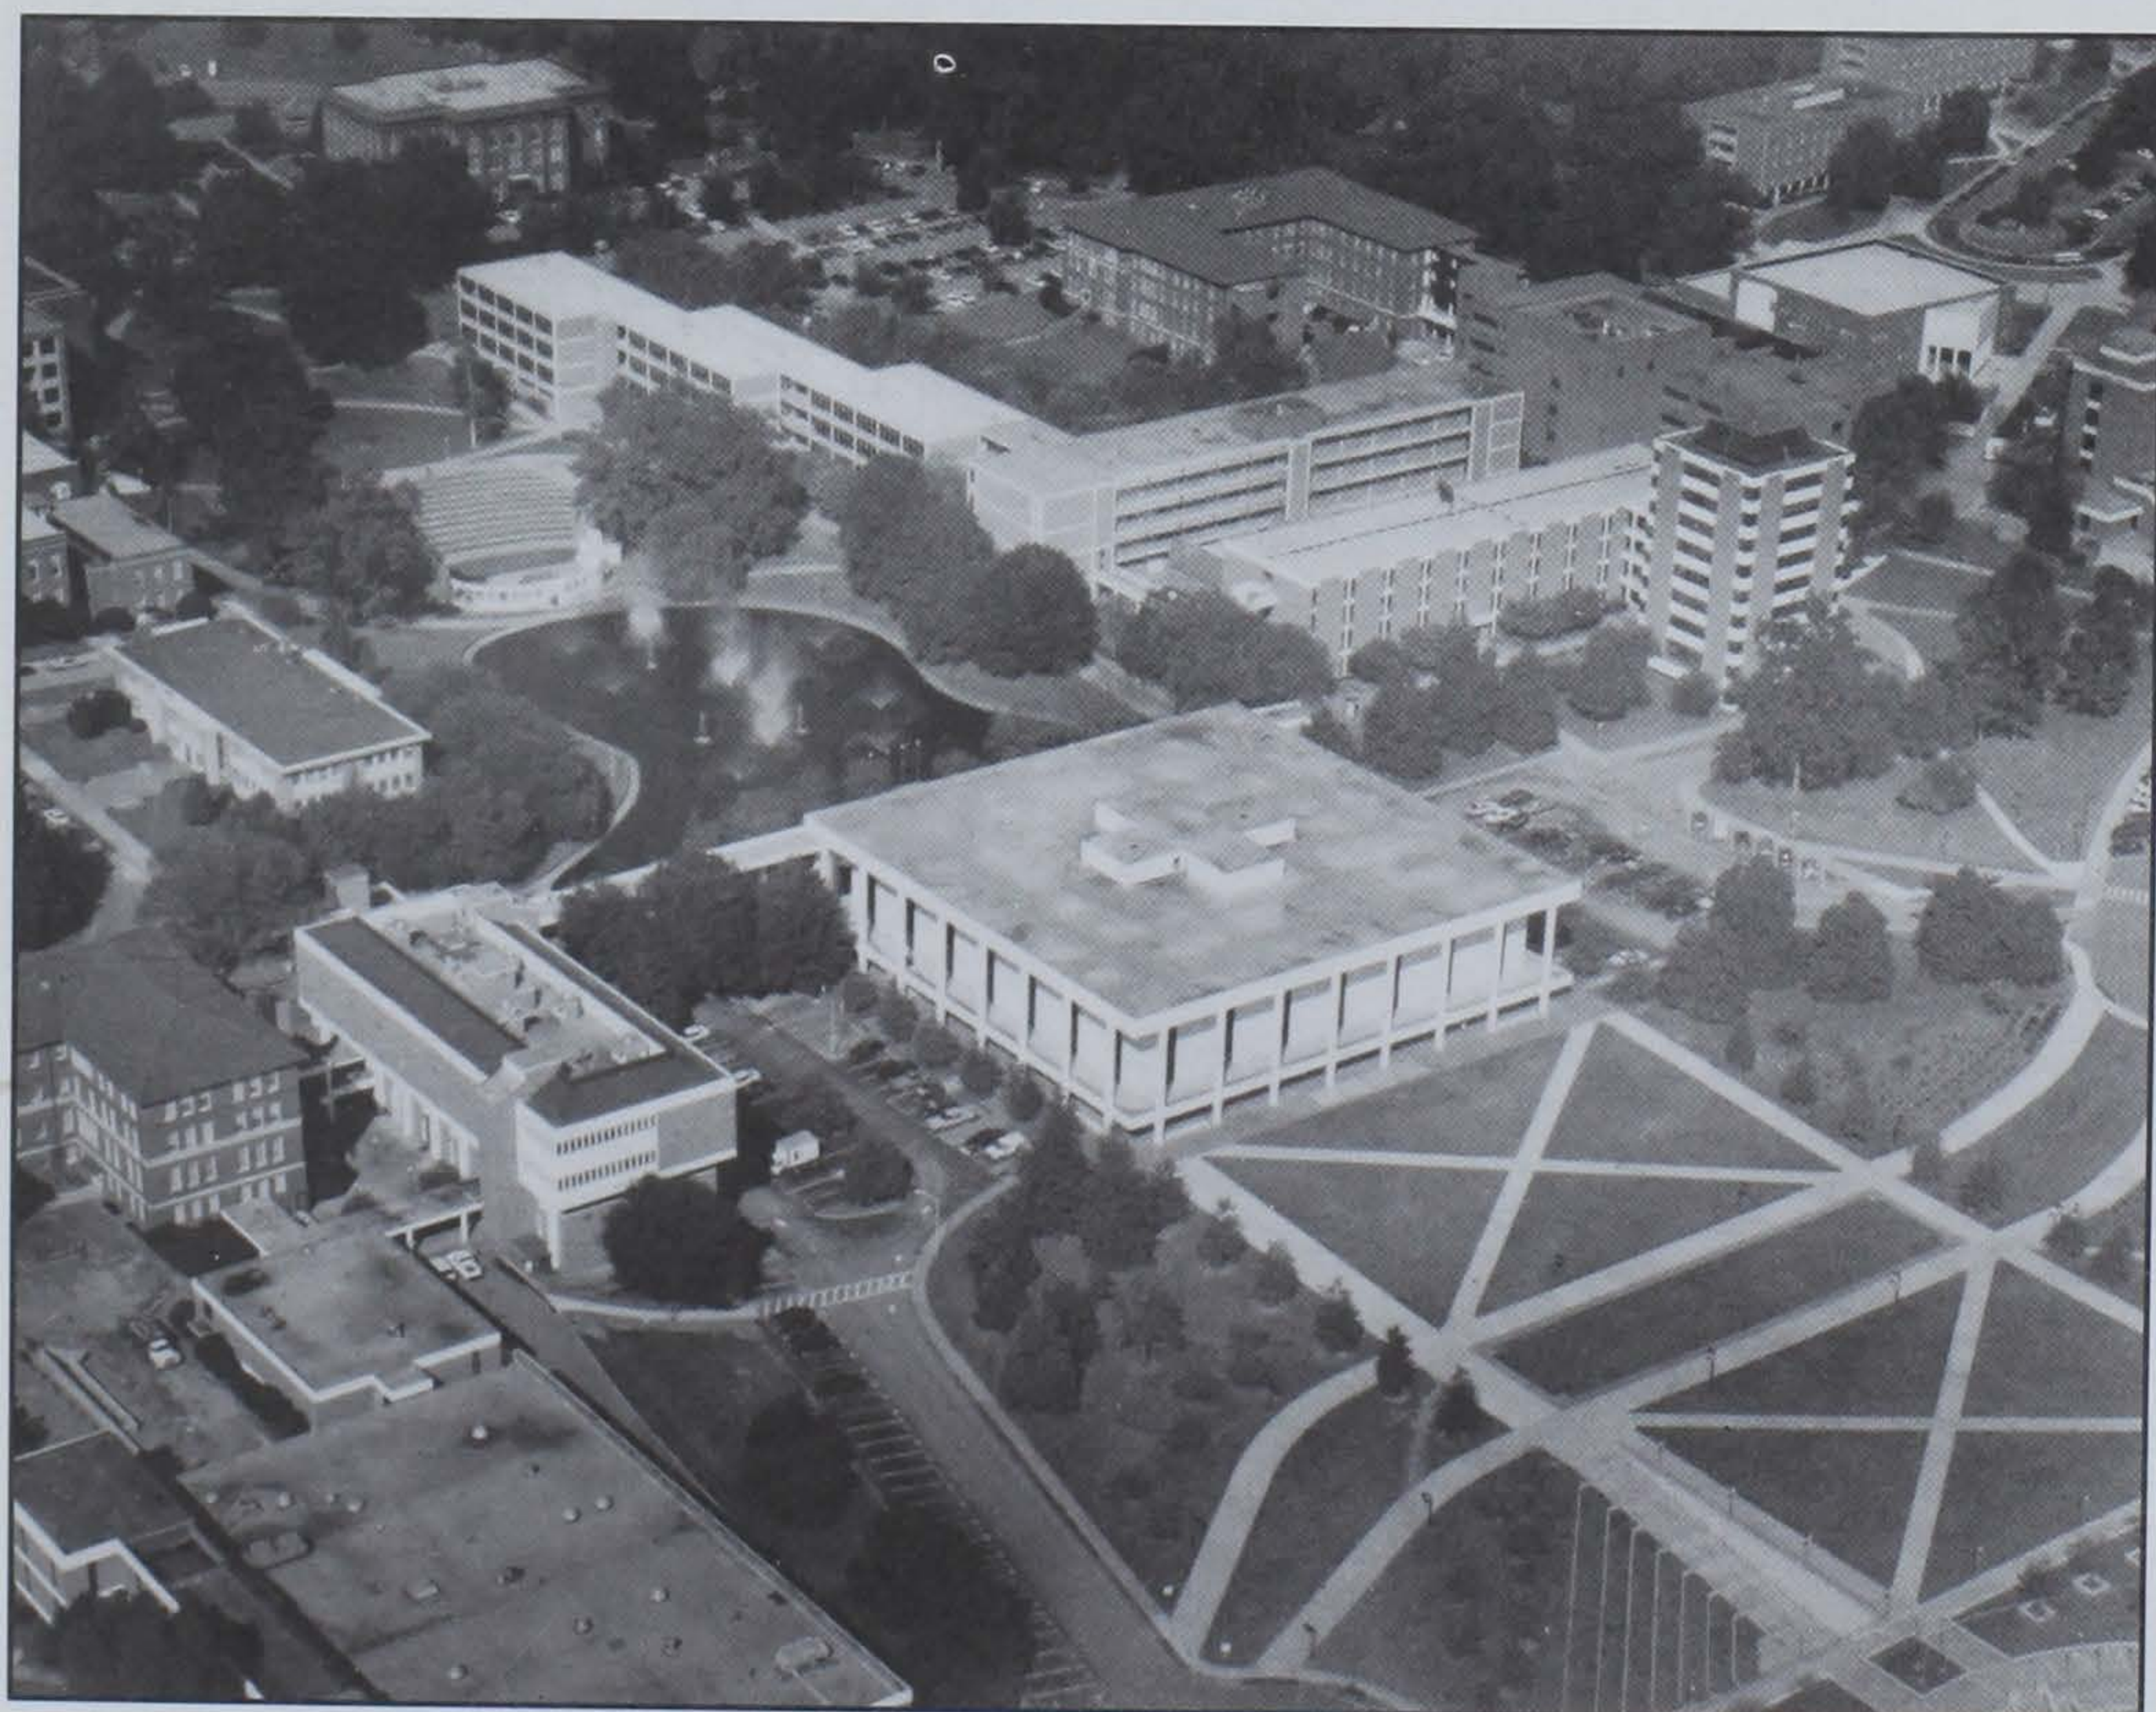

The Clemson Education

Clemson offers 72 undergraduate programs and 70 graduate programs through nine academic colleges. These colleges include Agricultural Sciences, Architecture, Commerce and Industry, Education, Engineering, Forest and Recreation Resources, Liberal Arts, Nursing, and Sciences. In the land-grant tradition, scientific, technological, business and agricultural courses are predominant at Clemson, balanced by curricula designed to promote an appreciation of the humanities and a familiarity with the economic, political and social environment beyond the classroom.

The Honors Program at Clemson, Calhoun College, was organized in 1962, and is the oldest and largest honors program in the state. Approximately 150 honors courses are offered each semester in all nine colleges.

Classes at Clemson are demanding, with many academic programs receiving national recognition for excellence. A few Clemson programs are not offered anywhere else in the state or region. Clemson is the only institution in South Carolina where you can earn a degree in architecture, ceramic engineering and forest management, and it offers the only university-level programs in textiles and agriculture. In the entire Southeast, only Clemson offers a curriculum in packaging science.

Clemson University is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and holds professional accreditation in many specific areas.

The Clemson Faculty

The faculty at Clemson represents wide academic interests and diverse backgrounds. As a group, however, they share a commitment to teaching and a genuine interest in the success of their students. Clemson's student-to-faculty ratio of 16-to-1 gives the faculty the opportunity to get to know many of their students on a one-to-one basis. They use the classroom and laboratory as environments to cultivate critical thinking, problem solving, creative learning and self-development.

Clemson's faculty is international in composition, representing more than 500 institutions, with a reputation for excellence in teaching, research and scholarship. Eighty-two percent hold earned doctoral degrees, and many have achieved special academic recognition. Many have also been honored by colleagues and students as master teachers for their excellence in the classroom and by the Outstanding Educators of America.

Once a student is enrolled at Clemson, he or she is assigned a faculty adviser in his or her chosen curriculum who will be available to help with class scheduling and academic counseling.

Clemson faculty members are active outside the classroom as well, editing professional journals, chairing international conferences and symposia, sitting on boards of professional and curriculum registration, and serving as active members of national and international learned societies.

Many faculty members are licensed, practicing professionals with years of work experience in their fields. Some of their experience is international, with individuals serving as advisers to the United Nations and foreign governments. At home, Clemson professors are consultants to local, state and national government, business, industry and education.

Clemson employs 4,222 people on a full-time basis. Of these, 1,249 hold academic rank. In addition, the University has 4,805 part-time employees, including 3,354 students and 335 classified employees.

Through the efforts of its faculty, Clemson has become a leader among the nation's research institutions. In research spending, Clemson ranks among the top 100 universities in the country. In 1990-91 expenditures for organized research and sponsored programs at the University totaled $85,106,233 and that figure should increase significantly in 1992-93. The University experienced more than a 43 percent growth in dollars awarded through grants and contracts during the fiscal year 1989-90. Approximately 20 percent of that highly competitive funding was provided from a private sector, an indication of the confidence that American industry places in Clemson researchers.

The Clemson Facilities

Although money alone does not ensure academic excellence, the facilities to support and enhance learning activities can make the difference in the overall quality of a college education.

The Robert Muldrow Cooper Library sits at the heart of the Clemson campus, both physically and symbolically. One of the major learning resource facilities in the Southeast, it houses more than 1,400,000 volumes and 7,000 serial titles. The library also offers computer-based bibliographic search and interlibrary loan services with a professional staff to help answer your questions and enable you to get the most benefit from its materials. Special collections include the papers of such prominent South Carolinians as John C. Calhoun, Thomas Green Clemson, Strom Thurmond, and James F. Byrnes.

A cornerstone of the university is its computer facilities. Clemson's computer center, which supports student course work and research in all disciplines, is also used by government and industry. The center provides general computing services on a network. Remote sites housing more than 1,600 terminals and 600 microcomputers are conveniently located in many different areas of the campus. International and national telephone modem access is also available.

All students are assigned a user identification code when they enroll, which allows them to use the various mainframe applications such as electronic mail, job placement service, library card catalog and information databases, and housing and course registration.

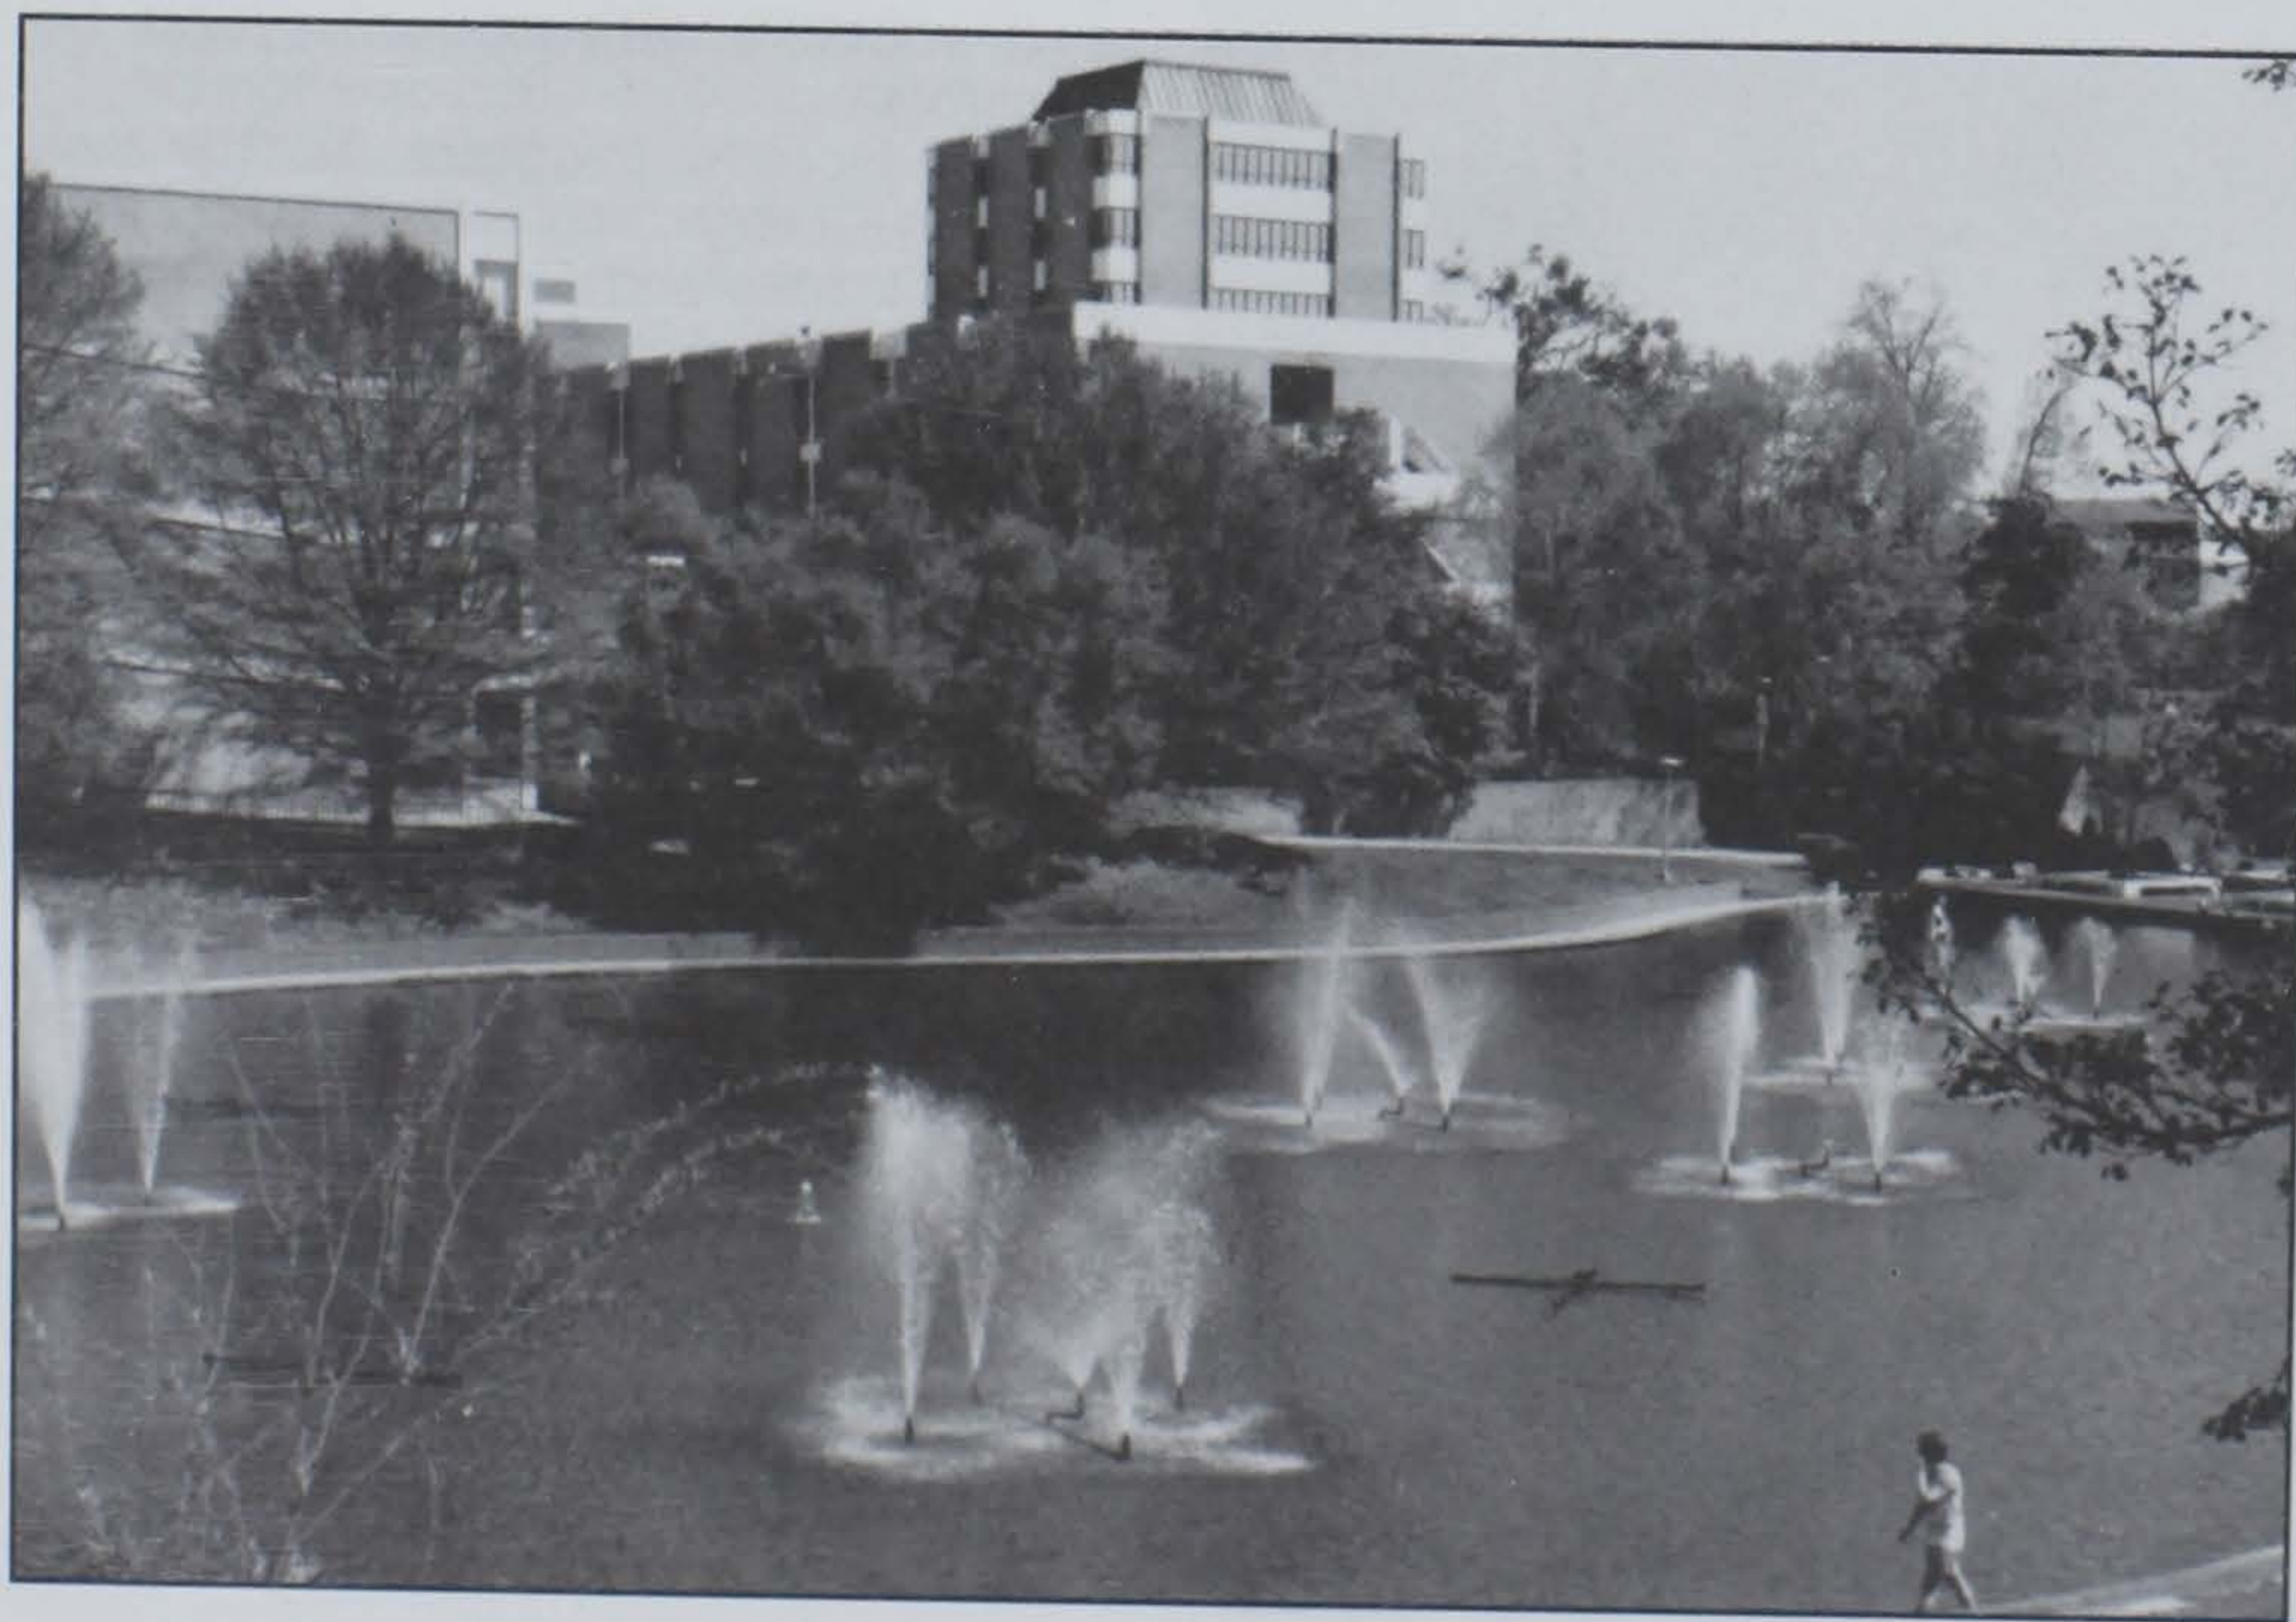

Among other outstanding facilities are the Center for Semiconductor Reliability Research and the Center for Automated Manufacturing, both high technology laboratories housing state-of-the-art equipment. Biological and material research is enhanced by one of the nation's most versatile electron microscope facilities. An outdoor laboratory provides students practical experience in administering camping programs for special populations, and a 17,000-acre Experimental Forest supports environmental research.

By the year 2001, there will be $100 million in new buildings on the Clemson campus that were not there in 1990. The new $3 million Vickery Hall is already operational and the new 600-bed apartment style Lightsey Bridge apartments on East Campus are also open.

Ground has been broken on the $12.8 million Brooks Performing Arts Center. This facility will include offices for the performing arts department, as well as rehearsal and performance space for Tiger Band and the concert band, the Clemson Players and other student performance groups.

The Office of Career Services and Placement can help with planning and finding summer and full-time employment. The office assists in career counseling and planning, searching for a job, preparing resumes and job interview strategies. Resources include staff expertise, books, videotapes and literature provided by companies and agencies. Clemson has developed one of the best automated placement systems in the country, allowing students to research employers and sign up for interviews from any mainframe computer terminals on campus.

The Office of Career Services doesn't focus just on seniors; it serves all students and alumni. Clemson students have access to interest tests and interactive computer programs that help them explore their career interests. Also, if incoming freshmen are unsure about which major to choose, the Career Center can offer information on career choices, testing and interpretation for career direction. Career Counselors will even help students with study techniques and self development.

Recent surveys of Clemson graduates show that about 23 percent find their jobs from interviewing on campus and another 10 percent were working with their employers when they graduated. Six months after graduation, fewer than two percent of Clemson graduates who wanted to work were still looking for a job.

The Clemson Experience

In addition to an outstanding faculty and outstanding facilities, Clemson University also offers its students a wide variety of chances to broaden cultural and social horizons, develop leadership skills and sometimes, just have fun!

More than 260 student organizations are active at Clemson, including 17 social fraternities and 12 social sororities. There are organizations related to every course of study - groups such as the Accounting Club, the Society of Women Engineers and the American Institute of Architects. For students who enjoy writing or photography, the Tiger, the campus newspaper; TAPS, the University yearbook; or the Chronicle, the student variety magazine, are available. There is also a student-operated radio station, WSBF-FM, broadcasting news, information and music 24 hours a day.

For musically inclined students, Clemson offers "The Band That Shakes the Southland" - Tiger Band, the Symphonic Band, Jazz Ensemble, Pep Band, University Chorus, Gospel Choir, CU After Six, and the Chamber Singers. Clemson's award winning theatrical group, the Clemson Players, presents several productions each year.

Student government gives students the opportunity to influence campus policy, while the University Union provides a place for fun and games, including lounges, bowling alleys, video games, billiard tables, and Edgar's, the campus entertainment center.

Clemson students can also enjoy fine recreational facilities at Fike Recreation Center, which includes an eight-lane swimming pool, a diving tank, indoor and outdoor tennis courts, and gyms and equipment for activities such as weightlifting, basketball and aerobics. Clemson also offers an extensive intramural program.

Clemson, South Carolina

The signs on the side of the highway as you enter the Clemson city limits say "Clemson: In Season Every Season." From the point of view of most Clemson graduates, the seasons this slogan speaks of are football, basketball, baseball, etc. But a drive through town in the middle of spring, when the azaleas and dogwoods are in full bloom, or a walk through campus in October, when the trees are blazing in the brilliant colors of autumn, will leave little doubt that Clemson is indeed in season, every season.

Nestled in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains and caressed by the shores of the beautiful Lake Hartwell, Clemson is located in the northwestern corner of South Carolina, two hours north of Atlanta, GA, and two hours southwest of Charlotte, NC. The town may not be one of the state's largest most days of the week, but on many autumn Saturdays, it becomes the state's second-largest city, as 81,000 fans come from all directions to watch the Tigers play football. But the friendly residents of Clemson and the surrounding towns welcome the visitors home each year with a true dose of southern hospitality.

Clemson is steeped in history. The university campus is located on what was Fort Hill Plantation, home of John C. Calhoun, one of the great statesmen of the 19th century, and of his son-in-law, Thomas Green Clemson. The house, which was built in 1806, stands in the center of campus and is open to the public. Also on the Clemson campus is a 1716 lowcountry French Huguenot home, Hanover House, which was transported to Clemson in 1941. Just a mile or so down the road, is the Pendleton Historic District, where several other antebellum homes are open to the public. The entire village of Pendleton is on the National Register of Historic Places.

The area boasts a great variety of restaurants, ranging from the downtown barbeque and hamburger spots, to the historic Liberty Hall Inns and Calhoun Corners. Any palate or budget can find something to his or her liking, as over 50 eating establishments are located in the Clemson/Pendleton/Central area.

The mild climate of the foothills lends itself to many outdoor activities throughout the year. Clemson has excellent and ample facilities for tennis and golf, fishing, swimming or hiking, horseback riding, white water rafting, and various other pursuits.

And, when one wants to leave Clemson, they don't have far to go to find whatever they are looking for. Professional sports are only a couple of hours away in Atlanta and Charlotte, meaning Clemson residents and students have only a short drive to enjoy major league baseball, NFL football, or their choice of NBA basketball teams.

For sun and fun, it's an easy interstate drive to the coast of South Carolina, to Hilton Head Island, Myrtle Beach, or even historic Charleston. All kinds of water sports are right at the campus' back door, as a 926-mile shoreline borders the edge of campus. And for those who enjoy cooler climates, the mountains of North Carolina are only an hour's drive away. Countless resorts and some of the finest ski slopes in the east are close enough to make a day's outing.

Running Down The Hill

"When you get to the bottom, its like you're in a hole and all around you are nothing but Clemson fans. It's like the crowd is one big voice. You feel like little kings."

Rodney Blunt
1992 Tiger tailback

"Clemson's record at home is not a coincidence. Running down the hill is a part of that record. You get so inspired, and so much of college football is about emotion. You get out of that bus and you hear the roar of the crowd and it gives you chills up and down your spine."

then run down the hill to the thunderous ovation of Clemson fans. Clemson has won nearly 75 percent of its games in Death Valley over the years.

In 1991, two very special anniversaries in the Clemson football tradition were observed. Not only did the 1991 season mark the 10th anniversary of Clemson's National Championship season, but it also marked the 50th season of the place where the Tigers won five games that season: Memorial Stadium.

In the first 50 years of Memorial Stadium, Clemson has a record of 170-62-7, including a 12-0-1 ledger over the last two seasons. Clemson has a 15-game unbeaten streak at home and has a career winning ratio of 74 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before Head Coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for opening day would soon grow; and grow and grow.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

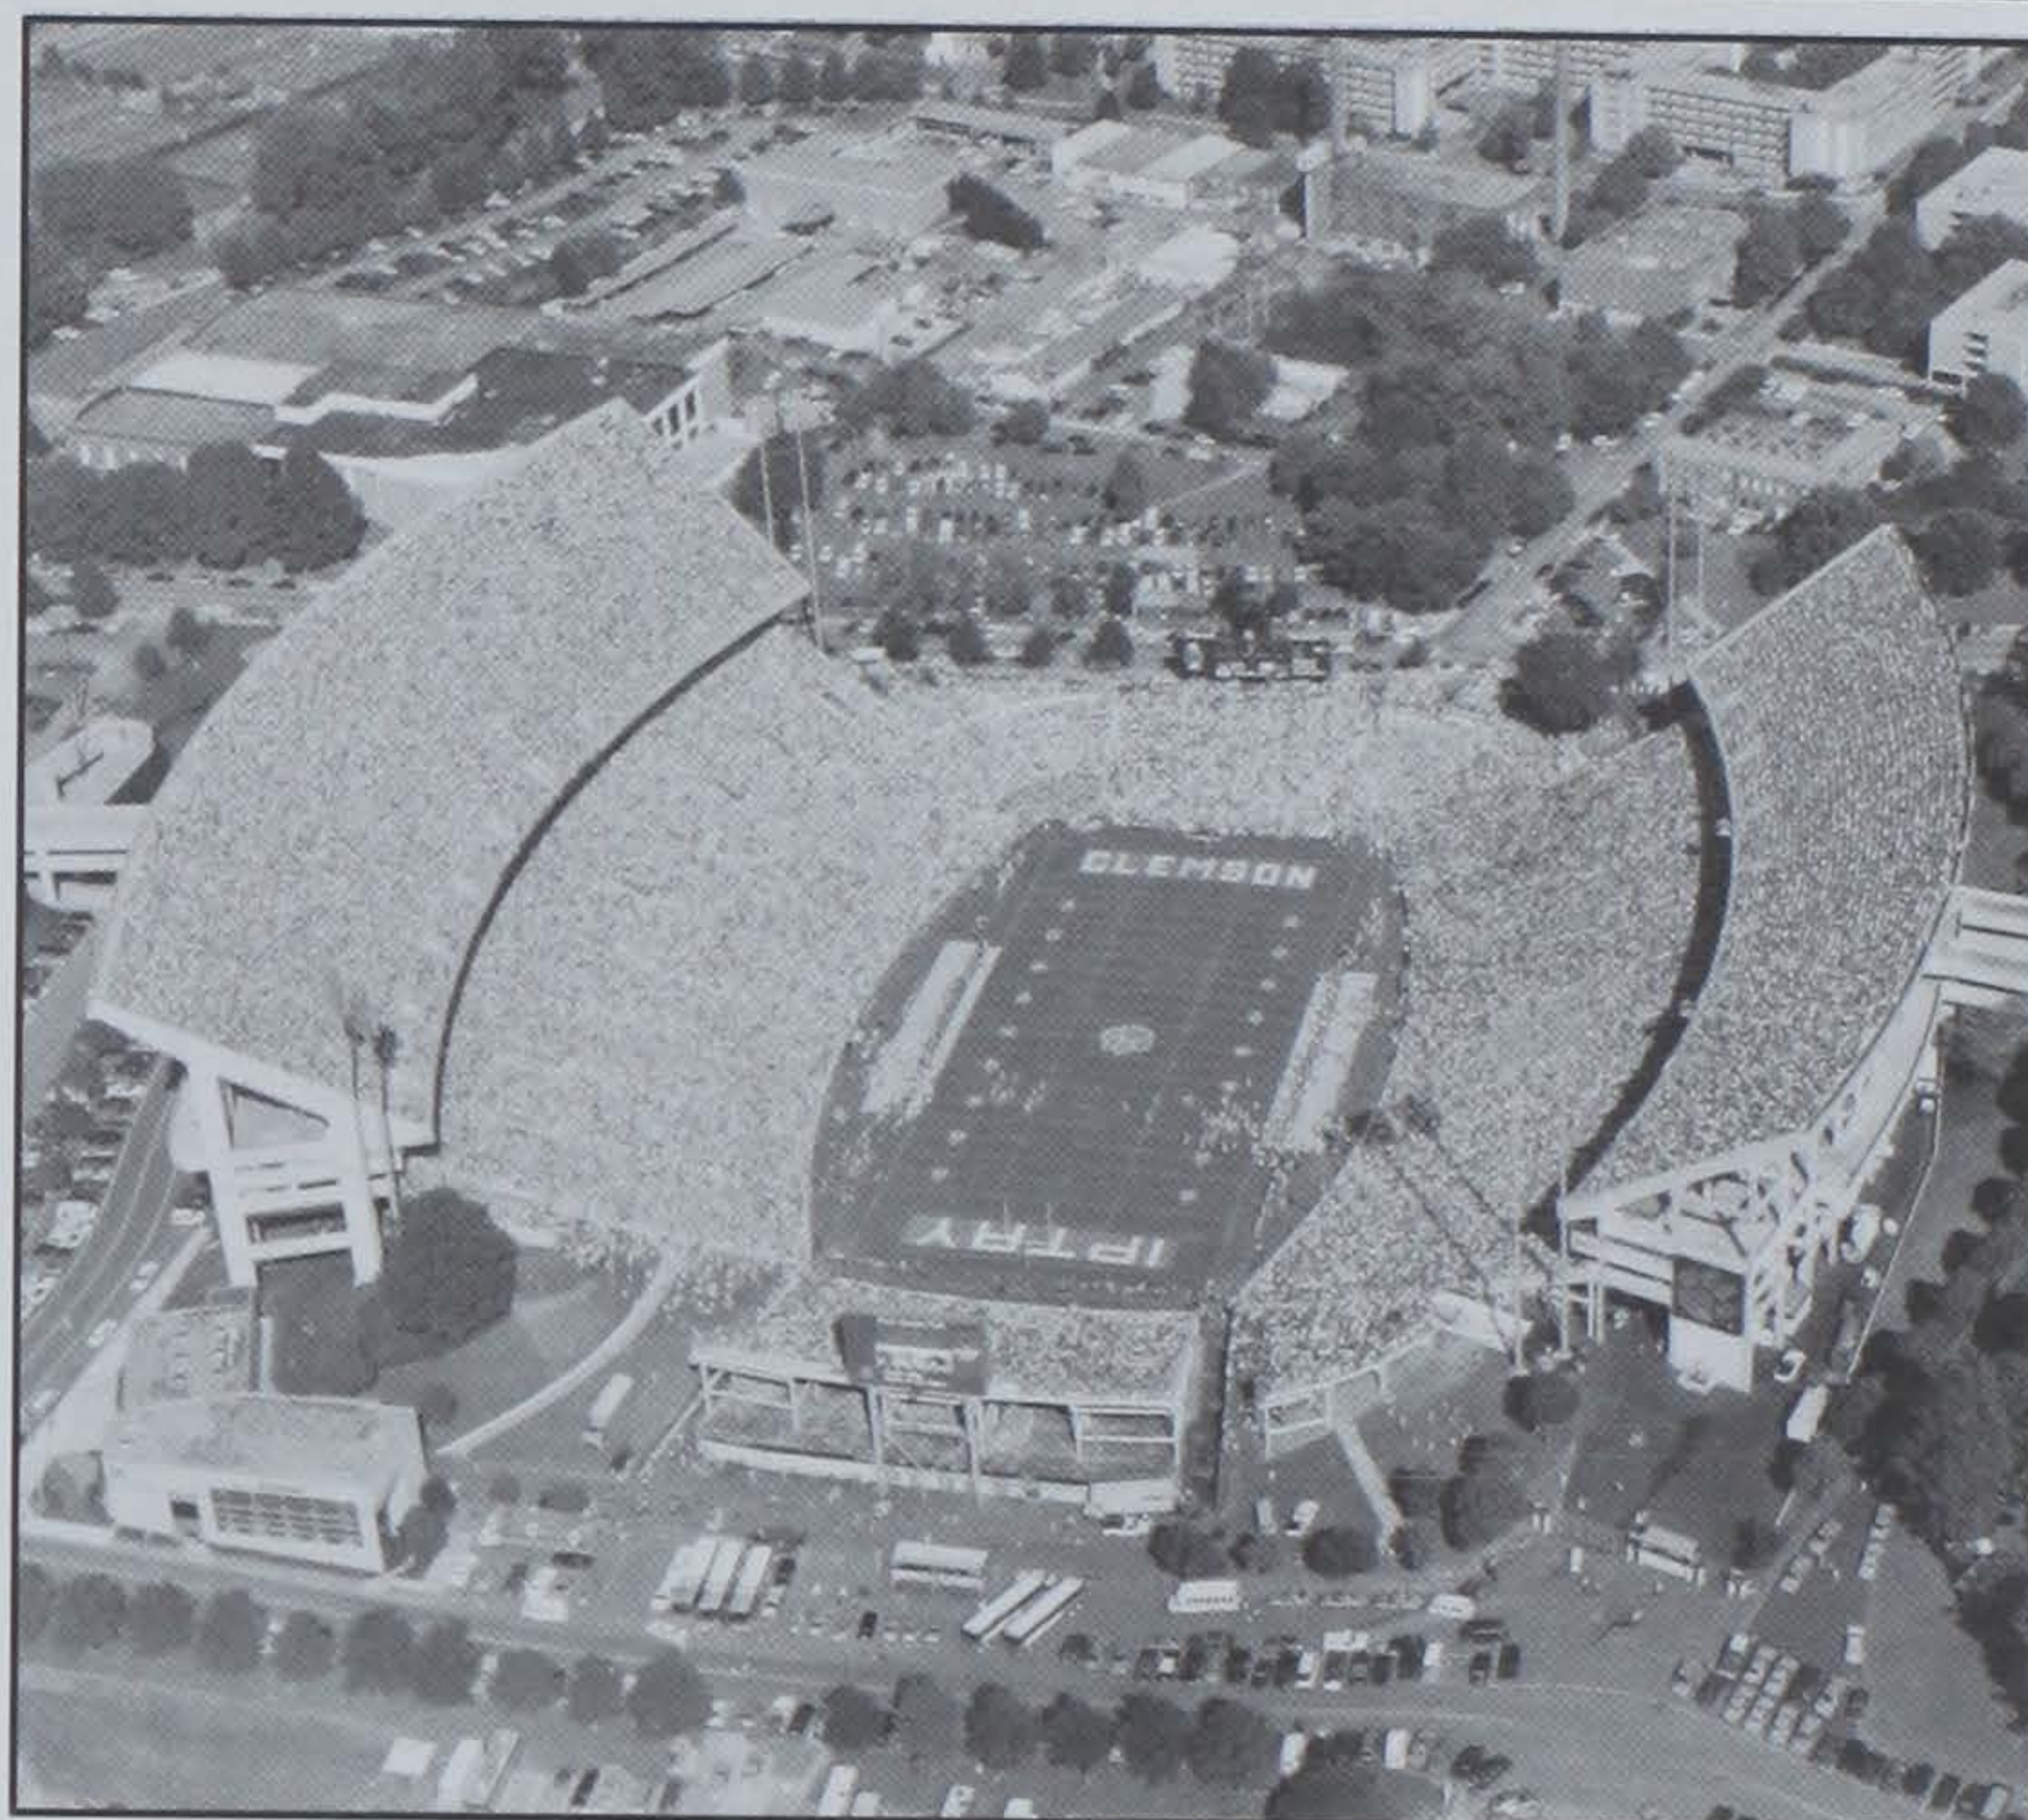

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the stadium, including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid the sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through. I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more weeks pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled—the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 81,473 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Athletic Director Bobby Robinson says that Memorial Stadium has many features that make it a top facility. "One thing that makes it so good is the number of sideline seats," he says. "We don't think there is a bad seat in the house."

"We also have outstanding dressing rooms, press facilities, and ample parking nearby. Another unique feature of the stadium is the number of private boxes."

If Memorial Stadium is expanded again and the capacity is pushed closer to 100,000, there will be room for construction over the west stands, enclosing that end like a horseshoe.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Facilities

STRENGTH TRAINING ROOM

It only takes a short drive through the Clemson campus to see that Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best definitely applies to athletic facilities. Within just a block or two of each other are Riggs Field, the indoor and outdoor tennis facilities, McHugh Natatorium, the Rock Norman Track Complex, Littlejohn Coliseum, Jervy Gym, Tiger Field, and of course the awesome Death Valley, where the Fighting Tiger football squad posted an unbeaten record in 1990 and 1991.

But one of Clemson's most impressive athletic facilities is not quite as visible as the mammoth Death Valley, even though it may be an even more important reason for the Tigers' success. Clemson's strength training facility, located in Jervy Athletic Center, provides Clemson athletes with the very best in equipment, supervision and atmosphere, as the Tiger strength training staff knows that success in the area of strength training will mean success on the football field.

Head Strength Coach Gary Wade and his staff work constantly to ensure that their facility is one of the nation's best. Several renovations made over the last several years have ensured that it is among the best, on the collegiate and professional levels. It is no accident that the Tigers have posted a 63-18-3 record, won four ACC Championships, had 16 first or second-team All-Americans, and 48 first-team all-conference selections since Wade joined the Clemson staff in 1985.

Perhaps the most impressive characteristic of the facility is its size. Several years ago, the facility was enlarged to an astounding 11,000 square feet, making it one of the largest in the nation. The facility boasts two full lines of Nautilus machines and over 12 tons of weights. The large number of machines and free weights allows the weight room to be used by athletes from several different sports at the same time, without anyone having to wait in line at a particular station.

In the middle of winter, when the grass on Frank Howard Field has turned brown and the Tiger Paws have faded in the cold, the Tiger strength training room is bustling with action. When an athlete enters the etched glass doors, he is greeted by plush, wall-to-wall carpeting, walls lined with mirrors, ceiling fans, and music from a 26-speaker sound system - a worthy backdrop for well over $500,000 worth of state-of-the-art equipment.

Four color television monitors are also positioned throughout the facility. These monitors are used for training and instruction, as Tiger strength coaches film the athletes and work with them on form correction. When not in use for this purpose, the televisions, which are hooked into the sound system provide atmosphere, as most Tiger student-athletes enjoy working out to the tune of the latest music videos.

Wade and his assistants, Scott Bennett, Al Caronia, Jeff Fish, Jeff Looney, and Scott Hines personally supervise the individual weight programs of hundreds of athletes. The strength training staff spends long hours working around the various schedules of each sport and even takes the facility on the road when the Tiger football team plays in a bowl game. For the past six seasons, Wade and his assistants have set up a temporary weight room at the Tigers' bowl hotel headquarters.

Recently, the operation of the strength training facility was enhanced by the addition of a new computerized program. Tiger strength coaches are now able to enter all the current strength data on an athlete, and the computer will generate a 10-week conditioning program that will help the athlete reach optimum results.

Several Tigers have already achieved those optimum results, as eight members of the Clemson football team have been named to the All-America strength team in the last eight years. This honor is a means of nationally recognizing athletes who have greatly improved their on-field performance through strength and conditioning.

Clemson's all-time leading rusher, Kenny Flowers, won the honor in 1984, while Jim Riggs, an All-ACC tight end who played in the Super Bowl with the Cincinnati Bengals in 1989, was named to the squad in 1985.

Three-time academic All-ACC offensive lineman Ty Granger was a 1986 Strength All-American, while tight end Danny Pearman, a former walk-on player and now a full-time assistant coach at Alabama, was honored in 1987. In 1988, cornerback Donnell Woolfold added a strength All-America certificate to his resume before being chosen in the first round of the NFL draft by the Chicago Bears. Linebacker Vince Taylor was a 1989 strength All-American.

Butkus Award finalist and 1991 All-American Levon Kirkland was named a strength All-American in 1990, and last year, center Mike Brown's hard work was rewarded with a strength All-America certificate. Brown, a first-team All-ACC performer in 1991, increased his bench press by 150 pounds during his years in a Tiger uniform and his 450-pound mark was one of the best on the team in 1991. His power ratio (strength based on bodyweight) led all Tiger offensive linemen during Brown's senior season.

Another honor that Clemson players can strive for through hard work in the weight room is that of Lifter-of-the-Year. This honor is unique in that the recipient is voted on by his teammates. Outside linebacker Ashley Sheppard was chosen by the 1991 squad.

Football workouts are designed to help the Tigers in every aspect of the game and are different for every position. Flexibility and quickness are emphasized in addition to strength, as is stamina. The goal of the strength training staff is to have every player able to perform at peak efficiency for four quarters in 11, or hopefully 12 games.

TRAINING ROOM

Athletes at Clemson have the opportunity to be the best they can be because few universities have better facilities. The dedicated athlete can excel at Clemson because the facilities make him a better player.

The Jervey Athletic Center is the focal point of Clemson athletics as it houses the strength training room, the varsity locker rooms and all administrative offices. It is right across the street from Littlejohn Coliseum. Everything is within walking distance and easily accessible from all other facilities.

The training room is one of the fine facilities in the Jervey Athletic Center. It is run by Fred Hoover, a national Hall of Fame trainer, and it houses all of the latest training equipment. Hoover heads up a staff of four full-time individuals with over 50 years of experience. This professional staff and 17 student and graduate student trainers give an athlete the best possible care.

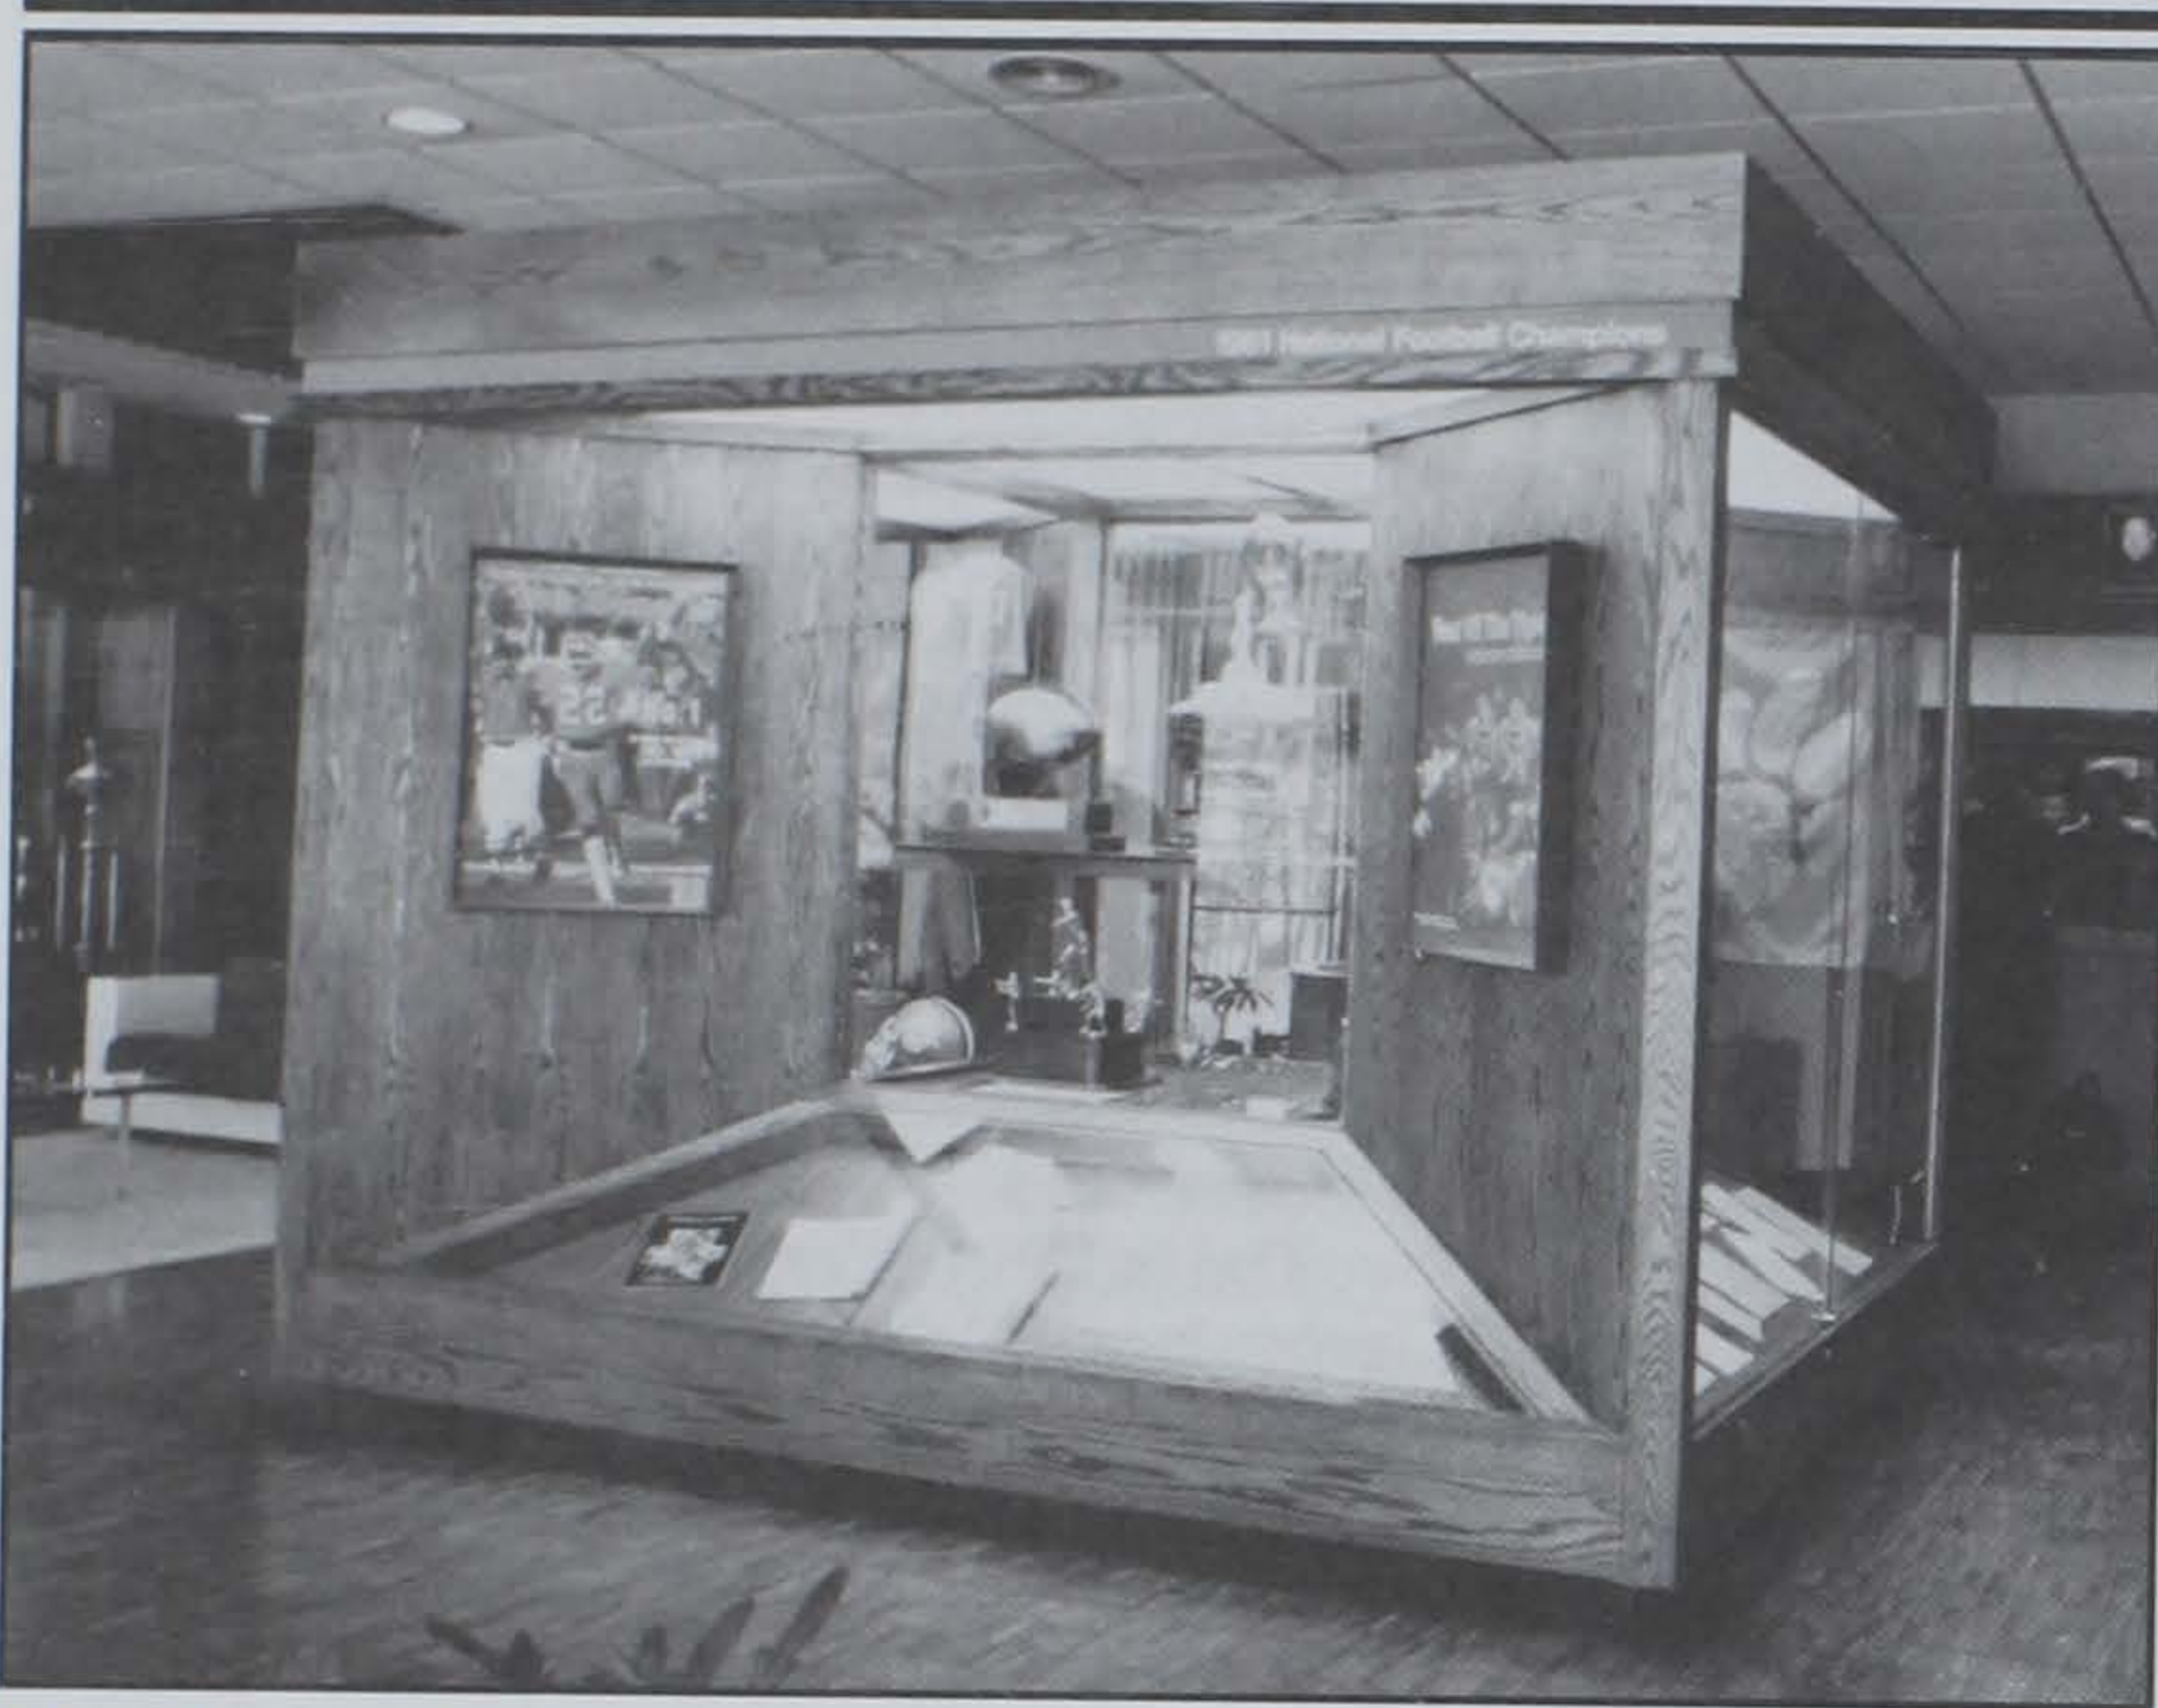

The training room has six whirlpools, a cybex machine, numerous stationary bikes, an upper-body exeriser, a Stairmaster, and all the latest devices for all kinds of treatment. The large sauna and steam bath are also welcome sites after a tough practice. A doctor has an office in the training room itself. He is in the training room from 2:00 p.m. until closing and is of course available at all hours for special situations.

The training staff is also responsible for the dietary plans of the Clemson athlete. Clemson's training table serves the Clemson football and basketball team in all-you-can-eat fashion every day during the academic year and it provides the athlete with a well balanced meal planned by dietary experts. These are special dining facilities designed to accommodate the unusual hours of the athlete when he is in season.

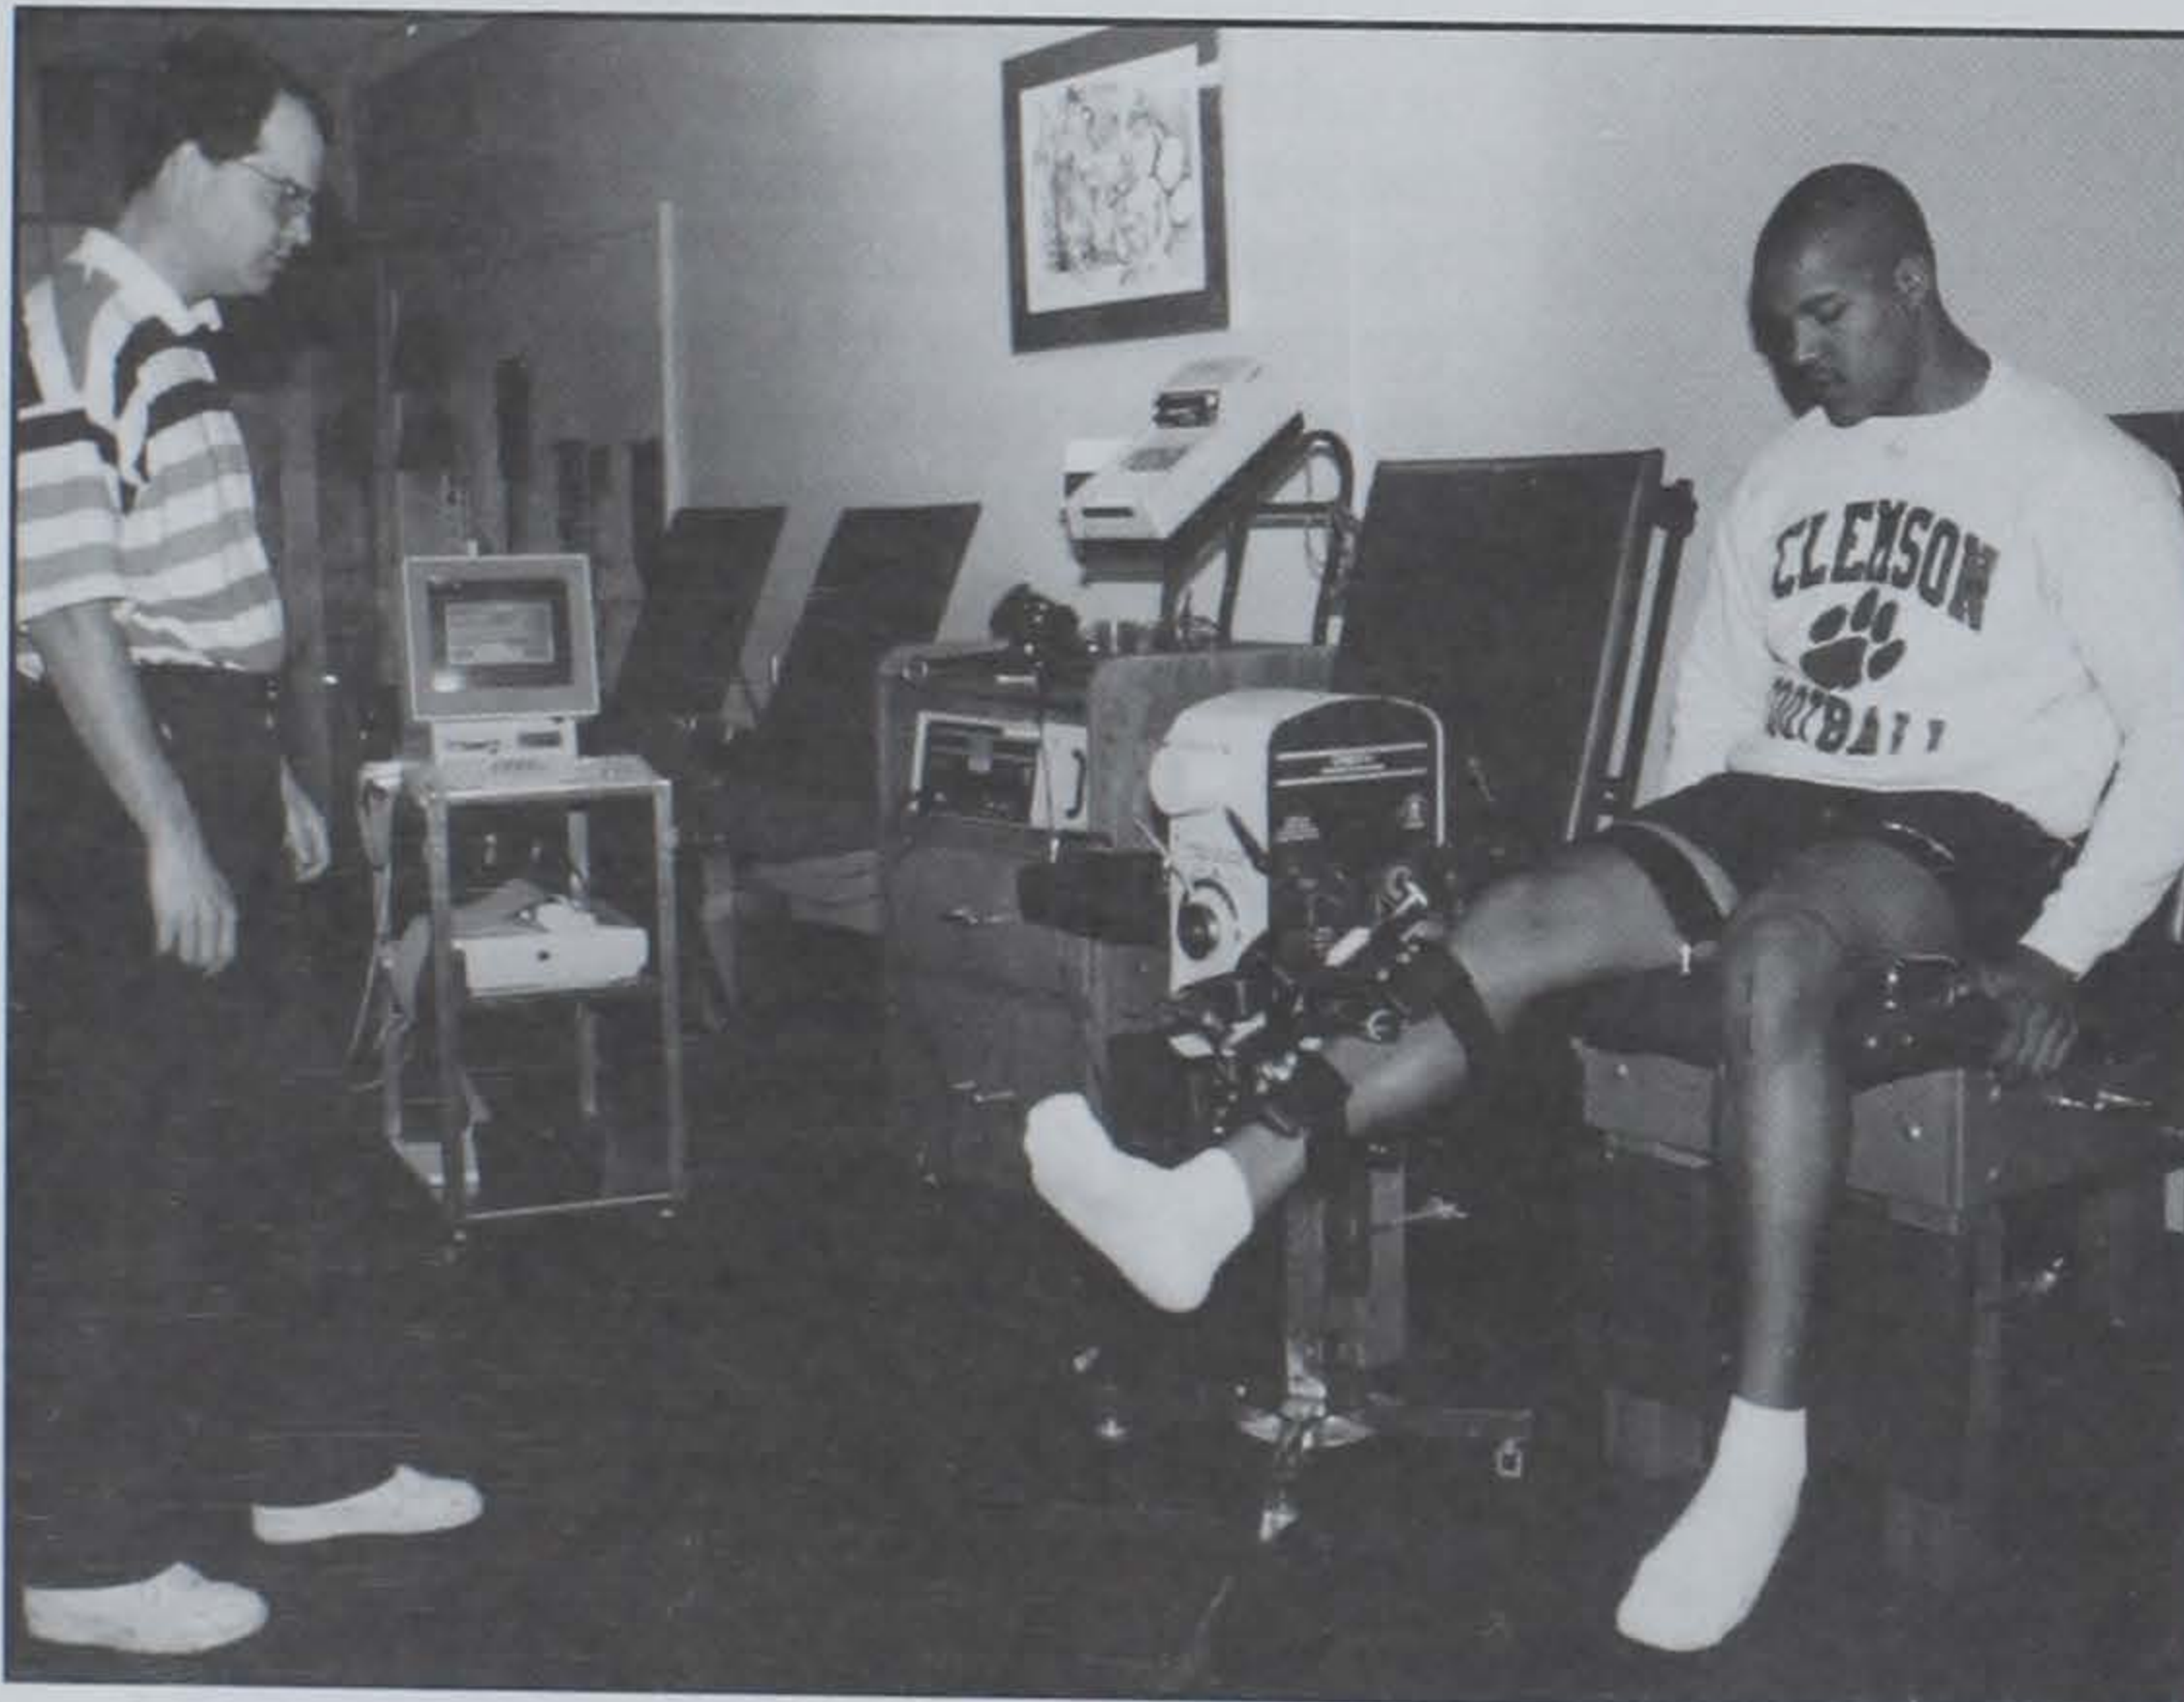

The meals are truly luscious, especially after a Clemson victory. A win means "Super Meal" night, as chefs prepare carved roast beef, steak, lobster, shrimp and many other delicacies.

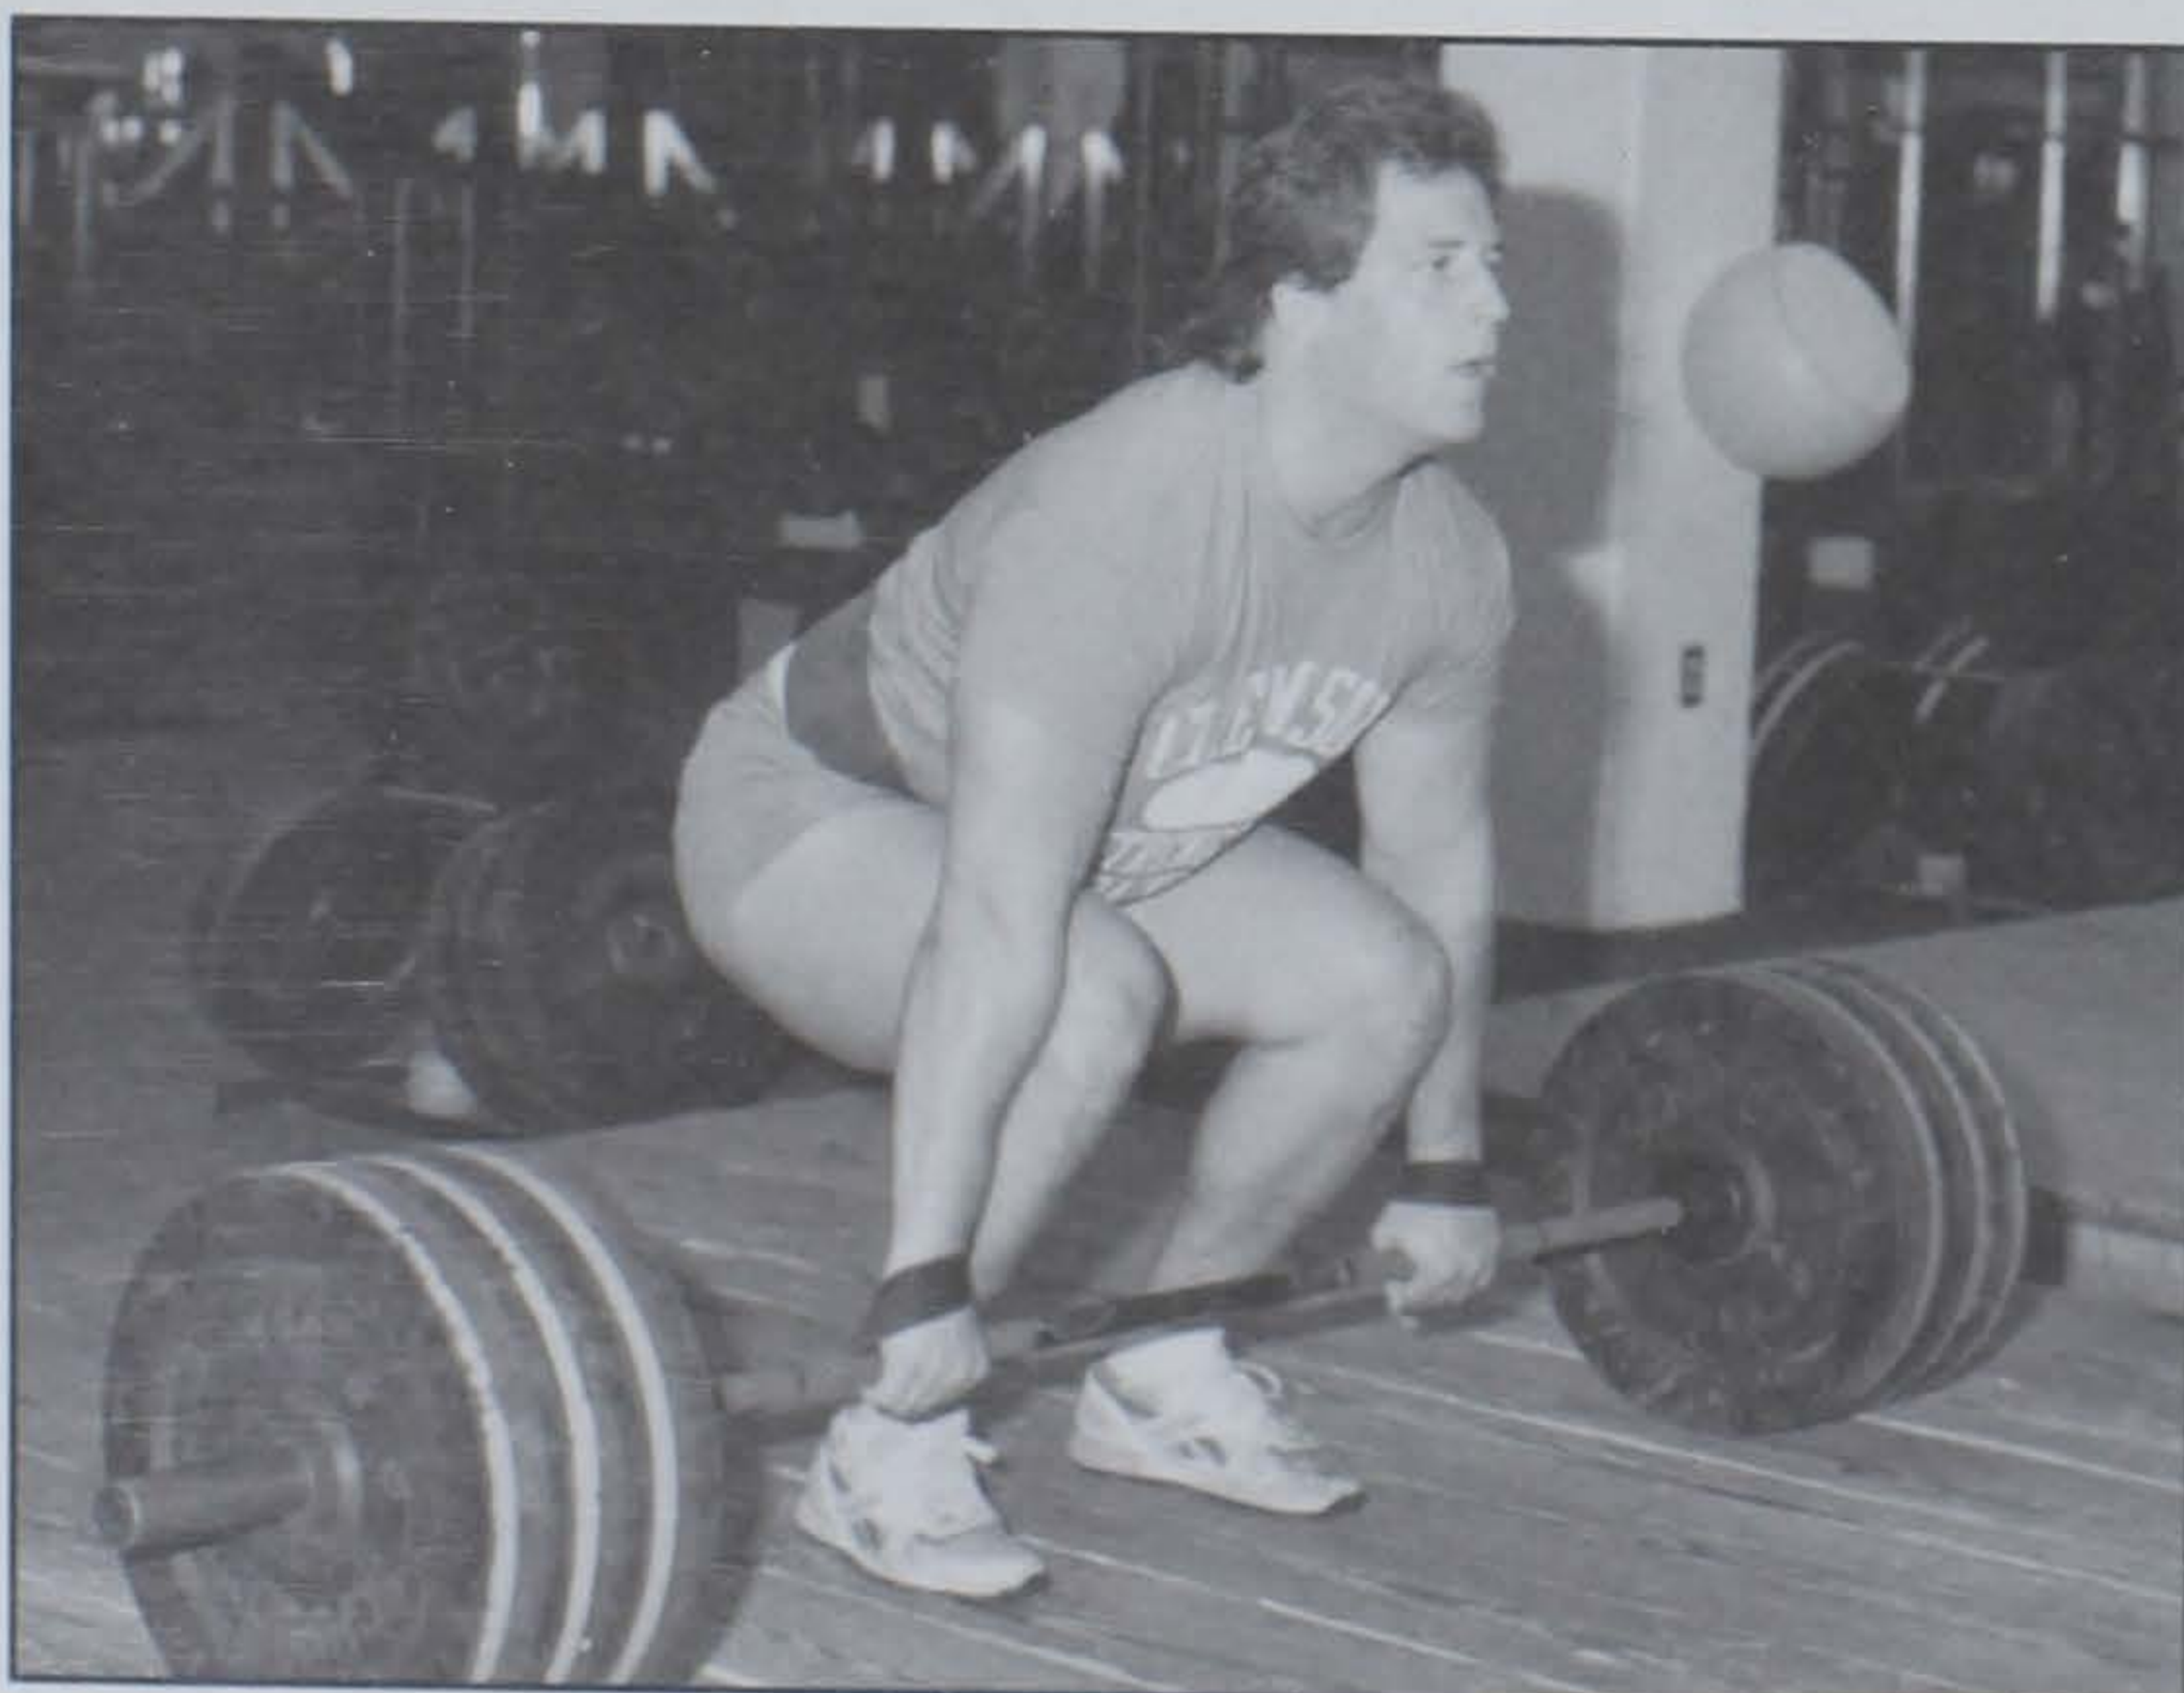

Fred Hoover has been directing the training aspect of Clemson football players' lives since 1958.

The Jervay Athletic Center is the home of all Clemson training and strength facilities, in addition to the offices for all coaches and administrators.

Clemson athletes benefit from a training staff that has over 50 years of experience, and uses the most modern rehabilitation equipment.

There is rarely any waiting for a work station in the Clemson strength facility.

Clemson gridgers eat in their own dining room in the middle of campus.

Talk of the Town

The fans that follow Clemson football are rabid, that is for sure. This fan interest leads to considerable media attention. Year in and year out Clemson is among the top 20 teams in the nation and this leads to a media contingent that is regional and national.

Clemson has been on live network or regional television 46 times over the last six seasons, more than any other team in the ACC. This includes 24 appearances on ABC, CBS, NBC or ESPN since 1986.

The Clemson radio network penetrates South Carolina, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Virginia and Tennessee. The network is on the air for eight hours on the typical Saturday with pregame and postgame shows.

An average televised Clemson home game brings over 200 members of the media to Death Valley. Over the last two years representatives from Dallas, Los Angeles, New York, Chicago and other non-Southern cities have covered Clemson games.

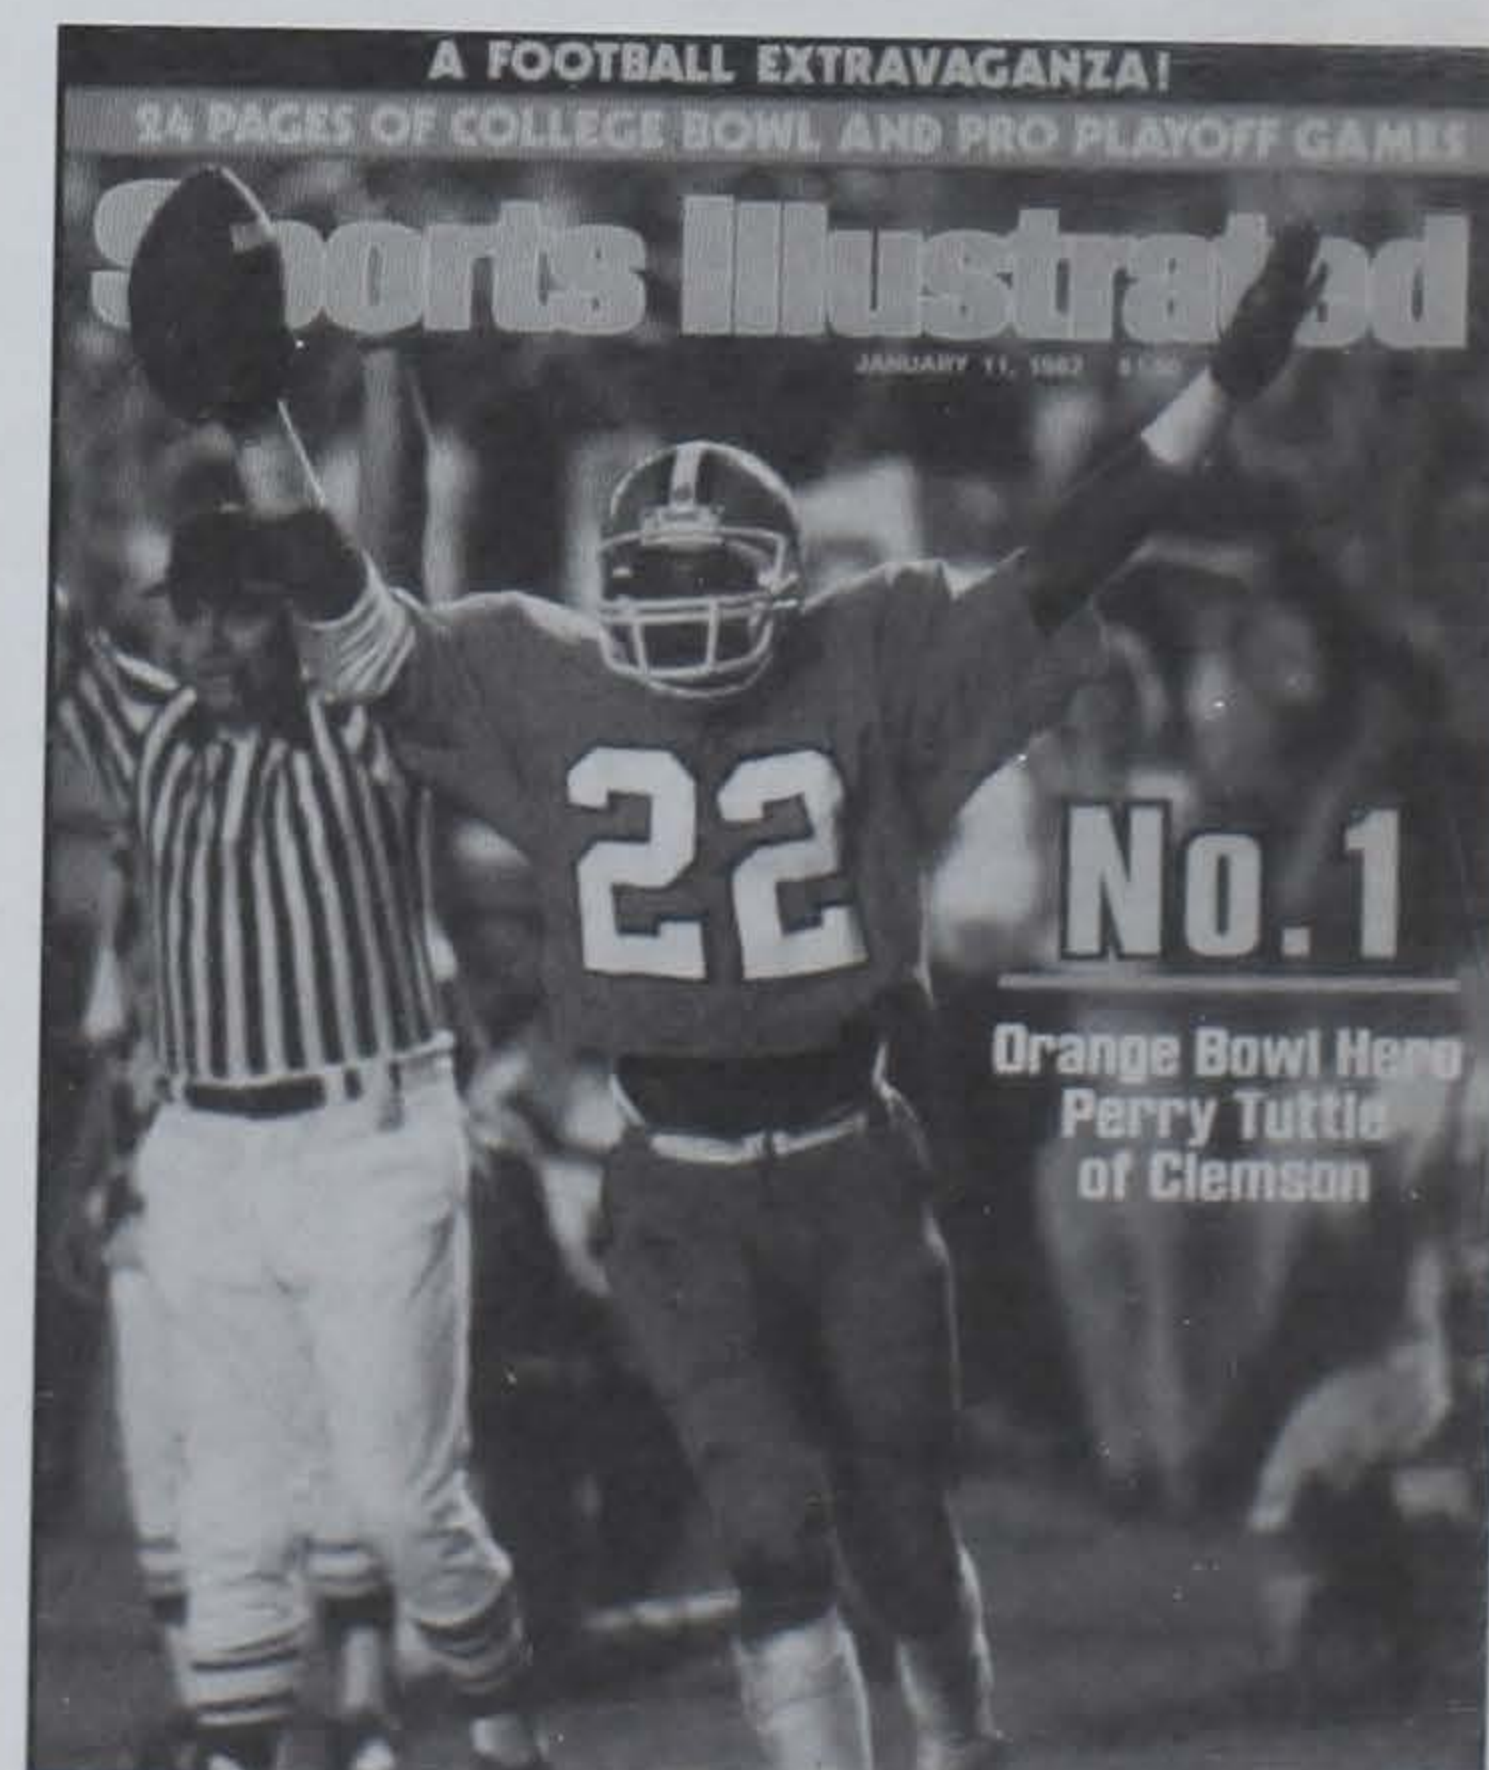

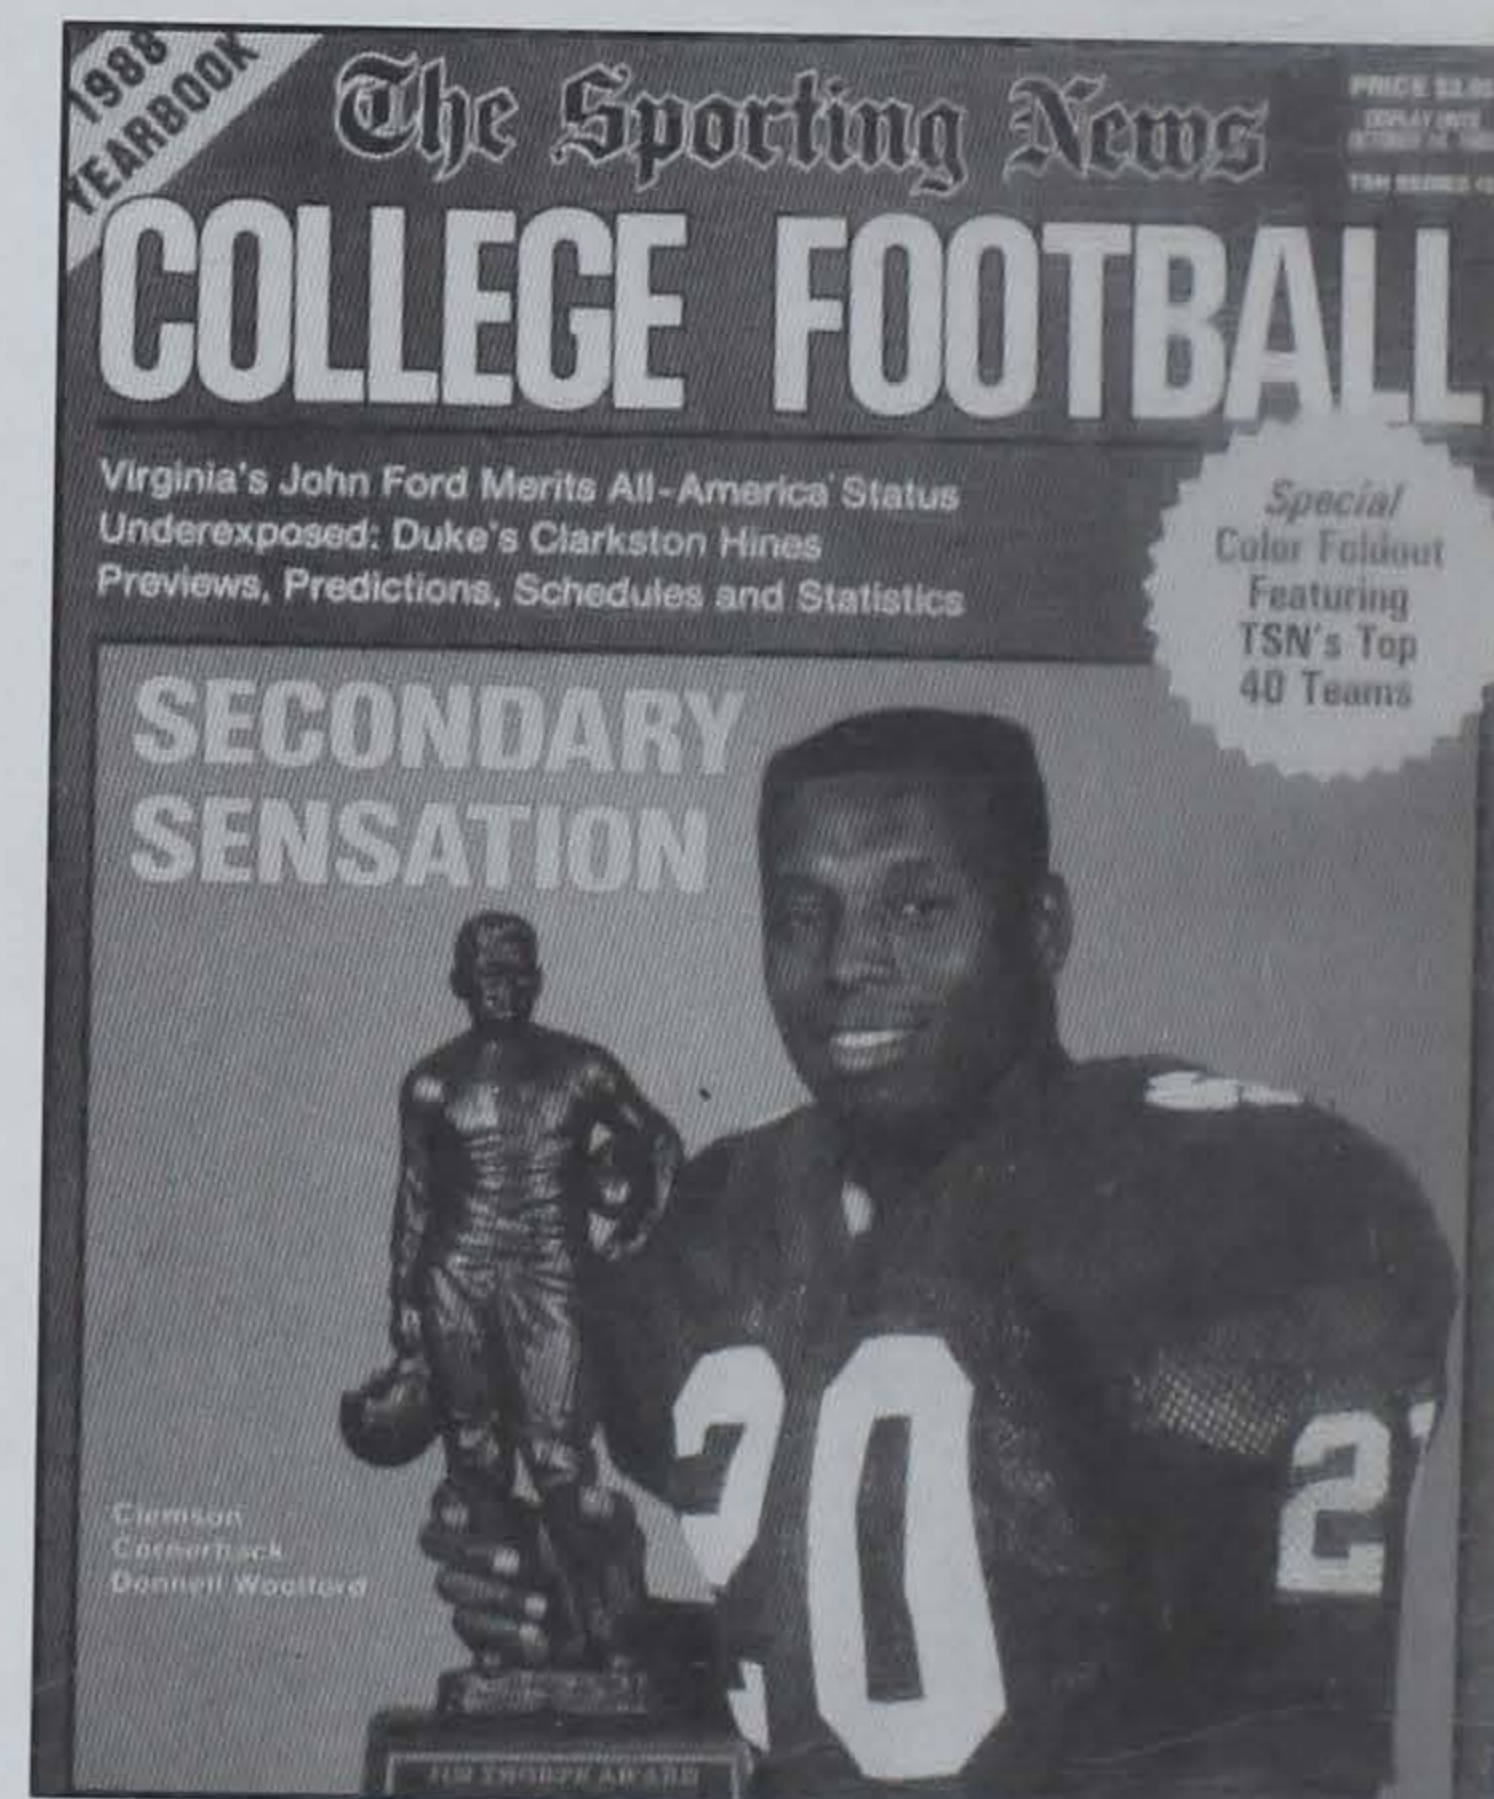

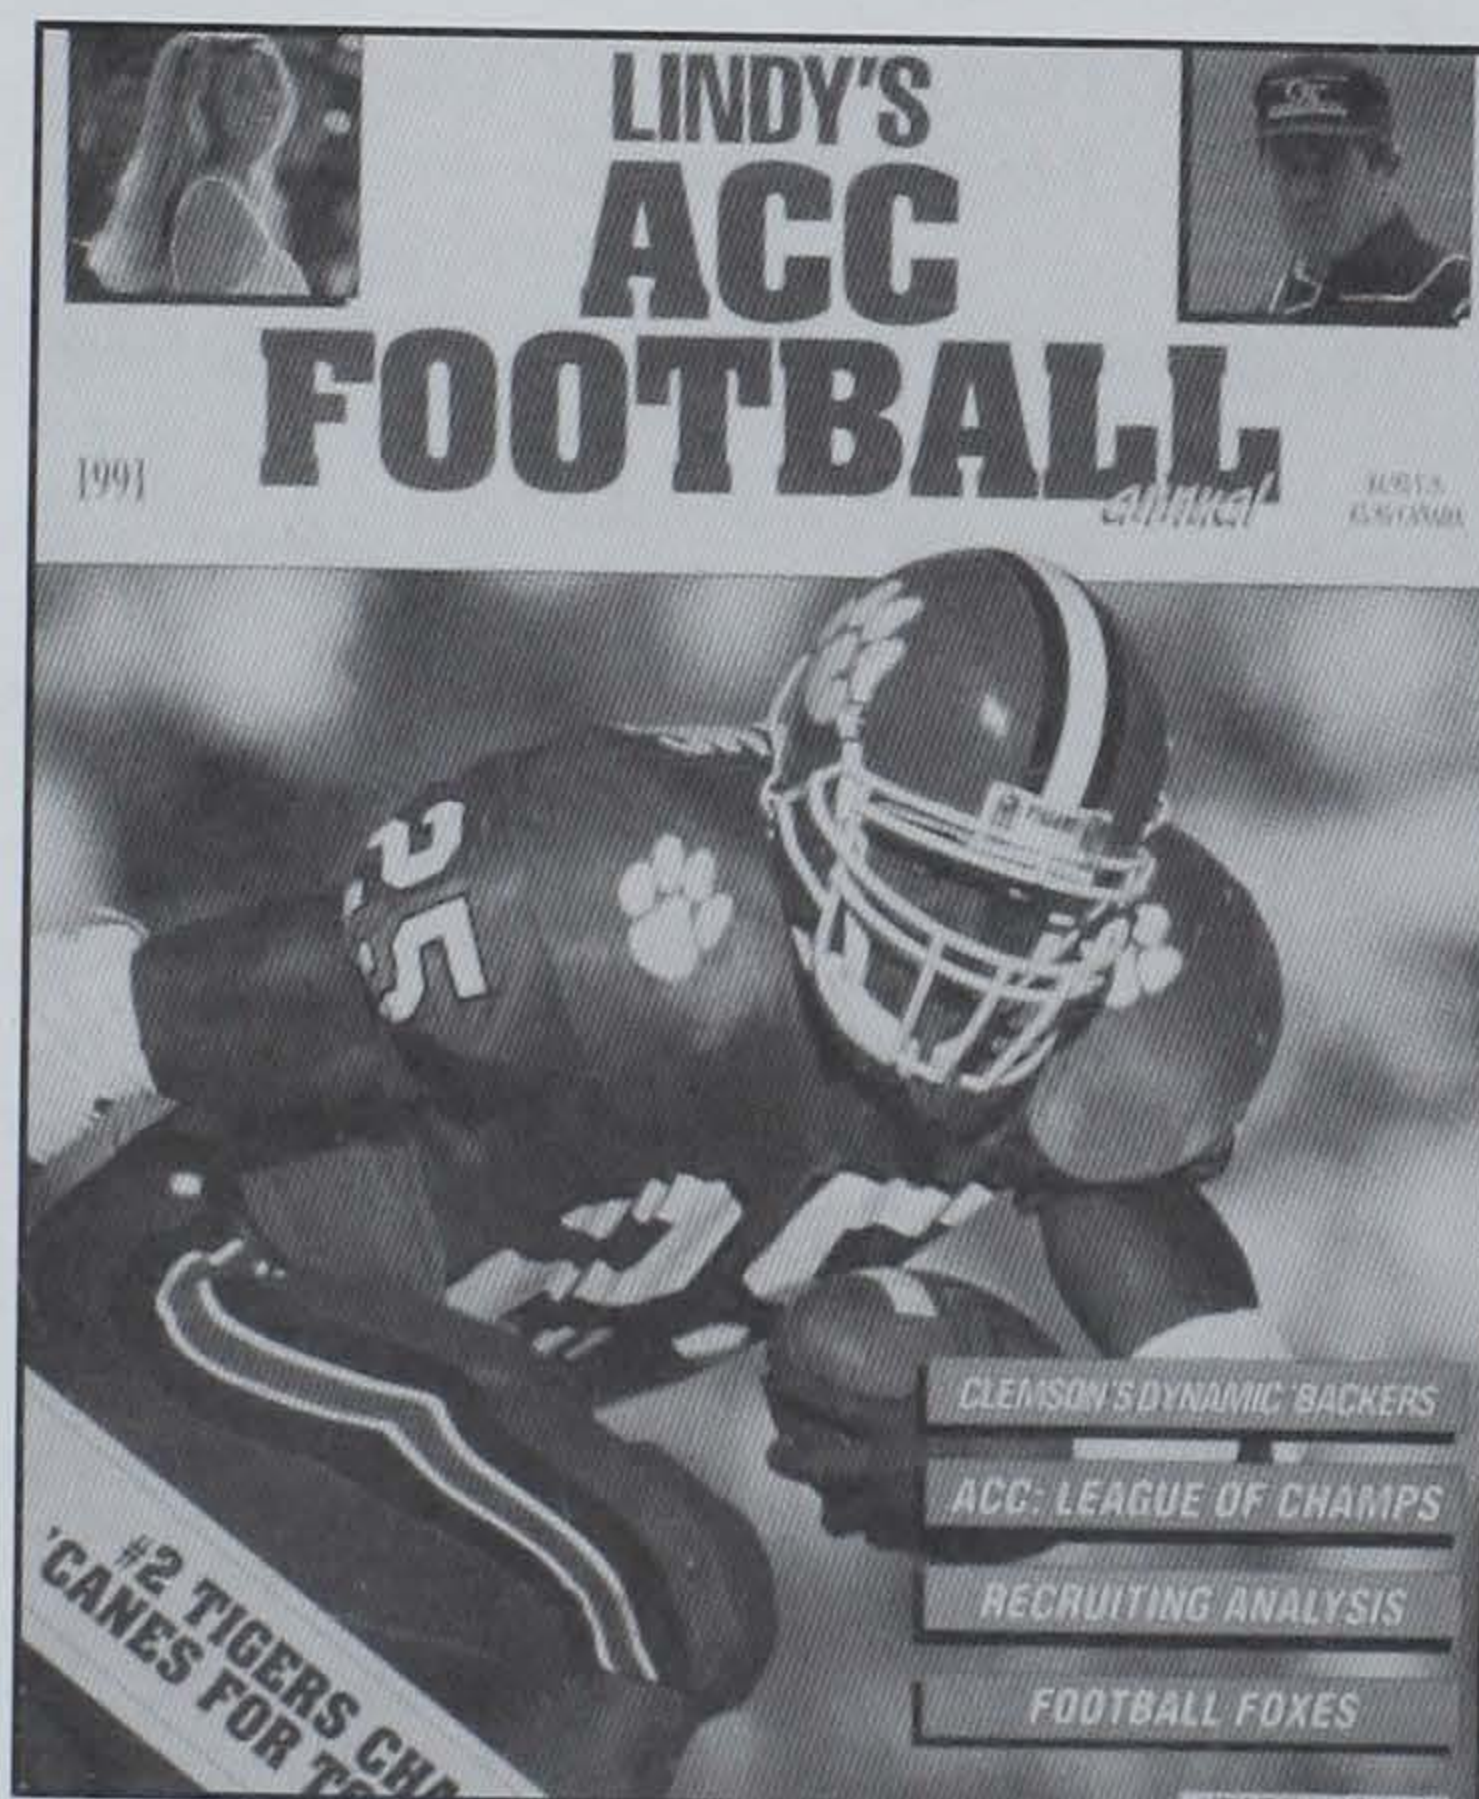

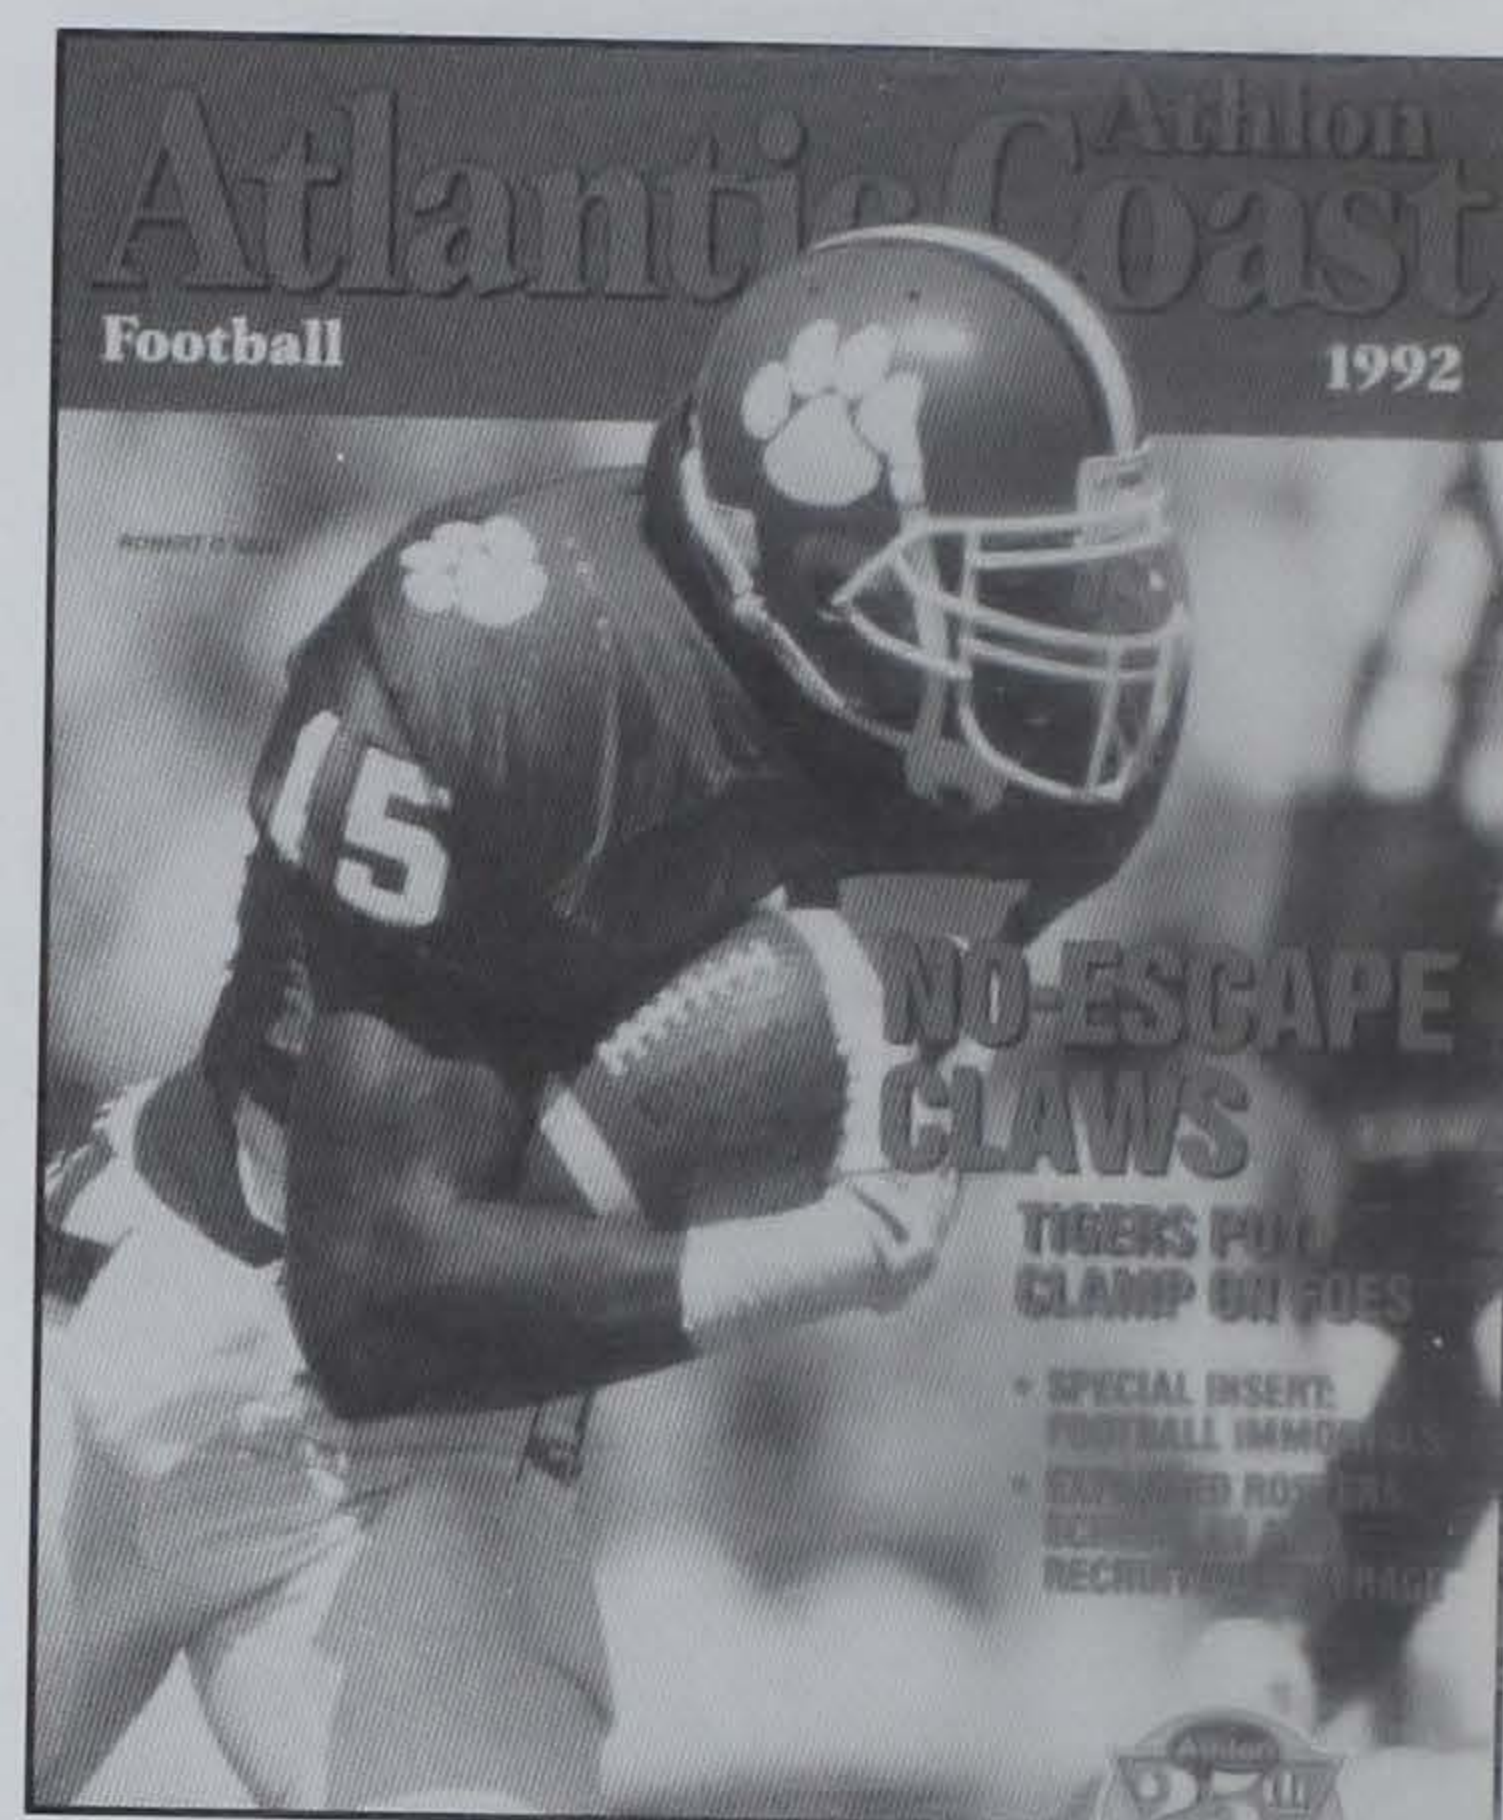

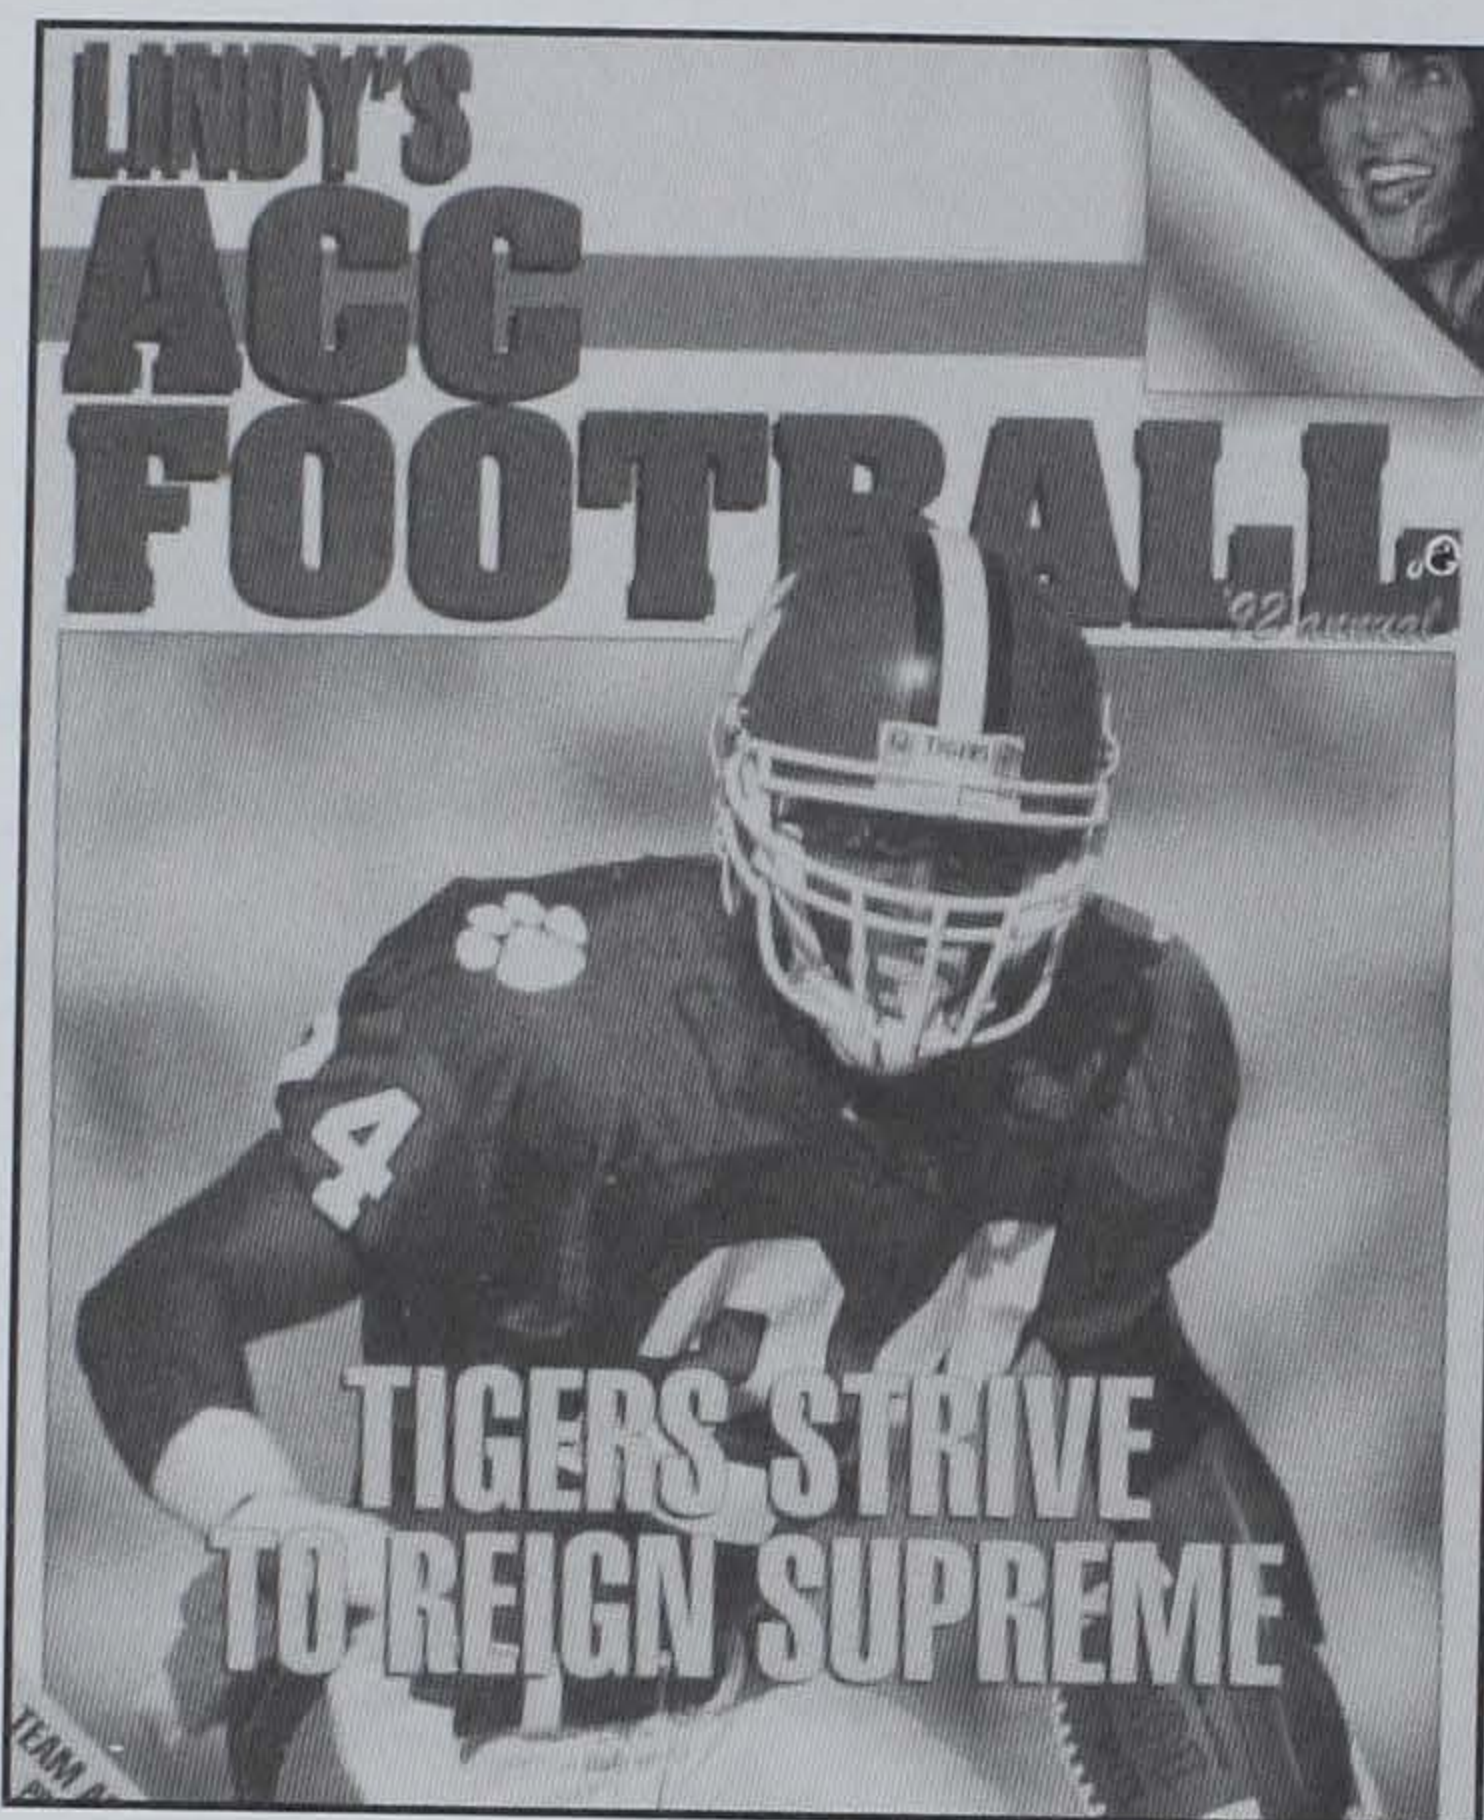

This media attention has contributed to considerable acclaim for many Tiger football players. Clemson has had at least one All-American every year since 1977, including last year when four Tigers were named first-team All-American by various services.

In 1991 the attention on Clemson football went international, as the Tigers played in the Coca Cola Bowl in Tokyo, Japan for the second time in 10 years. With ESPN's arrival at Clemson on September 12 of this year for the Florida State game, Clemson's national attention will continue.

Clemson Sports Program

The 1991-92 academic year proved to be one of the best ever for the athletic program at Clemson. A school-record 13 of the 18 programs finished in the top 25 of their respective polls. This 72 percent mark is the highest yearly percentage at Clemson. Additionally, 10 programs were ranked in the top 20, tying the Clemson record for an academic year.

Clemson had 27 All-Americans in 1991-92 to match the school record established the previous academic year. The men's track program led the way with 12 All-Americans, seven during the indoor season and five during the outdoor season. Clemson's football team boasted four first-team All-Americans, the most chosen to a first-team in Clemson history.

Thirteen teams advanced to postseason play, which tied for the most ever at Clemson. NCAA postseason team bids were received in soccer, women's basketball, men's tennis, baseball, and golf.

The men's indoor track team posted the highest national ranking among Clemson teams this season when it finished second at the NCAAAs in Indianapolis. This is the highest ever for the team and for any Clemson team since the soccer team's National Championship in 1987. The men's track team also had two National Champions. James Trapp was the 200 meter indoor champion, while Michael Green claimed the title in the 55 meters. Trapp was a three-time All-American at the outdoor meet and is now a 10-time All-American at Clemson. He was also chosen to the 1992 U.S. Olympic track team.

Sharone Wright led the ACC in blocked shots and offensive rebounds as a freshman.

The Tiger golf team advanced to the NCAA tournament for the 10th straight year, as Danny Ellis and Nicky Goetze were named honorable mention All-American. Ellis became the third Clemson golfer in history to win the ACC tournament. Clemson is one of only four schools to go to NCAA play 10 straight years. The football team made its seventh bowl appearance in as many years when the Tigers faced California in the Citrus Bowl on Jan. 1.

For the first time since the 1987-88 academic year, all four of Clemson's men's spring sports finished in the top 20 of their respective sports. The baseball team ranked the highest at seventh, followed by the golf and men's track teams who were both ranked 12th. The men's tennis team finished 20th in the nation. The Tiger baseball team defeated 12 top-25 teams, while Clemson teams had 27 top-25 wins overall.

Women's sports at Clemson had an outstanding year in 1991-92. Five of the seven teams finished in the top 25 in the nation. The women's basketball team finished 19th after making its fifth consecutive NCAA postseason appearance. Women's swimming, under first-year coach Jim Sheridan, was 20th. Sheridan became just the third coach in Clemson history to take a team to a top 20 ranking in his first year. The best women's ranking was 17th by the women's outdoor track team. Kim Graham led the way as she was an All-American, set the Clemson mark in the 100 and 200, and was Co-MVP of the ACC meet. The women's indoor track team was 22nd and the women's tennis team was 23rd.

The home field advantage was evident as Tiger teams won 80 percent of their games in Clemson. This is the third best home winning percentage in school history. The football team earned the highest overall winning percentage of Clemson teams at 79.2 percent. The baseball team followed, winning 78.1 percent of its games.

Clemson teams fared well in the ACC. The football and baseball teams were the regular season champions. The two teams combined for a 25-5-1 record against ACC teams, an 82 percent victory mark. The men's and women's indoor track teams won the ACC titles, while six Clemson teams claimed second-place in their respective ACC tournaments, or standings.

Sixty-four Tiger athletes were named first-team All-ACC, representing 14 different sports. Ten members of the men's indoor track team and nine football players were awarded this honor. Eight athletes were selected from both the men's and women's outdoor track teams.

While Clemson teams excelled in every venue, several student-athletes were winning in the classroom. Clemson student-athletes had a record semester in the spring, when 109 competitors made a 3.0 or better. Of these, 35 athletes made the Dean's List (a 3.5 or better) and 14 were named to the President's List (a perfect 4.0). Among the athletes on the Dean's List were ACC Swimming Champion Liz Dolan and NCAA Indoor Track Champion Michael Green. Three All-ACC performers who made the Dean's List were wrestler Scott Williams, golfer Bobby Doolittle, and baseball player Billy McMillon. Rob Bodine and Ed McDaniel, two first-team All-Americans on the gridiron, were also named to the academic honor roll.

Nine Clemson baseball players made a 3.0 or better during the spring semester. During this same semester, Bill Wilhelm's baseball team won the ACC regular season title and was ranked in the top 10 in the nation.

Clemson football player Bruce Bratton was a first-team selection to the inaugural CFA Academic All-American team. He was also named Academic All-ACC for the third consecutive year, just the sixth three-time selection in Clemson history. Bratton and swimmer Liz Dolan won two of the highest academic awards distributed by the ACC. Bratton was a recipient of the Bob James Award, while Dolan won the Marie James Award. These are scholarship awards given to top student-athletes regardless of sport. Dolan was also named a second-team Academic All-American.

Another Academic All-America selection was golfer Nicky Goetze. He was chosen by the Golf Coaches Association. This was the fourth time in five years that a Clemson golfer has been named to this team.

Liz Dolan was an ACC Champion, led Clemson to a top 20 team ranking, and was chosen a second-team Academic All-American.

Dr. Max Lennon

Clemson University President Max Lennon's ambition is to be president of the nation's top technologically-oriented land grant university. And he doesn't plan to leave campus to achieve that goal. Because that's the vision Lennon has for Clemson: not to be "one of the best," but to be better at what it does than any other school.

To achieve the vision, Lennon has brought the business world's concepts of total quality management and strategic planning to the academic arena. He hopes these concepts will help reduce bureaucracy, increase involvement of students, faculty and staff in the management of the university, increase diversity, and create an atmosphere of a community of scholars.

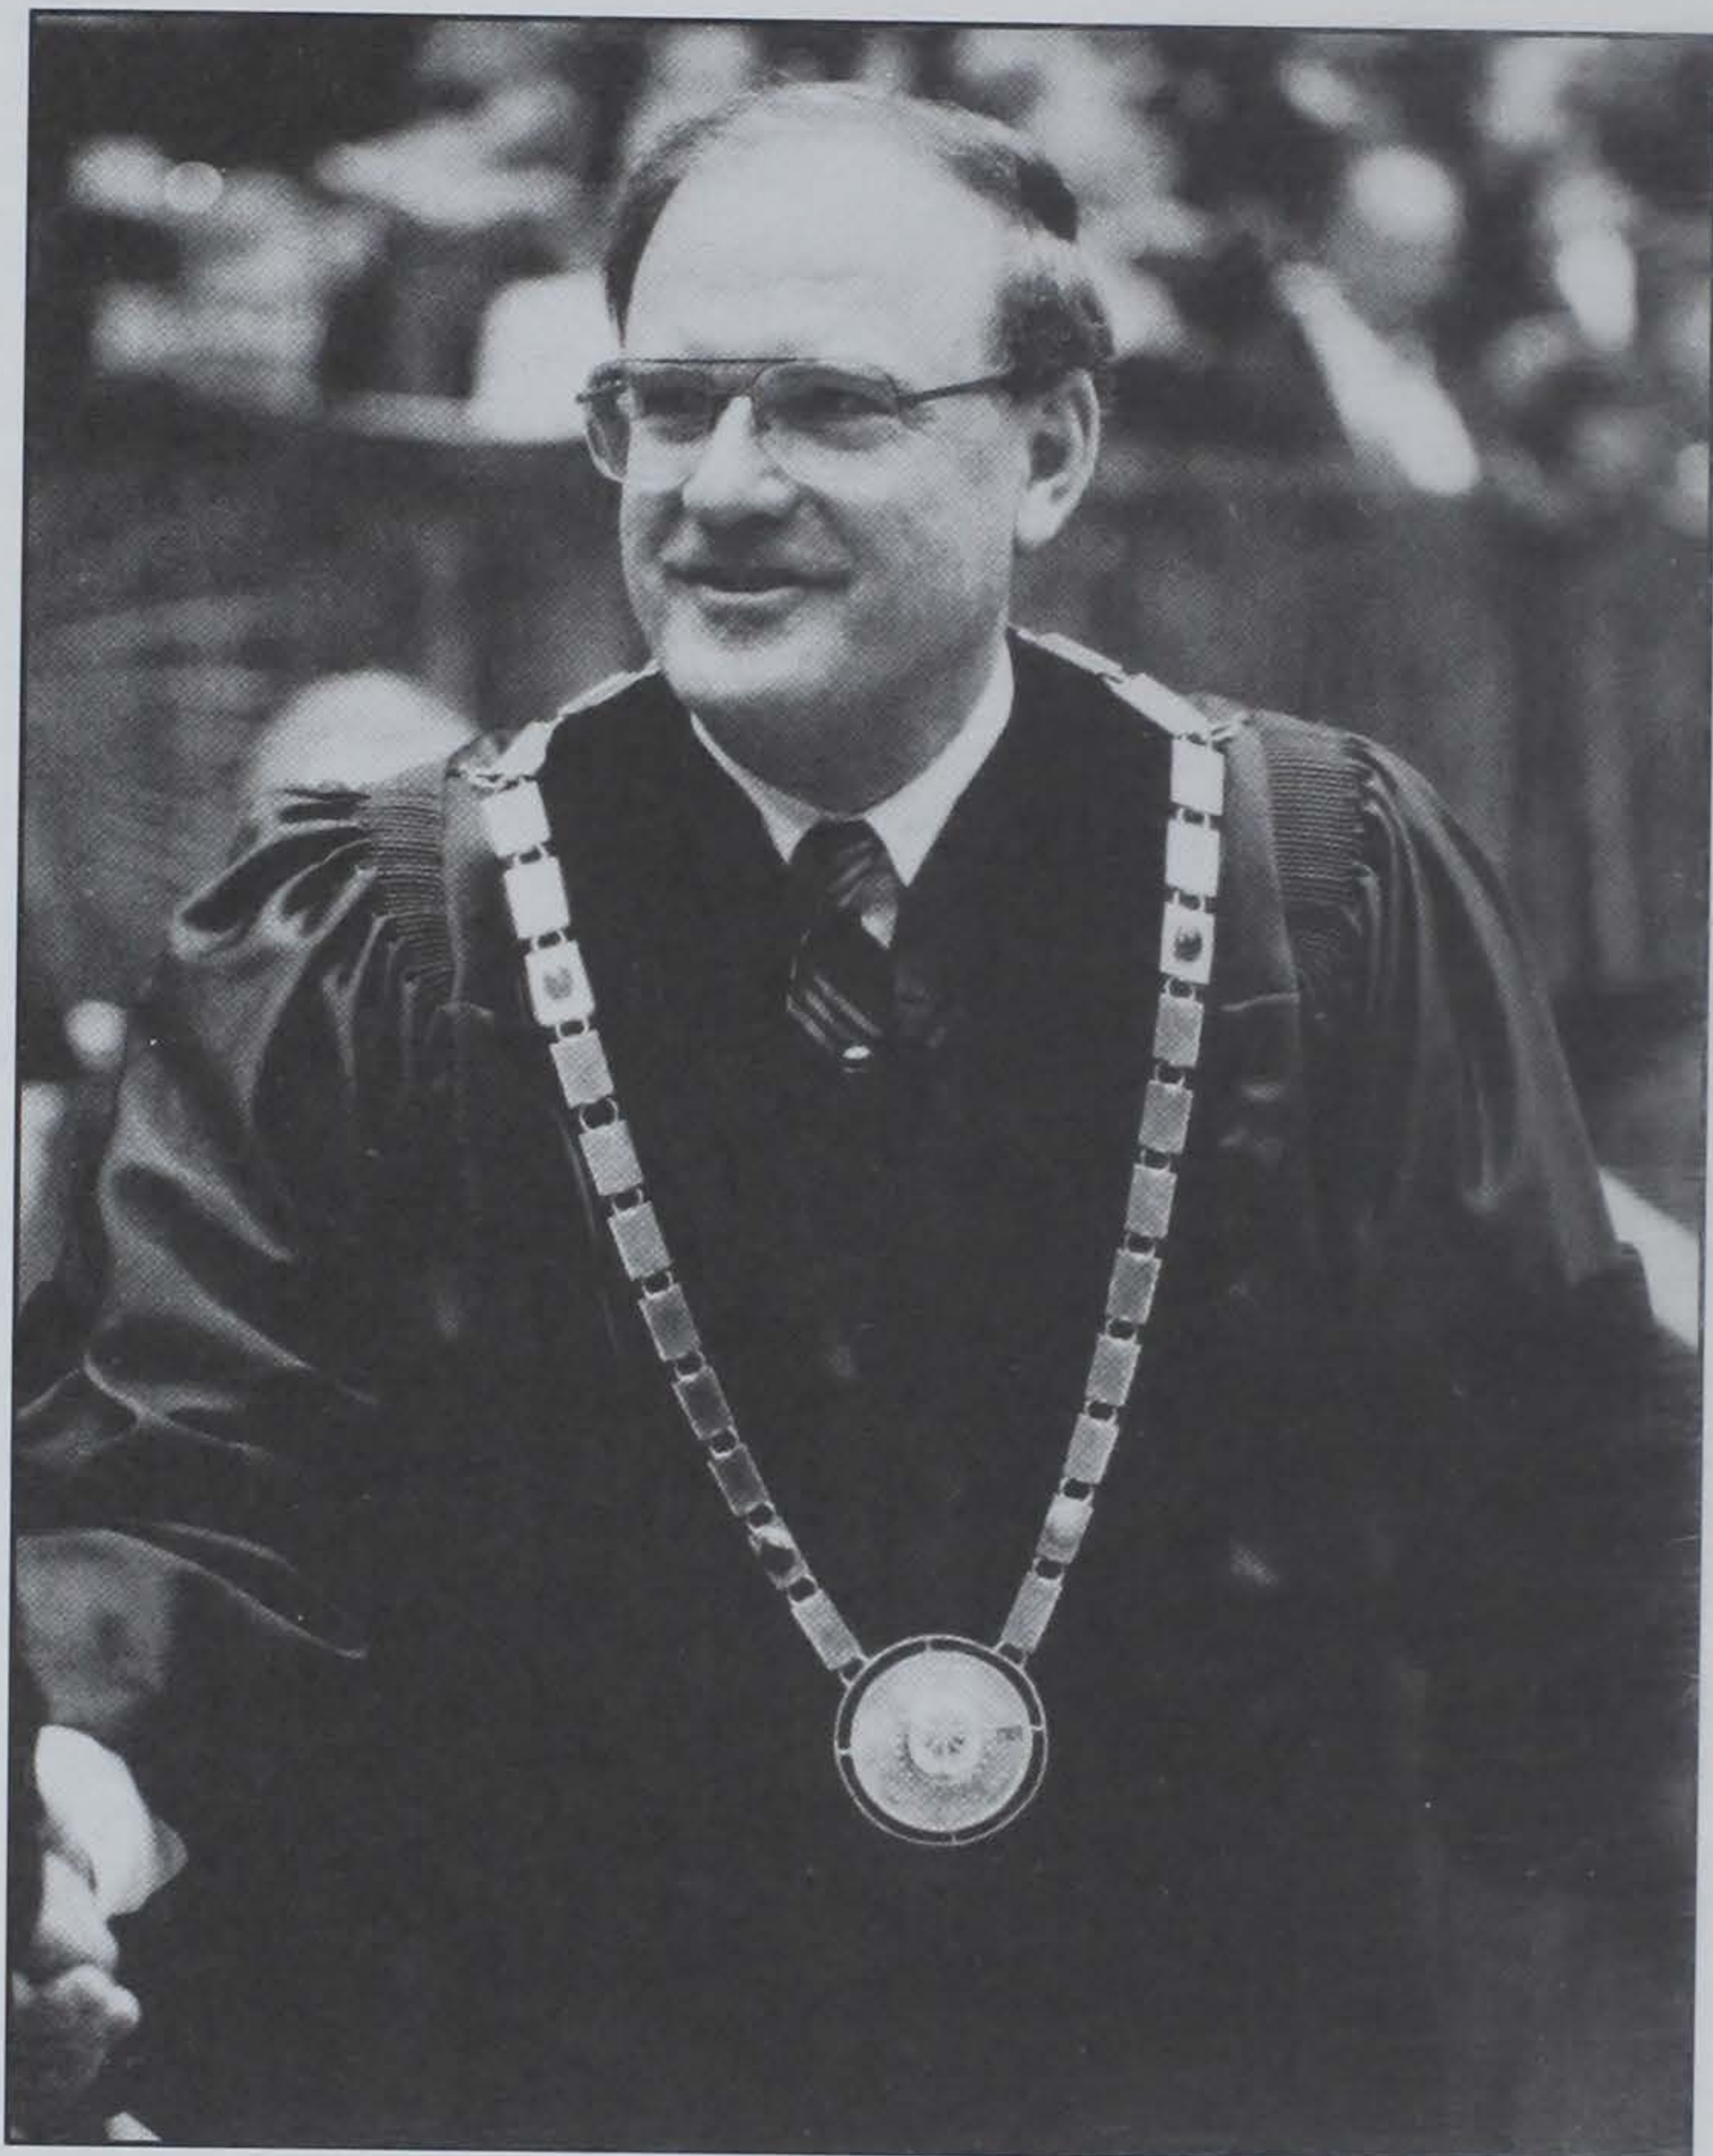

"The vision statement that has emerged from the strategic planning process—to become the nation's leading technologically-oriented land-grant university—sets a challenging course for this institution's development: to become the best in our league," he has said.

It is this commitment to excellence that has enabled Lennon to lead Clemson to new heights during his six years as president. The Lennon presidency has seen the completion of the most successful campaign in the university's, and the state's, history; unprecedented growth in research, topping $90 million in annual expenditures last year; and an ongoing program of campus revitalization that balances the university's desire for technological excellence, cultural awareness, and historic preservation.

Lennon came to Clemson from Ohio State University, where he had been president for agriculture administration and executive dean for agriculture, home economics and natural resources. He also served on the Ohio State Faculty Senate and co-chaired the Governor's Commission on Agriculture.

Previously, he had served as dean of the College of Agriculture at Ohio State, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Missouri, and as associate dean and director of research in the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University.

Lennon is a native of Columbus County, NC, and earned his bachelor's degree and doctorate from N.C. State University, where he began his teaching career.

Dr. Max Lennon hopes to make Clemson the top technologically-oriented land-grant university in the nation.

The Clemson president has been active in a number of civic and professional groups, ranging from the local Rotary Club and Chamber of Commerce to the Board of Directors of EARTH in Costa Rica, which through education and investments aims to improve Third World agriculture.

Lennon has served as chairman of the Foreign Assistance Act Committee of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges (NASULGC), Chairman of the South Carolina Public Colleges and Universities Council of Presidents, and member of the boards of the S.C. Research Authority, Greenville Urban League, Farm Foundation, Duke Power, First Union, and Delta Woodside.

In the fall of 1987, Lennon was named to the board of trustees of the Farm

Foundation, a national organization devoted to improving research and education to benefit rural areas. In 1988, he was appointed to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Policy Advisory Committee for Science and Education Research Grants Program by Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng, and was a keynote speaker at the AgBiotech 88 international conference in Washington.

Lennon also was appointed to chair a committee of top administrators and federal officials from 11 universities across the nation to work with congress on legislation relating to foreign assistance and international development. The committee is a project of the National Association of State Universities and land-grant colleges.

Lennon is married to Ruth Carter Lennon. This past year, they joined an elite group of people who can call themselves "Clemson Parents" when both children, Daniel Ray and Robin, received degrees from the university.

Clemson Administrators

BOBBY ROBINSON
Athletic Director

The Clemson athletic program has been on the rise in just about all forms of athletics in recent years. Bobby Robinson is the leader of the department as its athletic director and his commitment to success in competition, academics and facilities has been the key to this level of distinction.

In 1991-92, 13 of Clemson's 18 athletic programs finished the year ranked in the top 25 of their respective sports. That is the highest percentage of top 25 teams and the most top 25 teams in an academic year at Clemson. Additionally, 10 teams were ranked in the top 20, which ties for the most top 20 teams in an academic year.

Clemson's men's indoor track team posted the highest national ranking for the year. Bob Pollock's club was second at the NAAs, its highest team ranking ever, and the highest ranking for a Clemson athletic team since the soccer team won the National Championship in 1987.

Clemson athletes had a record spring semester in the classroom as well. A total of 109 athletes earned at least a 3.0 in the classroom in that semester, a school record for one semester. Additionally, 35 athletes made the Dean's List and 14 made the President's List, a perfect 4.0.

Under the direction of Robinson, the athletic department continues to support the university. Over $1.8 million has been contributed to the athletic academic scholarship fund; and band travel equipment and uniforms are funded by athletic dollars. An educational enhancement fund has been coordinated through the efforts of the athletic department and the Athletic Council.

Robinson graduated from Furman with a B.S. degree in business and political science in 1968. He was the president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity chapter at Furman. Robinson came to Clemson in 1970, not in athletics, but in the housing office. After three years, he moved across campus to serve as an administrative assistant in the athletic department.

After serving the athletic department in various capacities, he became business manager in 1975. Two years later he was named assistant athletic director, and in 1980 he became associate AD. He held that title for six years, and his area of responsibility moved to primarily football and basketball. The native of Columbia became Athletic Director in March of 1985.

While serving his administrative duties, Robinson found time to coach the Clemson golf team between 1975 and 1983. During his time as the head coach, Clemson won its first ACC title in golf and three times the Tigers participated in the NCAA Tournament. In 1983, his final season as the head coach, he guided Clemson to a number-five finish.

Robinson recently completed a term as a member of the NCAA golf committee, and as a member of the CFA Board of Directors. This past spring he was named an honorary alumnus of Clemson University by the Alumni Association.

DWIGHT RAINEY
Senior Assoc. Athletic Director

Dwight Rainey has many responsibilities as the athletic department's Senior Associate Athletic director.

As the number-two man in the department, Rainey's job involves overseeing scheduling and other administrative duties of the football and men's basketball programs.

Since Clemson places much emphasis on a well-rounded sports program, Rainey is also in charge of all 16 of Clemson's non-revenue sports and their day-to-day operations. In addition, Rainey oversees strength training and equipment room activities.

Rainey has done an outstanding job since he took the responsibility as an athletic administrator, keeping Clemson teams competitive not only regionally, but also nationally.

In his eight years of overseeing Clemson's non-revenue program, Clemson has been in the top 25 in the nation in the Knoxville Journal All-Sports Poll six times.

In 1986-87, both the men's and women's programs were in the Top 20, a first in Clemson athletics. In 1987-88 and in 1988-89 both rated in the top 30. Two of the last five years Clemson has won seven ACC team championships, which tied the league record.

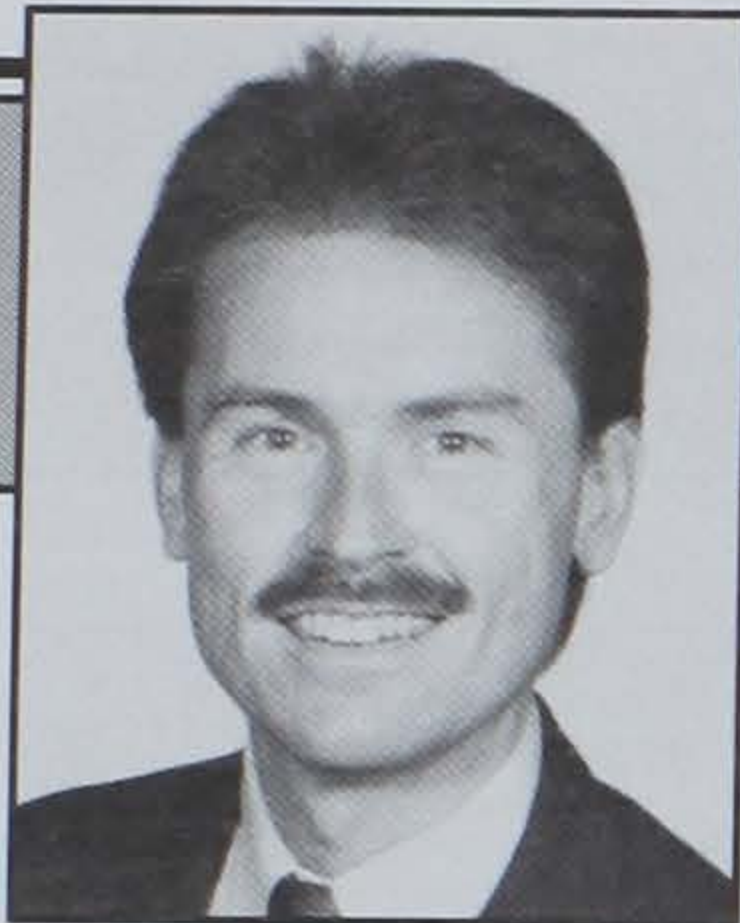

In 1988-89 Clemson had nine teams that finished in their respective sports top 20, the third year in a row Clemson had at least nine. In 1990-91, Clemson was ranked in the top 15 in both men's and women's all-around sports polls, a first in Clemson athletics. Last year, 13 of Clemson's 18 programs finished the year ranked in the top 25 of their respective sports, the highest percentage of top 25 teams and the most number of top 25 teams in an academic year at Clemson.

Rainey came to Clemson's administration from the basketball office, where he served as Bill Foster's top assistant for 13 years, five at UNC Charlotte and eight at Clemson. With the basketball program Rainey was responsible for recruiting, scheduling, on-the-floor instruction and administrative tasks.

Rainey was the first assistant hired by Bill Foster upon his appointment at Clemson. He spent nearly a third of his life working with Foster as a player or a coach, as he played under Foster at UNC-Charlotte.

Rainey has a fine business background as he earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration from Shorter College in 1967 and a Master's degree from UNC-Charlotte in 1972. Between 1967 and August of 1970 he worked with a division of the Chrysler Corporation in Atlanta, GA.

Rainey and his wife Cheryl, have a daughter Jenna (8).

LEN GOUGH
Associate Athletic Director

Len Gough is currently in his seventh year as associate athletic director for marketing. Bringing to the position a talent for adaptability and versatility that stems from his lengthy affiliation with the Clemson athletic department, the 1974 Clemson graduate began working as a football manager as an undergraduate and has continued to progress through the ranks.

Following his graduation, Gough became assistant equipment manager, and in August of 1976, he took on the responsibilities of head equipment supervisor. In this capacity, he was in charge of the purchase, maintenance, and issue of a $1.5 million inventory. He also coordinated football and basketball trips, administered the letterman award program, and designed the 1981 national championship ring.

In July of 1982, Gough began a series of rapid steps upward in athletic administration when he was named assistant executive secretary of IPTAY. Among Gough's responsibilities were assistance in the total fundraising efforts of IPTAY, supervision of sales of executive suites in Clemson's Memorial Stadium, serving as game manager for basketball games, and coordinating all tournaments hosted by Clemson.

After spending a little more than two years in this capacity, Gough moved into the position of assistant athletic director, where he was in charge of promotions and media relations. He continued to serve as game manager for football and basketball, as well as coordinating all event promotions. This move led quickly to Gough's advancement in March of 1985 to his current position of associate athletic director.

The broad scope of his activities includes, the athletic department's licensing program, the courtesy vehicle program, sales and supervision of the executive suites in the stadium, development of major corporate sponsors, the coordination of promotions and special events. Essentially, Gough is the salesman for the athletic department.

Gough, a graduate of Chester High School in Chester, SC, is married to the former Jane Price (Clemson Class of 1975) of Greenwood, SC.

VAN HILDERBRAND
Associate Athletic Director

Any Tiger fan who has ever needed tickets or parking for a Clemson athletic event will recognize the name of Van Hilderbrand. He has served the Clemson athletic department for 16 years and is in his eighth year as an associate/assistant athletic director. He is in charge of the ticket office and supervises all parking administration.

Hilderbrand is certainly familiar with the athletic department. He started his association there as a student employee in the office during his college career, 1970-74. In 1976 he filled the newly created position of assistant ticket manager, and in 1980 he was named Athletic Department Ticket Manager. In 1985 he was made an assistant athletic director.

Demand for tickets to Clemson athletic events is at an all-time high and it is Hilderbrand's responsibility to distribute the tickets to the thousands who attend the games. Hilderbrand and his staff sell more football season tickets than any other school in the ACC and admitted the nation's third largest crowd for the 1987 football season, as a record 602,000 fans attended Tiger football games. Clemson outdrew all but two NFL teams that year. In 1991, Clemson ranked eighth in the nation in attendance and has been in the top 10 in the nation every year since 1983.

In the 12 years since Hilderbrand took the job as ticket manager, he has distributed more season tickets than ever before for football and basketball. He has met the challenge by keeping up with the technology of the profession. Clemson has utilized a computerized ticket system since 1986.

Hilderbrand worked as athletic supervisor for the Greenwood Recreation Department for two years after graduation, and in 1976, he returned to Clemson.

Hilderbrand graduated from Clover (SC) High School in 1970, and earned his degree in parks and recreation administration from Clemson in 1974. The 40-year old is married to the former Diane Harris of Clover and they have two children, Van Jr., who was born December 31, 1979, the day Clemson met Baylor in the Peach Bowl, and Lee Elizabeth, who was born October, 1985.

ROBERT RICKETTS
Associate Athletic Director

Keeping the expense accounts of such a vast operation as the Clemson athletic department in order is no easy task, but Associate Athletic Director Robert Ricketts is well qualified for the job. Ricketts is in his seventh year in the department and his 17th year with the university.

As associate athletic director in charge of business operations, Ricketts handles all purchasing and expense accounts. This job is old hat to Ricketts as he spent nine years working for Clemson in auditing and accounting departments. During these nine years, one of his main duties was the audit for the athletic department. He worked in the University's financial management division in accounting control and payroll benefits between 1976 and 1977, then worked in the internal auditing division and as an auditor between 1977 and 1980. In 1980, he was named an audit supervisor, a position he held until February of 1985. Thus, he has seen all sides of his job.

Ricketts earned an associate arts degree from Anderson College in 1969, and a business administration degree from Erskine College in 1971. He is also a 1967 graduate of T. L. Hanna High School in Anderson. After his graduation from Erskine, he entered merchandise management with the J.C. Penney Company of Greenville and Anderson. He worked for that company between 1972 and 1976, until he began his career with the University on May 28, 1976.

The native of Anderson has also completed the College Business Management Institute at the University of Kentucky. He is a member of the College Athletic Business Managers' Association and the Institute of Internal Auditors. Ricketts has previously served as secretary of the Clemson Recreation Advisory Committee for six years.

Ricketts and his wife, Kathey, have two children, Chesley (14) and Lindsey (10). His wife is employed in the Payroll/Benefits Office at Clemson University.

FRED HOOVER
Assistant Athletic Director/
Head Athletic Trainer

Much of the credit for getting the Tigers on the field should go to Fred Hoover, who has completed 33 years as head trainer for the Tigers. The 61-year-old Hoover is responsible for the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of injuries to Clemson's athletes. In addition, Hoover, who was named assistant athletic director in the summer of 1983, is a consultant for purchasing athletic equipment, supervising the medical staff, making travel arrangements, supervising the athletic training room and directing the training table.

A native of Jacksonville, FL, Hoover graduated with a BS degree in physical education from Florida State in 1953. He served as trainer at his alma mater for two stints, 1952-53 and 1957-58, before coming to Clemson in 1959.

Professionally, "Doc" Hoover has held just about every administrative post with the National Athletic Trainers Association, including national president, and he is an affiliate member of the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine.

In 1981, Hoover was enshrined in the Citizens Savings-Helms Athletic Foundation Hall of Fame for his work.

In the spring of 1982, he was named a consultant to the South Carolina Medical Association—Medical Aspects of Sports Committee. He is also chairman of the NATA National Symposium Committee and of the South Carolina Board of Certification for Athletic Trainers. Hoover is also a member of the South Carolina Hall of Fame and is past president of the South Carolina Trainers Association. In October of 1990, Hoover was named an Honorary Member of the Clemson Alumni Physicians society.

In 1983, Hoover was the recipient of the Distinguished Service to Sports Medicine Award given by the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine. In 1987, he was awarded the South Carolina Hall of Fame Distinguished Service to Sports Award. He has never missed a football game in his 33 years at Clemson.

Hoover is married to the former Elva Cook of Mt. Vernon, IL, and the Hoovers have two children, Catherine, a 1980 Clemson graduate who is married, and Bryan who also attended Clemson. He has one grandchild, Andrew Cole.

PAUL AARON
Dir. of Institutional Compliance

Paul Aaron has served as Clemson University's Director of Compliance since July 20th, 1990. As director of compliance, Aaron assumes day-to-day responsibilities for all aspects of the athletic program regulated by NCAA rules, including certification of athlete eligibility, administration of financial aid to student-athletes, and recruitment. Aaron reports directly to Clemson University President Max Lennon and AD Bobby Robinson.

Aaron also coordinates educational and monitoring programs aimed at preventing violations, and conducts inquiries when the university suspects rules violations, and reports them to the ACC and NCAA when appropriate. Some of his other duties include serving as a liaison with the ACC and NCAA for legislation and interpretations, preparing and reviewing contracts for the athletic department and other related legal matters.

Aaron graduated from Clemson in 1976 with a degree in psychology and worked for four years with Guilford Mills, Inc. of Greensboro, NC before entering the University of South Carolina School of Law. Aaron came to Clemson in 1987 and served as university counsel for Agriculture and Natural Resources. Before coming to Clemson in 1987, he served several years as the assistant solicitor for the 7th and 13th judicial circuits.

Aaron is married to the former Cheryl Green, the Pickens County Public Defender. They have two children Jessica (6) and Stephanie (3).

DOUG GORDON
Head Equipment Manager

Many fans think their Tigers are one of the best dressed teams in the nation. If this is true, thanks should go to Equipment Manager Doug Gordon. He takes great pride in the appearance of the Tigers on game days, and also strives to insure the players' safety by keeping the equipment in good working order. Gordon is also responsible for the associated athletic equipment for all 18 sports at Clemson.

Gordon took his present position in March of 1991, when it was vacated by Bobby Douglas, who was named Development Coordinator for Athletic Student Services. Gordon had served as assistant equipment manager since 1984.

Gordon, born on April 25, 1958, is a 1976 graduate of Washington Irvin High School. He lettered in football, track, golf and diving while at Washington Irvin High School. Gordon received his undergraduate degree in physical and health education from West Virginia University. Gordon lettered for the Mountaineers' in diving and golf.

The native of Clarksburg, West Virginia married the former Debra McCauley in July of 1983. They have two sons, D.J. (6), and Daniel (1).

GARY WADE
Strength & Conditioning Coach

Gary Wade, the Tiger strength and conditioning coach, brings a wide range of experience into the Clemson weight room. This experience comes in handy as Wade, who is in his eighth full season with the Clemson program, is in charge of all 18 sports at Clemson.

Wade served as an assistant strength coach at Nebraska for three years as an undergraduate and graduate student. He earned his undergraduate degree in education in 1978 and worked on his master's in exercise physiology.

In 1980, he became the Detroit Lions' first strength and conditioning coach. The 36-year old received much credit for the Lions' immediate improvement as Head Coach Monte Clark took pride in Wade's work and the results on the field.

During his five years with the Lions, the club finished second three times in the Central Division and won the NFC Central Championship in 1983. The Lions made the playoffs twice during this period.

In his seven seasons at Clemson, the basketball and football teams' overall strength figures have grown significantly. Wade, who was Born in Nebraska City, NE, earned 10 varsity letters at Weeping Water High School. He was All-Conference in football for three seasons and was second-team All-State his senior year. Wade is married to the former Andree Langlais.

TIM BOURRET
Sports Information Director

Tim Bourret is in his fourth year as sports information director, but his 15th academic year at Clemson. He first came to Clemson as assistant SID under Bob Bradley in September of 1978 and was elevated to an associate SID position in July of 1980.

The 36-year old Bourret has edited 70 award-winning brochures in his career, including 22 that have dealt with Clemson football. Clemson received eight national awards for its programs and press guides for the 1990-91 academic year, the third highest total in the nation. Only Tennessee and Notre Dame produced more national award winning guides. In 1991-92 the Clemson SID office added seven more award winners.

In 1988 the Tiger football program series was voted second in the nation, while the 1988 Clemson football program series was voted best in the nation. Clemson's 1989 postseason bowl guide was named best in the nation, while the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl Guide was third. The 1990-91 edition of the Clemson Basketball Media Guide was voted as second best in the country. Bourret has served as Clemson's publications director since 1979.

The Clemson SID also has considerable radio experience, play-by-play and color. He has been the color voice of Clemson basketball since the 1980-81 season and served in the same capacity for Clemson football between 1982 and 1988. He was also the play-by-play voice of Clemson postseason baseball between 1980-89.

Bourret is a native of West Hartford, CT and a 1973 graduate of Northwest Catholic High School. He was an all-conference baseball player in high school and played in the 1973 American Legion World Series.

Following in his father's footsteps, Bourret earned his undergraduate degree from the University of Notre Dame in business administration in 1977. He also earned his master's degree in communication arts from Notre Dame in August of 1978.

Bourret worked as an undergraduate and graduate assistant under Roger Valdiserri in Notre Dame's office for three years, where he was assistant editor of Notre Dame's 1977 football programs. The program series won Best in the Nation that year. He also served as commissioner of the school's famed "Bookstore Basketball Tournament" for three years, including the year it was featured in Sports Illustrated.

TIM MATCH
Public Relations Director

Tim Match enters his first year as the director of public relations on the Clemson University Athletic Department staff. Match is no stranger to the athletic department as he recently completed his third year as the associate sports information director.

Match, a native of Arlington, Ohio, is responsible for implementing the athletic department's public relations policies, as well as establishing and maintaining relationships with local, state and national media representatives. He also directs the operation of the football press box and basketball press row, including the issuance of media credentials, parking passes and complimentary tickets. He also works with the Athletic Director and the University Public Relation Offices on releases of a newsworthy nature.

The 1985 graduate of Bowling Green State University is also responsible for all post season football games and is the liaison for the athletic department with the Clemson Radio Network and the Clemson Coaches Television Show Network.

Prior to his return to Clemson, Match participated in an internship at the University of West Florida in the athletic department. He then moved on to Clemson where he worked in the sports information office and also taught a micro-computer lab class in the university's PRTM program. After receiving his master's degree in PRTM with an emphasis in micro-computer management, he became the assistant sports information director at the University of Virginia. While at UVa, Match worked with the men's soccer, women's basketball, football and men's basketball programs. He returned to Clemson in 1989 as an associate sports information director, working directly with the men's basketball program, as well as editing the football and men's basketball programs for the past three seasons.

In 1988, the 28-year old Match married the former Sharon Yoder of State College, PA. She is a 1984 graduate of Penn State and received her master's from Clemson in 1987.

JOHN SEKETA
Sports Promotions Director

From giving away a trip to Chicago to watch the World Champion Chicago Bulls and former Tiger great Horace Grant in the Amoco Oil "Ultimate Challenge" basketball halftime contest, to the promoting of "Flood Fike" for a swimming meet against Georgia, Seketa can be seen at almost every athletic event promoting Clemson's 18 athletic teams. He is responsible for coordinating all game promotions at Clemson with an emphasis on men's and women's basketball, baseball, football and soccer.

In addition to the operation of over one million dollars in electronic message boards located at the football, basketball, baseball, and soccer venues, Seketa is also the advisor to the cheerleaders and Rally Cats. He is also responsible for ordering the 80,000 shakers and 12,000 Barnyard Burn III T-Shirts that will be given away to Clemson students prior to the South Carolina football game. Last year, he led a committee to redesign the Littlejohn Coliseum concourse level, as well as the new playing floor.

Prior to arriving at Clemson, Seketa was the Promotions Director at Eastern Illinois University, where he promoted all sports and athletes. In 1985, he staged a Make-Believe ESPN-televised football game between Eastern Illinois and Western Illinois, which was cited in the New York Times. After one year at Eastern Illinois, he headed to the sunny south and Clemson for the 1986-87 academic year.

Seketa graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in March of 1981 with a degree in Business Administration. He then worked as a computer operator with the Shell Oil Company in Wood River, IL, for three years. His work in athletics began at Western Illinois where he attended graduate school before an internship at the University of Illinois.

BARNEY FARRAR
Asst. Recruiting Coordinator

Barney Farrar is in his first year as Clemson's Assistant Recruiting Coordinator for all sports. Farrar's responsibilities will include on campus recruiting for all 18 varsity sports. Farrar is no stranger to the Tiger program, as he served as a graduate assistant coach in the Tigers' strength training room in 1989 and 1990 and was a part-time assistant coach in 1991, assisting with on-campus recruiting.

Prior to his stint in the Tiger strength training program, Farrar served as graduate assistant football coach at Clemson in 1987 and 1988, working with defensive backs, outside linebackers, and the defensive line.

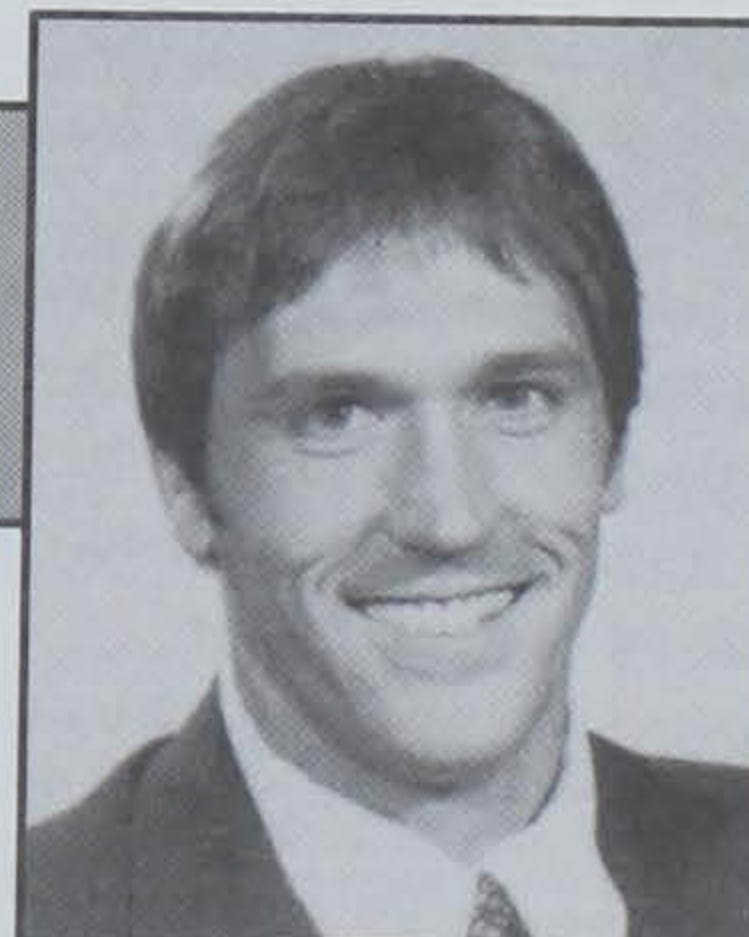

Farrar began his college career at Northeast Junior College where he was a two-year football letterwinner in 1979 and 1980. In 1980, Northeast was ranked fifth in the final junior college poll. During his career he also ran track, participating in the mile relay and the 800 meter run.

In 1981 and 1982, Farrar played defensive back at Delta State for former Clemson Head Football Coach Red Parker. A two-year letterwinner at Delta State, Farrar was the team captain in 1982.

After his playing days, he served as a graduate assistant coach at Delta State (1983-1985) before coming to Clemson.

Farrar earned a B.S. degree in education from Delta State and later earned a master's degree in Physical Education.

Farrar, 32, is married to the former Caroline Hinton and they have a son, Clint (3) and a daughter, Cari (1).

BILL D'ANDREA
Dir. of Student-Athlete
Enrichment

Bill D'Andrea is entering his second year as the Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment, but D'Andrea is no stranger to the Clemson family.

Prior to being named as the Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment, D'Andrea, 42, served as the Tiger offensive tackles coach from 1986 to 1989. He also served as the Clemson football recruiting coordinator in the spring of 1991. D'Andrea's ties to Clemson go back even further as he served as a graduate assistant for the Tiger football program in 1982 and 1983. He continues to serve as Executive Secretary of the Tiger Letterman's Association.

As Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment, D'Andrea oversees the day to day operations of Vickery Hall, Clemson's academic learning center. This position covers three areas: academic progress of the student athlete, personal growth of the student athlete, and student-athlete career assistance. It would be hard to argue with the success of Vickery Hall under D'Andrea. In the spring semester of 1992, Clemson athletes enjoyed a tremendous semester in the classroom with 109 athletes earning a 3.0 or better, a school record for one semester.

D'Andrea, a Morgan, PA native, received his undergraduate degree in criminal justice from Indiana State in 1973, and earned a master's degree in education from East Carolina in 1975.

Clemson Radio Network

The Clemson radio network is regarded as one of the most innovative networks in the country and keeps Clemson fans informed virtually from 10:00 AM to 6:00 PM on gamedays with a tailgate show, pregame show and scoreboard show. It will be a special season in 1992 for the network as Jim Phillips, the voice of the Tigers, celebrates his 25th year behind the microphone.

The man synonymous with Clemson athletics since the late 1960s, Phillips is one of the reasons for the network's popularity. Phillips is one of the most respected play-by-play men in the nation. The native of Youngstown, OH has described 278 Clemson football games and 689 Clemson basketball games in his career. He is now the dean of all broadcasters in the ACC. The sports director for WFBC radio in Greenville, SC provides commentary on Clemson football, basketball and baseball and he is also the host of a popular weeknight sports talk program.

Phillips has received numerous awards during his career. Five times he has been chosen South Carolina Sportscaster-of-the-year. This year he will be honored with The Master's Award, the highest honor awarded by the South Carolina Broadcaster's Association. The Master's Award is a lifetime achievement award and has been presented just twice previously in its six-year history. In addition to his radio career, Phillips also served as sports director for WFBC-TV between 1968 and 1980.

The former voice of the Greenville Braves (AA, Southern League) will also be inducted into the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame this year for his outstanding service as voice of the Tigers. In addition to his accuracy and flair in broadcasting, Phillips's induction is also a result of his dedication, reliability and consistency. In many ways, he is the iron man of broadcasting.

In 1982 Phillips saw his streak of consecutive basketball broadcasts snapped at an incredible 386. The streak was not snapped because of injury, however, it was stopped because he could not be in two places at the same time. The Clemson basketball team was in Alaska at the Great Alaskan Shootout and the Clemson football team was in Japan participating in the Mirage Bowl against Wake Forest trying to clinch an ACC championship. Phillips opted for the trip to the Orient and his basketball streak went by the boards. He has never missed the broadcast of a regular season football game (1968-present).

Mike Eppley joined the broadcast team four years ago as the color analyst on the Clemson radio network. The native of Charlotte, NC is Clemson's number-three ranked passer in terms of efficiency rating and he guided Clemson to 21 victories as the starting quarterback between 1982 and 1984. He is also the school record holder for touchdown passes with 28.

Eppley, who earned his MBA from the Clemson/Furman program, deals with strategical aspects of the game. Also a color analyst for many high school all-star games in North and South Carolina, Eppley is a heating and air conditioning vice president in Charlotte, NC.

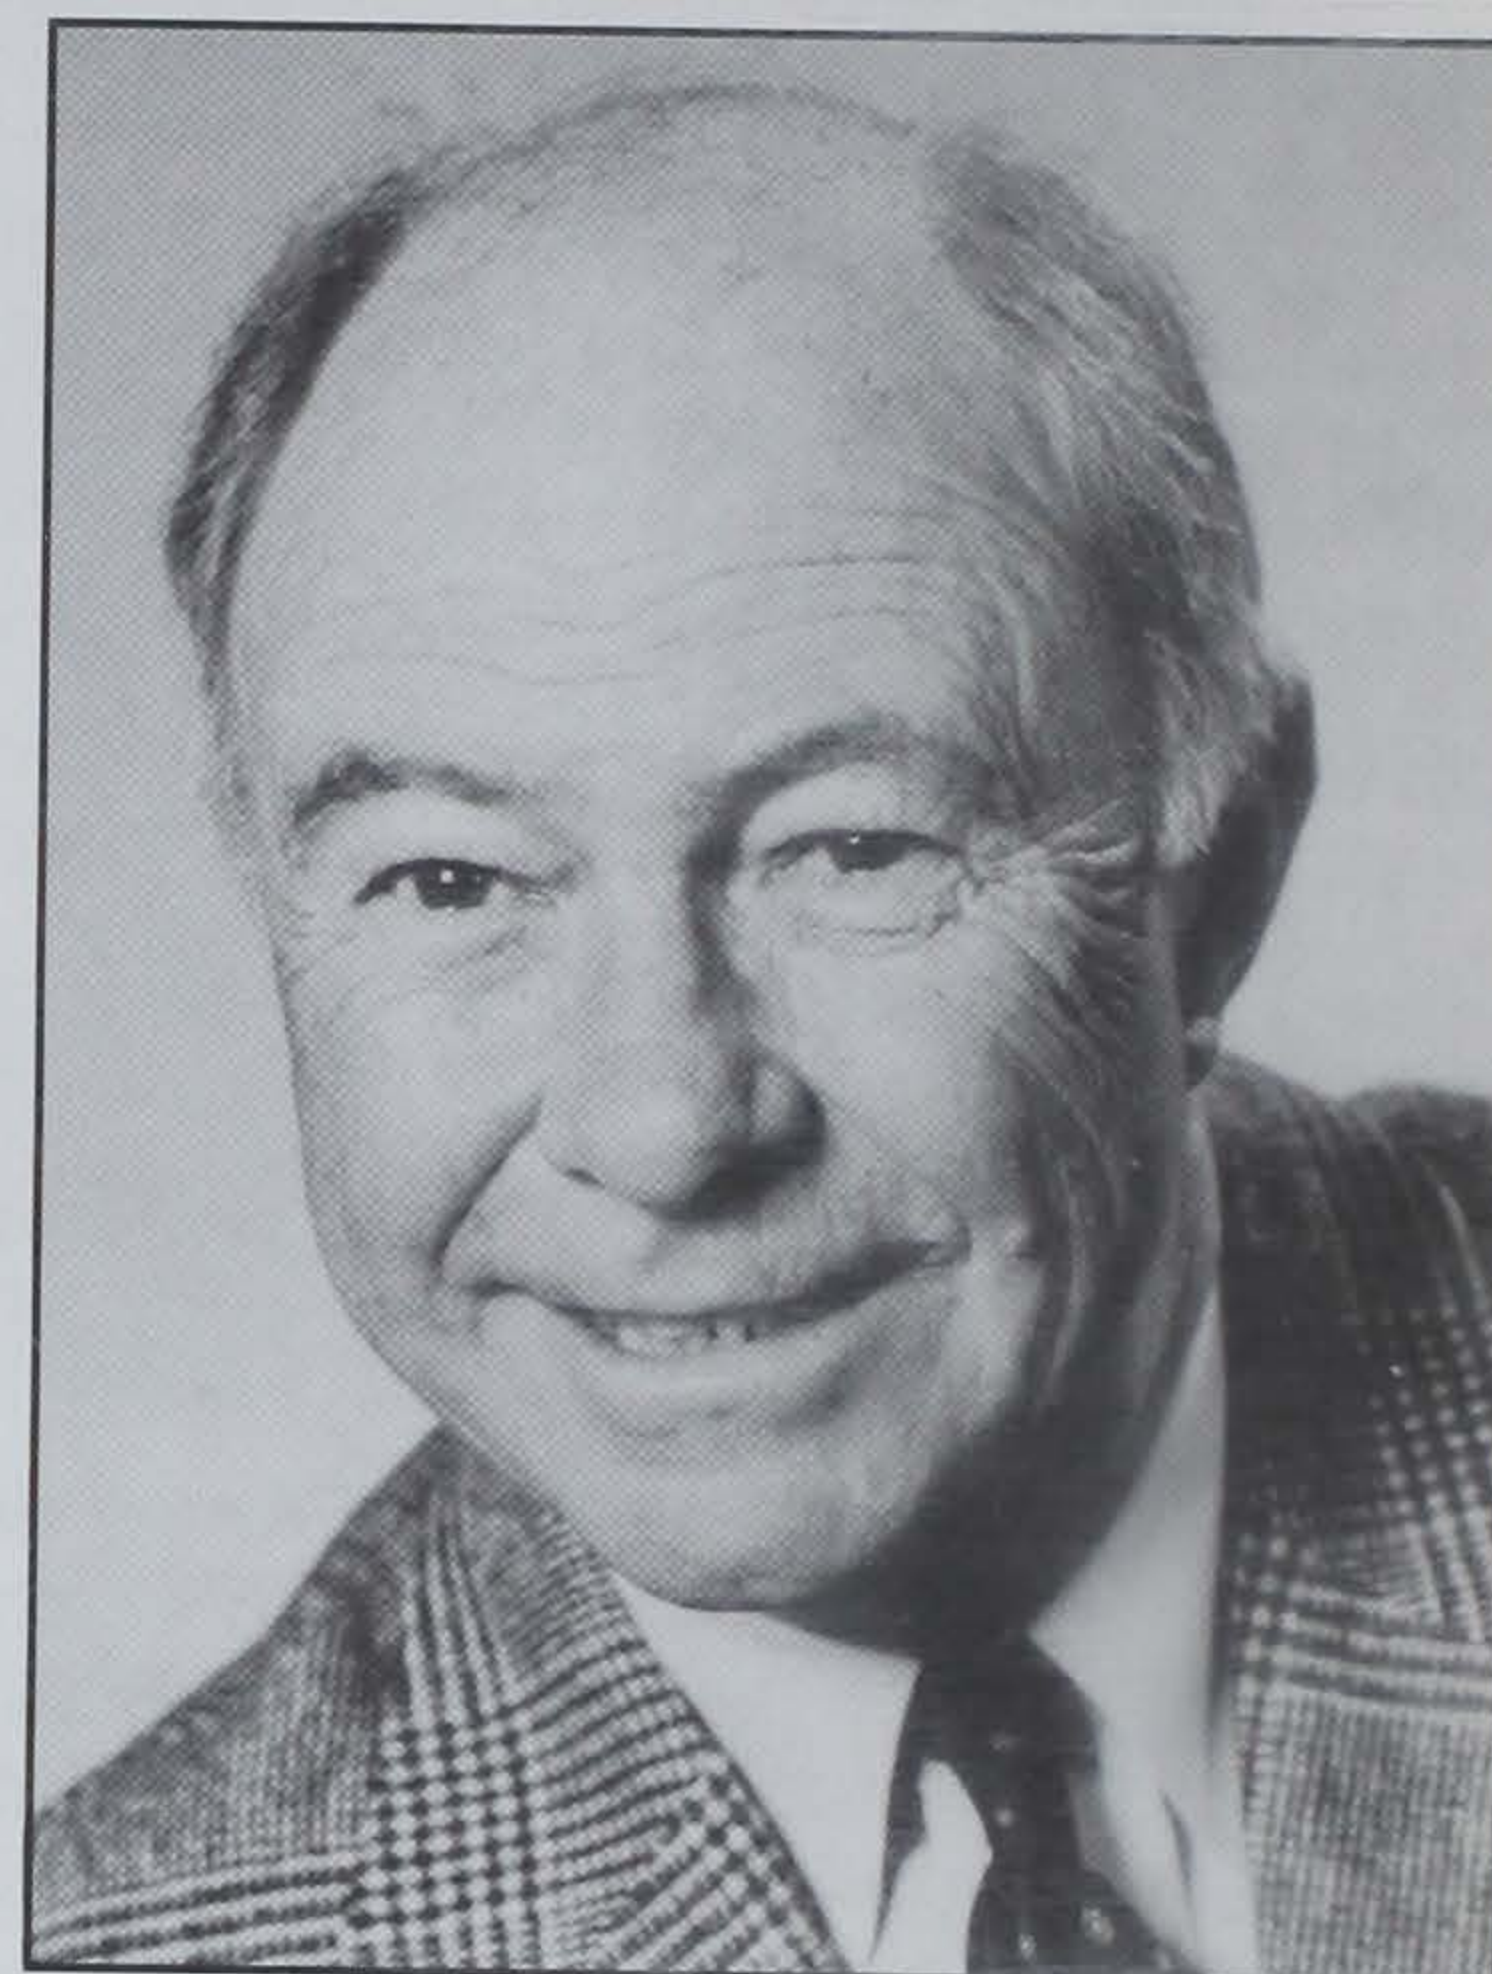

One of the most popular aspects of the Clemson network is the Tiger Tailgate show, a program that gets Clemson fans ready for the action beginning three hours prior to kickoff. The show features interviews with players and coaches, a look at college football and the University in general, other sports at Clemson and highlights special activities taking place the day of the game. The program is heard home and away on many of the Clemson network stations.

Dr. Harold Vigodsky will serve as statistician for the fourth straight year, while Sack Bagley is in his third decade as spotter for the network. Jerry Massey serves as engineer.

The award-winning Fifth Quarter scoreboard show gives Clemson fans more than just scores of other games. Reporters from all over the nation give you a rundown of what went on in stadiums from Boston to South Bend to Seattle.

All correspondence concerning network clearances, advertising, and format should be directed to Ken Rogers at Multimedia in Greenville. Rogers has been affiliated with the network since 1973 as producer/director. A native of Greenville, he has been in the television and radio field in this area since 1964. He is presently employed by WFBC radio and serves as operations manager and producer of the Clemson network.

The flagship station for Clemson football again will be WFBC-FM (93.7) in Greenville. Multimedia also owns the broadcast rights to Clemson football and basketball for next year.

Jim Phillips has been the voice of the Tigers since 1968.

IPTAY

Traditions are something that don't happen overnight, they evolve over a number of years. One tradition at Clemson that is going strong and heading into its 58th year is IPTAY. The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation, is known throughout the country for its faithful and generous contributions by its supporters. A recent USA Today article calls IPTAY the best-known organization of its kind in the nation. The article noted that at a time when college athletic costs are rising IPTAY continues to lead the way in supporting athletic scholarships at Clemson. IPTAY plays a major role in insuring that all 18 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships allowed by the NCAA.

Thanks in part to IPTAY's contributions the 1991-1992 academic year proved to be one of the most successful ever for Clemson athletics. Thirteen of the 18 athletic teams at Clemson finished the year ranked in the top 25 in their respective sports. Ten of those teams were ranked in the top 20, which ties for the most top 20 teams at Clemson in a academic year.

An even more impressive fact was that Clemson had 27 All-Americans in 1991-1992, tying the record that was set during that 1990-1991 academic year. Clemson also had 64 first-team All-ACC selections, the third most in Clemson history for an academic year.

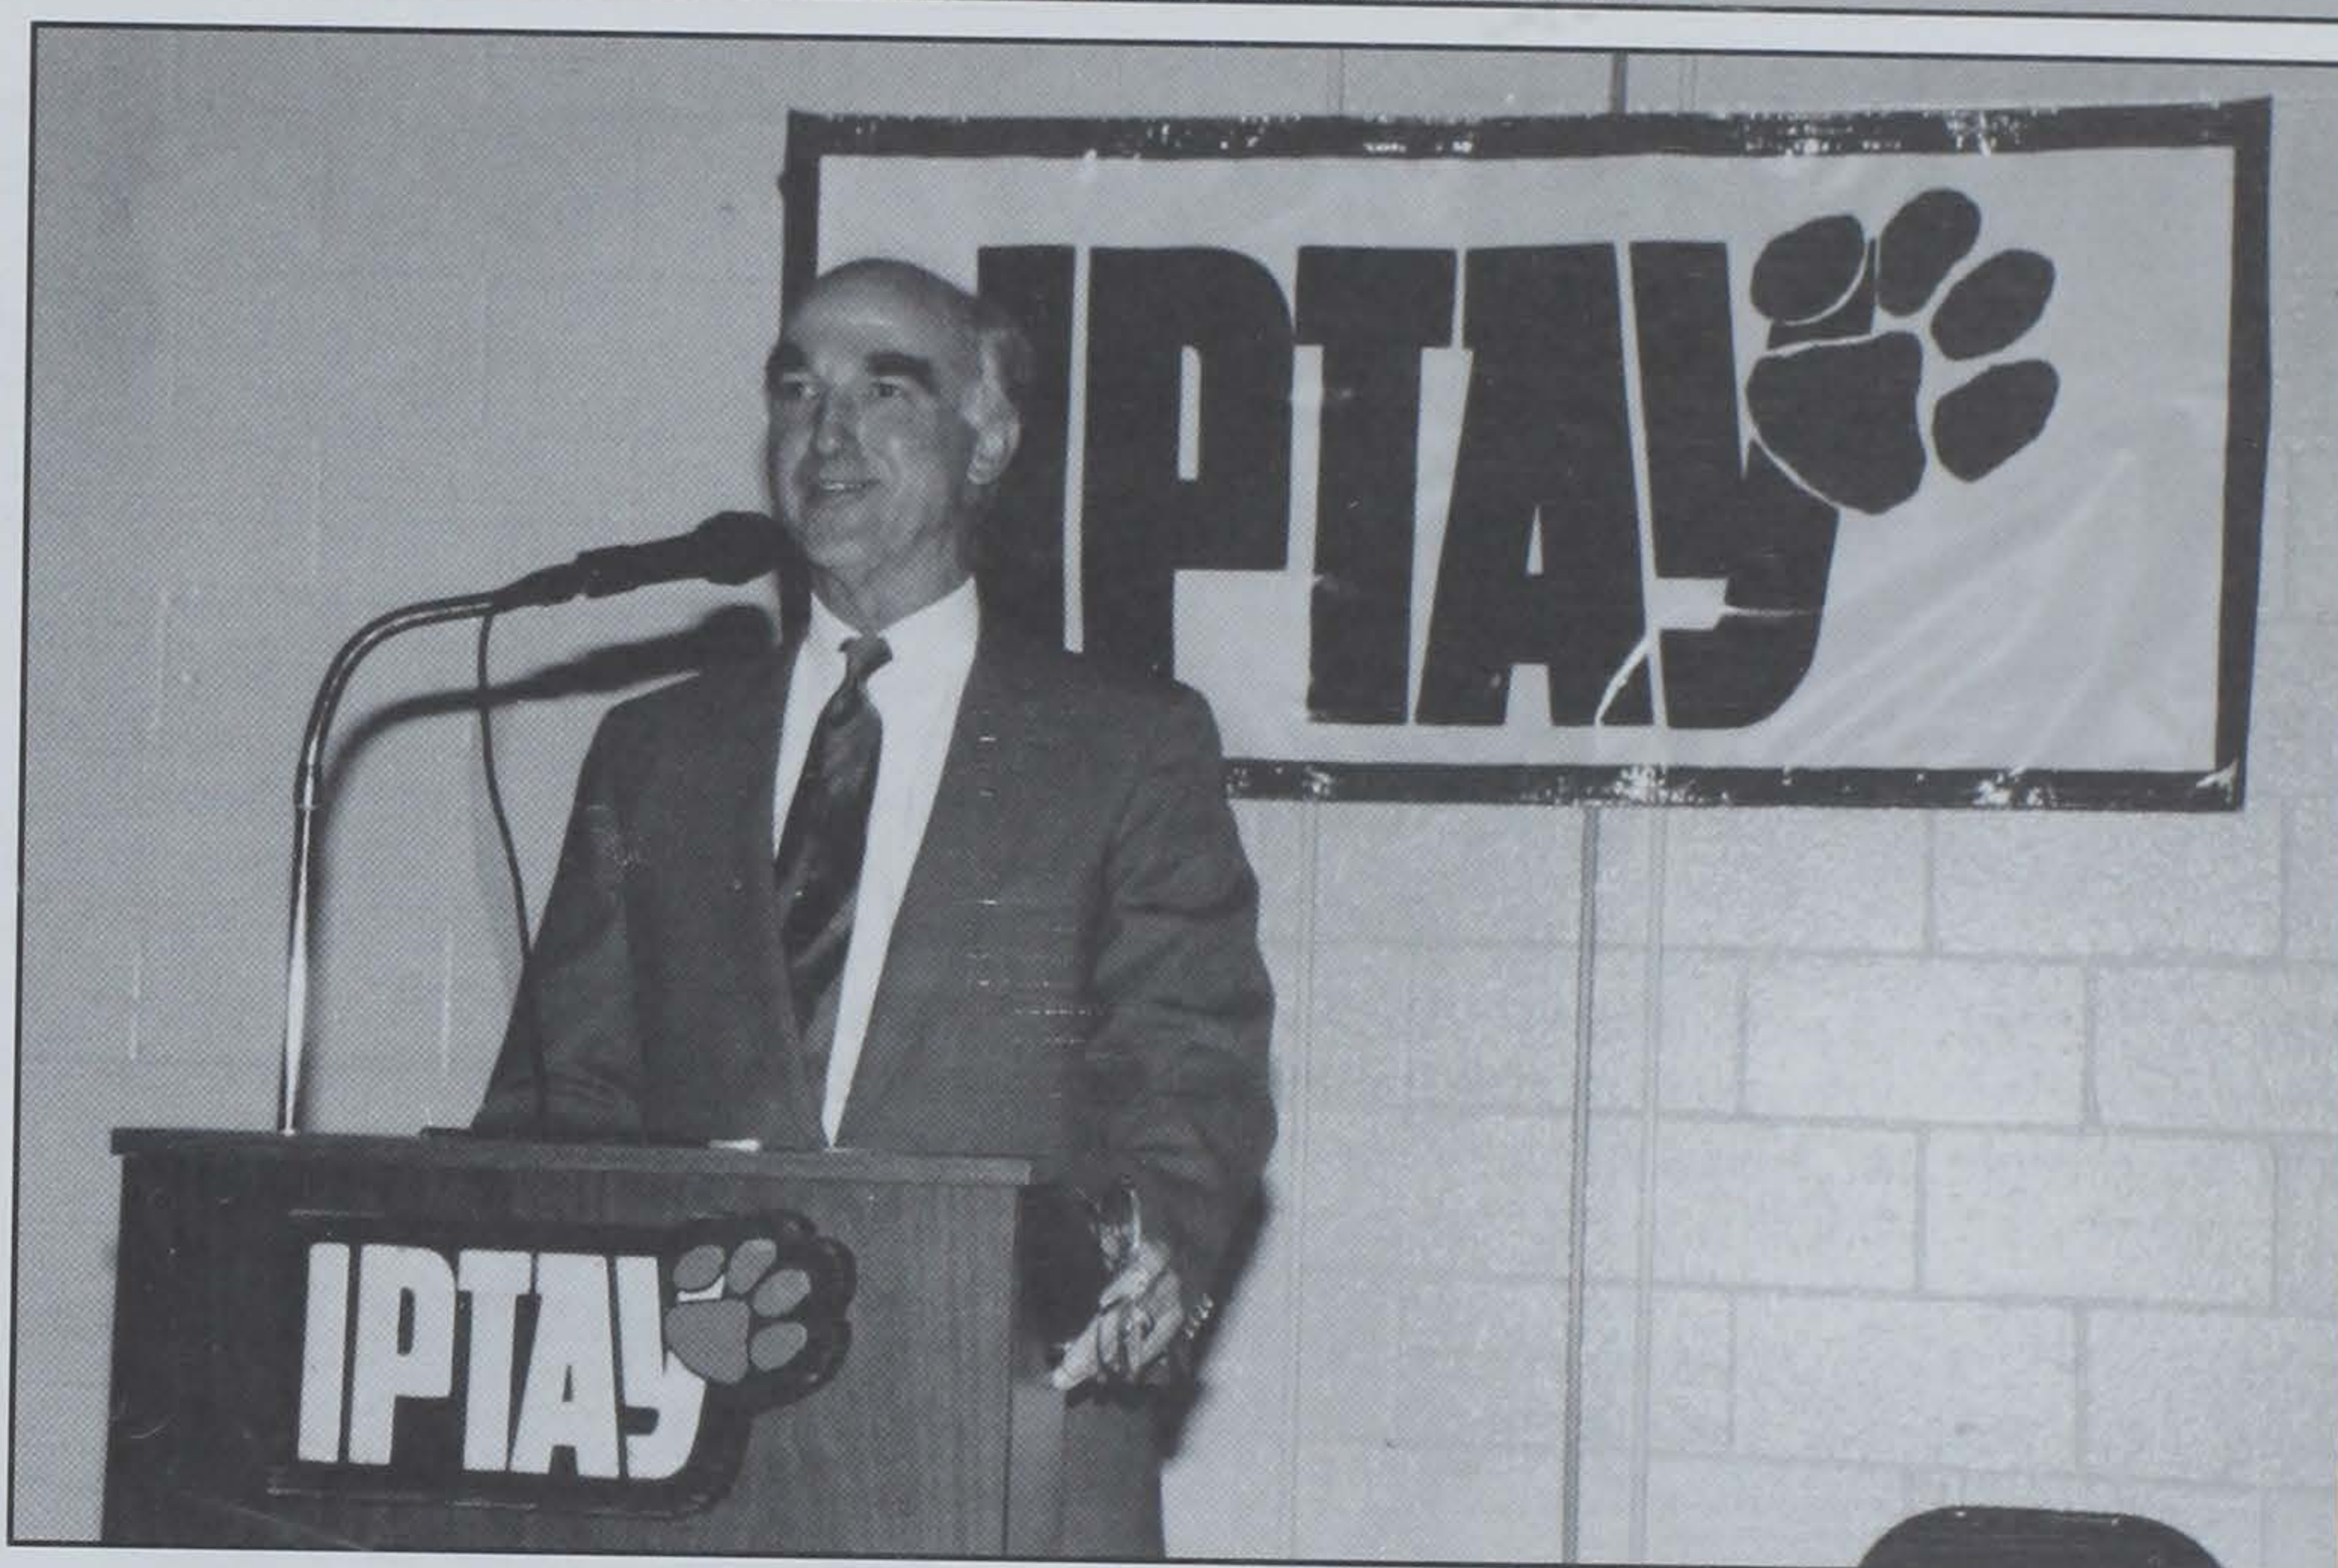

Over the last five years, 16 of Clemson's 18 teams have been ranked in the top 25 in the country at one time or another. During this time the Clemson football, women's cross country, women's basketball and golf teams have been in the top 25 all five years, while the men's indoor track, baseball, women's track and women's swimming teams have had four top 20 seasons.

The success of the Clemson athletic program comes during a time when the integrity and accountability of the academic progress of student-athletes are receiving national attention. IPTAY has been a large part of that success by being committed to the student-athlete.

IPTAY is recognized as one of the oldest, largest and most successful athletic fundraising organizations in America. IPTAY was the first athletic fundraising organization in the country to top the two, three, four, and five-million dollar marks in annual donations.

In 1934, Dr. Rupert Fike founded IPTAY with a very simple purpose in mind: IPTAY provides funds for athletic scholarships. Since 1934 IPTAY has certainly met Fike's goal, providing scholarships for over 5,000 student-athletes, trainers, and managers.

IPTAY currently provides the funds for tutorial programs staffed by trained academic advisors, assisted by graduate and undergraduate students. This support is intended to insure that all student-athletes are given the opportunity to earn their degree while participating in athletics.

Allison Dalton is the leader of America's top athletic scholarship foundation.

IPTAY donors have also played an intricate role in the "Campaign for Clemson", a long range fund-raising project of the University. The University's original goal of 62 million dollars was surpassed with the next goal of 78 million also being surpassed in the campaign that ended on June 30, 1992. IPTAY provided three million dollars with ongoing opportunities for donors to be part of the Vickery Hall Academic Learning Center.

Vickery Hall, located on East Campus is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. The building contains various-sized study and tutoring rooms used for individual study as well as small group instruction. Computer facilities, an office/reception area for the advising staff and an auditorium, also are contained in Vickery Hall.

The generous support of 18,200 loyal donors to IPTAY has allowed the organization to go beyond the funding of athletic scholarships by providing the financial basis for many of the unparalleled athletic facilities at Clemson.

Since 1978, IPTAY has provided the funding for $34 million of capital improvements in the area of athletics. These improvements include the expansion of the football stadium, the newly renovated baseball facility (Tiger Field), the new outdoor track, the indoor tennis facility, the soccer stadium, the weight room, the new golf practice area, a new cross country course, and the IPTAY/Ticket office facility.

IPTAY is also proud to provide the funding for Tiger Band. Each year IPTAY establishes financial support for travel, uniforms and equipment for this integral part of the Clemson athletic program.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. This scholarship endowment is funded by certain company gifts that are made as a result of employee contributions to IPTAY. In addition, the athletic department has made generous contributions to the endowment from athletic revenues.

The IPTAY Academic Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson providing $1.8 million in funds, currently benefitting more than 50 students. IPTAY's support extends to all of the student body.

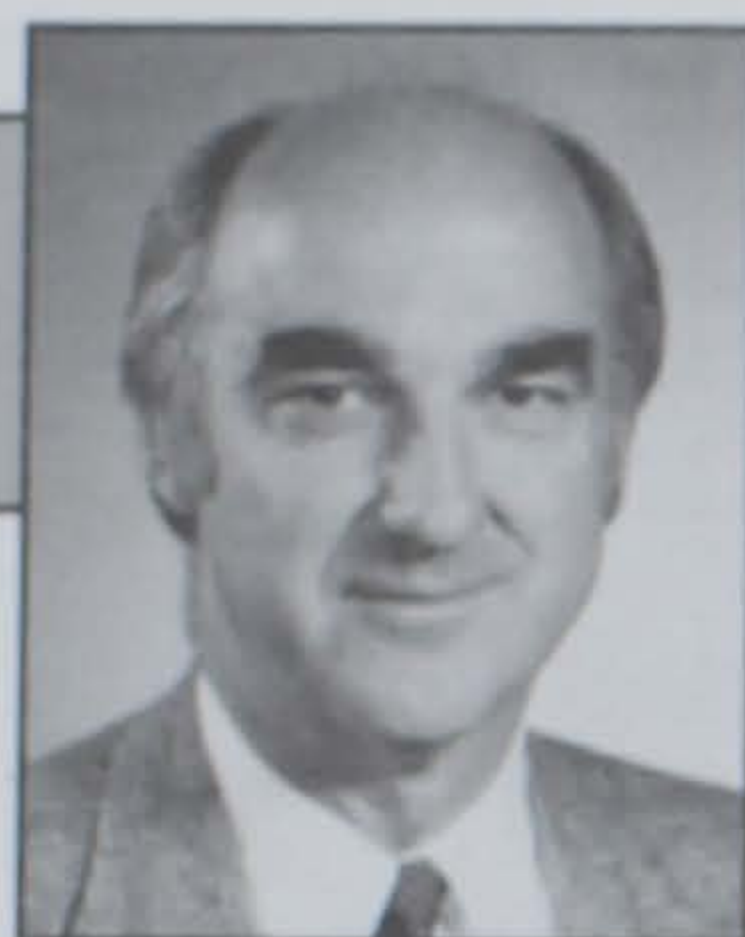

The tremendous support of IPTAY is due, in large part, to the organizational makeup that allows donors to be as close to IPTAY as they are to their local IPTAY leadership. Each of South Carolina's 46 counties has an IPTAY County chairman, and every county is allotted an IPTAY representative for every 35 donors.

One important way IPTAY keeps in touch with its membership is the annual Clemson Club meeting held in April and May of each year. These meetings, which feature different coaches and administrators, are just one of the ways of making the local IPTAY members feel close to Clemson.

Clemson University will continue to be recognized and respected on the national level athletically and academically with the full support of IPTAY. IPTAY will continue to be successful because a loyal commitment to Clemson University is a way of life in the hearts of Clemson alumni and friends.

IPTAY Administrators

ALLISON DALTON
Executive Secretary

Allison Dalton is in his seventh full academic year as the leader of America's number-one athletic scholarship fundraising organization, IPTAY. Since Dalton took over the position in March of 1985, he has continued to insure the financing of a quality education for over 400 student-athletes, trainers and managers. Before Dalton took over the position, he served as promotions director for four years and assistant athletic director for media relations and marketing for two years.

The well-rounded administrator raised money from an advertising standpoint at Clemson in his first six years for publications, scoreboard advertising and with the Clemson sports marketing program. Now he raises money for athletic scholarships and other areas for the athletic department.

During his tenure, Dalton was responsible for copyrighting the Tiger Paw and other Clemson logos, which has eliminated any unauthorized use of the symbols. He also supervised the highly successful direct mail marketing program.

Dalton, who earned his bachelor's (1960) and master's (1964) degrees from Clemson in industrial management, served as state campaign coordinator for U.S. Senator Strom Thurmond for a year prior to becoming manager of the Clemson House Hotel, a capacity he served in until coming to the athletic department in the fall of 1979.

After receiving his undergraduate degree, he served two years in the U.S. Army as assistant printing control officer at Fort Bliss, TX, and he was discharged as a first lieutenant. Following his study on his master's degree, Dalton was a management trainee and staff assistant for Karastan Mills for two years and was then in partnership with his brother in the furniture and carpet business.

Dalton is married to the former Carolyn Jones of Pickens, SC, and the Daltons are the parents of two Clemson graduates, Brett and CeCe.

BERT HENDERSON
Associate Executive Secretary

Bert Henderson, another athletic official with a diverse background, has been associated with Clemson University since he began work as a trainer with the athletic department in 1978. After leaving the athletic department for a year to work with the Clemson Alumni Association, Henderson returned to the Jervy Athletic Center as Clemson's associate executive secretary of IPTAY, in April of 1985.

He began full-time employment under Fred Hoover in 1980 and served as basketball trainer during the 1983-84 season. He served in that capacity until October of 1984. He handled all travel and a majority of administrative tasks for the Clemson basketball program.

His central duties as associate director of IPTAY concern the preparation of the Orange and White, which is the official publication of IPTAY, and the evaluation of Life Memberships, as well as Tiger Life donors for the future of IPTAY. He is also the advisor for the IPTAY Student Advisory Board, an on-campus student group that serves as a liaison between students and the athletic department. Henderson is also involved with the organization of Clemson club programs and other administrative duties of IPTAY.

Henderson is a 1978 graduate of Mars Hill College. He earned a master's degree from Clemson in 1980 in administration and supervision. He is married to the former Lee Ann Hudson, and the couple has two children, Amy Lee (9-23-86) and Kimberly Ann (6-13-89).

BOB MAHONY
Associate Executive Secretary

Bob Mahony started with IPTAY as an associate executive secretary in February of 1989. He is a 1976 graduate of Clemson with a bachelor of science degree in building construction. He had been involved in commercial and residential construction in Columbia and the upstate since graduation.

In the summer of 1977, he began a career in construction with Bagnal Builders, a residential builder in Columbia. From 1981-1985 he was employed by McCrory Construction, also in Columbia, where he gained experience in commercial construction. Following a return to Bagnal Builders from 1985-87, he moved to the upstate where he worked with Trehel Corp. of Clemson and Hudson Construction of Seneca.

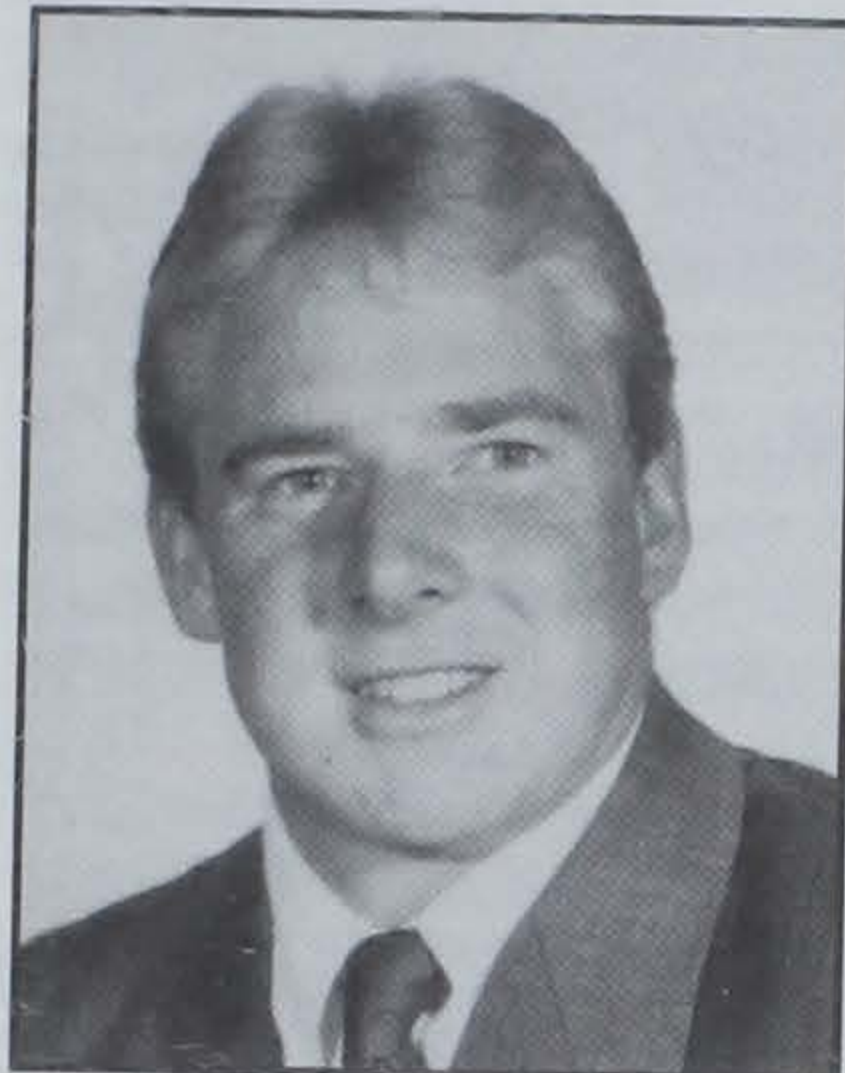

Mahony lettered in baseball at Clemson from 1974-76. He was a walk-on pitcher for coach Bill Wilhelm's baseball team in 1974. He later earned a full scholarship and was co-captain of the 1976 team that participated in the College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska. That team also won the ACC regular season and tournament. Following his career at Clemson, Mahony spent a short time with the Baltimore Orioles organization. For the past four seasons, he has provided the color commentary on the Clemson baseball radio network.

His duties with IPTAY included the coordination of the IPTAY County Chairmen and representative appointment and award program. He is also involved in coordinating IPTAY's involvement in the spring Clemson Club meetings.

Mahony is married to the former Robin Ann Lawrimore, a 1976 graduate of Clemson. The couple has two children, Robin Allison (9-1-80) and Marion Leigh (9-3-85). Bob has two brothers, Glenn and David, who are also graduates of Clemson and his mother was Clemson's Mother-of-the-year in 1981.

Bowl Coalition

*The Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta Bowls (Tier One) have joined with the Atlantic Coast Conference, the Big East Conference and the University of Notre Dame in a three-year partnership to provide for the champions of the ACC and the Big East, and Notre Dame to appear in one of the aforementioned bowl games each year. The ACC and Big East champions, and Notre Dame are guaranteed a spot in the Orange, Sugar, Fiesta or Cotton Bowl in 1992, 1993 and 1994.

*The current commitments of the conference champions of the Big Eight to the Orange Bowl, the Southeastern to the Sugar Bowl and the Southwest to the Cotton Bowl remain intact, leaving two additional berths open in the four Tier One coalition bowls.

*The two remaining spots in Tier One will be filled from a pool of "at-large" teams, which will include the next best team (as selected by the Tier One coalition bowls) from the following five conferences—ACC, Big East, Big Eight, Pac-10 (whose champion remains committed to the Rose Bowl) and the Southwest.

*The three "at-large" teams not selected by the Tier One coalition will then be available for selection to the Tier Two bowls (Gator, Blockbuster & John Hancock) of the coalition.

*The team selection for all the bowls involved in the coalition (Tier One and Two) will be made following the completion of the SEC Championship game on December 5.

The Selection Process:

1. Whenever Notre Dame, the ACC and the Big East champs occupy the number-one and two rankings in the final regular season AP poll, they must play the National Championship game in the Fiesta Bowl. In other words, if Clemson is number-one and Notre Dame is number-two heading into the bowls, the Tigers and the Irish will meet in the Fiesta Bowl.

Clemson and N.C. State will be ACC title contenders in 1992. The ACC champ will be headed to the Sugar, Cotton, Fiesta or Orange Bowls the next three years.

However, if the number-one and number-two teams are both from among the Big Eight, SEC and SWC champions, the top two teams will not meet in the Fiesta. Each champion attends the bowl he is affiliated with. In other words, if Florida is number-one and Texas A&M is number-two, those two teams would not meet each other. Florida would go to the Sugar and Texas A&M to the Cotton.

2. Whenever the number-one or two team in the final regular season AP poll come from among the ACC Champion, Big East Champ or Notre Dame, and the host conference champion from among the Sugar, Cotton or Orange Bowl is ranked number-one or two, these two teams must play one another in the bowl of the host conference champion. In other words, if Clemson is number-one and Nebraska is number-two after the regular season, the Tigers will play the Cornhuskers in the Orange Bowl.

3. Barring the above circumstances, the Orange, Sugar and Cotton Bowls will select first in order of the final rankings (AP poll) of their respective host conference champions. The bowls will select from among the ACC Champ, the Big East Champ and Notre Dame. The bowls do not have to select in order of AP ranking. Following those three selections, the Fiesta Bowl will have two selections from the remaining pool of five teams.

4. Once these selections have been completed, the remaining three at-large teams will be available to the Tier Two bowls, which will select one team in order of per team net payout. In 1992, the order will be the Gator Bowl selecting first, followed by the Blockbuster and then the John Hancock Bowl.

5. The ACC and the Big East champions and Notre Dame have the right to pass a Tier One selection for a higher payout to avoid a rematch of a regular season game, or to avoid playing in a particular bowl for the third straight year.

6. A team may pass a selection to a Tier Two bowl only to avoid a rematch of a regular season game, or to avoid playing in a particular bowl game for a third consecutive year.

Other Bowl commitments for 1992

1. Penn State, provided it has the minimum six Division I wins, will play in the Blockbuster Bowl.

2. The Citrus Bowl will match the number-two team in the Big Ten against the number-two team in the SEC. (It does not have to be the second place team in each league, merely the second best team in each league as chosen by the Citrus Bowl.)

3. The number-three team in the ACC, will be the host team in the Peach Bowl. This is not necessarily the third place team in the conference standings, it is the third best team as chosen by the Peach Bowl.

4. The Holiday Bowl will match the number-three team of the Big Ten against the Western Athletic Champion.

5. The Rose Bowl will continue to match the champion of the Big Ten against the champion of the Pac-10.

6. The number-three team in the Pac-10 will go to the Freedom Bowl.

7. The Gator Bowl will match the number-three SEC team against a Tier Two coalition team.

8. The Liberty Bowl will take the top service academy team.

Here is an example of the bowl coalition at work for last year.

Baylor is #2 team in SWC, but unranked in final regular season poll.

*If the coalition was used last year, the following matchups would have occurred (provided bowls made selections according to ranking. They do not have to do that in 1992). The 1992 conference affiliations are used in this example. Florida State, by virtue of #5 ranking, is considered ACC champion and Penn State is considered a Big Ten member for this hypothetical scenario.

TIER ONE

Sugar: #3 Florida (SEC Champ) vs. #1 Miami (Big East Champ)

Cotton: #9 Texas A&M (SWC Champion) vs. #5 Florida State (ACC Champion)

Orange: #11 Nebraska (Big Eight Champ) vs. #18 Notre Dame

Fiesta: #13 Clemson (ACC #2 team) vs. #14 California (Pac-10 #2 Team)

TIER TWO

Gator: #15 Colorado (Big Eight #2) vs. #10 Tennessee (SEC #3 team)

Blockbuster: #16 Syracuse (Big East #2) vs. TBA (will be Penn State in 1992 only)

John Hancock: Baylor (SWC #2) vs. TBA

OTHER BOWLS

Rose: #2 Washington (Pac-10 Champ) vs. #4 Michigan (Big Ten Champ)

Citrus: #8 Alabama (SEC #2 team) vs. #6 Penn State (Big Ten #2 team)

Holiday: #7 Iowa vs. Brigham Young (WAC Champ)

State after Williams injured his knee, he was a workhorse the rest of the year, averaging almost 20 attempts for each of those last seven games and gaining 602 yards (86 yards per game)...led the team in rushing in three of the last six regular season games, he gained 103 yards versus Wake Forest, 79 against Maryland, and a career-high 163 versus Duke...also led the team in receiving two consecutive games with six grabs for 45 yards in the win over N.C. State and four receptions for 29 yards in the Wake Forest contest...he was named the Exxon Supreme Player-of-the-Game in that win over the Demon Deacons as he scored two touchdowns, one on a 25-yard romp...the Tigers' third-leading receiver for the season with 20 catches for 178 yards, that was the most receptions for a Clemson back since Ray Yaeger had 21 grabs for 130 yards in 1969, two years before Blunt was born...ranked third on the team in total offense with a 62.3 yards per game average...second among 1991 Tigers in all-purpose running at 77.1 yards per game...fifth on the 1991 squad in scoring with 24 points...in for 72 plays from scrimmage in the first five games of 1991 and then was in for a career-high 70 plays in the sixth game versus N.C. BLUNT COMMENTS

On being a Clemson tailback:

"The running back tradition at Clemson is one of the most well-established and respected in the southeast. Our running backs may not be the flashiest, but they are the toughest, most durable group around. Being a Clemson tailback can be compared to being a Marine in the Armed Forces - We only have a few and we are indeed proud, on and off the field."

On the Type of Player he is:

"I see myself as a team player. Whatever gets the team the first down, that's what I'm for. It might be running over a person; it might be out-running a person; it might be diving over a person; it might be blocking for someone else - whatever gets the job done."

On Having the Starter's Job Heading into Fall Practice:

"There is no difference between my very first year when there was a great player like Terry Allen starting, and this year, when I know I'm the starter heading into the season. I feel that I have established myself as far as being an important member of the team, but I have to work harder now. Even though I have started a few games, I haven't nearly accomplished all that I want to accomplish. I don't think Clemson has ever seen the Rodney Blunt that I know I can be. By continuing to work hard and taking my play up to an even higher level, I can reach my personal goals."

* - Denotes red-shirted one season.

times in the first three games, sat out the next two games, then rushed only 16 times in the next four contests...had 10 carries for 44 yards in the win over North Carolina...had his longest scoring run and longest run overall against Georgia when he scored on a 26-yard carry in the fourth period...had two brothers serve for the United States in Saudi Arabia during Operation Desert Storm.

In 1989: Saw considerable action in the first game of 1989, but injured his thumb at Virginia Tech and was forced to red-shirt the season with a medical hardship...forced into action early when starter Terry Allen (now with the Minnesota Vikings) did not play in the season opener with Furman, he turned heads with 24 hard-earned yards on 10 carries...did not play the next week versus Florida State, he came in for only three plays and did not carry the ball versus Virginia Tech...had more carries and more yardage than any other rusher during spring scrimmages of 1990...leading rusher for the Orange team in the Orange and White Game, he picked up 62 yards on nine attempts and scored the Orange team's only offensive touchdown (the other came on a blocked punt).

In High School: A highly touted athlete who led his team to a 13-0 record and the high school national championship...played for USA Today National Coach-of-the-Year, Carl Madison, at Pine Forest High School in Pensacola...his team's most valuable offensive player for three straight years...named to the Florida Super Seniors 24 team...also named to the Orlando Sentinel's Super Series...one of the top 20 running backs in the nation according to Joe Terranova...rushed for 1,682 yards and 20 touchdowns as a senior...rushed for 1,300 yards as a junior...led Pine Forest to a 13-0 record as a senior and a 26-1 mark over his last two years, his team also won two state championships during that time...an honorable mention All-America choice according to USA Today...Max Emfinger's National High School Recruiting Service rated him as the ninth best speed running back in the nation...participated on the school's weightlifting team and finished second in the state weightlifting meet...participated in the Georgia-Florida All-Star Football game...voted offensive MVP in this all-star game...played with Emmitt Smith (former Florida RB, now an All-Pro with the Dallas Cowboys) in junior high school...came to Clemson with high school teammate Jason Davis, now a Tiger wide receiver...majoring in sociology...born 3-27-71 in Pensacola, FL.

PERSONALITY PROFILE

Name (First, Middle, Last): Rodney Terrell Blunt

Nickname: Rock or Dog

Hobbies: Weightlifting, antique trucks

My Sports Hero: Walter Payton

My Non-sports Hero: My dad, Frank Blunt

My most embarrassing moment was when: I was bringing my new '77 Chevy truck back to Clemson from home and I got pulled over for going too slow.

My favorite thing to pretend as a child was: that I was a bodybuilder. When my family had company, I would suck in my stomach like I was big.

My best moment playing football at Clemson was: when it was fourth-and-two against N.C. State and I jumped over a guy for the first down. I sacrificed my body because there was another guy coming at me from the side, but all that mattered was getting those two yards.

The most unusual thing about me is: my hats

What makes (or can make) me a good football player is: The hunger to win by any means necessary

What makes (or can make) Clemson a good football team is: teamwork

Player on the team I think will be a surprise this year: Dwayne Bryant

How do I see myself? As a peacemaker

How do I want other people to see me? As an inspiration to the black community

The best thing about me is: I put my family first

The worst thing about me is: My attitude before noon (I'm in a bad mood)

My craziest ambition is: for me and my Dad to own the biggest auto-salvage yard in the state of Florida.

My ultimate goal in life is: to be the best father, provider and husband possible.

Before a football game, I: don't do anything. Funny rituals are not necessary. I always pray in the shower for everybody's safety, not to win, because if its God's will, you're not going to win.

My advice to young people is: Keep a strong family bond - then you can turn to your family instead of drugs.

Years Lettered: 1990, 1991

Overview: Middle Guard who should be one of the Tigers' leaders on defense in 1992, he is the only returning full-time starter on the defensive downline...starting tackle in 1991, he moves to middle guard in 1992, the position he played in 1990...did well in his first year as a starter, he was one of five Tigers with double figures in tackles for loss with 10 from his middle guard position...tied for third on the team in sacks with 5.5, he ranked seventh on the team in total tackles with 56...named the Exxon Supreme Player-of-the-Game versus Temple when he had seven tackles, two tackles for loss, an eight-yard sack, registered a quarterback pressure, and caused a fumble...also had seven tackles and 1.5 sacks in the season opener with Appalachian State, that was his first career start...registered five tackles for loss in the last five games, including two in the win at North Carolina...posted a career-high eight tackles in that contest, six were first hits...had five or more tackles in six games last season...registered seven quarterback pressures for the season, two came in the Tigers' ACC title-clinching win over Maryland...had a sack in three of the last five regular season games in 1991...in for a career high of 51 snaps in the loss to Georgia, he had six tackles in that contest...noted for his quickness coming off the line of scrimmage, he clocked in at 4.85 in the 40-yard dash last spring...one of the Tigers' top performers in the strength training room, he pushed 1,120 pounds on the leg sled during winter conditioning, that was a Clemson record until Stacy Seegars upped that by 20 pounds several days later...Buckner's leg sled mark is still an all-time record among defensive players and is an incredible 320-pound increase since 1989, his 455-pound bench-press mark is a 90-pound increase and is tied for the top mark among 1992 Tigers...has a 30-inch vertical jump and a 105-inch standing broad jump.

In 1990: Second-team nose guard who saw action in 10 games and 137 snaps behind all-conference player

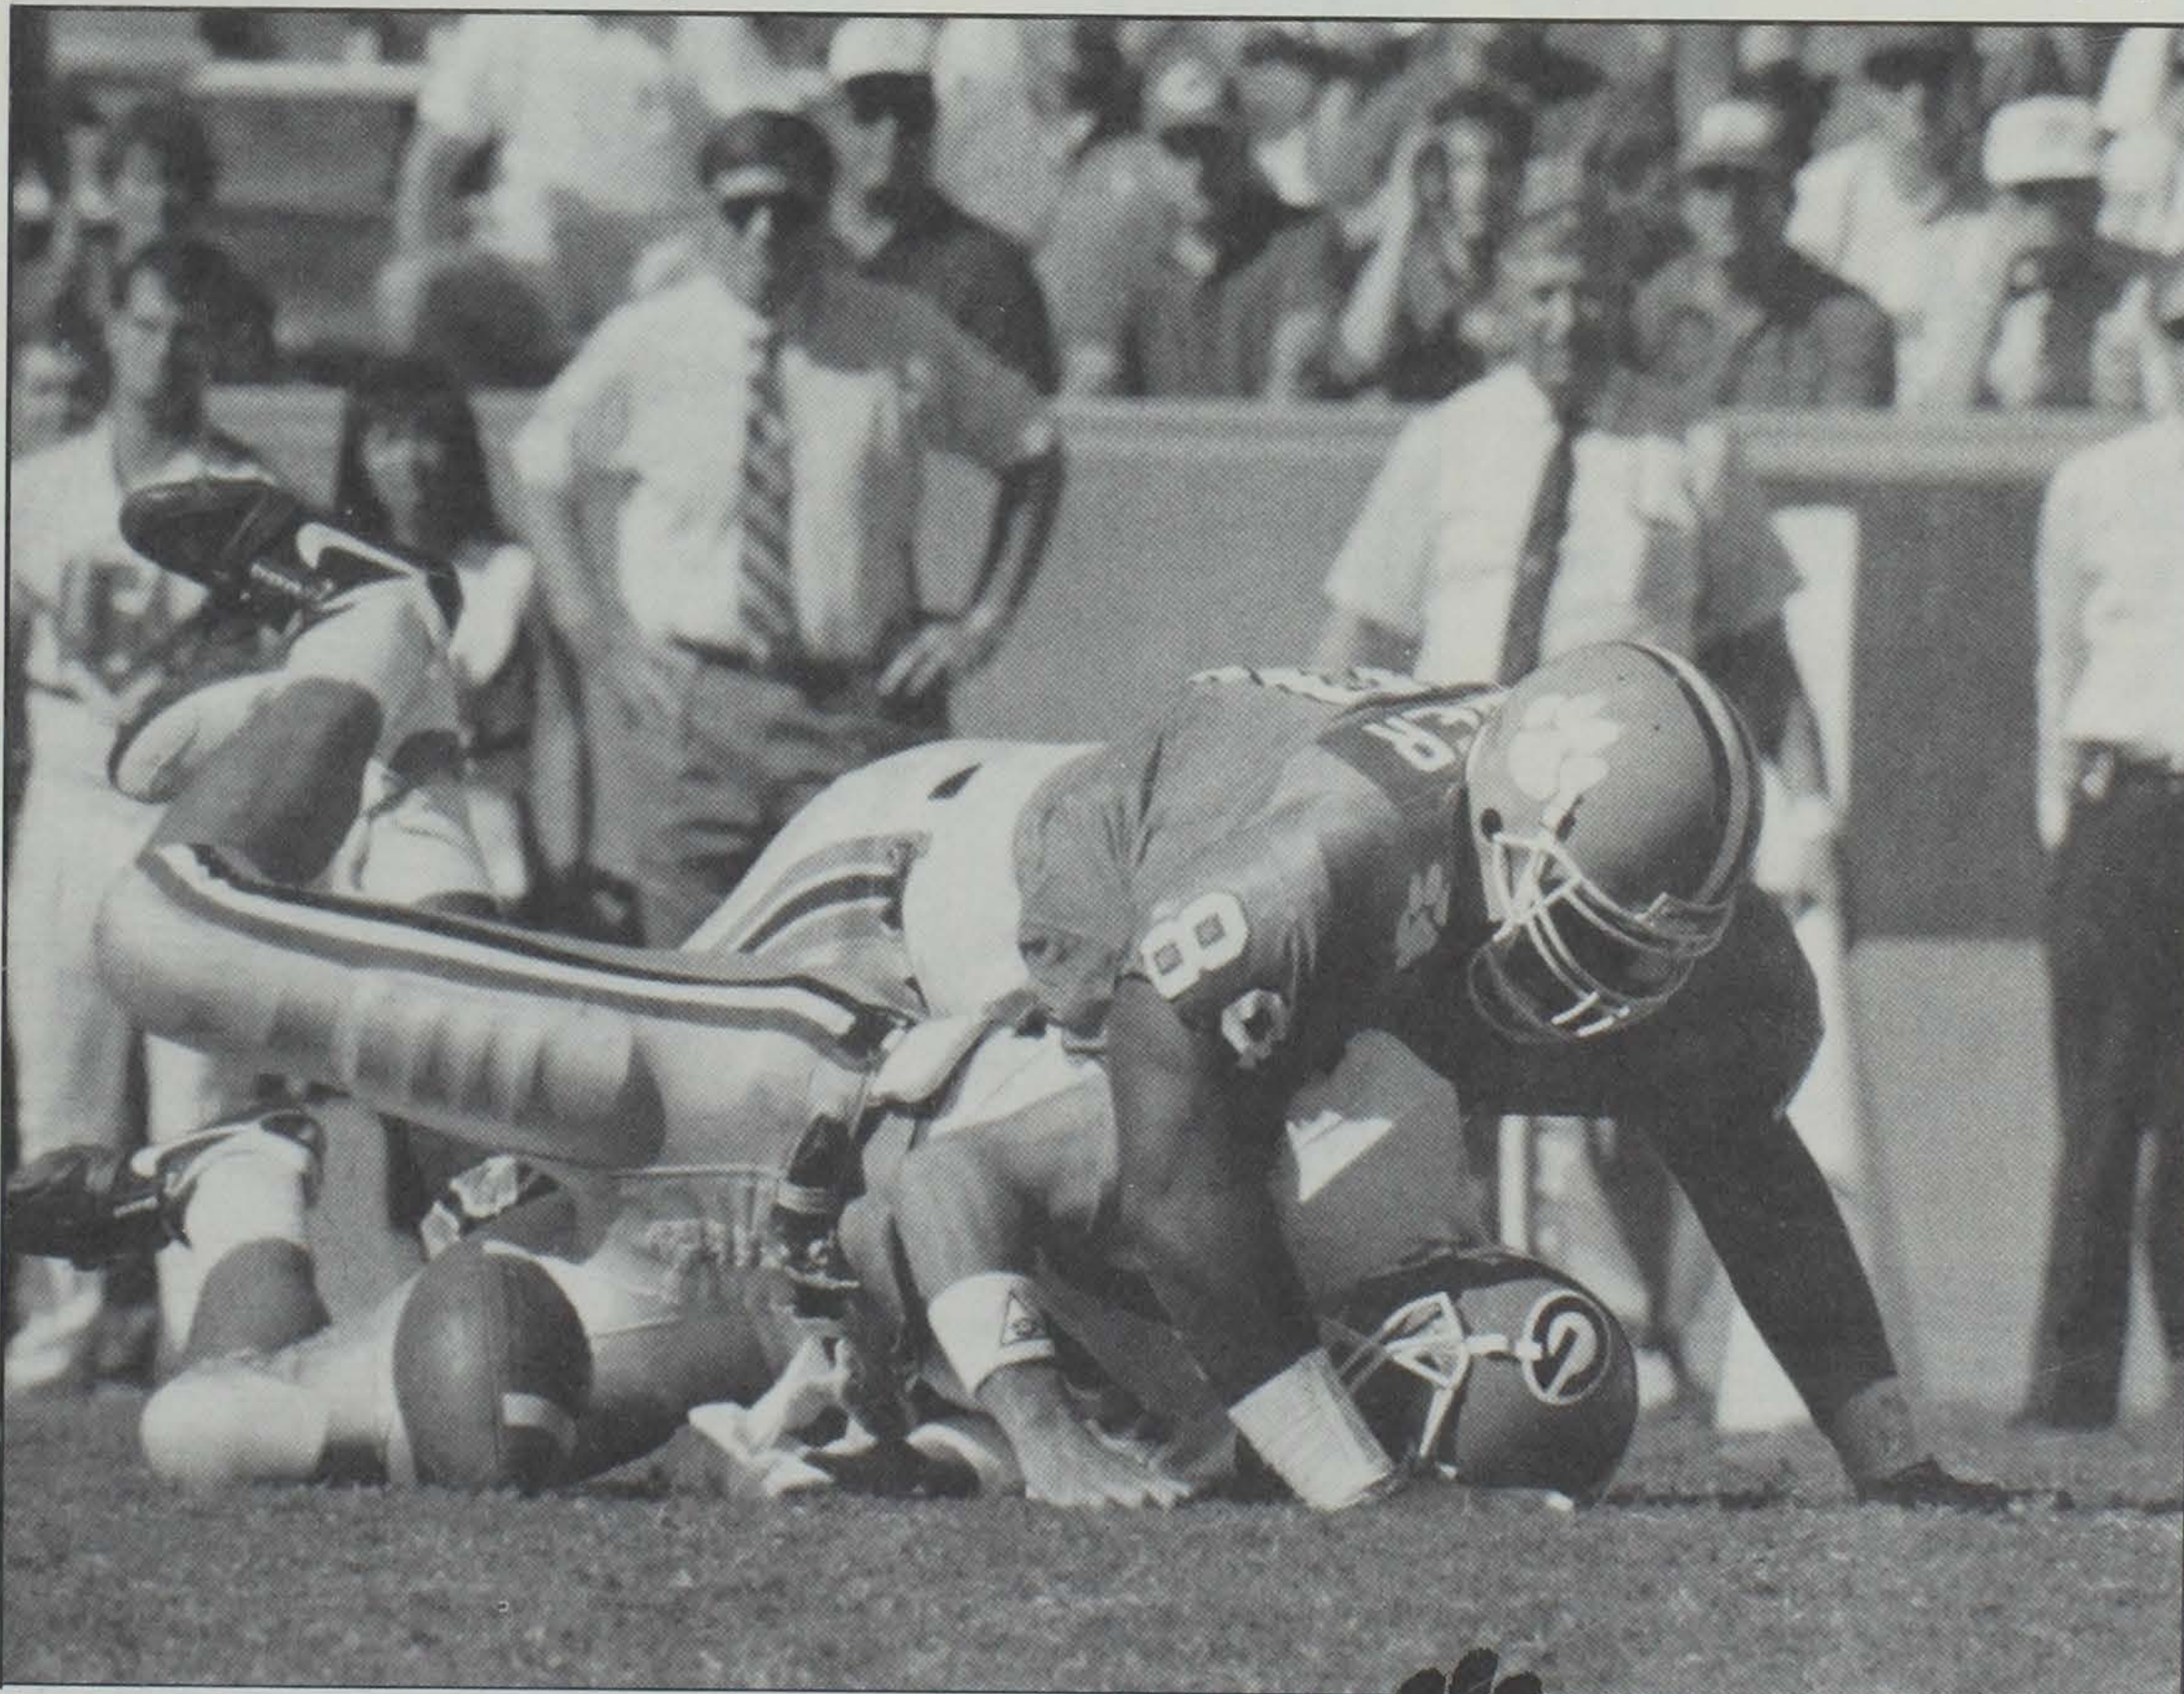

BUCKNER COMMENTS: On His Role on the 1992 Team:

"My responsibilities this year have changed. Now I have to be a leader and be able to watch over younger players and tell them what to expect while on the field. My playing time will have to increase because the team will count on me playing more. I have tried to lower my weight and have increased my workouts to try to build up my endurance and strength to play longer.

"My goal for this year is to become more of a team player. I want to forget about individual glory, and concentrate on what I can do to help Clemson become a better football team. If I can do that, the personal glory will come."

On Moving Back from Defensive Tackle to Middle Guard:

"It's not going to be a hard adjustment. At nose guard, I see more double teams and different blocking schemes. At that position, I will be more in the action. At tackle, the other team can pick a side and run away from me, but at middle guard, I have a choice to go to either side and try to make the tackle."

Rob Bodine...second leading tackler in spring scrimmages of 1991 with 24, he had two tackles for loss...saw considerable action due to the injury to starter Rob Bodine...led the Orange squad in tackles in the Orange and White game with eight...moved to the backup slot at middle guard in the middle of the 1990 season...had a fine performance while seeing limited action versus Georgia, he had three tackles and another four-yard sack in only 11 plays...had 28 total tackles for the season and four tackles for loss, even though he did not play in the last two regular season games due to an ankle injury...had three first hits and a two-yard tackle for loss in his first collegiate game, the season opener with Long Beach State...competed in one track meet at Clemson, winning the shot put competition while throwing unattached at the Tiger Opener indoor meet on December 1, 1990.

In 1989: Red-shirted the 1989 season at nose guard but saw considerable action in the spring of 1990 despite missing time due to a torn ligament in his left ankle...had 11 tackles including a five-yard stop for loss in spring drills.

In High School: Recruiting analyst Max Emfinger called him "One of the biggest diamonds in the rough in the nation"...Emfinger's National High School Recruiting Service rated him as the fourth-best player in the south heading into his senior season...that service made him a second-team All-American in its preseason magazine...an honorable mention All-America selection according to Street & Smith ...SuperPrep Magazine All-Dixie choice...named to the All-Georgia team by Tom Lemming...an all-state performer according to The Atlanta Constitution...the 23rd-best player in Georgia according to that publication...had 85 tackles as a junior and 112 with 16 sacks as a senior...had an incredible 15 caused fumbles during his senior season...also had eight sacks and 28 tackles in one game for school records...even played fullback, where he rushed for 395 yards, and kicked off...earned 12 letters in high school, four in football, three in basketball, three in track and two in baseball...an outstanding track performer, he threw the shot put 58'3-1/2" and posted a 161' mark in the discus...won the state shot put competition and finished seventh in the discus...played for an outstanding Carver High School team...coached by Wallace Davis...has seven sisters and two brothers...majoring in English...born 9-30-71.

Rudy Harris

Fullback...6-2...245...Sr.
Brockton, MA...Brockton HS

On the Role of a Clemson Fullback:

"We are supposed to be a dominant type of player - able to go out there and block for the tailbacks and on special occasions, get the first down. Whether its running, catching, or maybe even throwing! That's a fullback's job. Being a fullback, you can't really glorify yourself as maybe a tailback. We just have to go out there and grind them up, bust up the linebackers and wear them down. If the tailback is doing well, then you know that the fullback and the whole offensive line is doing well."

On the Type of Player He is:

"I see myself as a versatile player, because I used to be a tailback. I still have the tailback in me. If I have to break a long play, I can do it. If I need to make a move on somebody, I think I can do it. But to my advantage, I also have the blocking skills of an offensive lineman."

On Having to Sit Out the First Three Games of 1992:

"I'm going to have to prove that I can jump in and still compete after missing three games. I am going to have to establish myself fast. I'm going to have to do it every day in practice, starting from the very first day we go out there in August. I try to look at the positive side. It can work as an advantage, because I will be coming in fresh."

Harris Fact: Has scored 14 touchdowns over the last two years, more than any other Tiger.

Fall 1992 Depth Chart Position: Second-team fullback

Best All-Around Game: Gained 126 yards on 13 attempts against Duke in the 1991 Coca-Cola contest in Tokyo, Japan, including the longest run of his career, a 59-yarder. That 9.7 yards per carry average was a career-high and he also had seven knockdown blocks in that contest.

Bowl Experience: In for 58 plays as the starting fullback in the 1992 Citrus Bowl contest with California, he gained 83 yards on 14 carries, including a long run of 43 yards, to lead the Tigers in rushing. Had 20 yards in just three attempts and also caught a pass as a reserve in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl victory over Illinois.

ACC Stat Rankings: Ranked 10th in the ACC in rushing with 40.1 yards per game in 1991.

Preseason Honors, 1992: Rated the fifth-best fullback in the nation by the 1992 Sporting News preseason book. Rated the number-two fullback in the nation by the 1992 NCAA Preview.

a pass reception from DeChane Cameron...the score gave Clemson an 18-17 victory in what may have been the most pivotal game of the season...that TD marked the first time a Tiger fullback had caught a touchdown pass in 18 years...Wade Hughes had the last one, a 10-yarder, in 1972...in for a season-high 52 plays in the win over Georgia, he gained 64 yards on 17 carries versus the Bulldogs...averaged 6.4 yards per carry in the Wake Forest contest, he also rushed for a touchdown in that game...had two touchdowns in the regular season finale versus South Carolina even though he was in for just 25 plays.

In 1989: Injured his shoulder during early fall drills of 1989 and saw limited action in practice...sat out the 1989 season and spring drills of 1990.

In High School: A first-team USA Today All-American...one of two Parade All-Americans signed by the Tigers in 1989...also chosen to the Street & Smith and SuperPrep All-American...SuperPrep rated him as the 10th best RB in the nation and named him to the All-Northeast team...the Gatorade State and Regional Player-of-the-Year...USA Today Super 25 choice...a Tom Lemming All-American...Lemming chose him as the Player-of-the-Year in the Northeast region...Joe Terranova's All-East selection...Max Emfinger rated him as the nation's third-best fullback...Emfinger also named him to the fourth-team All-American and All-Northeast...a top 100 choice by the (Louisiana) Times Picayune...Joe Terranova named him the nation's seventh best running back...chosen to the Scholastic Coach All-America team and Lindy's top 88...led his high school team to a state championship as a junior...had some incredible statistics including a school career rushing record of 4,194 yards and 67 TDs...his senior year marks included: 1,821 yards rushing, 27 TDs, 174 points and a 38.5-yard punting average...also returned two kickoffs and three punts for touchdowns and caught 30 passes for 460 yards and eight TDs...on defense, he averaged 12 tackles with one interception...his junior year he had 1,276 yards and 26 TDs...averaged 30 points per game in basketball as a junior...also played baseball and ran track...majoring in sociology...born 9-18-71.

Kenzil Jackson

Linebacker...5-11...224...*Sr.
LaGrange, GA...LaGrange HS

On Being the Oldest Linebacker on the 1992 Depth Chart:

"The other players are going to do what I do - good or bad. So I've got to be careful of what I do and set a good example. I've always heard people say that seniors have to be leaders, but I can really see it now. If I hit hard and hustle all the time, I set the tone. I set the tempo."

On the Tradition of Clemson Linebackers:

"I fit into the tradition of Clemson linebackers, I'm short, but I'm hard. We might not look like the typical, prototype linebackers, but we are ultimate warriors. Our attitude is just to go out there and make tackles. In our defensive scheme, the inside linebackers have the opportunity to make the big plays if we are willing to sacrifice our bodies. I live like I play and I play like I live - like every day and every play is my last."

On Whether the 1992 Defense Can Live Up to the Standards Set by Former Tiger Defenses:

"Our defense is still strong, but we have to grow. It's just like a family. After the first game of the season, when we realize how we can play hard together and win, we will be like a family. Once we get into that family mode, we feel like we can't be stopped. That's the way the defense has been the other three years I've played here, and I'm going to make sure its like that this year."

Robert O'Neal

Clarkston, GA...Clarkston

On His Individual Goals for the 1992 Season:

"My goal is to be the best player that I can possibly be in every aspect of the game. My first year, I was very successful in being around the ball and getting a lot of interceptions. My second year, I learned to be a little more disciplined and take care of my responsibility. Last year, I didn't miss any tackles until the final game of the season so I knew I was taking care of my responsibilities. This year I want to put everything together and be the total player."

On His Responsibilities as a Tiger Senior:

"I want to make sure that everyone on the team is working to obtain our team goals and those goals are to win the conference and get a shot at winning the national championship. But our most important goal is be the best team that we can be and to just have fun."

On the 1992 Tiger Secondary:

"I think that we have a lot to prove this year. Last year, I think people saw the secondary as the weakest link in a very strong defense. This year, we want to be the strongest link. We have the talent, and now we have the experience. I think we will have a great year."

Larry Ryans

Wide Receiver...6-0...184...Sr.
Greenwood, SC...Greenwood HSOn Competing with the Tiger Track Squad:

"The one thing that track does for me is keep me in shape and help enhance my strength and quickness. It helps, but sometimes it can also drain me. I feel like I'm going all the time and never slow down. The level of competition is basically the same in the two sports, except instead of facing a good team like in football, you're facing four or five guys in track. The mental preparation is the same, you have to go inside yourself and focus on what you have to do. Instead of learning plays, I might have to concentrate on my form, coming out of the blocks straight."

Outlook for 1992:

"We have a lot of people coming back and we have the talent. I want to stay focussed on what I'm doing and be ready when the time comes for me to do something. As soon as the track season ended in June, my total concentration went to football. I have a lot more to learn than the average receiver, because I've only played one full season. When a situation occurs in a ball game, I want to have already prepared for it mentally. I've been on the ball machine, running, watching film, mostly mental preparation. I'm just trying to be focussed."

"I'm coming to play every game. Whenever something happens, I'm going to be in the mix. I want to have something to do with everything good that happens. I want to prove that I can be a vital part of this offense."

Ryans Fact: One of only five active Tigers who has played over 1,000 career plays entering the 1992 season.

Offensive Guard...6-3...320...*Jr.
Kershaw, SC...Andrew Jackson HS

On Earning Preseason All-America Honors: "Of course it feels good to have your name on somebody's list of All-Americans, but it really doesn't mean anything now. Being an All-American when the season ends is what counts. Once I see my name on a postseason list, then I'll get excited."

On the Role of a Clemson Offensive Lineman: "There isn't much fame and glory in playing offensive line, but I don't think any of us like fame too much anyway. We know what our importance is to the team, and we take pride in that. When we see one of our running backs make a big run, we know that we had a part in it. We might not see our names in the stats, but when Clemson has a big day offensively, we know that we are as much a part of it as anyone."

Seegars Fact: Played 808 snaps from scrimmage last year, more than any other Tiger, offense or defense.

Fall 1992 Depth Chart Position: First-team right offensive guard

Best All-Around Game: Earned a coaches grade of 84 percent while in for 61 plays in the 1991 win over South Carolina, he also had four knockdown blocks in that contest.

On the Tradition of Clemson Outside Linebackers:

"Traditionally, Clemson outside linebackers are like lions - vicious and intelligent. We are hard-hitters, we're aggressive, and we are mentally and physically tough."

On the Duo of Sheppard and Simmons:

"For the last couple of years, we have had some great linebackers and Wayne and I have been a part of that. This year, I don't think anything will be any different. It may even be a little better because we are under pressure to perform since we are the only veterans at our position. If you put the two of us together, and we both perform the way we know we are capable of performing, you may have the top two linebackers in the country in 1992."

On Goals for 1992:

"Graduating is the most important thing to me right now. I am scheduled to graduate in May of 1993. I also want to be a good leader on and off the field and a good role model for the kids who watch and come to our games. This is my last time around, I want it to be the most memorable time. The atmosphere is right. Spring ball was totally different because I wasn't the underclassman. I was a leader and someone who was looked upon to carry on the tradition of Clemson linebackers. I plan to live up to that expectation."

N.C. On Personal Goals for 1992:

"I want to show senior leadership in every way. Off the field, it means instilling in the players a desire to win...doing everything I can to win - not giving up. On the field, it's the same thing. When things look grim, you have to play just as hard as when you first walk out on the field."

On His Personal Playing Style:

"I play football with a lot of emotion and a lot of heart. I want to make the big play. I think I deserve it, because I work so hard to make the big play. Sometimes I do fail, but that's just adversity - you learn to overcome it. I think it's the mentality that I have. You have to look for big plays. To make a simple tackle on the sweep is a good play, but I strive for more. I don't want good, I want incredible. What puts things in perspective is practice. You don't make big plays in practice. You execute and go through the motions and learn to make the little plays. You have to develop the little plays in order to make the big plays. You have to get the fundamentals down first."

On the Duo of Simmons and Sheppard:

"Chivalry at its best - that's how I see us. Shep and I are very disciplined players, we work hard and you don't see us doing anything to hurt the team. We are like knights jousting when we play. There is a lot of honor at stake because we have developed an outstanding tradition at the outside linebacker position. We feel like we have to carry on that tradition of excellence."

Years Lettered: 1990, 1991

Overview: A first-team All-ACC choice by AP/ACSWA who is well on his way to becoming one of the top receivers in Clemson history...won honorable mention All-America honors by Football News...led the ACC in pass receptions by a wide receiver with 4.1 per game during the regular season, he ranked second overall in the conference in that category...tied for second in the league in touchdown receptions with six...had 52 receptions for 829 yards last season to lead the team, the best single season mark for a Tiger since Perry Tuttle had 52-883 in 1981...ranked third on the team in scoring with 36 points from six TDs...ranks in the top five in Clemson history in three single season reception categories, he is tied for third in receptions with 52, fourth in reception yards with 829, and is tied for fifth in touchdown receptions with six...also ranks tied for fourth in receptions per game with 4.33 in 1991...tied for seventh with Ray Williams in Clemson history in career receptions with 86, he ranks seventh in career reception yardage with 1309 yards, and 10th in touchdown receptions with eight...led the Tigers in receiving in nine games in 1991, he has done so 15 times in his career...ended the regular season on a high note, averaging 99 yards per game receiving in those four Tiger wins...had back-to-back 100-yard receiving games versus Maryland (4-120) and South Carolina (5-117), that feat had not been accomplished by a Clemson player since All-American Jerry Butler did it in 1978...those totals gave him two of the top four reception yardage games over the last 10 years for a Clemson player...named the Exxon Supreme Player-of-the-Game and was given the ROTC Take No Prisoners Award versus Maryland, his 120 yards receiving in that ACC title-clinching win were a career high...had a season-high seven receptions in the loss to Georgia, he was named the Exxon Supreme Player-of-the-Game...also had seven grabs versus California in the Citrus Bowl for a gain of 71 yards...scored a pair of touchdowns in the regular season finale with Duke when he had three grabs for 69 yards...averaged over 10 yards per reception in all but one game in 1991, and 20 times in his career...has at least one catch in 17 straight games and 23 of the 24 he has played in his career...one of the strongest wide receivers in Clemson history, his 300-pound power clean mark is best for a Tiger wideout since strength coaches began keeping records in 1985...also has the best vertical jump (39-inch) and flexibility mark (+10-1/2") at his position during that time frame...has clocked in at 4.45 in the 40-yard dash...named a first-round draft pick by Sports Illustrated in their mock draft of eligible players in 1991.

On His Personal Expectations for 1992:

"I don't want to be satisfied with what I did when I was a freshman and a sophomore. If I don't keep getting better, I'm not going to be happy. I think that as a junior, I have an extra advantage because now I have the experience to be looked up to as a team leader.

My goals this year are not for my numbers and statistics to necessarily be better, as long as I know that I am getting better. People are looking for my stats to improve from one year to the next, but that doesn't show what type of player I am. It's the little things that I can improve on that may not show up in the stats that will help us win."

On His Outlook of the 1992 Tiger Offense:

"In 1991, I predicted that our offense would be one of the most high powered offenses in the conference and we lived up to that prediction. In 1992, I think we will be even better. We have a more balanced attack. We have players who have been around and they know what to do and how to do it."

On Being a First-Round Pick in Sports Illustrated's Mock Draft (Nov. 1991):

"First of all, it was a big surprise! It was a thrill to see something like that at the stage I was (only a sophomore). But that's all it was - just an honor. You can't take those things too seriously. I don't think the NFL necessarily drafts people just because a magazine said they were good. I've got to go out and prove it on the field."

games, including three of the first four...had three receptions for 43 yards in the Hall of Fame Bowl...had at least one catch in every game but the Georgia Tech contest and has 21 such games in his career...had nine games in which he had multiple catches...had two TD catches, one a 20-yarder against Duke and one an 18-yarder against N.C. State...had five catches at N.C. State for 63 yards...had his longest reception of the season against Appalachian State, a 34-yarder...played at least 35 plays in 11 of 12 games.....two-time ACC Rookie-of-the-Week, he won the honor against Maryland and N.C. State...named Clemson Offensive Player-of-the-Game against Maryland...started nine of the 12 games, the only three games he did not start, Clemson started two tight ends...only the second native of Clemson to play for the Tigers in the last 13 years...has started 13 games in a row and 17 of the last 18.

In 1989: Red-shirted the 1989 season at wide receiver...the leading receiver for the Tigers in 1990 spring workouts, he had 10 receptions for 161 yards...turned heads in the Orange and White game with five grabs for 100 yards...one was a 40-yarder from DeChane Cameron that set up the White team's winning touchdown on the final drive of that game.

In High School: The Player-of-the-Year in South Carolina according to USA Today...also a member of the Orlando Sentinel's Dixie Dozen and Athlon's Atlantic Coast Blue Chips...Max Emfinger rated him in the top 10 high school inside receivers in the nation...selected all-state by The Greenville News, The (Columbia) State, and the Associated Press...the leading vote-getter on the AP team and the Back-of-the-Year by The Greenville News...SuperPrep Magazine's All-Midatlantic team...an honorable mention All-America choice of Street & Smith's...a member of Joe Terranova's Who's Who...scored South Carolina's only touchdown in the Shrine Bowl...had an outstanding career at nearby Daniel High School...coached there by Dick Singleton...caught 56 passes for 1,168 yards and 12 TDs...also had seven interceptions for 123 return yards and one TD and one fumble recovery...returned 33 punts for 6.1 yard average and 25 kickoffs for 20.7 yard average...majoring in management...born 4/20/71.

State...just the third player in the nation to accomplish that feat in 1991...that game also set the school single game records for kick-scoring points at 17 (he also was 2-2 on PATs), field goal yardage (192), and field goal attempts (6)...three of his five kicks in that contest were for more than 40 yards, which tied another Clemson record...named ACC Rookie-of-the-Week and the ABC/Chevrolet Player-of-the-Game for that contest...led the ACC in field goals at 1.6 per game during the regular season...led the league in field goal attempts at 2.4 per game...named the ACC Rookie-of-the-Week in his first collegiate game, the season opener versus Appalachian State...connected on both of his field goal attempts and was 4-4 on PATs in that Clemson victory...his longest field goal of the season was a 47-yarder versus Georgia Tech, that ended up being the difference in the game in that 9-7 Tiger win...successful on both of his field goal attempts in the win over instate rival South Carolina, he was also 5-5 on extra points for his second-best scoring outing of the season...punted and placekicked during his red-shirt year, he devoted all of his time to placekicking during 1991 spring drills...connected on a 52-yard field goal in his first spring scrimmage...has clocked in at 4.43 in the 40-yard dash, that is the fastest time ever by a Tiger punter or placekicker...has the highest power ratio ever for a Clemson player at his position with a 7.19 mark, that is the fifth-best mark on the 1992 squad...strong athlete who bench presses

On 1992 Compared to 1991:

"I felt there was pressure on me coming in last year. The kickers at Clemson have done so well in the past, it was a little intimidating. The expectations are for Clemson kickers to do well. If I had come in and not succeeded, it would have been a big letdown for the team and for the fans.

"But I think I have even more pressure on me this year because I was successful last year. I was the All-ACC kicker as a freshman, but that was last year. I have to come out even stronger this year and live up to that honor. If I don't do as well, people will think that I either have a bad attitude or that it was just a fluke."

On Mental and Physical Preparation:

"I think the mental battle is the toughest. I know that I have the physical ability to get the job done. I have the strength and the power to do whatever I want to do. I know I can do it, but the mind can overcome ability. If you don't have the mind right, it doesn't matter how much ability you have. I have to have the mental toughness to go along with the physical abilities God has given me."

On What He Needs to Work On:

"When I kick under pressure, I usually do well. The long kicks that are not expected to go through usually do. But the short kicks and the ones that I am supposed to make are the toughest. If I can develop the attitude that they are all just another kick, I'm going to be a much better kicker. That attitude doesn't come easy, it's something I have to work on every day."

On His Faith in God:

"Faith is very important to me. It's kept all the pressure off me. I know God has a plan for me, so it's not the end of the world if I fail in a football game. If the doctor told me tomorrow that I couldn't play football any more, that would be fine because football is not my last resort. My education is important, my faith is important. I know the Lord has something for me to do and it's up to me to find it."

355 pounds, pushed 700 pounds on the leg sled and has a 253 pound power clean mark.

In 1990: Worked out at placekicker during the spring of 1991 after red-shirting the 1990 season, he studied under the tutelage of former Tiger great Chris Gardocki (now with the Chicago Bears)...booted a 52-yard field goal in the Tigers' first scrimmage on March 14...had a fourth-quarter 44-yarder to win the game for the White team in annual spring game in 1991.

In High School: The 1989 Player-of-the-Year in South Carolina according to USA Today and the Associated Press...the Greenville Piedmont and Spartanburg Herald-Journal's Player-of-the-Year...a member of the Orlando Sentinel's Dixie Dozen...The State newspaper chose him as the AAA Back-of-the-Year...a member of The Greenville News and The State's All-State team...selected to play in the 1989 Shrine Bowl, but his team played for the state championship that weekend...led Greer High School to 15-0 record and the AAA state title...a two-way starter in the South Carolina North-South game...averaged 41.6 yards per punt as a senior...kicked 14-18 field goals including three of 50 yards or better...40-41 on extra points...a three-time all-area selection...caught 26 passes for 581 yards and four touchdowns as a senior...also returned two punts for touchdowns...recorded three interceptions in 1989...played for Coach Stuart Holcombe at Greer High School...only Tiger to play in first annual East-West All-American Classic...his mother, Nancy, was a television personality with WSPA in Spartanburg, SC for many years...majoring in marketing...born 3-23-72.

My most embarrassing moment was when: I fell asleep at the wheel and wrecked my car.

My favorite thing to pretend as a child was: to talk like the commercials on TV after "The Guiding Light" went off.

My best moment playing football at Clemson was: when I kicked five field goals against N.C. State in the Valley.

The most unusual thing about me is: I find it hard to read and spell but find a way to move on.

What makes (or can make) me a good football player is: Practice, Practice, and more Practice.

What makes (or can make) Clemson a good football team is: All for one and one for all.

Player on the team I think will be a surprise this year: Warren Forney

How do I see myself? As one who works hard and strives to do great things in the future.

How do I want other people to see me? As a person who cares and is concerned about the future and others.

The best thing about me is: I'm myself and love how I am.

The worst thing about me is: I have a hard time saying no.

My ultimate goal in life is: To be a part of something wonderful one day (the NFL).

Before a football game, I: remind myself how much work has gone into getting me where I am. I know I have to show how its paid off.

My advice to young people is: to get your education, be strong in faith, and listen to your parents' advice.

What event changed my life? Football - It shows you that you can't win in life by yourself.

Clemson Kicking Tradition

Nelson Welch followed in some very big footsteps when it came to handling the Clemson placekicking job as a freshman in 1991. Over the last 14 years (1978-91) Clemson field goal kickers have converted field goals at a 71.3 rate. Seven seasons in the last 14 years Clemson has connected on at least 75 percent of its field goals.

But Welch responded with a 19-28 season and a number-four national ranking in field goals per game. He was a first-team All-ACC selection and an honorable mention All-American in addition to making first-team Freshman All-American by Football News. He accomplished all of this despite the fact that the goalposts were narrowed.

Tiger kickers have averaged 87 points per season over the last 14 years. Welch set the freshman scoring record with 88 points last year, breaking a mark formerly held by Chris Gardocki. He also had 19 field goals, the fourth best single season total in Clemson history. His finest moment was against N.C. State when he hit five field goals to set a new Clemson record for a single game. Three of the five were at least 40 yards.

Here is a summary of Clemson place kicking over the last 14 years:

Fall 1992 Depth Chart Position: Reserve tailback. (No specific team listed due to injured status in offseason.)

Overview: Slashing tailback whose status for 1992 is questionable after he underwent knee reconstruction in December of 1991...a freshman All-American in 1990 who was named a second-team All-ACC choice of AP/ACSWA in 1991 even though he missed six of the last seven games of the season with his knee injury...injured his knee in pregame warmups of the N.C. State game (Oct. 26), he missed that game and the next two after undergoing arthroscopic surgery to repair damaged ligaments and cartilage...in for two plays and carried the ball once for a gain of four yards in the Maryland game, he sat out the South Carolina contest and reinjured his knee during practice for the Coca-Cola Bowl in Japan...had knee surgery to repair a torn ACL on December 16 and missed the Citrus Bowl...was still the Tigers number-two rusher in 1991 with 585 yards on 82 carries, his 7.1 yards per carry average was the best among 1991 Tiger running backs, best by a Tiger given a minimum of 50 attempts since 1950, when Billy Hair averaged 7.4 yards per carry...reached 1,000 yards faster than any other player in Clemson history, it took him just 185 carries, two faster than Terry Allen (now with the Minnesota Vikings)...second on the team in total offense on a per game basis at 97.5, that mark would have been one of the best in the ACC if he had played in enough games to qualify...ranked 21st in Clemson history in career rushing yardage after playing only part of two years with 1526 yards....had the best game of his career in the tie with Virginia, the last game he played in before being injured...gained a career-high 185 yards on 20 carries in that contest, one carry was for 56 yards, a career-high...gained 242 yards in all-purpose rushing in the Virginia tie, that was the sixth highest single game figure in Clemson history...led the Tigers in rushing in the first five games of the season, he was not the starter in the season opener with Appalachian State, but gained 108 yards on 14 carries and scored a touchdown...rushed for over 100 yards in four of the five games he played in before suffering the injury, he has rushed for over 100 yards eight times in his two-year career...an honorable mention All-American according to Football News...named the ABC/Chevrolet Player of the Game, the Exxon Supreme Player of the Game, and the state of South Carolina's Offensive Player of the Week versus Georgia Tech, he gained 100 yards on 13 carries to lead all rushers in that Clemson win...explosive runner who leads all 1992 Tiger tailbacks in the leg sled with a 740-pound mark...has clocked in at 4.49 in the 40-yard dash.

On His Goals for 1992:

"I just want to be well enough to get back in the rotation. I just want to establish myself all over again. I want to go out and do my job and not worry about where I am on the depth chart. I have to come out and build on what they do. I will have to be more of a leader, on and off the field. If something goes wrong for somebody else, I should be there to pat him on the back, not to badger him about doing better."

On the Obstacles He Has Faced Since His Injury:

"The hardest thing I had to overcome were the doubts of other people. I haven't really felt frustration, but I've felt very helpless. Its hard to go through the work of rehabilitation when I haven't had the reward of getting to play. But deep down inside, I have known that I could come back. It takes a lot of weight training and getting back in shape."

What makes (or can make) me a good football player is: I listen to the coaches and try to do exactly what they say.

What makes (or can make) Clemson a good football team is: For us to stick together and be a family.

Player on the team I think will be a surprise this year: Marvin Cross

How do I see myself? As a pretty nice guy who needs to gain weight

My craziest ambition is: To move the ticket lady's cart in front of a fire zone and call the towing service.

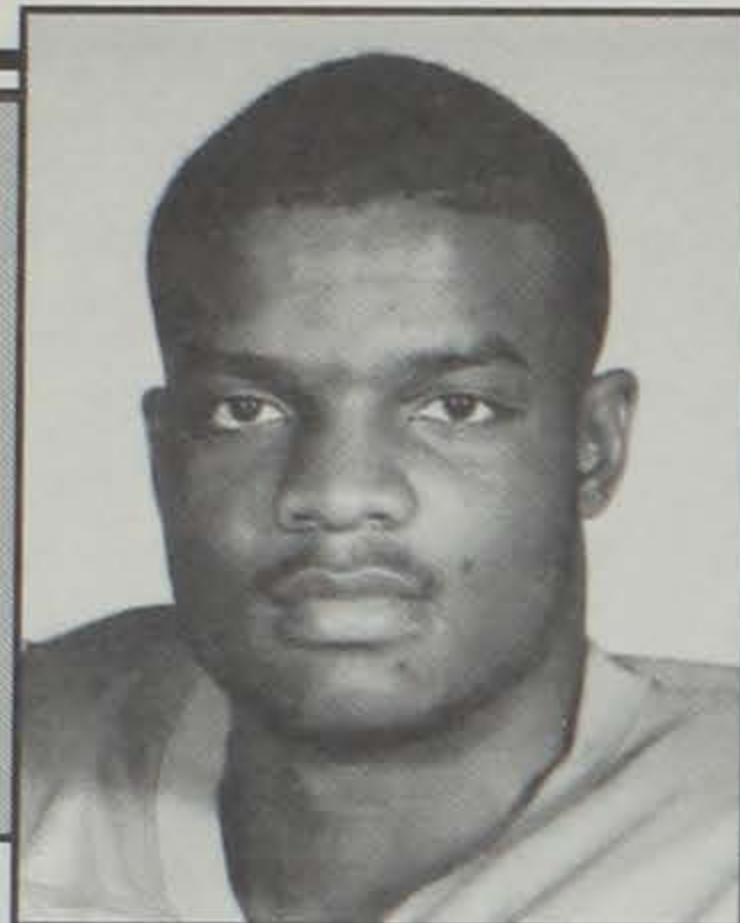

My ultimate goal in life is: To be successful and to keep the Lord first in all my decisions.

Before a football game, I: pray that nobody gets hurt and that I do my best.

My advice to young people is: Find something you do well and strive to achieve it every day by setting goals and staying off drugs.

What event changed my life? When I accepted Jesus Christ as my personal savior.

1992 Spring Review

The Tigers began 1992 spring drills on March 5, practicing two weeks before taking a week off for spring break. After the break, Ken Hatfield's team practiced two more weeks until drills culminated with the annual Orange & White Game on April 4.

The spring game turned out to be one of the most exciting in recent years, as the two squads combined for 43 points and over 550 yards in total offense. The score was tight heading into the final quarter, as the Orange team held a slim 13-7 lead, but the Orange took control in the final period, scoring 17 points to put the final score at 30-13.

Ken Hatfield watched his team from the press box, while honorary coaches "guided" the squads from the sidelines. D.B. Wilson, a South Carolina State Trooper, who has been one of the Tigers' game escorts for many years, served as the head coach of the Orange team, while Woody White, the Clemson beat-writer from The Greenville News, was the coach of the White squad.

Clemson punters Nelson Welch and Matt Bullman saw plenty of action in the first quarter, combining for five punts as neither squad was able to put any points on the board. Tailback Greg Hood, the surprise of the spring, got things going offensively for the Orange team with a 40-yard run on the last play of the quarter, but Jeff Sauve was unable to connect on a 29-yard field goal. Sauve, who spent the spring alternating with the Tiger football and baseball squads, left immediately following the spring game to meet the baseball squad in Chapel Hill, NC, where he was the winning pitcher for Clemson the next day (April 6).

On the following possession, red-shirt freshman quarterback Louis Solomon led the White team 80 yards down the field and scored on a one-yard run. Solomon rushed for 36 yards on the drive. The squads exchanged fumbles on the next two possessions, before quarterback Travis Harvey connected with tight end Bobby Forbes for a 23-yard touchdown for the Orange team. The two-point conversion failed and the halftime score stood at 7-6 in favor of the White.

Richard Moncrief, the starting quarterback for the Orange squad, wasted no time in getting his team back into the game, as the Orange advanced 64 yards for a score on the first possession of the half. The drive was highlighted by two tough runs by red-shirt freshman fullback Marrio Grier, and two 12-yard completions to wide receiver Terry Smith before Moncrief sneaked the ball in from the one.

The Orange team scored again to begin the fourth quarter on a 31-yard field goal by Sauve. What was perhaps the most exciting play of the spring happened on the next possession, as red-shirt sophomore linebacker Michael Barber intercepted Solomon at the 31-yardline, and bulldozed his way down the field for a touchdown. Barber went airborne to get into the endzone, diving over a White team player.

The Orange team would add one more touchdown before the fourth quarter ended as Derrick Witherspoon, who had spent the day in the defensive secondary, scooted up the middle for a 27-yard TD from his usual tailback position. Grier contributed 21 hard-earned yards on the drive.

Tailback Rodney Blunt provided the last of the game's six touchdowns for the White squad with a 12-yard touchdown, as Solomon led his team 56 yards and completed three of three passes, including two 12-yard throws to tight end Steve Derriso and a 20-yard completion to Lance Easton.

Hood was the leading rusher in the game with 103 yards on 16 carries. The walk-on from nearby Anderson, SC, saw considerable action during spring workouts due to the injury to Ronald Williams and Derrick Witherspoon's temporary move to defensive back. The diminutive Hood (5-6, 153) averaged close to five yards per carry during spring workouts, gaining 343 yards on 73 attempts in the four spring scrimmages combined, while working out against the first, second and third-team defensive units.

Marrio Grier was another bright spot offensively in the Orange and White contest, as well as the entire spring. Grier pounded out 66 yards on nine carries in the spring game, and was the Tigers' fourth-leading rusher for the four spring scrimmages combined, with 116 yards on 35 carries.

Starting tailback Rodney Blunt carried the ball only six times in the spring game as the Tiger coaches wanted to let less experienced players see action, but Blunt averaged 7.5 yards per carry during spring workouts, gaining 217 yards on 29 carries in the four spring scrimmages.

Junior Richard Moncrief showed that the Clemson offense is in able hands with his performance during his first spring practice as a starter. In the first scrimmage of the spring (March 11), Moncrief completed nine of 11 passes for 115 yards (81.8%). He led the Orange squad to three touchdowns during the spring game. QB Louis Solomon, gained 68 yards in the Orange and White contest on 18 runs, while he was 4-9 in the passing department for a gain of 48 yards.

Defensively, linebacker Tim Jones led the way with 11 tackles in the spring game. Jones, who is listed as a starter heading into prefall drills, led all Tigers in spring scrimmages with 30 tackles, 18 of which were first hits. Michael Barber had eight stops to go along with his interception in the spring game, including six first hits. Seventy-nine percent (15) of his tackles during spring scrimmages were first hits. Defensive tackle Arthur Bussie was also a defensive leader in the Orange and White contest, with eight stops and was the fourth-leading tackler for the spring, with 24 stops, four tackles for loss and two sacks. Eighty-three percent of Bussie's tackles during spring practice were first hits.

Red-shirt freshman Clayton Casteel also had a fine spring at the middle guard position. Casteel had five stops in the spring game, but tied with veteran Kenzil Jackson for second in tackles among Greg Hood was the top rusher in the 1992 Spring game.

Tiger defenders for the four spring scrimmages combined with 25 stops. Twenty-two of Casteel's tackles, or 88 percent, were first hits.

Tight end Ty Gibson was the leading receiver during spring drills with seven grabs for 64 yards in spring scrimmages.

Injured Tigers Sit Out: Several returning lettermen missed spring drills due to injuries. Tailback Ronald Williams, the 1990 ACC Rookie-of-the-Year and a second-team all-conference performer in 1991 missed all of spring ball after undergoing knee reconstruction for a torn ACL.

Fullback Paul Caputo, an outstanding blocker who started four games in 1991, also missed spring workouts after he was struck by a motorist while crossing the street as a pedestrian in February. Caputo underwent knee surgery following the accident and his status for fall is also uncertain and will be evaluated later in the semester.

Mike Samnik, a reserve tight end who caught two passes for 40 yards in 1991, did not practice during the spring as he has given up football due to a recurring neck problem.

Junior college transfer Andre Hewitt, who entered Clemson in January, also missed spring drills as he recuperated from knee surgery.

Several other returning lettermen missed some or all of spring football practice for reasons other than injury. Starting wide receiver Larry Ryans and reserve defensive back James Trapp spent the spring competing with the Clemson track squad. Both were named indoor track All-Americans, as Ryans finished fifth at the NCAA meet in the 55 meter high hurdles and Trapp won the national championship in the 200 meters. Trapp won three All-America honors outdoors in 1992, in the 100 and 200 meters and as a member of the 4x100 meter relay.

Jeff Sauve, who kicked off for the Tigers in 1991, alternated his talents between the gridiron and the baseball diamond last spring, as he also served as a relief pitcher for Bill Wilhelm's squad.

The Atlantic Coast Conference

*Three members of the ACC rank among the top seven schools in the history of college football in bowl game winning percentage (given a minimum of 15 bowl games). Georgia Tech is first with a 17-8 record, for 68 percent, while Clemson is sixth at 11-7, a 61.1 percent mark. Florida State, who will compete for the ACC crown for the first time in 1992, is seventh with an 11-7-2 record, good enough for 60 percent.

*ACC football attracted a league record 2,519,127 fans to its games last season. Over a 55-game schedule of home contests, that is an average of 45,802 per game. The previous records of 2,068,558 total fans and an average of 43,095, were established in 1985.

*Six of the nine ACC schools have been listed in various top 35 rankings of preseason polls for the 1992 season.

*The 1991 season marked the second straight year that the ACC placed five teams in postseason bowls. The ACC has had 14 bowl invitations over the last three seasons, a record for any three-year stretch in league history.

*Only four coaches in the nation have taken a team to a postseason bowl game each of the last 10 years. Two of them, Ken Hatfield of Clemson and Bobby Bowden of Florida State, coach in the ACC.

*The ACC is second only to the Pac 10 in terms of bowl game winning percentage over the years. The ACC members have a combined mark of 64-56-5 for a .532 figure, while the Pac 10 is 73-58-6 for a .555 mark.

*Last year, 27 different ACC players made honorable mention All-American or better. This includes five players from Clemson, Rob Bodine, Ed McDaniel, Jeb Flesch, Levon Kirkland and Nelson Welch.

*Nine ACC players were chosen by at least one first-team All-America squad. Four of the nine players were from Clemson. This was the most first-team All-America players from Clemson in the school's history.

*Clemson and Florida State both rank among the top three in the nation in winning percentage over the last five years. Since 1987, Florida State is second only to Miami, while Clemson is third.

*The ACC had the second best non-conference winning percentage in the nation last year with a 15-9-1 record, a 62 percent mark. In 1990 the ACC ranked first, winning 25 of 32 games.

*Six of the nine ACC teams had winning records in 1991, tying a league mark for a single season.

*The ACC could be termed a coach's league. Five of the nine league coaches have 100 career wins or more entering the 1992 season. Those five coaches are Bobby Bowden of Florida State (206), Bill Dooley of Wake Forest (154), George Welsh of Virginia (121), Dick Sheridan of N.C. State (112) and Ken Hatfield of Clemson (100).

*Bowden, Sheridan and Hatfield are all among the top 15 winningest active coaches on a percentage basis. The ACC and the SEC are the only two conferences with three coaches ranked among the top 15 winningest active coaches.

*The ACC was the only conference in the nation that featured five different teams that won at least eight games in 1991. Florida State, Clemson, N.C. State, Georgia Tech and Virginia all hit the eight-win mark. The ACC was also the only conference in which at least half of its team's won at least eight games. The Pac-10 and the SEC each had four teams with at least eight wins.

*In 1991, the ACC had five teams ranked in the top 35 in the nation in total defense, more teams in the top 35 than any other conference in the nation. Clemson led the way with a fourth-place finish and a figure of 263.2 yards per game. The league also had five members among the top 30 teams in the nation in scoring defense.

*The ACC also has a reputation for outstanding field goal kickers. In 1991, six of the top 44 field goal kickers in the country were from the ACC. Clemson's Nelson Welch led the way with an average of 1.55 per game, good enough for fourth in the nation. Only five kickers booted five field goals in a game last year across the country. Two of the five, Clemson's Nelson Welch, and Mike Green of Wake Forest, played in the ACC.

*The ACC was also the top conference in the nation for nationally ranked punt returners in 1991. Seven of the top 45 punt returners in the nation were from the ACC. Clemson's Darnell Stephens led the conference and finished eighth in the nation.

Clemson and Georgia Tech were two of five ACC schools with at least eight wins in 1991.

Clemson 34, Appalachian St. 0

At Clemson Memorial Stadium

September 7, 1991

Weather: 80 degrees and sunny

Time: 2:23

Clemson Coach Ken Hatfield talked about passing more often in the preseason in 1991 than in previous years. He lived up to the billing on the first play of the season, as DeChane Cameron hit Larry Ryans for a 38-yard pass completion. That drive stalled, but Clemson went on to score on each of its next four possessions in a 34-0 Tiger victory.

Clemson passed for 134 yards, but for the course of the game it was Clemson's dominance of the line of scrimmage that made the difference. The Tigers outgained Appalachian State 275-2 in terms of rushing yardage and had a 409-84 advantage in total offense for the game. The rushing yardage allowed by the Tiger defense ranked as the eighth best in Clemson history.

Ronald Williams led the Clemson rushing attack with 108 yards in only 14 attempts, while Cameron hit 7-11 passes for 100 yards while playing just two and a half quarters. Williams went over the 1,000-yard rushing mark in just the 12th game of his career. He did it on his 185th carry, the fastest any back in Clemson history has reached the 1,000-mark.

The Clemson defense posted the shutout, holding Appalachian State to less than two yards per play. Rob Bodine led the way with 13 tackles, including three behind the line of scrimmage, while Brentson Buckner and Wayne Simmons each had 1.5 sacks.

The hard hitting also caused three Mountaineer fumbles, as Clemson posted its second consecutive shutout dating back to last season. The 84 yards in total offense by Appalachian State ranked as the fewest yards allowed by an ACC team all season.

Tiger punter Chuck Lynch got his season off to a fine start with three punts inside the 20 and he allowed just one punt return for one yard. Kelvin Hankins and Les Hall had the best days of their career on the offensive line. Hankins played 67 snaps and had a 78 percent grade with a career high seven knockdowns, while Hall had a 83 percent grade and five knockdowns for 45 snaps.

Clemson's defense was at it again in game number-two, holding Temple to 104 yards in total offense, including just 15 yards passing in 12 attempts. Ed McDaniel, Rob Bodine, Brentson Buckner and Wayne Simmons combined for 10 tackles behind the line of scrimmage and three sacks as the Tigers moved to the top spot in the nation in total defense.

It was the seventh straight victory for Ken Hatfield the week after an open date. It was Clemson's 10th straight win in Death Valley, tying a Tiger record for consecutive victories in Death Valley.

Temple actually took the lead in the first period when Trent Thompson hit tight end Bryant Garvin for a one-yard touchdown pass. Temple had a 7-0 lead at the end of the first period, and gained 81 yards total offense and five first downs. But, the Owls would get just 23 yards in total offense and one first down over the final three periods.

Larry Ryans tied the count at seven with a 25-yard score on an end-around play in the second period, then the Tigers took the lead for good when DeChane Cameron hit Dwayne Bryant with a six-yard scoring pass near the middle of the second quarter for a 14-7 halftime lead. It was the first touchdown reception of Bryant's career.

Clemson scored 23 points after intermission to break the game open. Cameron hit Terry Smith for a 25-yard score in the third period to highlight the second half play. Ronald Williams led all Clemson running backs with 86 yards in 14 attempts, while Smith finished the game with four catches for 60 yards.

Ed McDaniel had 11 tackles to lead the Clemson defensive unit, while Bodine contributed eight and three more tackles behind the line of scrimmage. The victory extended Clemson's victory streak in Death Valley to 10 games.

Clemson 9, Georgia Tech 7

September 28, 1991

Weather: 73 degrees and Sunny

Time: 3:15 (ABC)

Number-seven Clemson faced number-19 Georgia Tech in only the sixth battle of Top 20 teams in Death Valley's 50-year history. It proved to be a game for the ages as both defenses dominated throughout, and the contest came down to the final seconds in Clemson's 9-7 victory. The win ended a two-game losing streak for the Tigers against Georgia Tech, the only team to defeat Clemson at home in the last 15 games. It was Clemson's 11th straight win at home, setting a new record for consecutive wins in Death Valley.

Georgia Tech took the lead in the first period as Shawn Jones scored on a 10-yard run to culminate an 84-yard drive, the second longest drive of the season against Clemson's number-four ranked defense. The key play of the drive was a 59-yard run by freshman Jimmy Lincoln, the longest run against the Tigers in two seasons. Lincoln finished the day with 94 yards rushing, the most against Clemson over the last 36 games. That one run represented 10 percent of all the rushing yardage allowed by Clemson in 1991.

Clemson came back to make it 7-3 on a 47-yard field goal by freshman Nelson Welch on the last play of the first half. It was his longest field goal of the season and it gave Clemson momentum going into the locker room.

The two teams battled through a scoreless third period. Clemson finally took the lead on its last drive of the game. The Tigers took over with 4:30 left in the game on the Georgia Tech 46 after a 23-yard punt return by Robert O'Neal. Six plays later Ronald Williams scored from two yards out with 2:06 left. Williams gained all 46 yards on the ground on Clemson's final drive. Clemson missed the conversion on Williams's touchdown due to a bad snap to account for the two-point difference.

Georgia Tech came back with a drive of its own behind Jones. They drove to the Clemson 27, but on a fourth-down play with eight seconds left, Scott Sisson's 44-yard attempt at the game winning field goal was wide right and Clemson had a 9-7 victory.

Georgia Tech outgained the Tigers 282-277 in terms of total offense, a fitting statistic considering Clemson had outgained Georgia Tech by 125 yards in the preceeding season in a Georgia Tech triumph in Atlanta.

Georgia 27, Clemson 12

At Sanford Stadium
October 5, 1991
Weather: Partly Cloudy and 65 degrees Time: 3:32 (ESPN)

Clemson traveled to Athens, GA ranked fifth in the nation in USA Today and sixth by the Associated Press. By 11:00 PM on October 5 the Tigers knew they would drop a considerable distance because the Bulldogs of Georgia soundly beat the Tigers by 15 points.

Athens, GA has never been a place that has seen a lot of success on the part of the Tigers. Clemson has won in Athens only twice since 1915. Clemson had beaten the Bulldogs in Clemson the previous year, 34-3.

Georgia freshman quarterback Eric Zeier threw for 249 yards and was not intercepted in 33 attempts in leading the Bulldogs, who broke an eight-game Clemson winning streak overall and a three-game winning streak in the series.

The turning point in the game took place in the final minute of the first half. Clemson had just scored to tie the count at three. With Georgia trying to run out the clock, Bulldog running back Garrison Hearst fumbled and the Tigers recovered. But the play was nullified when a face mask call, 20 yards away from the play, was whistled against Clemson.

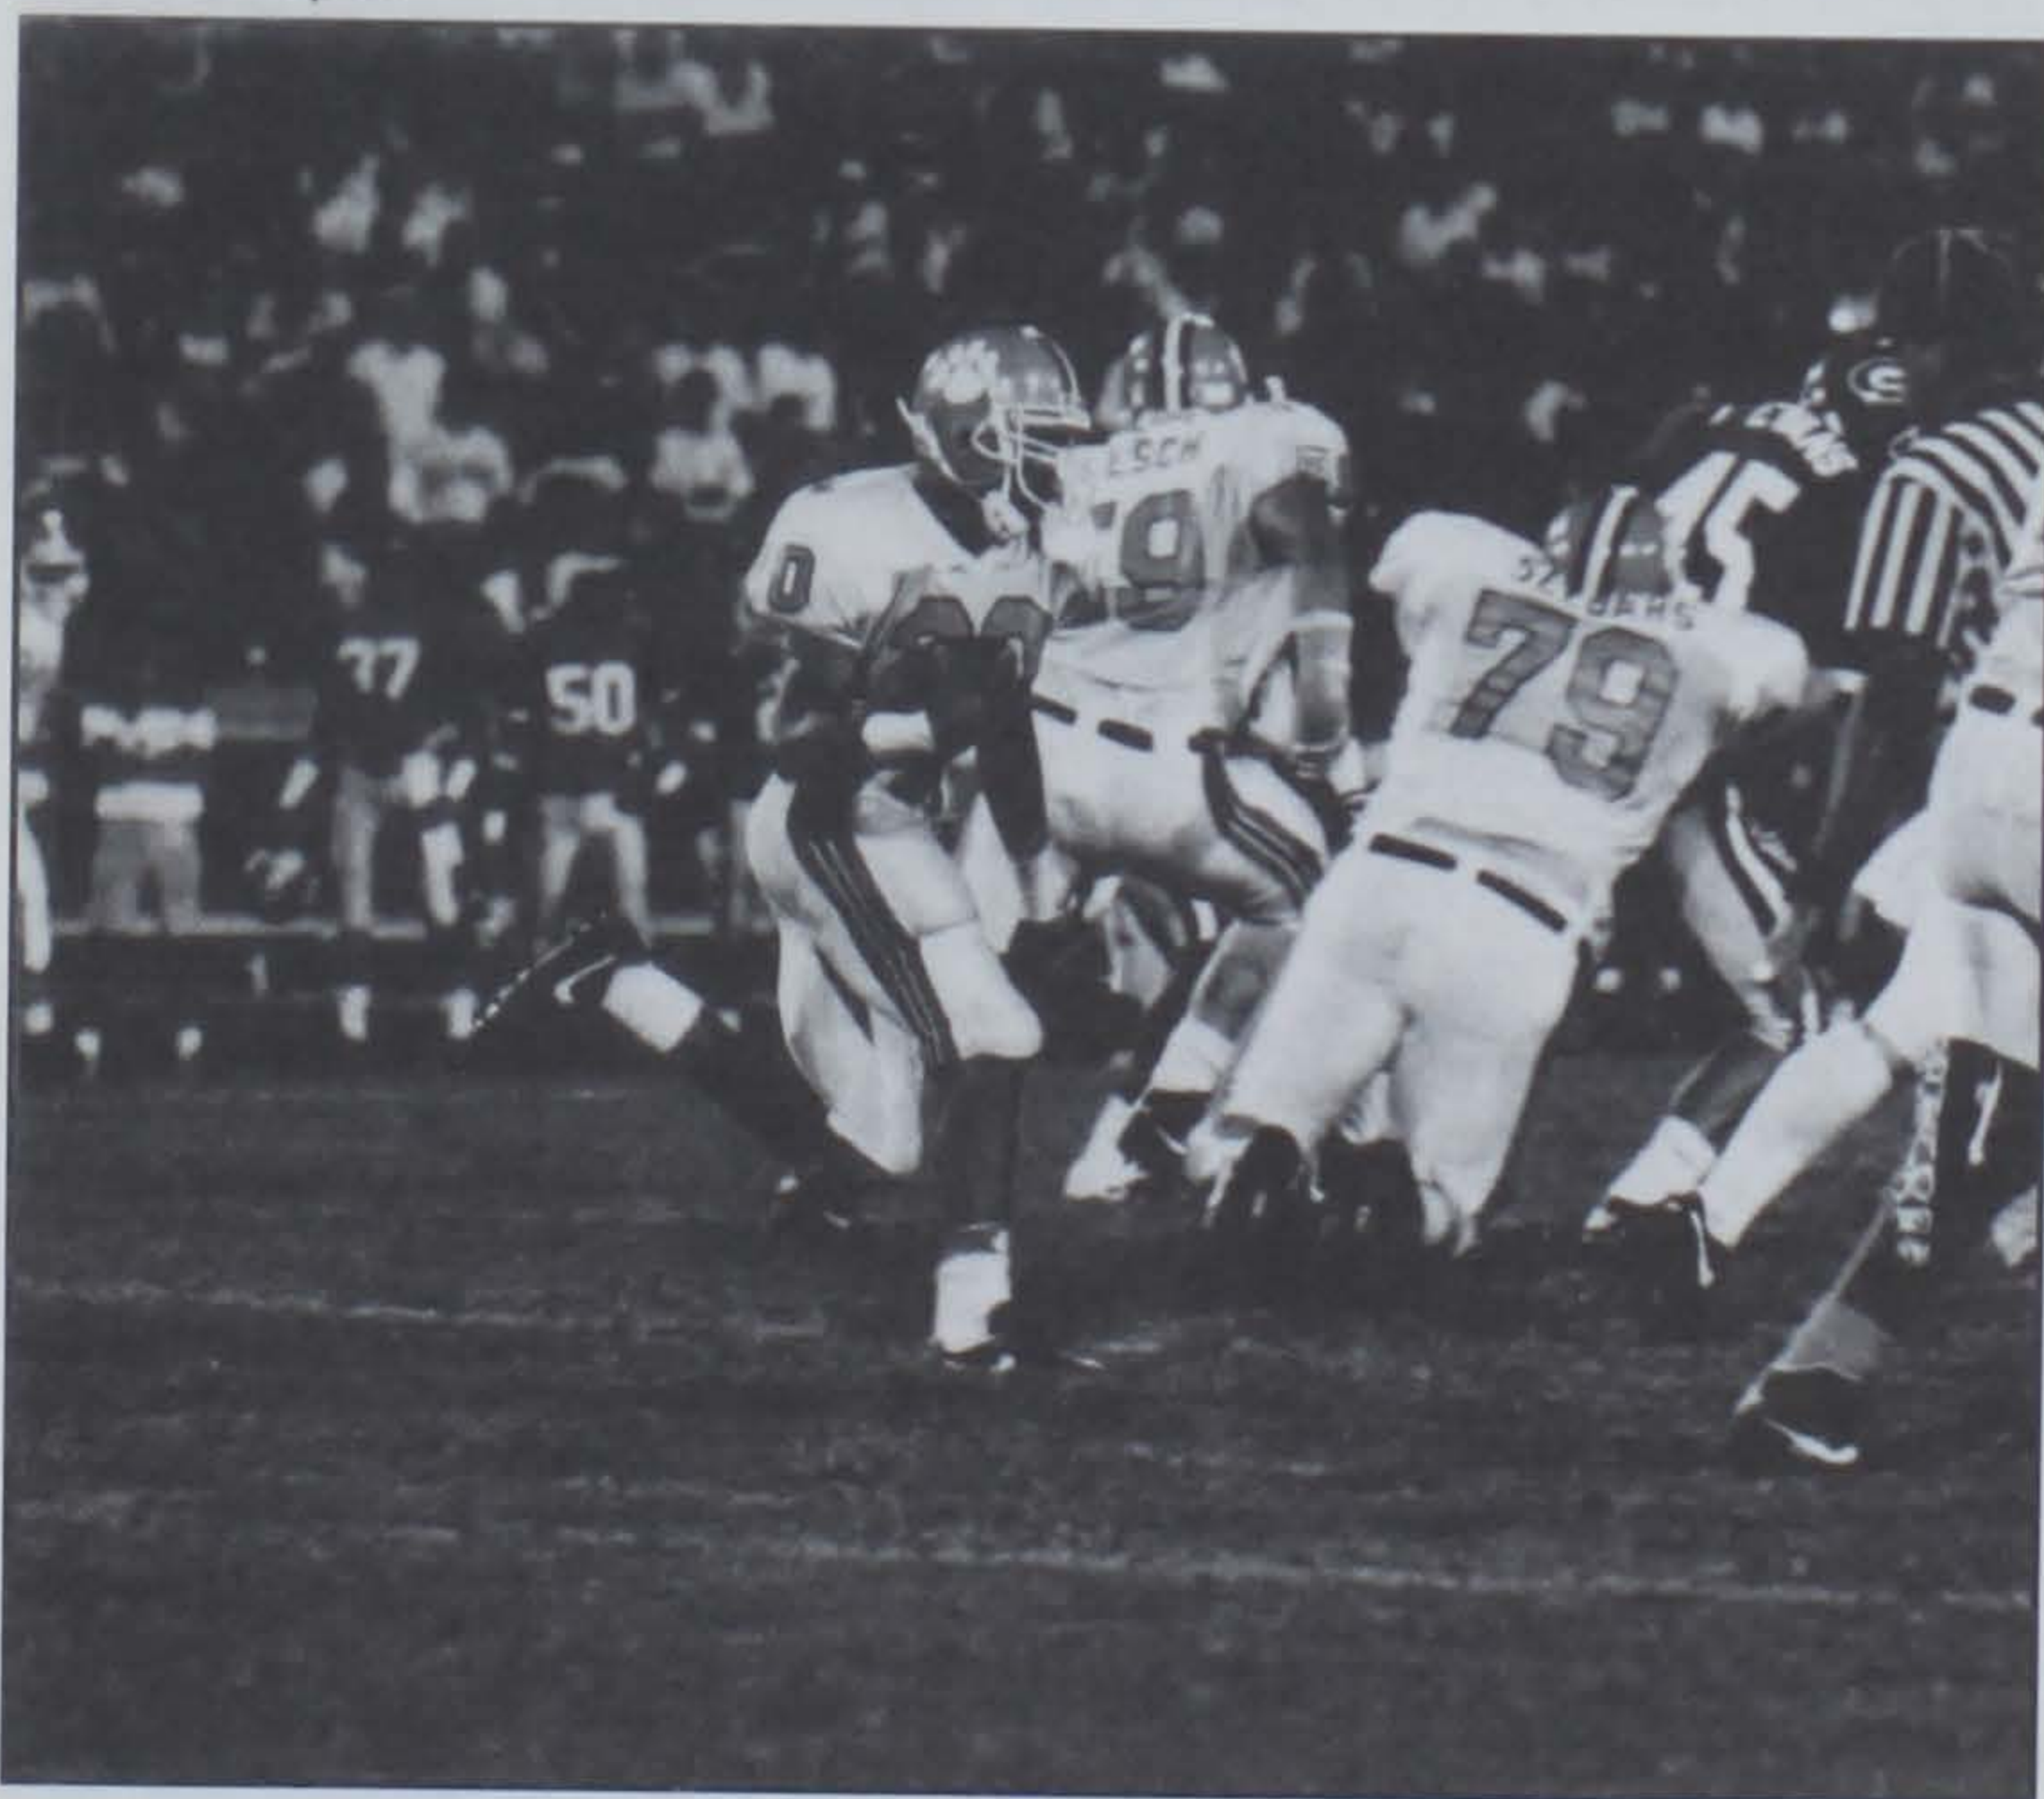

Now at the Georgia 43, the Bulldogs decided to throw a bomb. Zeier hit Arthur Marshall for 59 yards to the Tiger eight. On the next play the first-year freshman connected with Andre Hastings for a touchdown and a 10-3 halftime lead.

Clemson could not overcome this momentum swing and the Bulldogs went on to victory. Ronald Williams led Clemson rushers with 100 yards in 13 attempts, while DeChane Cameron connected on 19-38 passes for 246 yards.

Larry Ryans had the finest game of his career with 191 yards in all-purpose running, including an 18-yard scoring pass in the fourth period. The Tigers actually outgained the Bulldogs, 395-360, but still lost the game.

Terry Smith had seven catches for 64 yards at Georgia, giving him 52 receptions for just 16 games in his career. He reached the 50-catch mark the second fastest in Clemson history with his performance against Georgia.

Kenzil Jackson, a native of Georgia, also had the best game of his career in Athens. The native of LaGrange, GA, had a career high 10 tackles, including three tackles behind the line of scrimmage in 78 snaps.

Larry Ryans gained 191 yards in all-purpose running at Georgia.

Clemson 20, Virginia 20

At Clemson Memorial Stadium

October 12, 1991

Weather: Sunny and 73 degrees Time: 3:21 (ABC-TV)

While Clemson did not defeat the Virginia Cavaliers on October 12 in Death Valley, it was the game that put the Tigers on the right path to a conference title in 1991. The Tigers scored 10 points in the final four minutes to tie the Cavaliers, 20-20. As the season went on, Virginia continued to improve, and it was evident this was a battle between the ACC's two best teams at season's end.

Virginia scored on its first possession, something four teams did against the Tigers in 1991. Matt Blundin hit Aaron Mundy with a 15-yard scoring pass to give the Cavs a 7-0 lead. Blundin continued to lead the Cavs on scoring marches and Virginia had a 20-10 lead late in the game.

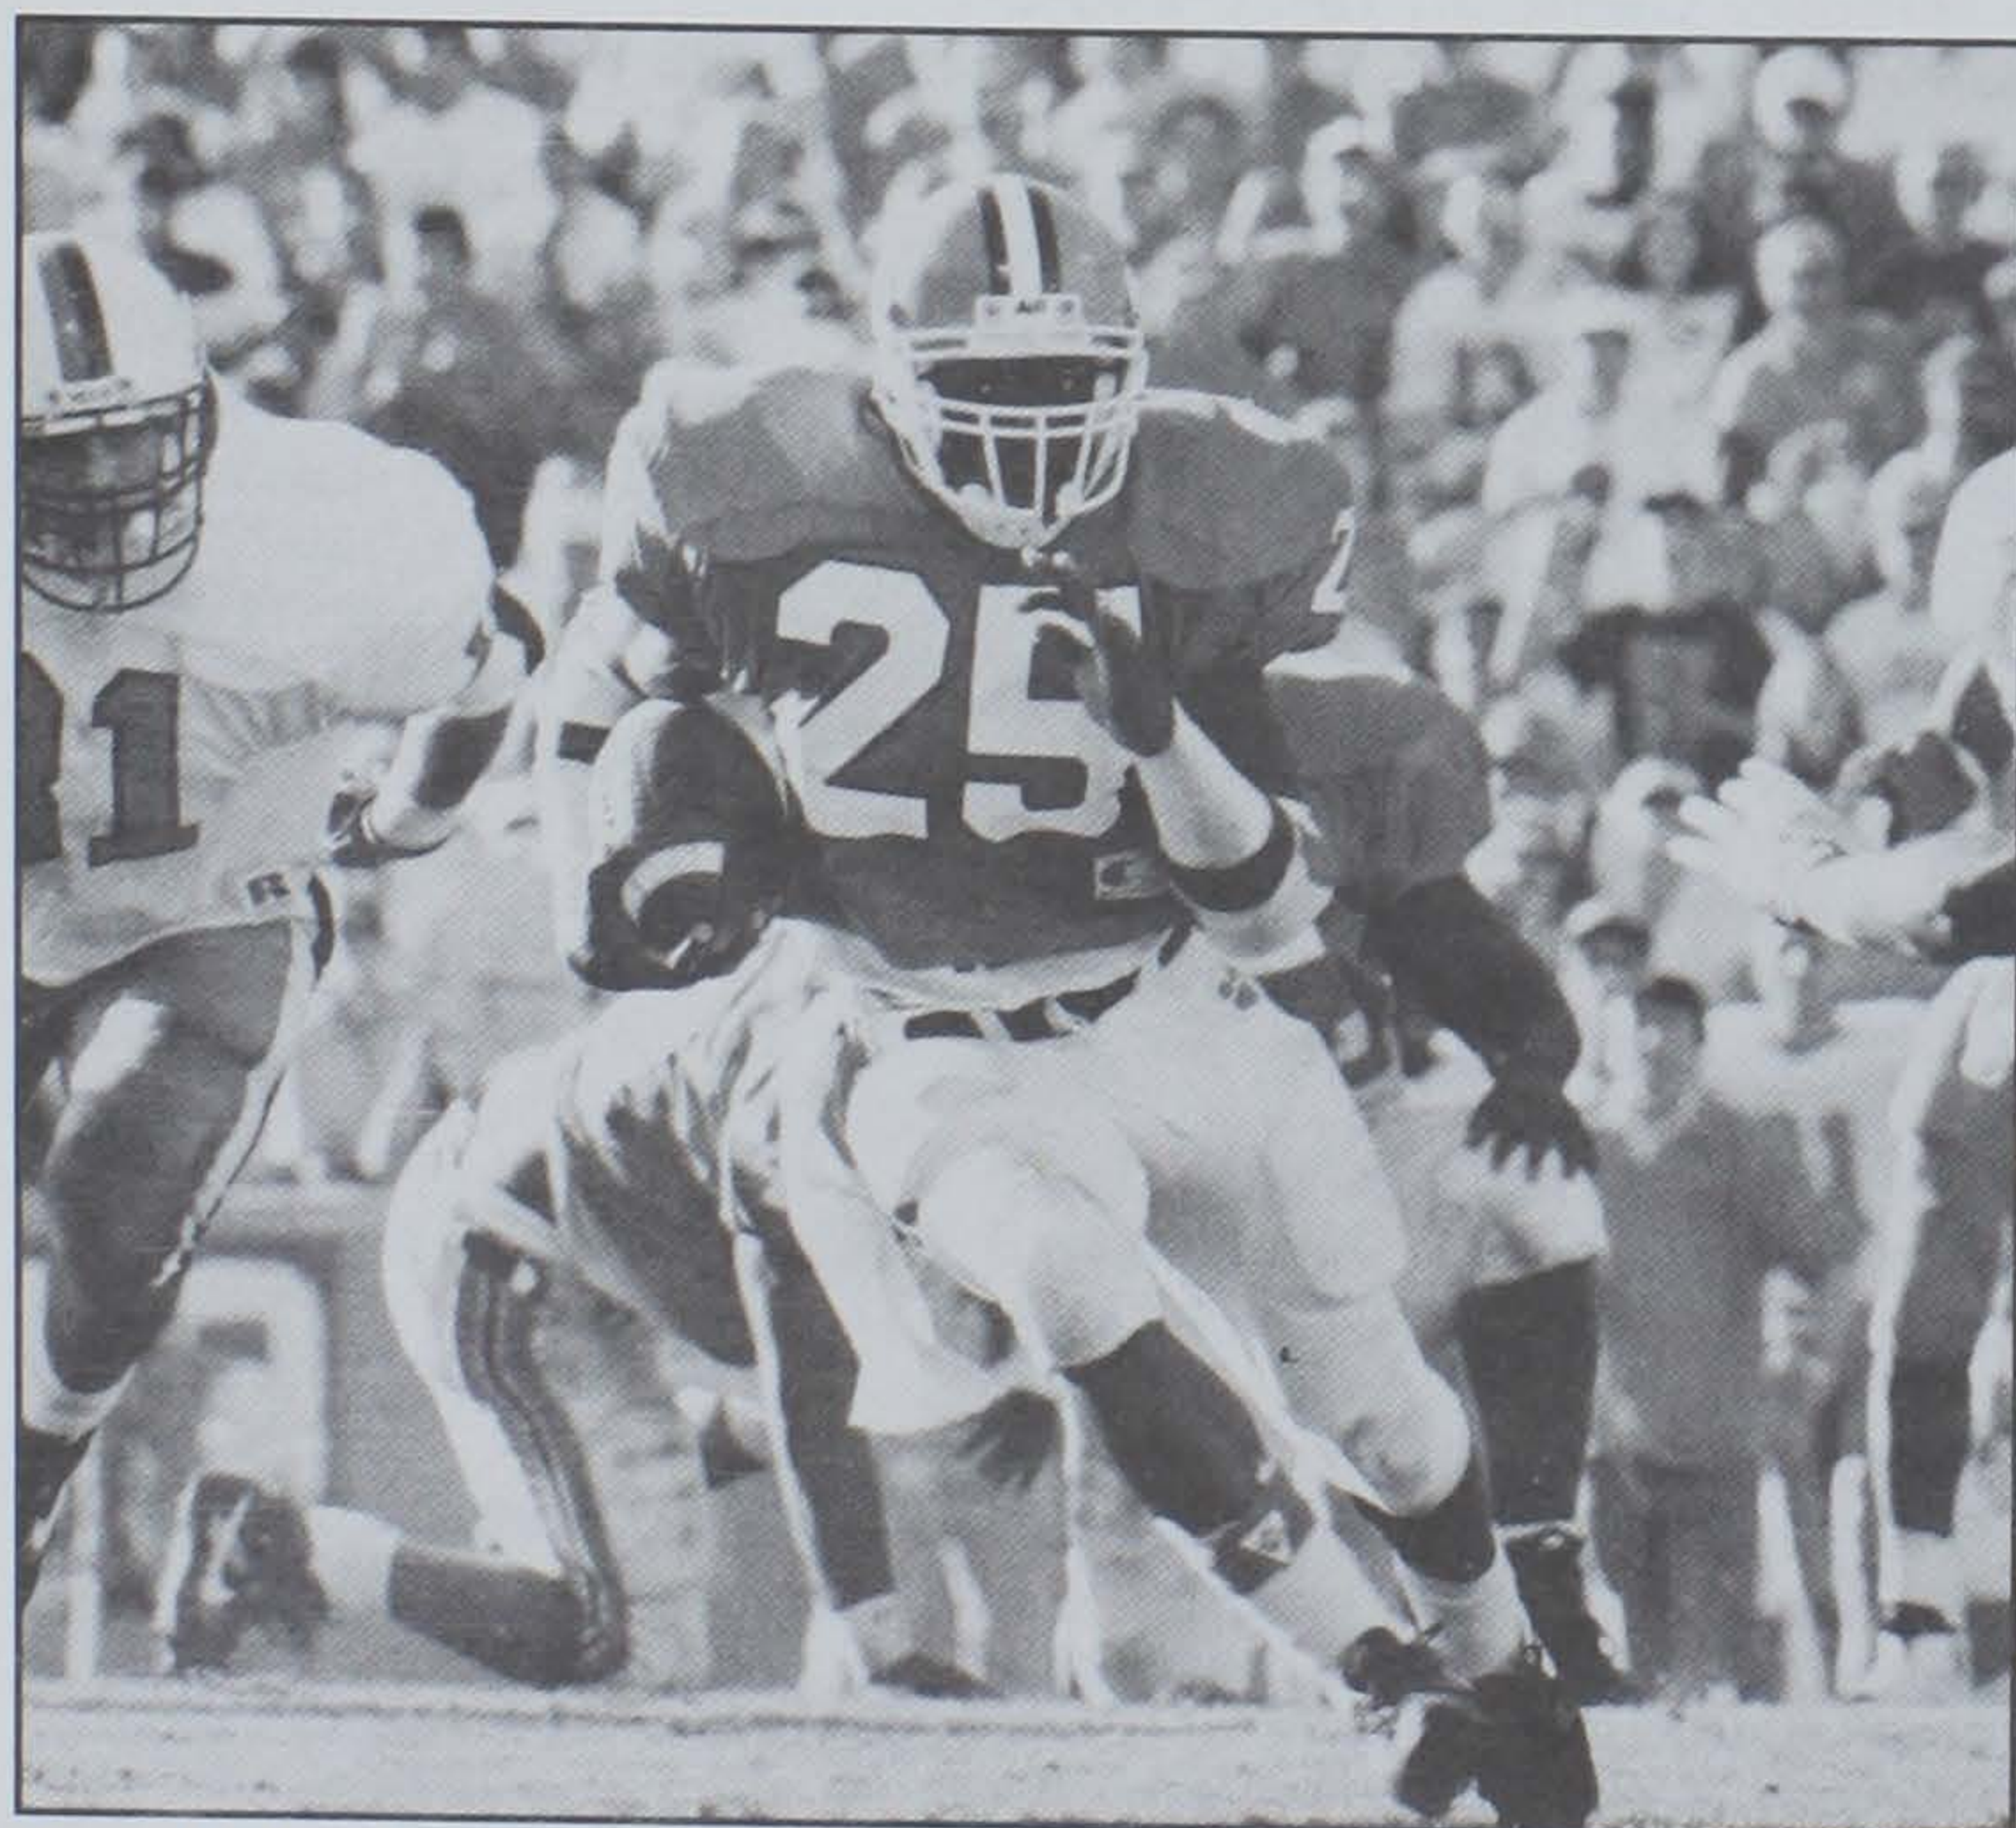

But Clemson came back behind fullback Rudy Harris, who had 102 yards rushing on the day. His score from one-yard out with 3:22 left brought Clemson to within three. The Cavs tried to run out the clock and gain their second straight victory over the Tigers.

On a third-and-two from the Virginia 45, Terry Kirby was hit by Clemson's Robert O'Neal at the Virginia 48, a spot that was already a Cav first down. Clemson's Kenzil Jackson recovered with 2:49 left and Clemson still had hope.

Clemson drove to the Virginia 27 and Nelson Welch hit the clutch 44-yard field goal with 46 seconds left to tie the score. The Cavs drove deep into Clemson territory, but with one second left Michael Husted lined up for a 34-yard field goal. Wayne Simmons got a hand on the ball and the kick was wide, allowing Clemson to gain the tie.

Ronald Williams had 185 yards rushing and 242 yards in all-purpose running to lead the Tigers. That was a career high for Williams in both categories and the sixth highest all-purpose running game in Clemson history. The Tigers picked up 511 yards in total offense for the game, the most by a Hatfield coached team and the most ever by a Clemson team in a non-victory.

Clemson had four ACC Player-of-the-Week selections for the Virginia game. Tyrone Gibson was the offensive lineman of the week with 12 knockdown blocks, while Chester McGlockton was the defensive Lineman-of-the-Week with 10 tackles. Darnell Stephens was the ACC Rookie of the Week, while Robert O'Neal was the defensive Back-of-the-Week.

Ronald Williams gained 242 yards in all-purpose running against Virginia, the sixth best single game figure in Clemson history.

Nelson Welch booted five field goals to tie a Clemson single game record and lead Clemson to a pivotal victory over previously undefeated and 12th-ranked N.C. State. The Tigers warmed up in orange jerseys, then changed into purple jerseys before they appeared at the top of the hill. It was the first time since 1939 that Clemson had worn purple jerseys.

Clemson had a 23-7 lead at halftime, posting its best all-around half of the year with 297 yards total offense. The Tigers did that without the services of Ronald Williams, who suffered a knee injury in pregame warmups.

DeChane Cameron led the Tigers with 143 yards passing and 79 yards rushing, pacing the team in both categories. Cameron was a most decorated player after this game. He was named the ACC Player of the Week by Exxon, an award that goes to just one player each week. He was also the State of South Carolina Offensive Player of the Week and was the ACC Offensive Back of the Week. Rodney Blunt added 74 yards rushing as Williams's replacement.

Welch booted field goals of 31, 42, 32, 46 and 41 to break the Clemson record. He became the second Clemson player in history to boot three field goals of at least 40 yards in the same game and he also set a Clemson record for yardage on made field goals. He became just the third player in the NCAA to kick five field goals in a game with the more narrow goalposts used in 1991.

Rob Bodine, who again was chosen ACC Defensive Lineman of the Week, led the Tigers with 10 tackles, including three behind the line of scrimmage and two sacks. Levon Kirkland also had eight stops and a sack, including four tackles in the fourth quarter. He was a prime reason N.C. State gained just 10 yards rushing for the entire game.

Clemson 28, Wake Forest 10

At Clemson Memorial Stadium

November 2, 1991

Weather: 57 degrees and partly sunny

Time: 2:35

After a month of "big games", Clemson kept the intensity going for the first half of the contest with Wake Forest. The Tigers posted 28 points in the first half behind an offense that accumulated 265 first-half yards, and went on to a 28-10 victory over Wake Forest, Clemson's 15th consecutive victory over the Demon Deacons.

Rodney Blunt rushed for what was then a career high 103 yards and a pair of touchdowns, while DeChane Cameron connected on 8-14 passes for 93 yards. Blunt also caught four passes for 29 yards in his finest all-around game to date. All-American guard Jeb Flesch keyed the offensive line with an 85 percent grade and 12 knockdown blocks as Clemson held the ball for 38:28 compared to just 21:22 for the Deacons.

Levon Kirkland had his best game of the year with eight tackles, three stops behind the line of scrimmage, a sack and a caused fumble in only 24 plays of action. Robert O'Neal was also outstanding on the Clemson defense with two interceptions and five tackles. The interceptions moved O'Neal into a tie for fifth place in Clemson history in interceptions.

The victory was the first of five wins in November for the Tigers. It marked just the third time in Clemson history that the Tigers won five games in one month, the first time they have ever done it in November.

Doug Bolin, a red-shirt senior, had the game of his career with 57 yards on just 11 carries. The oldest player on the Clemson roster also scored a touchdown, the first of his career.

Clemson 21, North Carolina 6

At Chapel Hill, NC

November 9, 1991

Weather: 38 degrees and rainy

Time: 2:55 (ESPN)

Clemson used a bone-crushing defense and the all-around play of quarterback DeChane Cameron in registering a 15-point win over North Carolina on a cold, rainy night in Chapel Hill.

Cameron picked up 117 yards rushing, most by a Clemson quarterback since 1976 and the first 100-yard day by a Clemson quarterback in 10 years. It was Cameron who got Clemson off to a good start with a 41-yard touchdown run in the first half. The victory moved Cameron's record as the Clemson starting quarterback to 16-3-1. The 82.5 percent mark moved him to first in Clemson history in winning percentage.

The Tar Heels closed the gap to 7-6 in the third period, but the Tigers scored a pair of TDs in the fourth period to seal the victory as Rudy Harris and Cameron crossed the goalline in the fourth period. Terry Smith caught all five of Cameron's completions on this windy evening, including a 48-yarder on Clemson's final touchdown drive that broke the game open.

North Carolina never scored a touchdown against the Tiger defense, the third straight year the Tar Heels have not crossed the Clemson goal line. Ed McDaniel led all Clemson tacklers with a career high 15 stops. It gave McDaniel 348 tackles for his career, fourth best in Clemson history.

Rob Bodine, Brentson Buckner, Chuck O'Brien, David Davis and Chester McGlockton had two tackles for loss apiece for the Tigers, who held the Tar Heels to just 181 yards in total offense and just nine first downs.

North Carolina	0	0	6	0	—	6

Cameron gained 207 yards in total offense in a driving rainstorm at North Carolina. He had 117 yards rushing, most by a Tiger quarterback in 15 years.

At Clemson Memorial Stadium

Weather: Sunny and 57 Degrees Time: 3:21 (ACC TV)

The Tigers won their 13th ACC championship with a dominating 40-7 victory over Maryland on November 16. It was the first ACC title for Clemson since 1988 and it gave Clemson's 22 seniors 37 total victories over the last four years, tied for fourth best in ACC history.

Clemson had a perfectly balanced offense with 230 yards rushing and 230 yards passing. DeChane Cameron threw for 196 yards in the first half and finished the game with 213, the second highest total of his career.

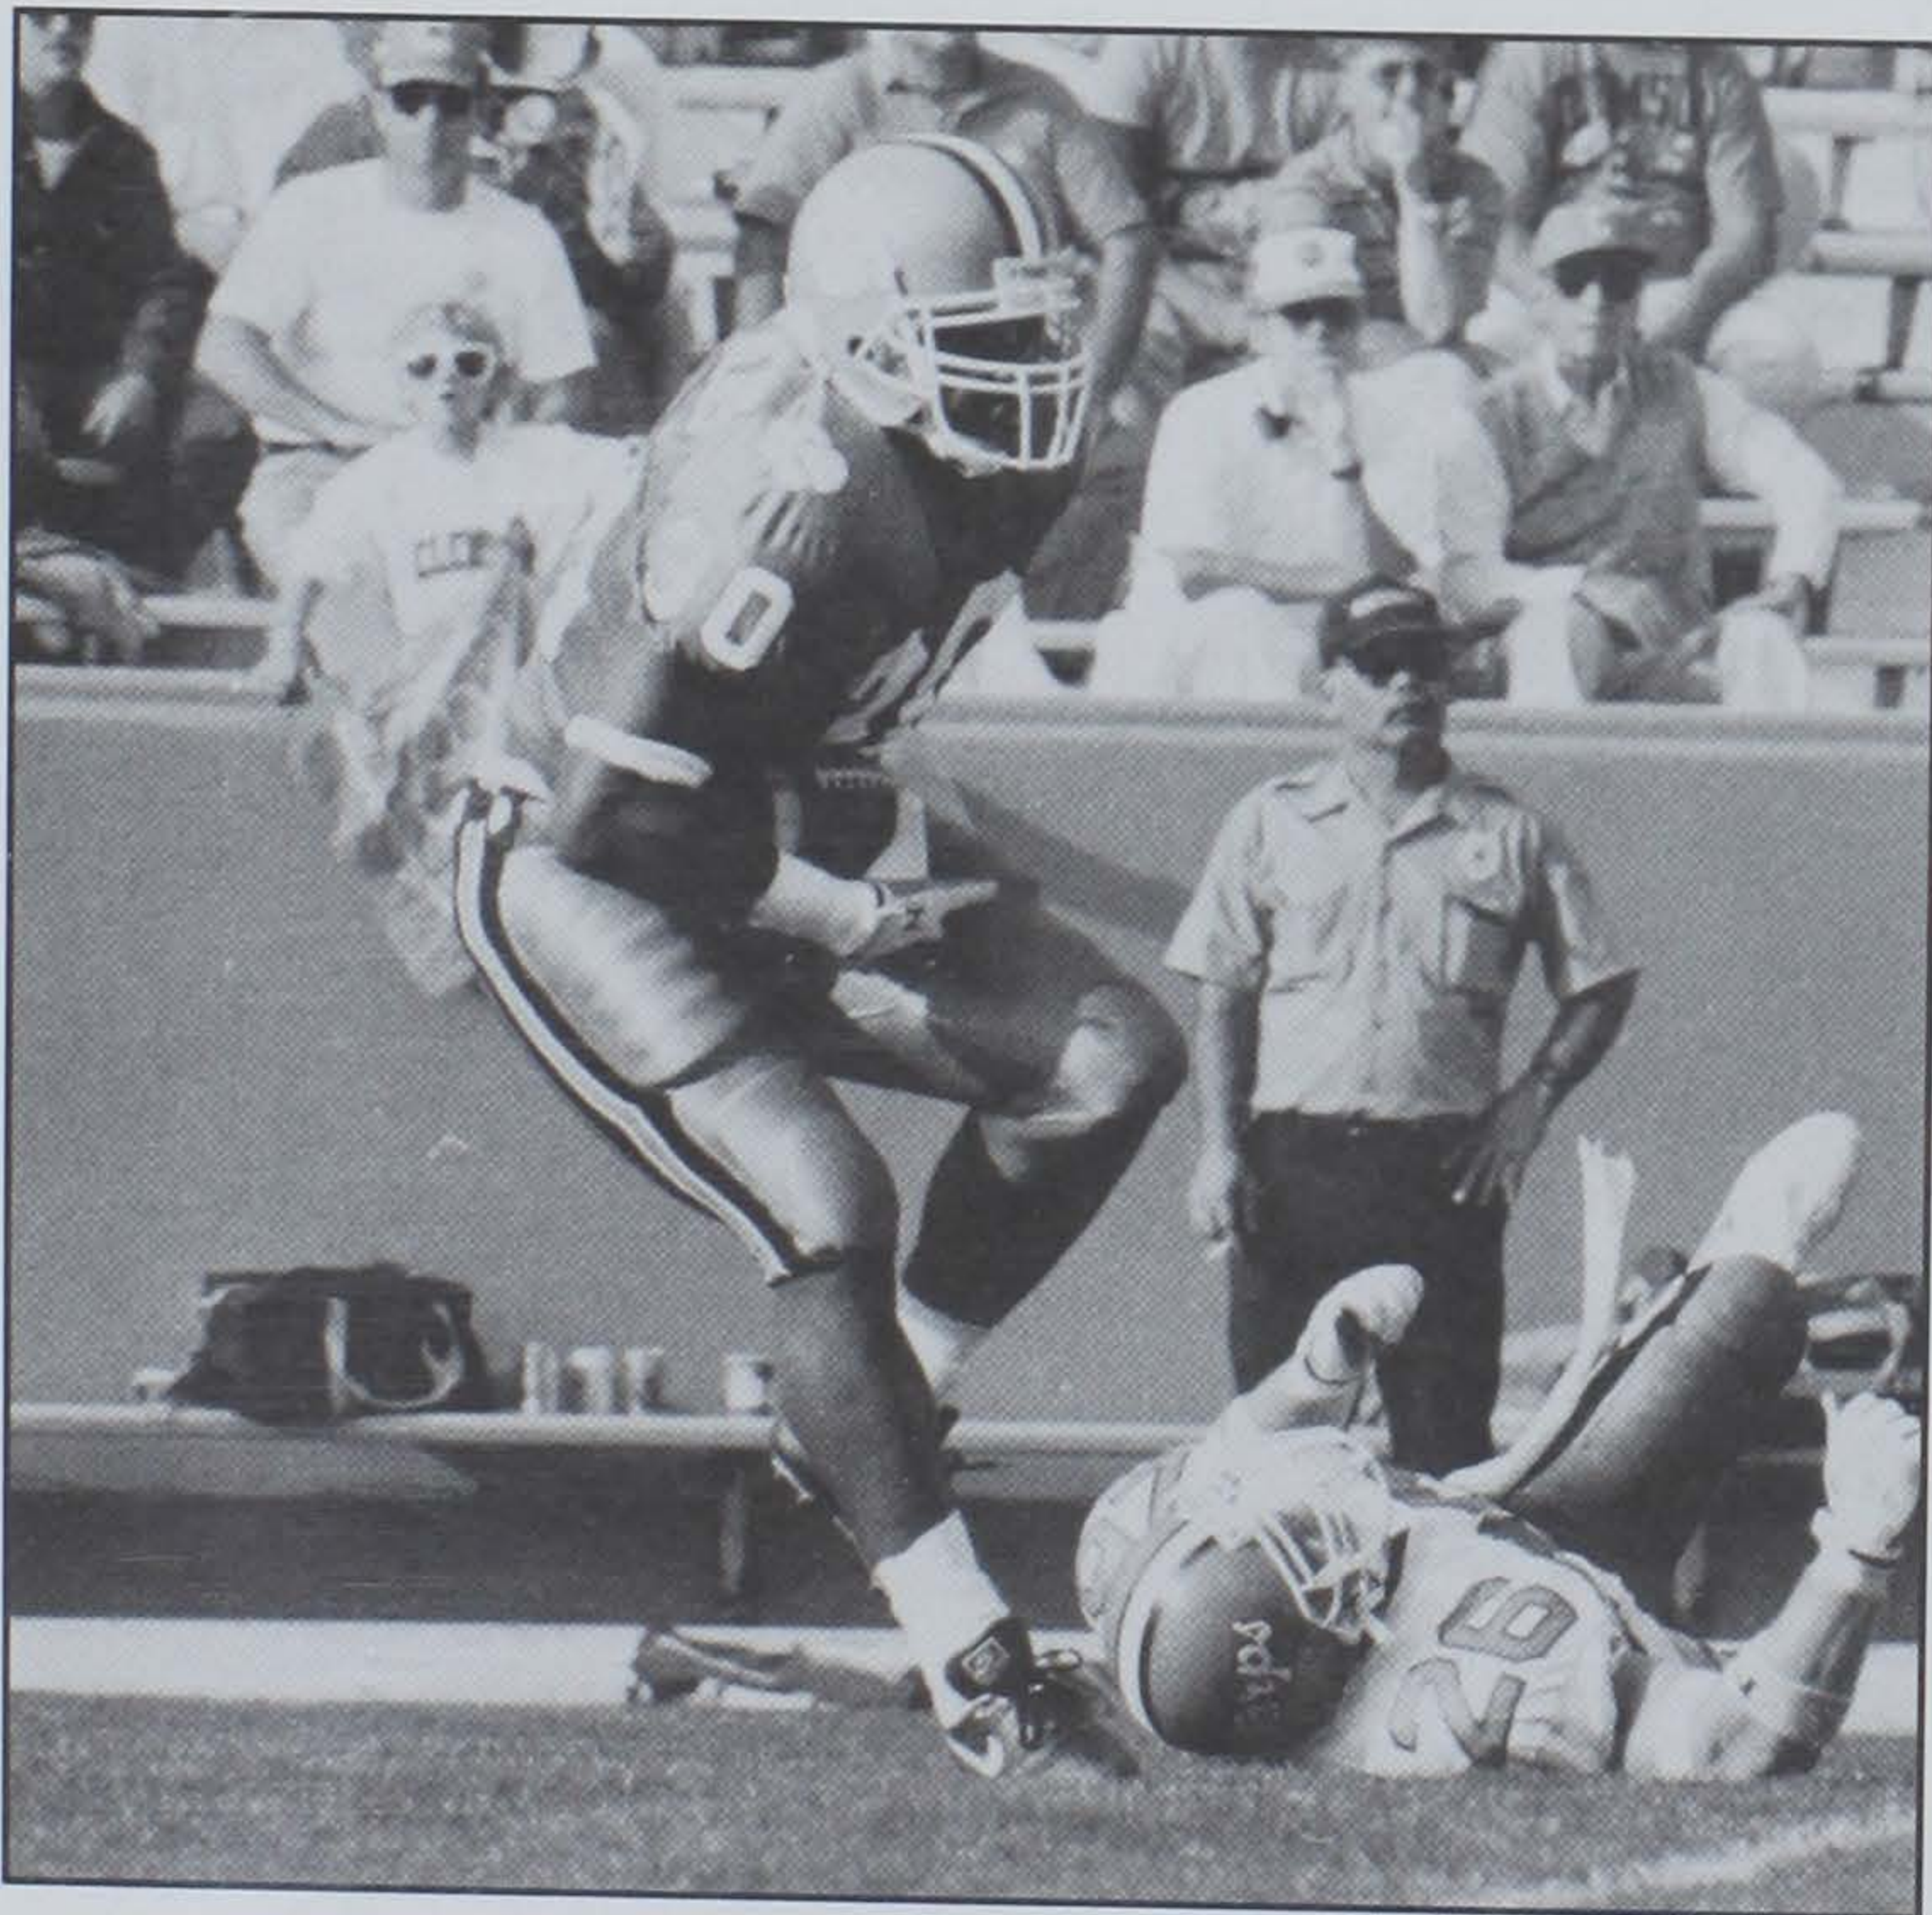

First-year freshman cornerback Darnell Stephens delighted the sun-drenched crowd with an 89-yard punt return, the third longest in ACC history and second longest ever by a Clemson player in Death Valley. He had 116 yards in punt returns on the day, third best in Clemson history, and he moved to number-four in the nation in that category. It was also the most punt return yards in a game by an ACC player all season.

Terry Smith had 120 yards in receptions, the most reception yards by a Clemson player in four years. He had one 43-yard scoring reception and also caught a 52-yard pass that set up a score.

Once again Ed McDaniel led Clemson with 10 tackles, but Rob Bodine chipped in with three tackles for loss and eight total stops. Maryland gained just 39 yards rushing on 31 attempts and completed just 11 of 30 passes. Fourteen different Clemson players were involved in a tackle for loss.

Jeb Flesch was again named ACC Offensive Lineman of the Week with a 78 percent blocking grade. It was his 42nd straight start for the Tigers.

Clemson	10	10	14	6	-	40
Maryland	7	0	0	0	-	7

Darnell Stephens had an 89-yard punt return in the win over Maryland, the fourth longest punt return in Clemson history.

The Tigers won state bragging rights for another year as the Clemson seniors became just the second class in 50 seasons to post a perfect 4-0 record against their in-state rivals with a 41-24 win over the Gamecocks. The game marked the second consecutive week that the Tigers put 40 points on the board, a feat Clemson had not accomplished since 1984.

Quarterback DeChane Cameron not only had the best game of his Clemson career, but one of the best games in Clemson history. Cameron connected on 12 of 14 passes for 206 yards and gained 116 yards in 20 rushing attempts. That 85.7 percent completion mark broke the Clemson single game record and his 322 yards in total offense ranked as the third-best in Clemson history, the best since 1965. The percentage mark tied for the best in the ACC in 1991.

The Tigers jumped on the scoreboard first with Rudy Harris's first of two touchdowns in the first quarter, and then added a Nelson Welch field goal and a 31-yard scoring romp by Cameron. Meanwhile, the Gamecocks also scored a touchdown and a field goal in the first half, giving Clemson a slim 17-10 lead at the intermission. But the Tiger defense held USC scoreless in the third period and the Tigers added 17 points as Harris crossed the goalline again on a six-yard run, tailback Rodney Blunt scored from the 16, and Welch added another field goal. Clemson gained 228 yards in total offense in the third period alone.

Wide Receiver Terry Smith had over 100 receiving yards for the second straight week with five grabs for 117 yards, the first Clemson player to do so since Jerry Butler had consecutive 100-yard receiving games in 1978. Smith scored the Tigers' final touchdown on a 25-yard pass from Richard Moncrief in the fourth quarter.

South Carolina native Levon Kirkland moved into third-place on the Clemson career sack list with a pair of sacks versus the Gamecocks, giving him 19 for his career and 5.5 for the season. The defense, led by another South Carolinian, Ed McDaniel's nine tackles, proved worthy of its number-one national ranking in rushing defense as it limited the Gamecocks to only 15 yards on the ground.

Clemson	7	10	17	7	-	41
South Carolina	0	10	0	14	-	24

Levon Kirkland moved into third place on Clemson's career sack list with two at South Carolina.

Clemson 33, Duke 21

At Tokyo Dome, Tokyo Japan

December 1, 1991 (November 30 in USA)

Time: 2:51

The Tigers completed their first undefeated season in ACC play since 1982 with a hard-fought 33-21 victory over Duke. Ken Hatfield had to take his team a long way to gain his 100th career victory as the two teams travelled to Tokyo, Japan, to play in the 16th annual Coca-Cola Bowl.

Clemson kept the ball on the ground, gaining 355 of its total 455 yards with the rushing game. That was the most yards rushing in a game by an ACC team all season. Two Tiger runners, tailback Rodney Blunt and fullback Rudy Harris, each posted career highs in terms of rushing yardage as Blunt carried the ball 24 times for 163 yards and Harris gained 126 yards on 13 carries and scored two TDs. One of Harris's scores was a 59-yard romp, the longest rush for a Tiger all year.

DeChane Cameron led the Tigers into the endzone with a 13-yard pass to Terry Smith in the second quarter to tie the game at 7-7 before leaving the game with an injury. The Blue Devils went up 14-7 in the third quarter, but second-string signal caller Richard Moncrief came on in relief and led the Tigers into the endzone three times in the fourth quarter, scoring on a 34-yard run and connecting with Smith on a 34-yard touchdown strike. Clemson scored 26 points in the fourth period overall, its highest scoring quarter of the season and the highest scoring fourth quarter by a Clemson team since 1988.

The Tiger defense continued to play tough against the run, as the unit allowed only 18 yards on the ground. With four tackles for loss, middle guard Rob Bodine moved into a tie with William Perry for first-place in Clemson history for tackles for loss in a single season. He concluded the regular season with 27.

The victory was Clemson's second overseas. The Tigers also defeated Wake Forest in the final game of the 1982 season to clinch an unbeaten ACC regular season.

At Florida Citrus Bowl

January 1, 1992

Weather: 68 degrees and cloudy Time: 3:33 (ABC-TV)

Clemson's bowl game victory streak ended at five as the Tigers left the state of Florida with their first bowl loss since 1985, and their worst defeat since 1986, when the 14th-ranked Golden Bears of California defeated 13th-ranked Clemson 37-13 in the Florida Citrus Bowl. Also, for the first time since the 1988 season, the Clemson defense, which led the nation in rushing defense in 1991, allowed an opposing running back to rush for over 100 yards, as Cal's Russell White crossed the century mark with 103 yards.

The Golden Bears scored early and often in the first half, taking the opening kickoff 76 yards for a touchdown and adding a 31 yard field goal on their third possession. The Tigers were unable to gain a first down after the ensuing kickoff and were forced to punt. Although Chuck Lynch hit a 49-yard boot, California's Brian Treggs eluded the Tiger special forces unit and went the distance for a 72-yard touchdown. Clemson got on the boards for the first time with time running out in the first quarter as Nelson Welch connected on a 32 yard field goal on a drive highlighted by a 43-yard run by fullback Rudy Harris.

The highlight of the game for the Tigers came with just under five minutes remaining in the first half as quarterback DeChane Cameron broke loose for a 62-yard scoring romp. That play marked the longest run from scrimmage for a Clemson quarterback in 13 years, but also marked the only touchdown that Clemson would score that afternoon.

The only score for Clemson in the second half was a 36-yard field goal by Welch in the third period, while the Golden Bears would add a field goal and a touchdown on a 23-yard pass play. The Tiger defense managed to hold Cal scoreless through the fourth quarter, but Clemson could not put up any points, as they turned the ball over three times on interceptions and once on downs.

Two Tigers who were playing in their last game in Clemson uniform were named team MVPs in the loss. Defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, who had six tackles for the game, including three tackles for loss and one-and-a-half sacks, was named the Tigers' defensive MVP, while quarterback DeChane Cameron, was named the offense's Most Valuable Performer, after he scored Clemson's only touchdown and had 189 yards in total offense.

California	17	10	10	0	-	37
Clemson	3	7	3	0	-	13

Chester McGlockton was named the Tigers' defensive MVP as he had three tackles for loss in his last game as a Tiger.

History of Clemson Football

Sept. 30, 1896—A small crowd gathered in one of the barrack's rooms and discussed the advisability of organizing a football association and to devise some means of getting a coach. The organization known as the Clemson College Football Association was perfected and the following officers elected: President F.G. Tompkins, Secretary and Treasurer C.W. Gentry, Manager T.R. Vogel, Temporary Captain R.G. Hamilton. A committee of three was appointed to consult professor Walter Riggs as to management of a football team and to ask his aid as coach.

October 5, 1896—Practice began on the Clemson College campus on a 50x200 foot field in front of the college.

October 28, 1896—Clemson played its first intercollegiate football game, defeating Furman, 14-6, at Greenville, SC. This was the first time that many of the Clemson players had seen a full sized football gridiron. Charlie Gentry scored Clemson's first touchdown.

November 10, 1897—Clemson defeated South Carolina for the first time and won the school's first state championship.

October 20, 1898—The Tigers played their first home game against Bingham. Clemson won 55-0, as W.C. Forsythe kicked every point after touchdown (11). R.T.V. Bowman, the man for whom the field at Clemson is named, was an assistant coach at that time with Clemson and helped referee the game.

November 10, 1899—The football association stood on a very weak financial basis. The organization could not even afford to hire a coach. W.M. Riggs agreed to coach the Tigers for free.

November 18, 1899—Clemson defeated N.C. State, 24-0. The game was called early because many of the State men were injured and they requested that the game be called.

December 8, 1899—John Heisman was hired as head coach.

October 22, 1900—The Tigers defeated Wofford, 21-0. Actually, Clemson scored many more points, but a pre-game agreement between the teams stated that every point Clemson scored after the first four touchdowns would not count.

November 29, 1900—Clemson's 35-0 win over Alabama allowed Heisman's team to finish the season undefeated with a 6-0 record. This was Clemson's first undefeated team and was the only team to win all of the games in a season until the 1948 squad went 11-0.

October 5, 1901—Clemson opened the season with a 122-0 win over Guilford. The Tigers averaged 30 yards per play and a touchdown every minute and 26 seconds. The first half lasted 20 minutes while the second half lasted only 10 minutes. Legend has it that every man on the Clemson team scored a touchdown in this game.

October 30, 1902—Col. Charles S. Roller Jr., who was football coach of Furman, was the only referee for the Clemson-USC game. Bronco Armstrong, a famous Yale player and official, was to be the umpire but was in a railroad wreck on the way down and it was impossible for him to get to the game in time. Not a single penalty was called in the game. A riot between Clemson and USC fans broke out the night after the game. Officials at both colleges called off the football series between the two schools. Clemson and USC did not meet again in football until 1909.

November 27, 1902—Clemson played in the snow for the first time in a game against Tennessee. The Tigers won the game, 11-0, and claimed the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association crown.

October 17, 1903—Clemson defeated Georgia Tech 73-0. Clemson rushed the ball 35 times for 450 yards, while Tech ran the ball 25 times and collected 18 yards.

November 26, 1903—One day after Tech's deadline for its offer had expired, Heisman wired Georgia Tech's president Lyman Hall, that he would accept the institute's offer of $2,250 per year plus 30 percent of net receipts to coach its athletic teams.

November 11, 1905—The Clemson-Auburn game was called on account of darkness. Clemson won, 6-0.

November 29, 1906—Clemson's first forward pass occurred in a 10-0 win over Georgia Tech. Powell Lykes dropped back to kick, but instead made a "pretty" forward pass of 30 yards to George Warren.

November 4-9, 1907—Clemson played three games within a week's time. Clemson lost to Auburn 12-0 on November 4, and lost to Georgia in Augusta, GA on November 7. The Tigers barely made it back in time to play Davidson at Clemson on November 9, and lost 10-6.

April 1, 1908—Tiger football hopes of the 1908 season were shattered on this day, not by what happened in spring practice, but what 300 students did as a college prank on April Fool's Day. The cadets were expelled for removing a Civil War cannon from the town square of Pendleton, four miles down the road from campus, and bringing the cannon back to Clemson. Many of the football stars, as well as many future star players, were among those who were expelled.

October 13, 1917—Clemson downed Furman 38-0, as the Tigers' Stumpy Banks scored five touchdowns.

Oct. 4, 1926—Bud Saunders, Clemson head football coach, resigned in the middle of the season. Cul Richards and Frank Padgett were put in charge of the squad.

October 15, 1926—Bob Williams was named advisory coach.

December 27, 1926—Josh Cody was named head football coach at Clemson.

September 20, 1929—Clemson announced the completion of its first press box which would accommodate about 30 writers. The glass enclosed box was completed with heaters and electric fans for ventilation.

October 17, 1930—Maxcey Welch scored five touchdowns (all rushing) in Clemson's 75-0 win over Newberry.

Clemson's 1909 team was one of the school's finest squads defensively. The club shut out five teams, including four in a row, and gave up just 43 points in nine games all year.

Jess Neely signed the contract that sent Clemson to the Cotton Bowl in 1939. Frank Howard, then an assistant, looks on over Neely's shoulder.

March 13, 1930—Josh Cody signed a three-year contract to stay at Clemson.

January 17, 1931—Jess Neely was named head football coach at Clemson.

October 14, 1933—Clemson played at George Washington in a 0-0 tie. This was the first time Clemson had ever played under the lights. Fans witnessed the game on a grid graph in Tillman Hall at the Clemson chapel. A grid was an electrical machine that was marked off like a football field. Lights were so arranged on the graph that every possible play was flashed on the board. The lineups of both teams were written on the sides and the man carrying the ball on each play had a light flashed by his name. Another light representing the runner moved along the board in the same direction and for the same distance as the runner.

August 20, 1934—IPTAY was founded.

November 19, 1935—First night time practice. Two powerful floodlights were installed on one of Clemson's practice fields enabling the Tigers to get in more practice time.

January 10, 1940—Jess Neely resigned as athletic director and football coach to accept the head football coaching job at Rice University. Neely inherited a $47,000 deficit when he arrived in 1931 and earned Clemson $100,000 during his tenure and left Clemson with $57,000 in the treasury. His overall record at Clemson was 43-35-7.

October 22, 1942—Clemson defeated South Carolina, 18-6. Autographed balls were auctioned off at the game. For a minimum of $1,000 a fan could bid on one of the balls. The fan's money would then be used to buy war bonds.

October 19, 1944—First rain at a Clemson-USC game since 1896.

Surrounded by security from various agencies, a loud explosion sounded and alarmed the body guard along with the Vice President. Former Clemson Head Coaches

Walter Riggs

WALTER RIGGS, 1896, 1899

Walter Riggs could easily be called the father of Clemson Football. He coached the football program at Clemson, not only because he had football experience, but he was also one of only two people on the Clemson campus to have ever seen a football game when the sport started in 1896. (The other person was Frank Thompkins who played in the backfield on Clemson's first team in 1896).

On September 30, 1896, a small crowd gathered in one of the barrack's rooms and the group discussed the feasibility of organizing a football association. A committee of three was appointed to consult Professor Riggs as to management of a football team and to ask his aid as coach.

When the Tigers traveled to Furman for their first game on October 28, 1896, it was the first time that many of the players had ever seen a full-sized regulation football field.

Riggs stepped down as football coach after the first season because the players wanted him to devote all of his time to being a professor in the engineering department.

Clemson athletics and Riggs, however, could not be split. Although not given the title, Riggs also was the equivalent of an athletic director, managing money and making contracts with other teams.

Riggs could easily be called a loyal man, as he answered the need of the Clemson football team again in 1899. The Clemson Athletic Association was low on money and could not afford to hire a coach. So Riggs once again answered the call of the school and became the coach of the 1899 team for free.

Riggs originally came to Clemson from Auburn. He graduated with top honors in 1892 with a B.S. degree in electrical and mechanical engineering. At Auburn, he was captain and catcher of the baseball team as well as the manager and left end of the football team. He also served as class president and was the director of the Glee Club.

Upon his graduation at Auburn, he was assistant to the president of the college until 1896, then he made his trek to Clemson.

Riggs later became president of Clemson on March 7, 1911 and in 1915, a new football stadium with other athletic facilities was named in his honor as Riggs Field. It is currently the home of the Tiger soccer team. In two years of coaching, Riggs guided the Tigers to a career record of 6-3 overall.

W. M. WILLIAMS, 1897

Clemson's second coach, W.M. William, was a native of West Point, GA. He played at Auburn on the teams of '94, '95, and '96, under the coaching of John Heisman. He was considered the best blocking halfback in the south.

Williams led Clemson to the state championship and to a 2-2 season. During his time as coach, Clemson played two games in a matter of three days. Clemson was victorious over the Charlotte Y on October 23, but lost to North Carolina 28-0, on October 25.

JOHN PENTON, 1898

The Tigers' third coach, J.A. Penton of Alabama, was captain and starting guard on the University of Virginia teams of '93, '94, and '95. Penton also played fullback at Auburn in '97 under Heisman's coaching. Under Penton, Clemson won 55-0 over Bingham in its first home game, as W.C. Forsythe kicked every point after touchdown (11). In his only season at Clemson, Penton guided Clemson to a 3-1 record and the state championship.

JOHN HEISMAN, 1900-1903

Probably one of the most famous football coaches in America, John Heisman, coached at Clemson from 1900 to 1903. Heisman turned Clemson from virtually an unknown college to a southern powerhouse at the turn of the century.

Heisman attended Brown University, taking the two-year law course offered at that time, and was a center on the football team. In the fall of 1889, he transferred to the University of Pennsylvania. He lettered in football at both schools and graduated from Pennsylvania in 1893.

In the spring of 1894, Walter Riggs was a graduate manager for the football team at Auburn. It fell on his shoulders to find a coach for the season of 1895. Riggs wrote to Carl Williams, the Pennsylvania captain of 1894, asking him to suggest a suitable coach. He replied recommending J.W. Heisman, an ex-Penn player, and his coach at Oberlin.

After several weeks, Riggs finally found Heisman in Texas, where he was engaged in raising tomatoes. Having sunk about all of his capital into the tomato venture, he was glad to go back to his old love and he readily went to coach at Auburn for $500.00 a year.

His coaching career began at Oberlin in 1892 and lasted 36 years. It included positions at Akron, Auburn, Clemson, Georgia Tech, Penn, Washington and Jefferson, and Rice University. He had an overall career record of 185 wins, 70 losses, and 17 ties.

John Heisman invented the hidden ball trick, the handoff, the double lateral, and the "flea flicker." He pioneered the forward pass, arguing that it would scatter the mob. Coach Heisman also originated the center snap and the word hike (previously the center used to roll the ball on the ground to the quarterback).

Heisman guided Clemson to its first "bowl game" in 1904, when Clemson and Cumberland met on November 26, for the championship of the South. Cumberland, who had earlier defeated Auburn, Alabama, and Vanderbilt, was considered to be champion of the southern states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, and Kentucky. The game was played on a neutral site, Montgomery, Al. Cumberland and Clemson fought to an 11-11 tie. After the news got back to Clemson that the game ended in a tie, the students and the local townspeople built a bonfire and paraded around the campus.

Overall, Heisman took Clemson to a 19-3-2 record in his four seasons at Clemson. His .833 winning percentage is still the best in Clemson history. He was also the Clemson baseball coach in 1901-1904.

John Heisman

SHACK SHEALY, 1904

Shack Shealy holds the distinction of being the only Clemson player to have coached his alma mater. Shealy lettered at Clemson in 1896, 97, 98, and 99 and later played two years at Iowa State. Shealy was a four-year starter playing right guard, end, and in his senior year, he played in the backfield. Shealy only coached Clemson one year in 1904, and guided the Tigers to a 3-3-1 record overall, which included wins over Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee.

ED COCHEMS, 1905

Ed Cochems lettered at the University of Wisconsin in 1899, 1900, and 1901. Cochems was described as a great halfback or end on the strong Wisconsin teams at the turn of the century, including the undefeated team of 1901. During his playing career, he had a 100-yard kickoff return in a 35-0 win over Chicago in 1901, and had four touchdowns in a game against Notre Dame in 1900. After his playing days, he immediately went into coaching. He was the head coach of North Dakota in 1902 and 1903 and served briefly as an assistant with former teammate, Art Curtis at Wisconsin in 1904.

Eddie Cochems

Cochems led Clemson to a 3-2-1 record overall, including wins over Georgia and Auburn. After his Clemson career, he was head coach and athletic director at St. Louis University in 1906. After the forward pass was legalized in 1906, Cochems did something with the pass at once in his first year at St. Louis, while other coaches stuck with the running game. He taught his players not to throw the ball end-over-end, but instead like a projectile - a spiral. He called this new weapon a projectile pass.

In 1906, St. Louis went undefeated rolling up 407 points while allowing its opponents only 11.

Historians credit Cochems as being the first coach to use and perfect the first legal pass in a game. The first studied refinements in throwing the ball, which led to the spiral, occurred in 1906 under Cochems. Brad Robinson of St. Louis University threw the first forward pass to Jack Schneider in a game played Sept. 5, 1906 in Waukensha against Carroll College.

BOB WILLIAMS, 1906, 1909, 1913-1915

Bob Williams is probably the only coach in the country to have coached football at two schools that are involved in rivalry. Williams coached football at both Clemson and South Carolina. Before coming to Clemson, he coached at Davidson in 1905. He coached at South Carolina for two years and guided the Gamecocks to a 6-1 record in 1902 and an 8-2 slate in 1903.

During his South Carolina career, he administered the most unexpected defeat of Clemson, as he beat a heavily favored John Heisman team, 12-6 in 1902.

Williams served the Tigers as head coach a total of three terms 1906, 1909, and 1913-15. Between the years of 1915 and 1926, Williams practiced law in Roanoke, VA, and was the city's mayor.

One of the highlights of his Clemson career included leading the 1906 Tigers to an undefeated season (4-0-3), which included wins over Georgia, Auburn, Tennessee, and a Heisman-coached Georgia Tech team.

FRANK SHAUGHNESSY, 1907

Frank Shaughnessy was known for his ability as an administrator in sports as he served many positions, from a professional hockey coach to the commissioner of the International Baseball (Triple A) League.

A graduate in law at Notre Dame, he was captain of the baseball and football teams his junior and senior seasons. After his graduation in 1905, he coached baseball at Notre Dame. The summer before coming to Clemson he played for Ottawa of the Eastern League. That summer, he played left field and had a .352 batting average. He also played with Washington and the Philadelphia A's.

At Clemson he coached the baseball teams in 1907 and 1908, and was head football mentor in 1907, posting a 4-4 record.

During his lifetime, Shaughnessy made his name in baseball, but he took part in many other sports. Besides being a sports legend at Notre Dame, he managed the Ottawa Senators of a professional hockey league and coached football teams at Clemson, Washington and Lee and McGill University. He retired as the president of the International Baseball league.

During his football playing days, in a game against Kansas, Shaughnessy raced 107 yards for the only Irish touchdown as Kansas won, 24-5. Football fields were 110 yards back then and touchdowns were five points. This is still a Notre Dame record.

JOHN STONE, 1908

John Stone is one of three coaches to have graduated from Vanderbilt and later become a Clemson head football coach. At Vanderbilt, he was a member of the All-Southern Football team for four seasons. He was a big man for his time, standing 6'2". Clemson was 1-6 in 1908, but the Tigers lost many of their star players and substitutes from 1907 due to a college prank that saw as many as 306 students expelled from school.

FRANK DOBSON, 1910-12

Frank Dobson was a professional baseball player before coming to Clemson as he was the property of the Pittsburgh Nationals. Walter Riggs, President of the Clemson Athletic Association, thought it was unfair to keep shuffling coaches year after year. Riggs offered Dobson a three-year contract, which was the first contract offered and signed by a Clemson coach.

At Clemson, he coached football, basketball and baseball. He was Clemson's first basketball coach, leading Clemson to its only undefeated season in history in the inaugural season 1911-12, (4-0). In 1912-13, Clemson finished the basketball season with a 9-5 record. He was head baseball coach in 1911-1913.

WAYNE HART, 1916

Wayne Hart coached Clemson in 1916 and led Clemson to a 3-6 finish. Under Hart, the Tigers defeated state rivals Furman and South Carolina.

Hart played three years at tackle for Georgetown. He also played one year at George Washington. He was a member of the All-South Atlantic team for four years.

He was also an assistant coach at Georgetown. In 1913, he coached the Washington Vigilants, a professional football team, and did not lose a game. The last two seasons before arriving at Clemson, he coached various sports at Technical High School in Washington, D. C.

EDWARD DONAHUE, 1917-20

Edward Donahue had to be one of the most organized men in the country. During the 1918-19 school year, Donahue was head coach of four Clemson sports: football, basketball, baseball, and track. During his four-year career at Clemson, he was basketball and baseball coach for two seasons, and head track coach for one season.

Edward Donahue was an outstanding athlete at Washington and Lee as he played in the backfield on the football team and played catcher on the baseball team. Upon graduation, Donahue was an assistant coach in football and was the head coach in baseball and basketball.

E. J. STEWART, 1921-22

E. J. Stewart was head football coach for two years at Clemson, 1921-22. However, he coached more than one sport during his stay at Tigertown. In the spring of 1921, Stewart coached the baseball and track teams while conducting spring football practice. In the fall, Stewart's football team went 1-6-2, but he improved to a 5-4 slate in 1922. He went on to coach the track teams in 1922 and 1923.

Stewart played football, baseball, basketball and ran track at Western Reserve University in Ohio. Upon his graduation, he played, organized and served as head coach in Ohio of the Massillon Ohio Professional football team.

He also coached at Nebraska and the University of Texas. At Nebraska, he led the Cornhuskers to a combined record of 11-4 in 1916-1917. They also won the Missouri Valley Conference title both seasons. After leaving the University of Nebraska, he entered the automobile business as President and Treasurer of the Stewart Motor Co. Because of the economic conditions at the time, he decided to go back into coaching.

E.J. Stewart

Josh Cody

BUD SAUNDERS, 1923-26

Bud Saunders graduated from Missouri in 1911, with a bachelors degree in Law. At Missouri, he played football and basketball. He wanted to play two other sports, but a conference rule at the time forbid an athlete from participating in more than two sports.

Saunders was football coach at Knox College before coming to Clemson. In football, Saunders coached for four seasons, 1923-1926. He also coached the basketball teams in 1924 and 1925. His best season in football came in 1923, as he led the Tigers to a 5-2-1 slate.

Josh Cody, fondly known as "big man," will always be a favorite to Clemson fans. Cody, a big man in stature at 6-2, 220 pounds, led Clemson to victories over South Carolina for four straight years. He is the only coach in Clemson history who has been around more than two years who never lost a football game to South Carolina. He also defeated Furman three straight years. Cody had a 13-0-1 record in home games and had a 72 percent winning mark overall, fourth best in Clemson history.

After a 5-3-1 start in 1927, Cody guided Clemson to two 8-3 seasons in 1928 and 1929. On May 6, 1929, to show appreciation to Cody, he was presented with a new buick by the alumni, student body and faculty. This presentation took place in front of Tillman Hall.

In his final season, 1930, the Tigers finished with an 8-2 record. Cody also coached basketball at Clemson for five years and guided Clemson to a 16-9 slate in 1930. During the 1928-30 seasons, he guided Clemson to a 22-4 mark at home.

JESS NEELY, 1931-39

Clemson played in its first bowl game under Jess Neely in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. The Tigers, unknown at the time, became a household word after beating heavily-favored Boston College 6-3 in the Cotton Bowl Classic. Neely came to Clemson in 1931 and his recruitment of Banks McFadden brought Clemson to another level of competition. In 1938, Neely had Clemson at second place in the Southern Conference with a 7-1-1 record. In 1939, Banks McFadden became Clemson's first All-American, and the team concluded the season with a trip to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl. Neely left Clemson that spring and moved on to Rice, where he took that Houston-based school to new heights. Neely is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

Jess Neely

FRANK HOWARD, 1940-69

Frank Howard succeeded Jess Neely in 1940 when Neely moved on to Rice. Howard got the job when he seconded his own nomination during a meeting of the president and athletic council. Howard signed a one-year contract, then lost the document, and never had another in his 30 years as head coach.

Howard graduated from Alabama in 1931 where he was a football star lineman. He played in the 1930 Rose Bowl, then started his coaching career under Neely at Clemson in 1931, and was a part of a rebirth of Clemson football in the late 1930s. He was an assistant coach on Clemson's 1939 team that posted a 9-1 mark and beat Boston College 6-3 in the Tigers' first bowl game. In 1940, he began his head coaching career with a bang as he won the Southern Conference championship, the first of eight conference titles Howard won in his coaching career.

Howard had his most successful season in 1948 when he took Clemson to an 11-0 record, the Tigers' first perfect season since 1900. The campaign included a Southern Conference championship, a Gator Bowl win over Missouri, and a number-11 final ranking. He nearly duplicated the feat in 1950 when he guided Clemson to a number-10 AP final ranking, a 9-0-1 finish and a 15-14 win over Miami (FL) in the Orange Bowl.

When he retired in 1969, Howard was the fifth winningest coach in the nation with 165 victories. He had 96 wins as an ACC coach, tying the ACC record for coaching victories, and he captured six (five outright and one co-championship) ACC titles, more than any other coach. His teams appeared in six bowl games, 63 of his players were drafted by the NFL and 37 played in the league.

Howard, a native of Barlow Bend, AL, had six Top 20 seasons, won eight conference titles (two Southern and six ACC), won an even 100 conference games and was a two-time ACC Coach-of-the-Year. He coached 25 academic All-ACC selections and five Academic All-Americans. Eleven of his players were chosen on-the-field All-Americans. Howard was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1989.

HOOTIE INGRAM, 1970-1972

Hottie Ingram will be best remembered as the coach that made the Tiger Paw famous. Before his first year as head coach in the summer of 1970, Clemson introduced the Tiger Paw as the official logo of Clemson University's Athletic teams.

Ingram graduated from the University of Alabama in 1955. He also received his master's in school administration from Alabama and is now athletic director for the Crimson Tide program.

The native of Tuscaloosa, AL was an All-Southeastern Conference defensive back for the Crimson Tide his senior year.

Ingram had his best year at Clemson during the 1971 campaign with a 5-6 overall record. He also finished second in the ACC with a 4-2 league mark in 1971.

RED PARKER, 1973-76

Red Parker coached at Clemson for four years. His 1974 team lived up to the theme "Excitement Galore, Clemson Football '74." It finished the season with a 7-4 record (6-0 at home), with wins over Georgia, Georgia Tech and South Carolina.

Before arriving at Clemson, Red Parker spent seven years at The Citadel from 1966 through 1972. During this time, he guided the Bulldogs to a fine 8-3 finish in 1971.

Parker earned a BA degree in Physical Education from Arkansas A&M in 1953. Prior to his graduation, he earned three letters each in football, basketball and track, as a running back-defensive back, second baseman-shortstop, and sprinter.

CHARLEY PELL, 1977-78

Charley Pell authored college football's Cinderella story in 1977.

The Albertville, AL product took a Clemson team that was 3-6-2 in 1976, and led the '77 Tigers to a sparkling 8-2-1 regular season mark and a berth in the Gator Bowl. It was Clemson's first final Top 20 season since 1959. He coached Clemson to a 10-1 regular season in 1978 before he left to become head coach at Florida. Clemson's 1978 team beat Ohio State in the Gator Bowl and finished sixth in the final AP poll in only his first year as head coach of Clemson.

He was a near unanimous choice as ACC Coach-of-the-Year. A two-way starter and three-year letterwinner at Alabama, Pell was a member of the Crimson Tide's 1961 National Championship team and played in the Orange, Sugar and Bluebonnet Bowls during his Alabama career.

He came to Clemson in 1976 and served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator that year.

DANNY FORD, 1979-89

Danny Ford had an auspicious beginning to his head coaching career. He gained a 17-15 win over Ohio State in the 1978 Gator Bowl in a game shown on national television. The 30-year-old coach, youngest in Division I at the time, also defeated a college football legend in a contest that truly put Clemson football on the map as he beat Woody Hayes in the latter's last game. Ford had taken over the coaching reigns on December 10, 1978 when Charley Pell resigned to become head coach at Florida.

Ford kept things going in 1979 with wins over Georgia and Notre Dame and another trip to a bowl, this time the Peach Bowl. In 1981, he helped Clemson reach the summit of college football by winning the National Championship. His Tigers downed three top 10 teams during the course of the 12-0 season that concluded with a 22-15 victory over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. Ford was named National Coach-of-the-Year.

The victories continued in 1982 and 1983 as Clemson had consecutive 9-1-1 seasons. The Tigers finished in the top 12 in both seasons, and thus had a 30-2-2 record over a three-year period, best in the nation.

Clemson won three straight ACC titles under his guidance between 1986 and 1988. In 1989, Clemson registered a 10-2 season and top 12 national ranking, the fourth straight season Clemson finished in the final AP top 20. He closed his career with a 27-7 win over West Virginia in the Gator Bowl, his sixth bowl win in eight tries and his fourth in succession. Clemson and Florida State were the only teams in the nation to win four straight bowl games between 1986 and 1989.

Ford was the third winningest active coach in the nation on a percentage basis at the end of the 1989 season. He finished with a 96-29-4 career ledger at Clemson and remains the only coach in ACC history with over a 70 percent winning mark (min. four years). He finished with a 76 percent winning percentage and five ACC titles, second only to Frank Howard's six crowns.

The 1969 Alabama graduate is still the youngest coach to win the national title, as he was just 33-years-old when the Tigers shocked the college football world in 1981. He coached 71 first-team All-ACC selections and 26 All-Americans. Thirty-eight of his former Tigers were drafted by the NFL, and he earned 18 wins over Associated Press top 20 teams during his career, more than any other ACC coach. Additionally, eight of his former players won Super Bowl Championship rings. At one stretch his teams were ranked in the AP top 20 for 41 consecutive polls, a Clemson record.

Ford was an All-SEC selection and was also an All-SEC Academic choice at Alabama. He attended Alabama initially on a basketball/football scholarship but played only football after his freshman year. He played in three bowl games for Alabama.

Danny Ford

Frank Howard, Legend

An era at Clemson University ended June 30, 1974, when Frank Howard officially retired from the payroll. But instead of crawling back in his shell as some do at this stage, Howard sluffed off the retirement bit and still comes to his office regularly in the Jevey Athletic Center answering a pretty good stack of mail which arrives daily, or accepting another speaking engagement, or lining up some advertisers for the Kickoff Publishing Company.

Howard retired from coaching December 10, 1969, after 39 years on the Clemson coaching staff, 30 of which were as head coach. He was also athletic director during this time and he kept this position until February 4, 1971, when he was named assistant to the vice president at the university, the post he held when the mandatory retirement age of 65 rolled around.

Shortly after his retirement the Clemson Board of Trustees named the playing surface of Memorial Stadium as "Frank Howard Field" in honor of his long service to the university. It was only the third time that a building or installation had been named by the trustees for a living person. Over the years, Howard has been inducted into the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame and the Clemson Hall of Fame (charter member in both), as well as the Helms Athletic Hall of Fame and the State of Alabama Hall of Fame. On December 5, 1989 he joined an elite group in the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame. The ceremonies took place in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. He joined former Clemson mentors John Heisman and Jess Neely in the membership.

Howard was also honored in December, 1981, when he was inducted into the Orange Bowl Hall of Honor, along with former Alabama coach, Paul "Bear" Bryant, and Tommy McDonald, a former Oklahoma star. In the summer of 1990 he was inducted into the Gator Bowl Hall of Fame.

Howard stepped onto the rolling hills of Clemson in 1931 fresh from the varsity football ranks at the University of Alabama where he was a first stringer on Wallace Wade's 1930 team that drubbed Washington State, 24-0, in the 1931 Rose Bowl. Howard was known as the "Little Giant" of the Tide's "Herd of Red Elephants."

The bald veteran came to his first coaching post under Jess Neely as a line tutor. "At least that was my title," Howard recalls. "Actually, I also coached track, was ticket manager, recruited players and had charge of football equipment. In my spare time I cut grass, lined tennis courts and operated the canteen while the regular man was out to lunch." Howard was not only track coach from 1931-39, but served as baseball coach in 1943 and his 12-3 record that year is still among the best percentages for a season in Clemson history.

Howard held the line coaching post until Neely went to Rice University as head coach in 1940. When the Clemson Athletic Council met to name a successor to Neely, Prof. Sam Rhodes, a council member, nominated Howard to be the new head coach. Howard, standing in the back of the room listening to the discussion, said: "I second the nomination." He got the job and never left. Altogether, he served Clemson 43 years.

When he retired as head coach following the 1969 season, he was the nation's dean of coaches, having been a head football coach at a major institution longer than anyone else in the United States. When he retired, he was one of five active coaches with 150 or more victories.

While line coach in 1939, the Tigers' record (8-1) was good enough to merit a trip to Dallas where Clemson met undefeated Boston College under the late Frank Leahy in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. The 1948 mark of 10-0 carried Clemson to the 1949 Gator Bowl and two years later, a 9-0-1 record sent the Tigers to Miami's Orange Bowl (1950). The Country Gentlemen were champions on their first three bowl ventures. Boston College fell, 6-3, Missouri was nipped in the Gator, 24-23 (Howard says this is the best football game he ever witnessed), and Miami felt the Tiger claws, 15-14. The total point spread in these three bowl wins was five points.

The Gator Bowl beckoned the Tigers again in January, 1952, and by being conference champions in 1956, Clemson played in the '57 Orange Bowl classic again. Miami downed Clemson, 14-0 in the second Gator Bowl trip and Colorado led Clemson, 20-0, then trailed 21-20, before finally defeating the Tigers, 27-21, in the second Orange Bowl. The Tigers then played in the 1959 Sugar Bowl and held No. 1-ranked Louisiana State to a standstill before losing, 7-0.

The invitation to play in the first Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston in December, 1959, was the eighth bowl that Howard had been a part of either as a player, assistant coach or head coach. It was the seventh bowl trip for a Clemson team and the sixth in 12 years. Howard says that Clemson's 23-7 triumph over Texas Christian in the Bluebonnet Bowl was the best performance he had ever witnessed by a Clemson team.

Howard won 165 games as a head coach at Clemson, still a Tiger record by far. This photo was taken after he beat Maryland, 14-0, in 1966 to give him 150 career wins.

Howard coached many outstanding players, including linebacker Don Wade, who will be inducted into the Clemson Hall of Fame this year.

The Tigers' victory over TCU was their fourth success in seven post-season appearances. In all seven Clemson was the established underdog.

Howard served on the coaching staff of the Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, Ala., in 1941, 1952, 1959, and 1966; was on the East staff of the annual East-West Game in San Francisco, CA, in December, 1960, and again in December, 1962; and was named coach of the South squad in Miami's 1961 and 1969 North-South game. He coached in the 1970 Hula Bowl, which was his ninth postseason all-star game. While still in active coaching Howard served as one of the important rules committee members for a period of three years.

A single wing expert for 22 seasons (including nine as line a coach), Howard changed to the T-formation and its many variations in 1953. Still another major change in the offense was installed in 1965 with the "I" and pro-type set. In his 13 seasons as head coach using the single wing, Clemson won 69, lost 47 and tied 7. In 12 years of "T" teams, the Tigers won 71, lost 47 and tied 4. While using the "I" in his last five years of coaching, Clemson recorded a 25-24-1 record.

In his 30 years of coaching Howard won 165, lost 118 and tied 12. That victory total is still among the top 40 coaches in the history of the game.

In addition to heading up the Clemson football program, Howard also had the job of directing Clemson's entire athletic program, and at the same time, raising all the required scholarship funds. The athletic department was always on a sound financial footing under the guidance of Howard.

The year 1958 was a red letter one for Howard. During the halftime of the Spring Game, Howard, his staff and secretaries were given an appreciation day. Howard received a 1958 car while other staff members were presented gifts. That summer Howard and three members of his staff were given a trip to Europe by the Department of Defense to conduct clinics for the Armed Forces in Germany.

Then came the football season and the Tigers presented Howard an 8-2 season, which led to the Sugar Bowl invitation. One of these 1958 wins was the 100th of Howard's coaching career. That came against the late Jim Tatum of North Carolina, a coach Howard had never beaten. And, the Tigers had to come from behind three times to win, 26-21.

Howard was named Southern Conference Coach-of-the-Year in 1948. In 1959 he was named Atlantic Coast Conference Coach-of-the-Year and was accorded the honor again in 1966. His teams won ACC championships six times (1956-58-59-65-66-67) in the first 15 years of the conference. The Tigers were co-champions in 1965. He guided Clemson to the Southern Conference crown in 1940 and 1948.

Howard was born at Barlow Bend, Ala. (three wagon greasin's from Mobile), March 25, 1909. He spent his early days on the farm playing mostly cow pasture baseball because there were not enough boys around the community for a football team. Howard says he left Barlow Bend walking barefoot on a barbed wire fence with a wildcat under each arm.

He graduated from Murphy High School in Mobile where he played football, baseball and basketball and served as president of both the junior and senior classes.

After finishing at Murphy, Howard entered the University of Alabama on an academic scholarship provided by the Birmingham News in the fall of 1927, and the 185 pounder played reserve guard his sophomore year. During his junior year he started every game but two, as an ankle injury sidelined him for the two games he missed. Again his senior year he was a regular.

Howard was president of the freshman class at Alabama, was member of Blue Key and president of the "A" Club.

After coming to Clemson, he married the former Anna Tibble of Anderson, S.C., August 23, 1933. They are the parents of a daughter Alice (Mrs. Bobby McClure of St. Paul's, N.C.) and a son, Jimmy. The Howards also have three grandchildren.

Jimmy followed in his dad's footsteps as a football player, only at a different position. The son was regular fullback on the local high school (Daniel) team for three years and was a halfback-fullback for three years on the Clemson varsity. Jimmy gained over 1,400 yards his senior year in high school and scored over 100 points. He graduated from Clemson in June, 1964 with honors, and earned his masters degree in horticulture from Clemson in 1967. Today he is district entomologist with the Plant Pest Regulatory Service at Clemson.

For over three decades Howard has been in great demand both as a banquet speaker and a clinic lecturer. Few states have escaped his homespun oratory, which has brought the house down on many occasions.

Since his retirement, Howard has become active in other endeavors. He has served as state chairman of the South Carolina Heart Fund drive, has been roasted several times on behalf of the Multiple Sclerosis Society, and is active in selling the Kickoff Publication out of Knoxville, TN.

Howard still has his hands in football as he serves as the chief recruiter for the Gray squad in the annual Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, AL. The Blue squad recruiter is Don Faurot, who opposed Howard in the 1949 Gator Bowl.

Howard has also been inducted into the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame in San Francisco, CA., is an honorary member of the National Athletic Trainers Association, and is a member of the Hall of Fame of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics. Clemson University has also honored Howard once more with the presentation of the Clemson Medallion, which is the highest public honor bestowed by the university to a living person who exemplifies the dedication and foresight of its founders.

Howard kissed Big Thursday goodbye after Clemson's win over South Carolina in 1959. Howard is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. He coached Clemson to eight conference championships in his celebrated career.

1940 Cotton Bowl

Boston College	3

Jess Neely's last Clemson team won eight games in the regular season with just one loss to Tulane. The 8-1 Tigers were rewarded with an invitation to play Boston College in the fourth Cotton Bowl, but Clemson first had to get permission from the Southern Conference, which they immediately granted. The 1939 season not only resulted in Clemson's first bowl appearance, but also the Tigers' first All-American, Banks McFadden.

On the last play of the first quarter, Bru Trexler punted to BC's Charlie O'Rourke, who fielded the punt on the Clemson 40 and returned it to the 13. Two running plays lost 10 yards, but on third down Frank Davis gained six. Alex Lukachik then kicked a 34-yard field goal to put the Eagles up, 3-0.

Clemson's scoring drive began when McFadden returned an Eagle punt to the 33. Charlie Timmons rushed for 15 yards in two plays, and two plays after that, McFadden hit Wister Jackson with a 16-yard pass to the Eagle 20. Timmons ran the final 20 yards in three carries, but Shad Bryant missed the extra point.

A 51-yard punt by McFadden started Boston College at its 20. The Eagles fumbled on first down and Clemson's George Fritts recovered at the 24. The Tigers could do nothing with the gift, however, as Joe Blalock fumbled after a short pass.

The game turned into a defensive struggle in the second half, although Boston College did penetrate deep into Clemson territory on two occasions. The Eagles took the opening kickoff to the Clemson 19, but a holding penalty and an incomplete pass ended the threat and BC was forced to punt.

Late in the game, the Eagles drove to the Clemson 11, but Bryant and McFadden each broke up two passes and Clemson took over on downs.

McFadden effectively bottled up the Eagles other than those drives with his punting. His 45-yard average on nine kicks, including two boots for 51 and 55 yards in the second half, prevented Boston College from getting good field position, and the Clemson defense made the 6-3 score stand.

Defense dominated Clemson's first bowl win ever as the two teams combined for just 20 first downs and 110 yards passing. Banks McFadden averaged 45 yards a punt on nine boots in his final game as a Tiger.

McFadden averaged 45 yards a punt, had four pass deflections and quarterbacked the Tigers in their first bowl game.

Clemson concluded its first perfect season under Frank Howard in a battle between two balanced offenses. Fred Cone and Ray Mathews combined for 155 yards and two TDs in a game in which both teams gained exactly 298 yards total offense.

Clemson opened the 1948 season with a 53-0 shutout of Presbyterian in the Tigers' first-ever night home game and they closed the regular season with a 20-0 blanking of The Citadel in the first game played at the Bulldogs' Johnson Hagood Stadium. In between, the Tigers shut out three more opponents and beat five others on the way to a 10-0 record, a ninth-place ranking in the polls, and an invitation to play Missouri in the fourth Gator Bowl.

Clemson kicked off, but three plays later Missouri fumbled and Clemson's Bob Martin recovered at the 19. A pass interference call gave the Tigers the ball at the one, and Fred Cone scored from there. Jack Miller added the point after and Clemson led, 7-0.

Ray Mathews recovered a Missouri fumble later in the quarter to give Clemson the ball at its 35. Mathews took the next play for 26 yards and five plays later Bobby Gage passed to Martin for 19 more. Cone scored for the second time from the one, and Miller's conversion gave the Southern Conference champs a 14-0 lead.

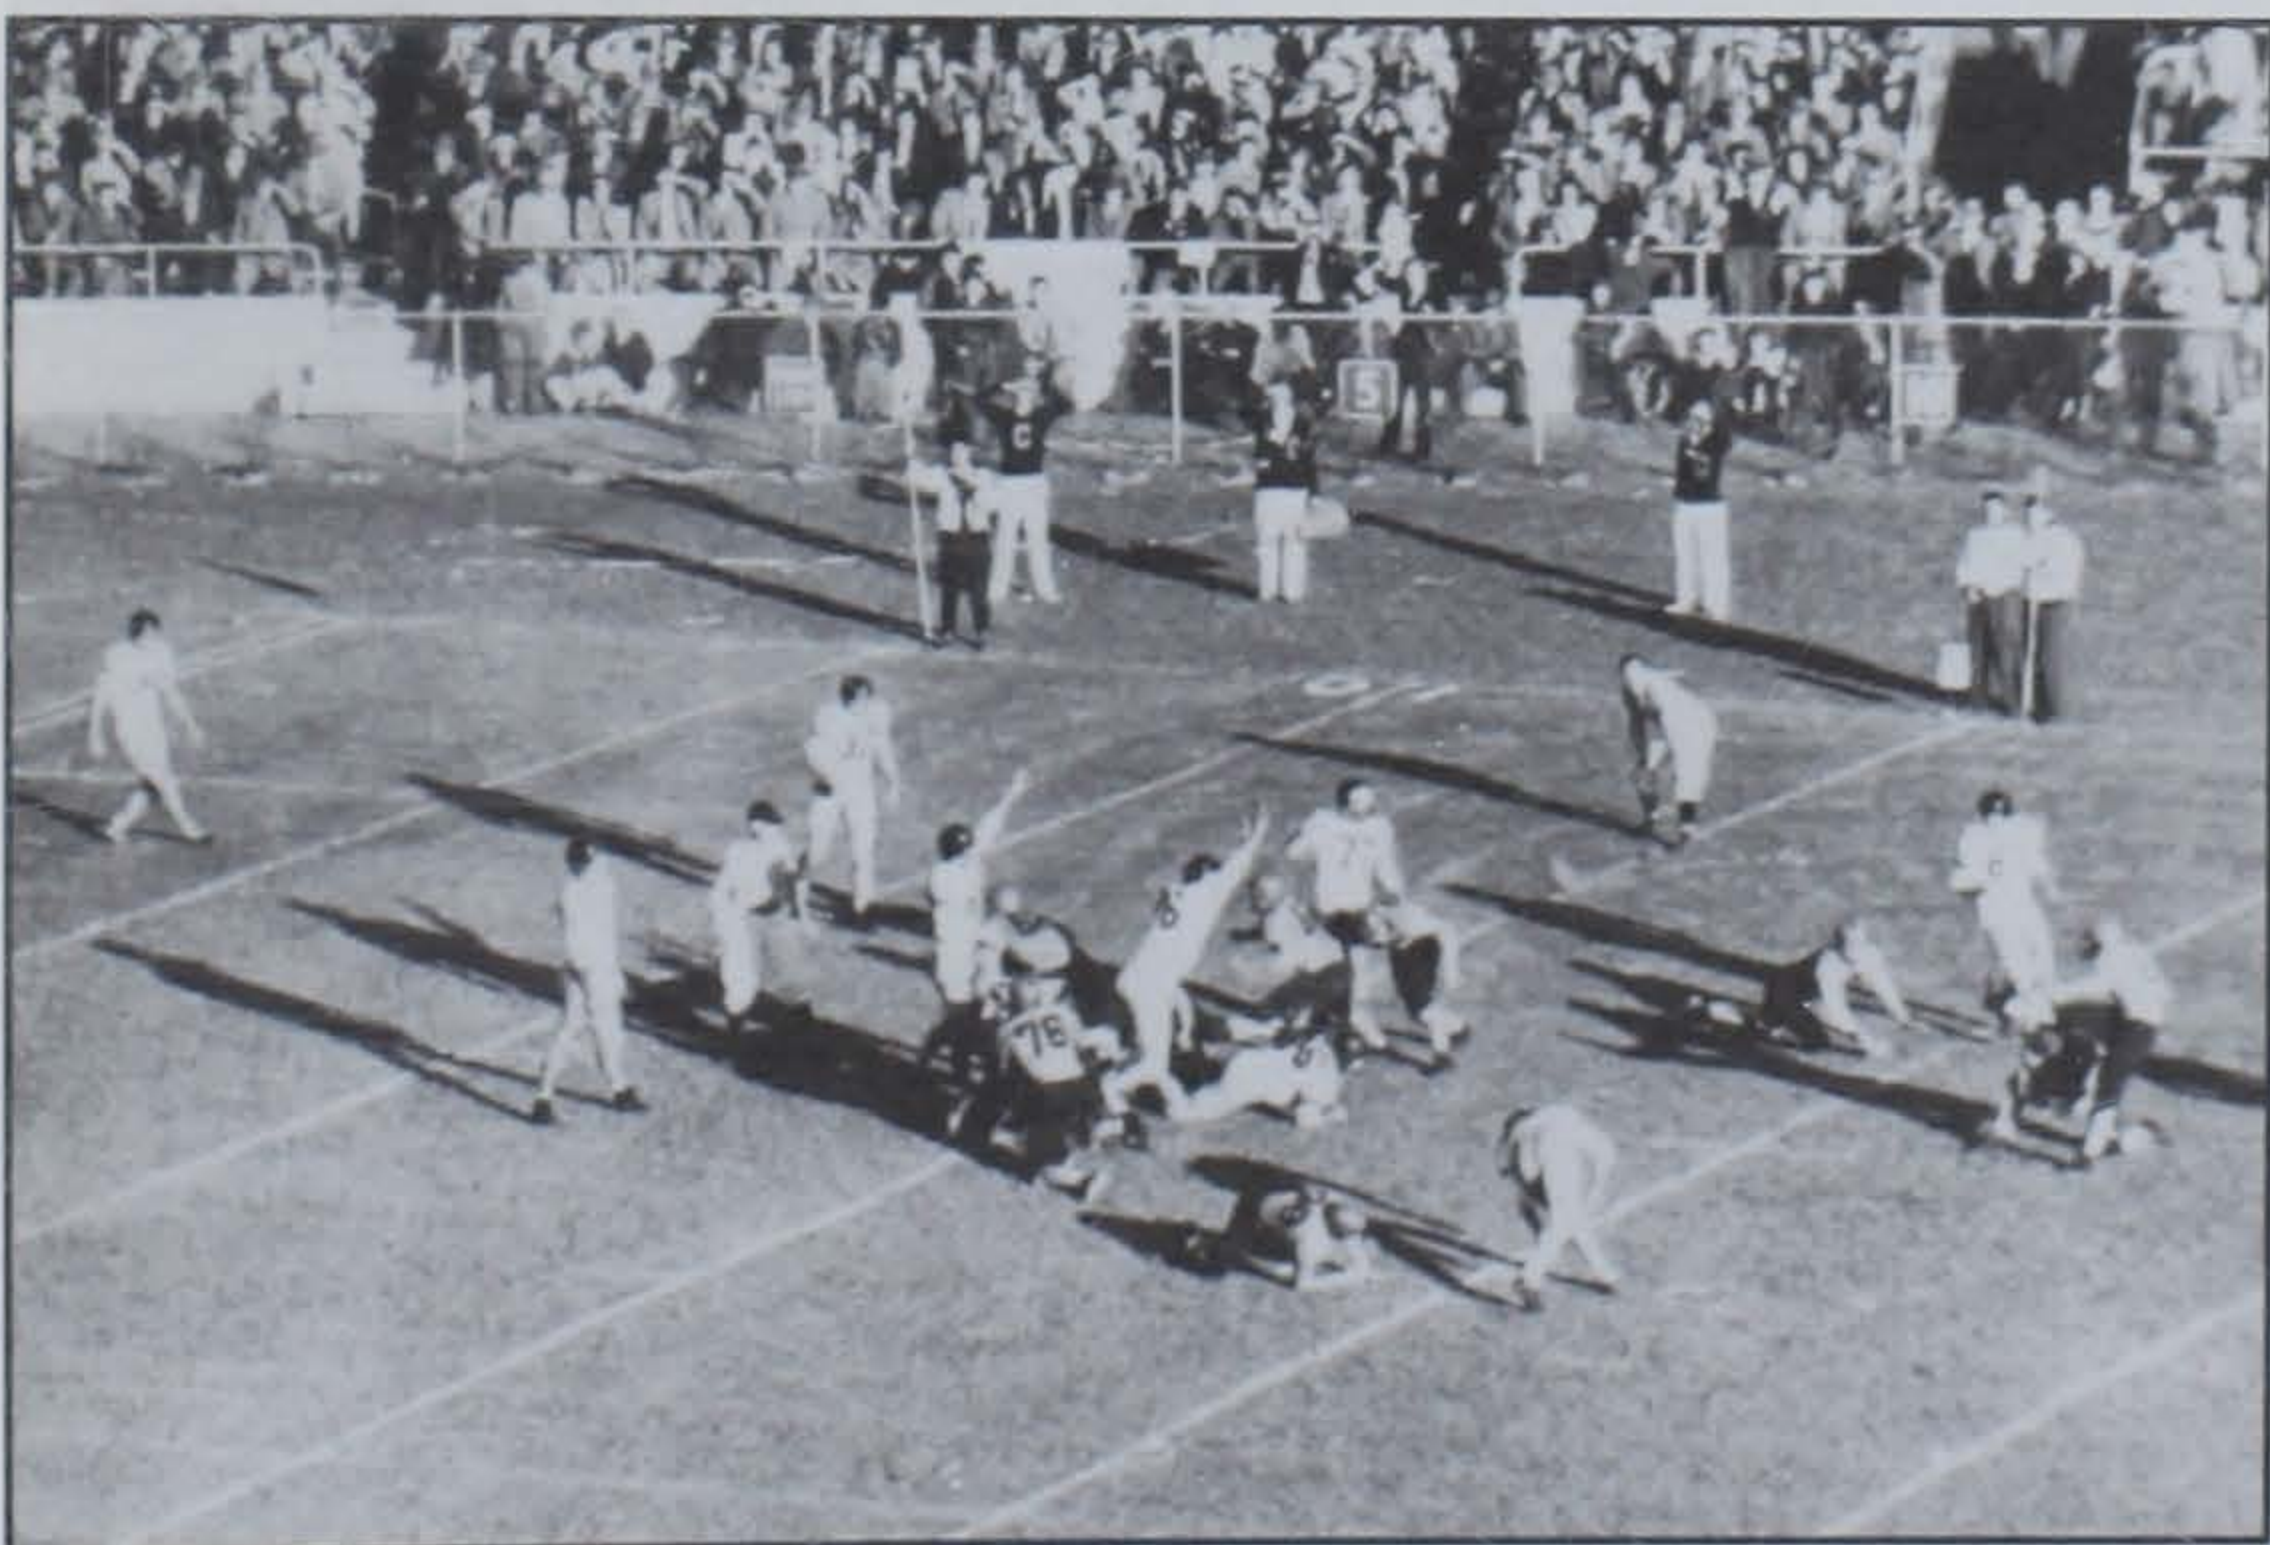

After a kickoff, Missouri launched an 80-yard drive to score its first touchdown. Harold Entsminger capped the 13-play march with a quarterback sneak from the two. Robertson Dawson added the seventh point.

Gage was intercepted on the next Clemson drive and Wilbur Volz returned the theft to the Missouri 46. Missouri kept the ball on the ground and Entsminger carried over from the one for the score. Dawson added his second point after and the game was tied up at 14.

Clemson took the second-half kickoff and used up six minutes of clock on the way to its third touchdown. Gage ran and passed for 19 yards on two separate plays and the Tigers scored on a flea-flicker pass from Cone to Gage to John Poulos in the end zone. Miller completed the 80-yard drive with his third PAT.

A Missouri punt rolled dead at the Clemson one, and after an incomplete pass, Gage threw a pass that hit the ground in the end zone and was ruled a safety. Clemson's lead was then cut to 21-16.

Clemson then launched a 11-play surge to the Missouri 12. With fourth-and-10, Miller kicked a 32-yard field goal that would prove to be the winning points.

Jack Miller won the 1949 Gator Bowl with this 32-yard field goal, his only field goal of the 1948 season.

John Poulos caught a nine-yard TD pass from Bobby Gage, Clemson's only TD of the second half.

Dave Ashley returned the kickoff to the Missouri 40, and seven plays later, halfback Richard Braznell passed to Kenneth Bounds for a 20-yard touchdown. Dawson added the point to bring Missouri within one point with five minutes left. (Two-point conversions were not a part of the game yet). Clemson took the kickoff and ran out the clock to preserve the win.

Clemson's bid for a repeat of the 1948 perfect season ended when the Tigers had to rely on the toe of Charlie Radcliff to tie South Carolina after three season-opening shutouts. Clemson regrouped, however, with a 13-12 win at Wake Forest and then won the remaining four games by convincing margins. The Tigers' 8-0-1 mark and second-place finish in the Southern Conference earned them a bid to play Miami, who was also undefeated at 9-0-1, in the 17th Orange Bowl.

After a scoreless first quarter, Clemson got on track with a 45-yard pass from Billy Hair to Bob Hudson that put the Tigers at the Miami one. Fred Cone capped the 76-yard drive on third down with a sweep for the score and Radcliff tacked on the extra point.

Clemson mounted a six-play, 70-yard drive in the third quarter for its second touchdown. Hair threw a 31-yard pass to Ray Mathews, who, as the papers said, "made a circus catch with two men on his back" to move the Tigers to the Miami 28. Hair tossed a pass to Glenn Smith at the Miami seven and Smith scrambled in for the score. Radcliff's extra point try was blocked.

Miami caught fire two minutes later when Jack Delbello intercepted a pass in the Clemson end zone and returned it to the 40, and then a 10-yard penalty was assessed the Tigers for unnecessary roughness. On the next play, Frank Smith ran a reverse for 45 yards to move to the Clemson five. Harry Mallios took a pitch from quarterback Bob Schneidenbach in for the score and Gordon Watson added the conversion.

Miami went 95 yards in five plays for its second score. Ed Lutes caught a pass at midfield and rambled down to the Clemson 17 before he was stopped. On fourth down, Jack Hackett threw to Frank Smith for the score and Watson's point put Miami in the lead for the first time, 14-13.

Mallios' 80-yard punt return was called back and two clipping infractions and one unnecessary roughness penalty put Miami in a deep hole with six minutes left in the game. Frank Smith took a pitch-out from Hackett, but before Smith could get out of the end zone, Sterling Smith, a second-team defensive guard for Clemson, tripped him up for a safety, and Clemson led 15-14. Don Wade ended the last Miami threat with an interception, his second of the game, and Clemson ran out the clock for the win.

Rarely does a safety win a game, but it happened in the 1951 Orange Bowl. Sterling Smith of Clemson won the game on defense, while Billy Hair hit 9-16 passes for 178 yards to lead the offense.

Miami defensive back Jim Dooley intercepted four passes, still a record for a Clemson opponent, in Miami's win in Jacksonville. Three of the thefts were inside the Miami 20, contributing to the Hurricane shutout.

Clemson won the first three games of the 1951 season as well as the last four. In between, however, the Tigers dropped games to Pacific and South Carolina on the road. The Gator Bowl Committee invited Clemson with its 7-2 record to play Miami (FL) in a rematch of the 1951 Orange Bowl, but the Southern Conference had decided to ban its teams from any bowl competition that season. Clemson and Maryland accepted bowl bids anyway, and were prohibited from playing any other conference team except each other the next year.

The Tigers opened the game with a bang as Billy Hair took Elmer Tremont's kickoff and returned it 72 yards to the Miami 26, but Clemson could only make six yards in four downs and the Tigers turned the ball over.

After an exchange of punts, Miami mounted an 82-yard drive to score the game's first touchdown. The drive was highlighted by quarterback Jack Hackett's only two passes of the game - a 15-yarder to Frank McDonald and a 40-yard throw to Ed Lutes. Two plays later, fullback Harry Mallios took the pitch and ran 11 yards for the score. Tremont added the extra point and Miami led, 7-0.

Miami defensive back Jim Dooley intercepted the first of four passes to kill the Clemson drive at the Miami 15. Clemson got the ball back after a punt, but on fourth down, defensive end Leo Martin blocked Hair's punt at the Clemson 32. Mallios converted twice on fourth down to keep the drive going, and he scored from two yards out. Tremont converted again and Miami had all the points it needed.

The Clemson defense turned stingy in the second half, as the Tigers did not allow Miami to penetrate their 35 and the Hurricanes did not gain another first down. The Clemson offense moved well, but a fumble at the Miami 18 and three Dooley interceptions inside the 20 kept Clemson off the scoreboard as Miami handed the Tigers their first bowl loss in four tries.

With Clemson trailing 20-0 at the half, Frank Howard threatened to quit if his team did not improve. The Tigers stormed back to take a 21-20 lead in the fourth, only to see the Buffs score with 7:13 to go to win the game.

Clemson claimed its first Atlantic Coast Conference championship in 1956 on the strength of a 4-0-1 league mark. The Tigers were 7-1-2 overall and were a surprise choice to participate in the 22nd Orange Bowl, as only three weeks before their selection, the Tigers had been shut out by Miami, 21-0, in the same stadium. Colorado, which was 7-2-1 and the Big-Seven runnerup, was chosen as Clemson's opponent.

After a scoreless first quarter, Colorado got on track with a seven-play, 75-yard drive. The Buffaloes' catalyst was a 26-yard run by Bob Stransky that moved the ball to the Clemson 23. Four plays later, John "The Beast" Bayuk scored from the two. Ellwin Indorf added the point after.

Stransky intercepted an errant Charlie Bussey pass at the Clemson 46 and returned it to the 10 to spark Colorado's second score. Boyd Dowler, who later starred with the Packers, scored from six yards out two plays later. Howard Cook added the conversion and Colorado led 14-0.

Colorado's Frank Clarke partially blocked Horace Turbeville's punt on the next Clemson drive and the Buffaloes recovered on the Clemson 26. Cook then went wide right and scored on the next play, but he missed the extra point.

Clemson came out of the locker room and marched 69 yards in 15 plays to score on Joel Wells's three-yard run. Bussey's extra point try was good.

After a Colorado punt, Clemson moved to the 29 on Bob Spooner's two runs. Three plays later, Wells ran 58 yards on a counter trap off the belly series for the Tigers' second score. Bussey's point after made the score 20-14 Colorado.

Clemson recovered the onside kick, but the Tigers were forced to punt four plays later. Colorado then fumbled at its 11 and Tommy Sease recovered for the Tigers at the 10. Spooner, who had been the workhorse on the first scoring drive, carried the ball over from the one, and with Bussey's third extra point, Clemson led for the first time at 21-20, with 11:22 to go.

Although leading, Bussey attempted a second onside kick. Colorado recovered and marched 53 yards in eight plays to go ahead for good on Bayuk's one-yard plunge. Indorf kicked the extra point and the Buffaloes led, 27-21. The two teams traded turnovers, and Colorado ran out the clock.

Frank Howard's threatened resignation during intermission inspired Clemson's comeback in the second half.

"I told them I was going to resign if they didn't play better in the second half. I told them I didn't want to be associated with any team that played like they did in the first half."

When Howard met Dal Ward, Colorado's Head Coach, at midfield, Ward asked him what was the matter with his team. Howard replied "I just don't know."

Later Howard explained that the Tigers just refused to block in the first half, but in the second half they got down to business. He had words of praise for John Bayuk, Colorado's big fullback, and said he was as good as any fullback that Clemson had faced all year.

1959 Sugar Bowl

South Carolina, who had been shut out by Clemson the previous two years, scored 20 second half points to take a 26-6 win over Frank Howard's 1958 team. The only other blemish on the ACC Champions' 8-2 regular season record was a 13-0 loss at Georgia Tech. For their efforts, the Tigers were invited to play the nation's number-one team, Louisiana State, in the 25th Sugar Bowl.

LSU drove deep into Clemson territory three times in the first half, but two fumbles and a thwarted fake field goal killed the drives. Clemson could do no better, though, as none of its first six drives went past midfield.

Clemson moved to the LSU 27 on its first drive of the second half, but a fumble gave the ball back to the other set of Tigers. On Clemson's next possession, however, LSU got the break it had been looking for. On fourth down, the ball slipped out of snapper Paul Snyder's hands and hit up-man Doug Cline in the leg and Duane Leopard recovered for LSU at the Clemson 11.

LSU picked up two yards on its first three tries, but on fourth down halfback Billy Cannon hit tight end Mickey Mangham in the corner of the end zone for the only score of the game. Cannon kicked the extra point and LSU led 7-0.

Clemson had one last chance late in the fourth quarter. The Tigers started at their 17 and 17 plays later were on the LSU 28, but Harvey White's fourth-down pass to Georgia Usry was incomplete. LSU took over on downs and ran out the clock.

In his usual relaxed way, Coach Frank Howard of Clemson said he was well pleased with his team.

"Hell! I think we'd have beat them if that boy had held onto that little screen pass," Howard said. "I was going for those two points and beat them."

Other than not winning, he said, "I was pretty well pleased with my team."

Howard paid special tribute to Bo Strange.

"I didn't think we would hold them to one touchdown, but I didn't think they would shut us out, either."

"LSU has a good team, they rate the No. 1 spot in the nation.

"Cannon is quite a boy. Deserves his All-American rating."

"It was a wonderful victory. They're just as fine when you win 'em, 7-0 as 30-0. I'm very happy that we won," said LSU Coach Paul Dietzel.

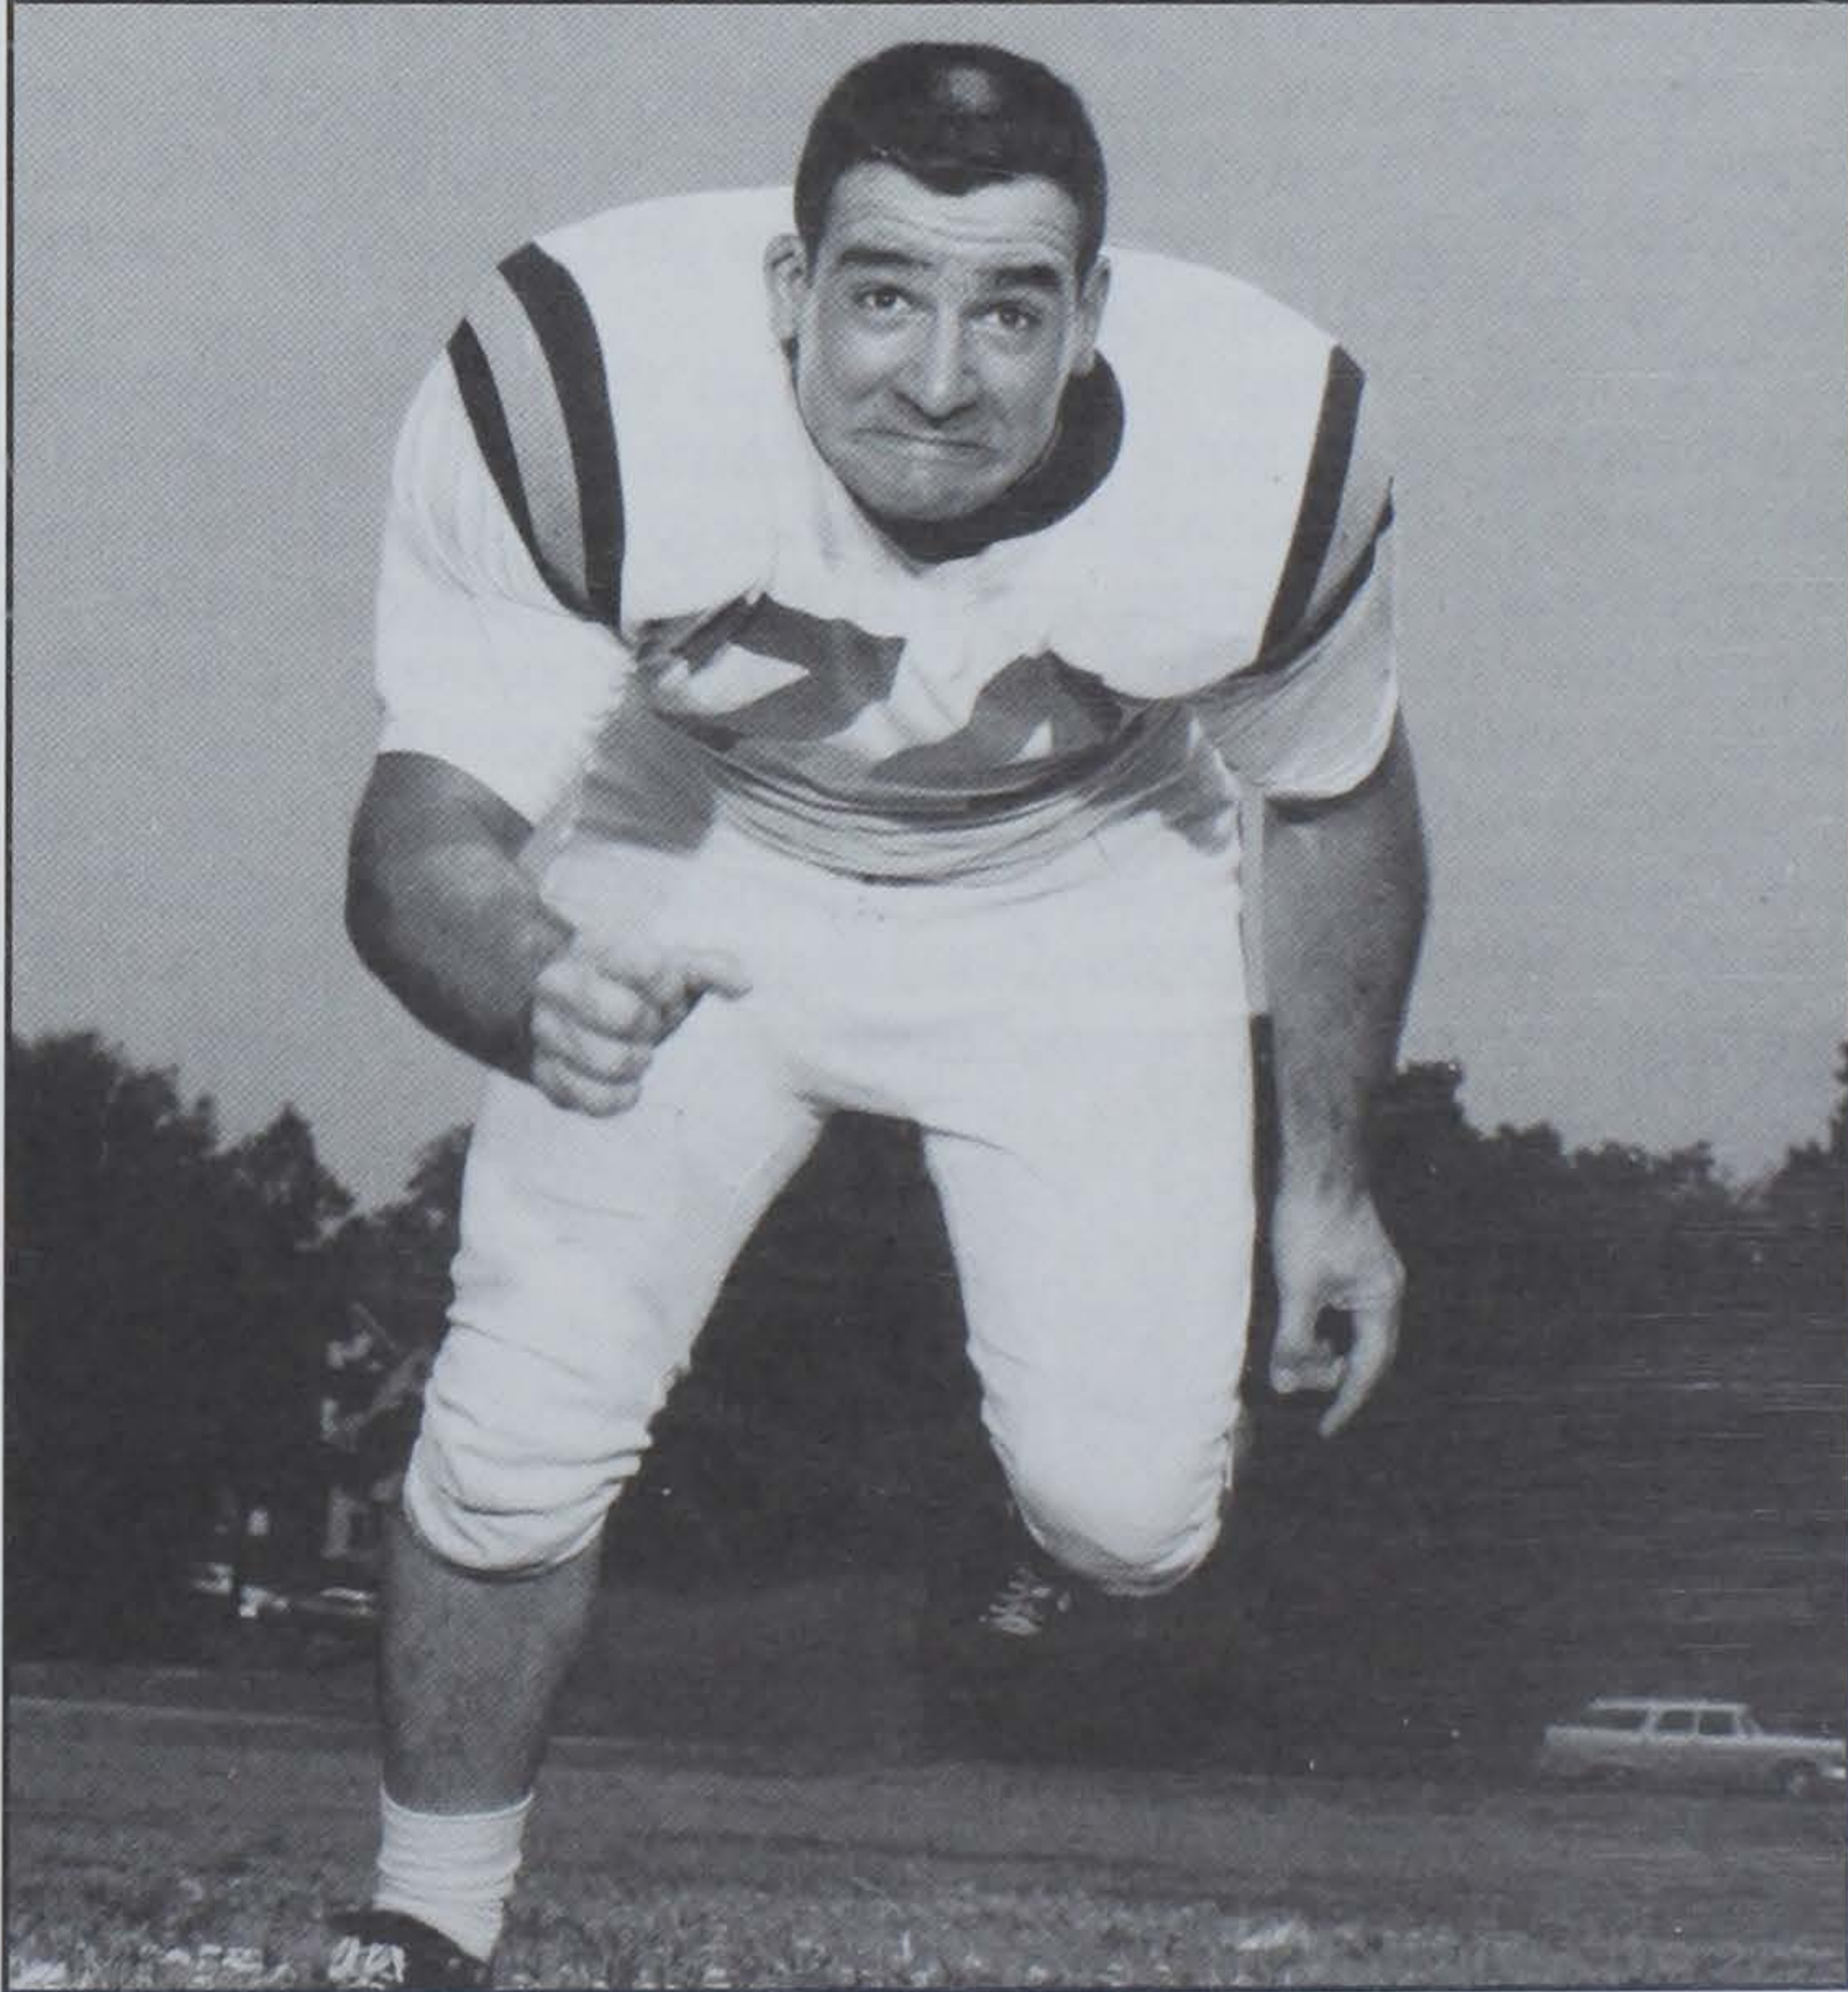

"That was a perfect strike Cannon threw on that pass for the touchdown.

"Losing Rabb hurt us in this respect. He had been working with the White backfield all season, but Durel Matherne, our No. 2 quarterback, did a fine job, though, both on offense and defense.

"Clemson proved tougher than most people figured. But we knew we would have to play at our top peak to beat them. They were a good team."

LSU clinched the national championship with a 7-0 victory over Clemson. A fourth-down halfback option pass from Heisman Trophy winner Billy Cannon did in the Tigers, who were considerable underdogs heading into the game. Seldom has Clemson gained so much respect from a loss.

Clemson hit the 300-mark in terms of victories with the 23-7 win in the first Bluebonnet Bowl. Clemson had to score 20 points in the final period to erase a 7-3 lead by TCU.

The 1959 season was one of firsts, lasts, and other milestones. Clemson won the last "Big Thursday" game with archrival South Carolina, 27-0, one of five opponents the Tigers would whitewash, the second-highest shutout total in a Clemson season. The 9-2 team was Clemson's third ACC Championship unit, and Frank Howard's last bowl team. After the season-ending win over Furman, Clemson was invited to play Texas Christian in the inaugural Bluebonnet Bowl, which would be the Tigers' second post-season appearance in the calendar year of 1959. The 23-7 win over the Horned Frogs was Clemson's 300th football victory.

Alternate quarterback Lowndes Shingler guided Clemson on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the TCU five, but the Tigers stalled. Lon Armstrong hit on a 22-yard field goal as the second quarter started, to put Clemson up, 3-0.

Not to be outdone, TCU second-stringer Donald George moved his team on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the Clemson end zone. The Horned Frogs scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 19-yard halfback pass from Jack Reding to Harry Moreland.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, but Clemson did drive to the TCU 29 midway through the period. Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was just one yard short of the needed first down and TCU took over.

Clemson got pass-happy in the final 15 minutes and scored two touchdowns to put the Tigers ahead. With a third-and-18 situation at the Clemson 32, White threw to end Gary Barnes who caught the ball at midfield and sprinted in for a score. After an interception, Shingler threw to Tommy King coming across the middle for a 23-yard touchdown, but Shingler's point after was wide, and Clemson led, 16-7.

Clemson returned to its running game for its final scoring drive late in the quarter. Shingler, Doug Daigneault, and Ron Scrudato moved the Tigers from their 37 to the TCU one and Scrudato ran off right tackle for the score. Armstrong's kick put the game out of TCU's reach and it capped a 20-point fourth quarter for the Tigers.

1977 Gator Bowl

Pittsburgh
Clemson34

Clemson resurfaced in the national spotlight in 1977 after winning eight games and making its first bowl appearance in 18 years. First-year coach Charley Pell guided his team to a 7-6 win at Georgia, a near-upset of eventual National Champion Notre Dame at home, and had come within an extra point of claiming the ACC Championship. After Jerry Butler's twisting, diving catch in the end zone beat South Carolina, Clemson accepted the invitation to play defending National Champion Pittsburgh in the 33rd annual Gator Bowl.

Clemson won the opening coin toss, but that was to be the only thing the Tigers would win that night as the Matt Cavanaugh-led Panthers scored six of the 12 times they had the ball, set seven Gator Bowl records, and handed the Tigers one of their 25 worst defeats in history with a 34-3 score.

Cavanaugh threw four touchdown passes (three to fullback Elliott Walker), passed for a Clemson opponent record 387 yards and accounted for 402 yards in total offense. Pitt set a Gator team record for passing yards and first downs, while Cavanaugh set the individual mark for passing yardage. If that was not enough, the Pitt defense stymied the Clemson offense all night by keeping Steve Fuller & Company bottled up or causing turnovers when the Tigers' offense did get on track.

Pitt was leading 17-0 when the Tigers began their only scoring drive early in the second quarter. Fuller mixed passes to Anthony King and Butler with runs by Ken Callicutt to move to the Pitt 32. The drive bogged down and Obed Ariri hit on a 49-yard field goal which set the Gator Bowl record for distance.

Although the Tigers were out-classed by Pittsburgh, the 1977 appearance in the Gator Bowl was the start of a new era of football pride for Clemson.

Ariri set the Gator Bowl field goal record, but it was the only bright spot for the Tigers.

Matt Cavanaugh passed for 387 yards, still the best performance ever against Clemson, in Pittsburgh's victory. It was Clemson's first bowl game in 18 years. Randy Scott and Mark Heniford had 13 stops apiece for Clemson's defense.

1978 Gator Bowl

Ohio State	15

Danny Ford won his first game as a head coach and Woody Hayes lost his last contest in Clemson's 17-15 win. Cliff Austin, a freshman who had scored just three TDs all year, scored the game winner for the Tigers.

The Clemson team of 1978 was notable for many reasons, and not the least of which was a 17-15 victory over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl. The '78 team won 11 games (eight by convincing margins), had the nation's longest winning streak after the bowl game, changed head coaches 19 days before the Gator Bowl, and ended the coaching career of Woody Hayes.

The first quarter of new Clemson coach Danny Ford's first game was scoreless, although Ohio State had been stopped at the Clemson one-yard line on a fourth down play.

The second quarter was unusual in that there were four possessions in the stanza and each team scored twice. Ohio State drove to the Clemson nine on the passing of Art Schlichter, but the Buckeyes had to settle for Bob Atha's 27-yard field goal.

Clemson quarterback Steve Fuller engineered an impressive 80-yard, 15-play drive after the kickoff. Staying mostly on the ground, Fuller himself ran around left end from four yards out to give Clemson the lead. Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-3.

Schlichter duplicated Fuller's feat nine plays later, but Clemson right end Steve Gibbs blocked Vlade Janakiewski's extra point try, leaving Ohio State in the lead, 9-7.

Clemson got the ball back with 1:15 remaining in the quarter and Fuller passed his way to the Buckeye 30. With only five seconds left, Ariri hit a 47-yard field goal that gave the Tigers a 10-9 lead at halftime.

Clemson scored the only points of the third quarter as the running combination of Fuller, Marvin Sims, and Warren Ratchford ground out 83 yards in 18 plays. Cliff Austin went the final yard for the score, and Ariri's conversion gave Clemson a 17-9 cushion.

With 8:11 left in the game, Schlichter scored his second touchdown to bring Ohio State within two points. Jim Stuckey tackled Schlichter on a sweep to prevent the two-point play, and Clemson still led at 17-15.

Ohio State mounted one final drive. Faced with third-and-five at the Clemson 24, an interception by second-team middle guard Charlie Bauman (the only theft of his four-year career) killed the drive. Bauman was run out-of-bounds on the Ohio State sideline, and Buckeye coach Woody Hayes swung at the Clemson player. Consecutive unsportsmanlike conduct penalties gave Clemson excellent field position, and Fuller was able to run out the clock, giving Clemson its first win over a Big Ten team.

Willie Underwood made this stop on Baylor's Walter Abercrombie. Future pros Terry Kinard (43), Jeff Davis (45) and Jeff Bryant (98), joined Rex Varn (13) to help with the tackle.

Clemson made its third consecutive bowl appearance in 1979 after an 8-3 season. The year included a 19-10 win over Gator Bowl-bound North Carolina and a dramatic, come-from-behind 16-10 victory at Notre Dame. The 1979 season was also Danny Ford's first full campaign as head coach.

The Tigers got on the board first with an eight-play, 66-yard drive highlighted by Billy Lott's 27-yard pass to Lester Brown. Brown scored two plays later on a one-yard dive over the middle and Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-0 midway through the first period.

Baylor took the lead on two second-quarter touchdown passes from Mike Brannon to Bo Taylor and Robert Holt. Robert Bledsoe converted after both scores and the Southwest Conference representatives led 14-7 at intermission.

Clemson took the second half kickoff and a combination of runs by Lott, Brown, and Tracy Perry took the Tigers to the Baylor 22. The drive stalled there and Ariri's 40-yard field goal narrowed the margin to 14-10.

Quarterback Mickey Elam led Baylor on a 64-yard field goal drive after the kickoff, and he later threw a seven-yard touchdown to Raymond Cockrell to push the Bears' lead to 24-10.

Mike Singletary (future All-Pro with the Chicago Bears), led the Baylor defense with 20 tackles. He was a major reason Clemson gained a season low 67 yards rushing in 51 attempts.

Andy Headen began Clemson's furious comeback with a blocked punt that was recovered by James Robinson at the Baylor one. Chuck McSwain scored with 20 seconds left in the game and Lott passed to Jeff McCall for the two-point conversion. Headen recovered the ensuing onside kick, and Lott completed a 30-yard pass to Perry Tuttle to move the Tigers to the Baylor 33. An interception killed the winning touchdown drive, however, and Baylor ran out the remaining seconds for the win.

1982 Orange Bowl

Nebraska22

Clemson claimed its first ever national title in any sport with a 22-15 win over Nebraska. Homer Jordan was the offensive MVP, while Jeff Davis, playing in his final game at Clemson, was the defensive MVP.

After 86 years of playing football, Clemson claimed its first National Championship with a 22-15 win over perennial Big Eight power Nebraska in the 48th Orange Bowl. After a 13-3 win over 1980 National Champion Georgia at home, the Tigers worked their way to the number-one ranking in both wire service polls by season's end. The win over the Cornhuskers gave Clemson the national title and its third perfect season in history.

Nebraska took the kickoff, but three plays later, Tiger middle guard William Devane recovered a Mark Mauer fumble at the Nebraska 33. Quarterback Homer Jordan drove Clemson to the Nebraska 27 before the drive stalled, and Donald Igwebuike drilled a 41-yard field goal to put the ACC Champions up, 3-0.

Nebraska came right back, however, as the Big Eight title holder drove 69 yards in eight plays to score on a 25-yard halfback pass from Mike Rozier to Anthony Steels. Kevin Seibel's extra point gave Nebraska the lead at 7-3 with 6:43 to go in the first quarter.

After an exchange of punts, the Clemson offense moved from the Nebraska 42 to the 21 to set up Igwebuike's second field goal. The 37-yard boot narrowed the score to 7-6.

A second-quarter Phil Bates fumble gave Clemson the ball at the Nebraska 27, and the running combination of Jordan, Kevin Mack, and Cliff Austin moved the ball to the Cornhusker two. Austin, who had been stuck in the hotel elevator for two hours earlier in the day, scampered in for the score that gave Clemson a lead it would not relinquish.

On its second possession of the second half, Clemson drove 75 yards in 12 plays to score its final touchdown of the night, a 13-yard pass from Jordan to All-American receiver Perry Tuttle in the corner of the end zone. For Tuttle, it was his eighth touchdown grab of the season, which set a school record. Bob Paulling's extra point put the Tigers ahead, 19-7.

After Billy Davis's 47-yard punt return, Jordan moved the Tigers to the Nebraska 20, where Igwebuike kicked a 36-yard field goal, his third of the evening, to put Clemson ahead 22-7 with two-and-a-half minutes left in the third stanza.

Nebraska was down but not out, though. After a near-interception by Johnny Rembert, Mauer engineered an eight-play, 69-yard drive that was capped by a 26-yard run by Roger Craig. After a penalty, Craig ran in the two-point conversion from eight yards out to close the gap to 22-15 with nine minutes to play.

The Clemson defense shut down the Big Red on their final extended drive and the offense held on to the ball for nearly five-and-a-half minutes to run down the clock to six seconds. Andy Headen deflected Mauer's desperation pass to preserve the win and the championship for Clemson.

Ricky Foggie, a native of Laurens, SC, led Minnesota to a 20-13 victory over Clemson. Kenny Flowers gained a Tiger Bowl game record 148 yards rushing, while Foggie rushed for 60 yards and passed for 123 more.

Clemson met a Big 10 school for only the second time in history when it faced Minnesota in the Independence Bowl. It was an interesting matchup of teams that enjoyed moving the ball on the ground, as both clubs gained over 200 rushing yards in the contest. The team with the higher rushing total prevailed, a fact that was easily predictable, as the Gophers churned out 257 yards rushing in a 20-13 Minnesota win.

Clemson held a 13-10 lead heading into the fourth quarter, but for the fifth time in the last 13 games the Tigers could not hold the fourth-period lead. Valdez Baylor scored on a one-yard run with 4:56 left to give Minnesota a final ledger of 7-5. Clemson mounted a final drive in the last few minutes and advanced to the Minnesota 31, but a fourth-down pass for Ray Williams was overthrown.

Kenny Flowers had another outstanding day for the Tigers with a career high 148 yards, including a 32-yard run. It was his seventh 100-yard day of the year, his sixth century game in the last seven contests. Ray Williams caught five passes for 58 yards, while Terrance Roulhac had 63 yards in receptions and 90 yards in kickoff returns. Another wide receiver, Keith Jennings, scored Clemson's only touchdown when he caught a three-yard pass from Stacey Driver in the third period.

Henry Walls led Clemson defensively with 13 tackles, while A.J. Johnson was outstanding in the secondary with seven stops. Dwayne Meadows established a new career high with 13 stops from his defensive line position.

Stanford	21

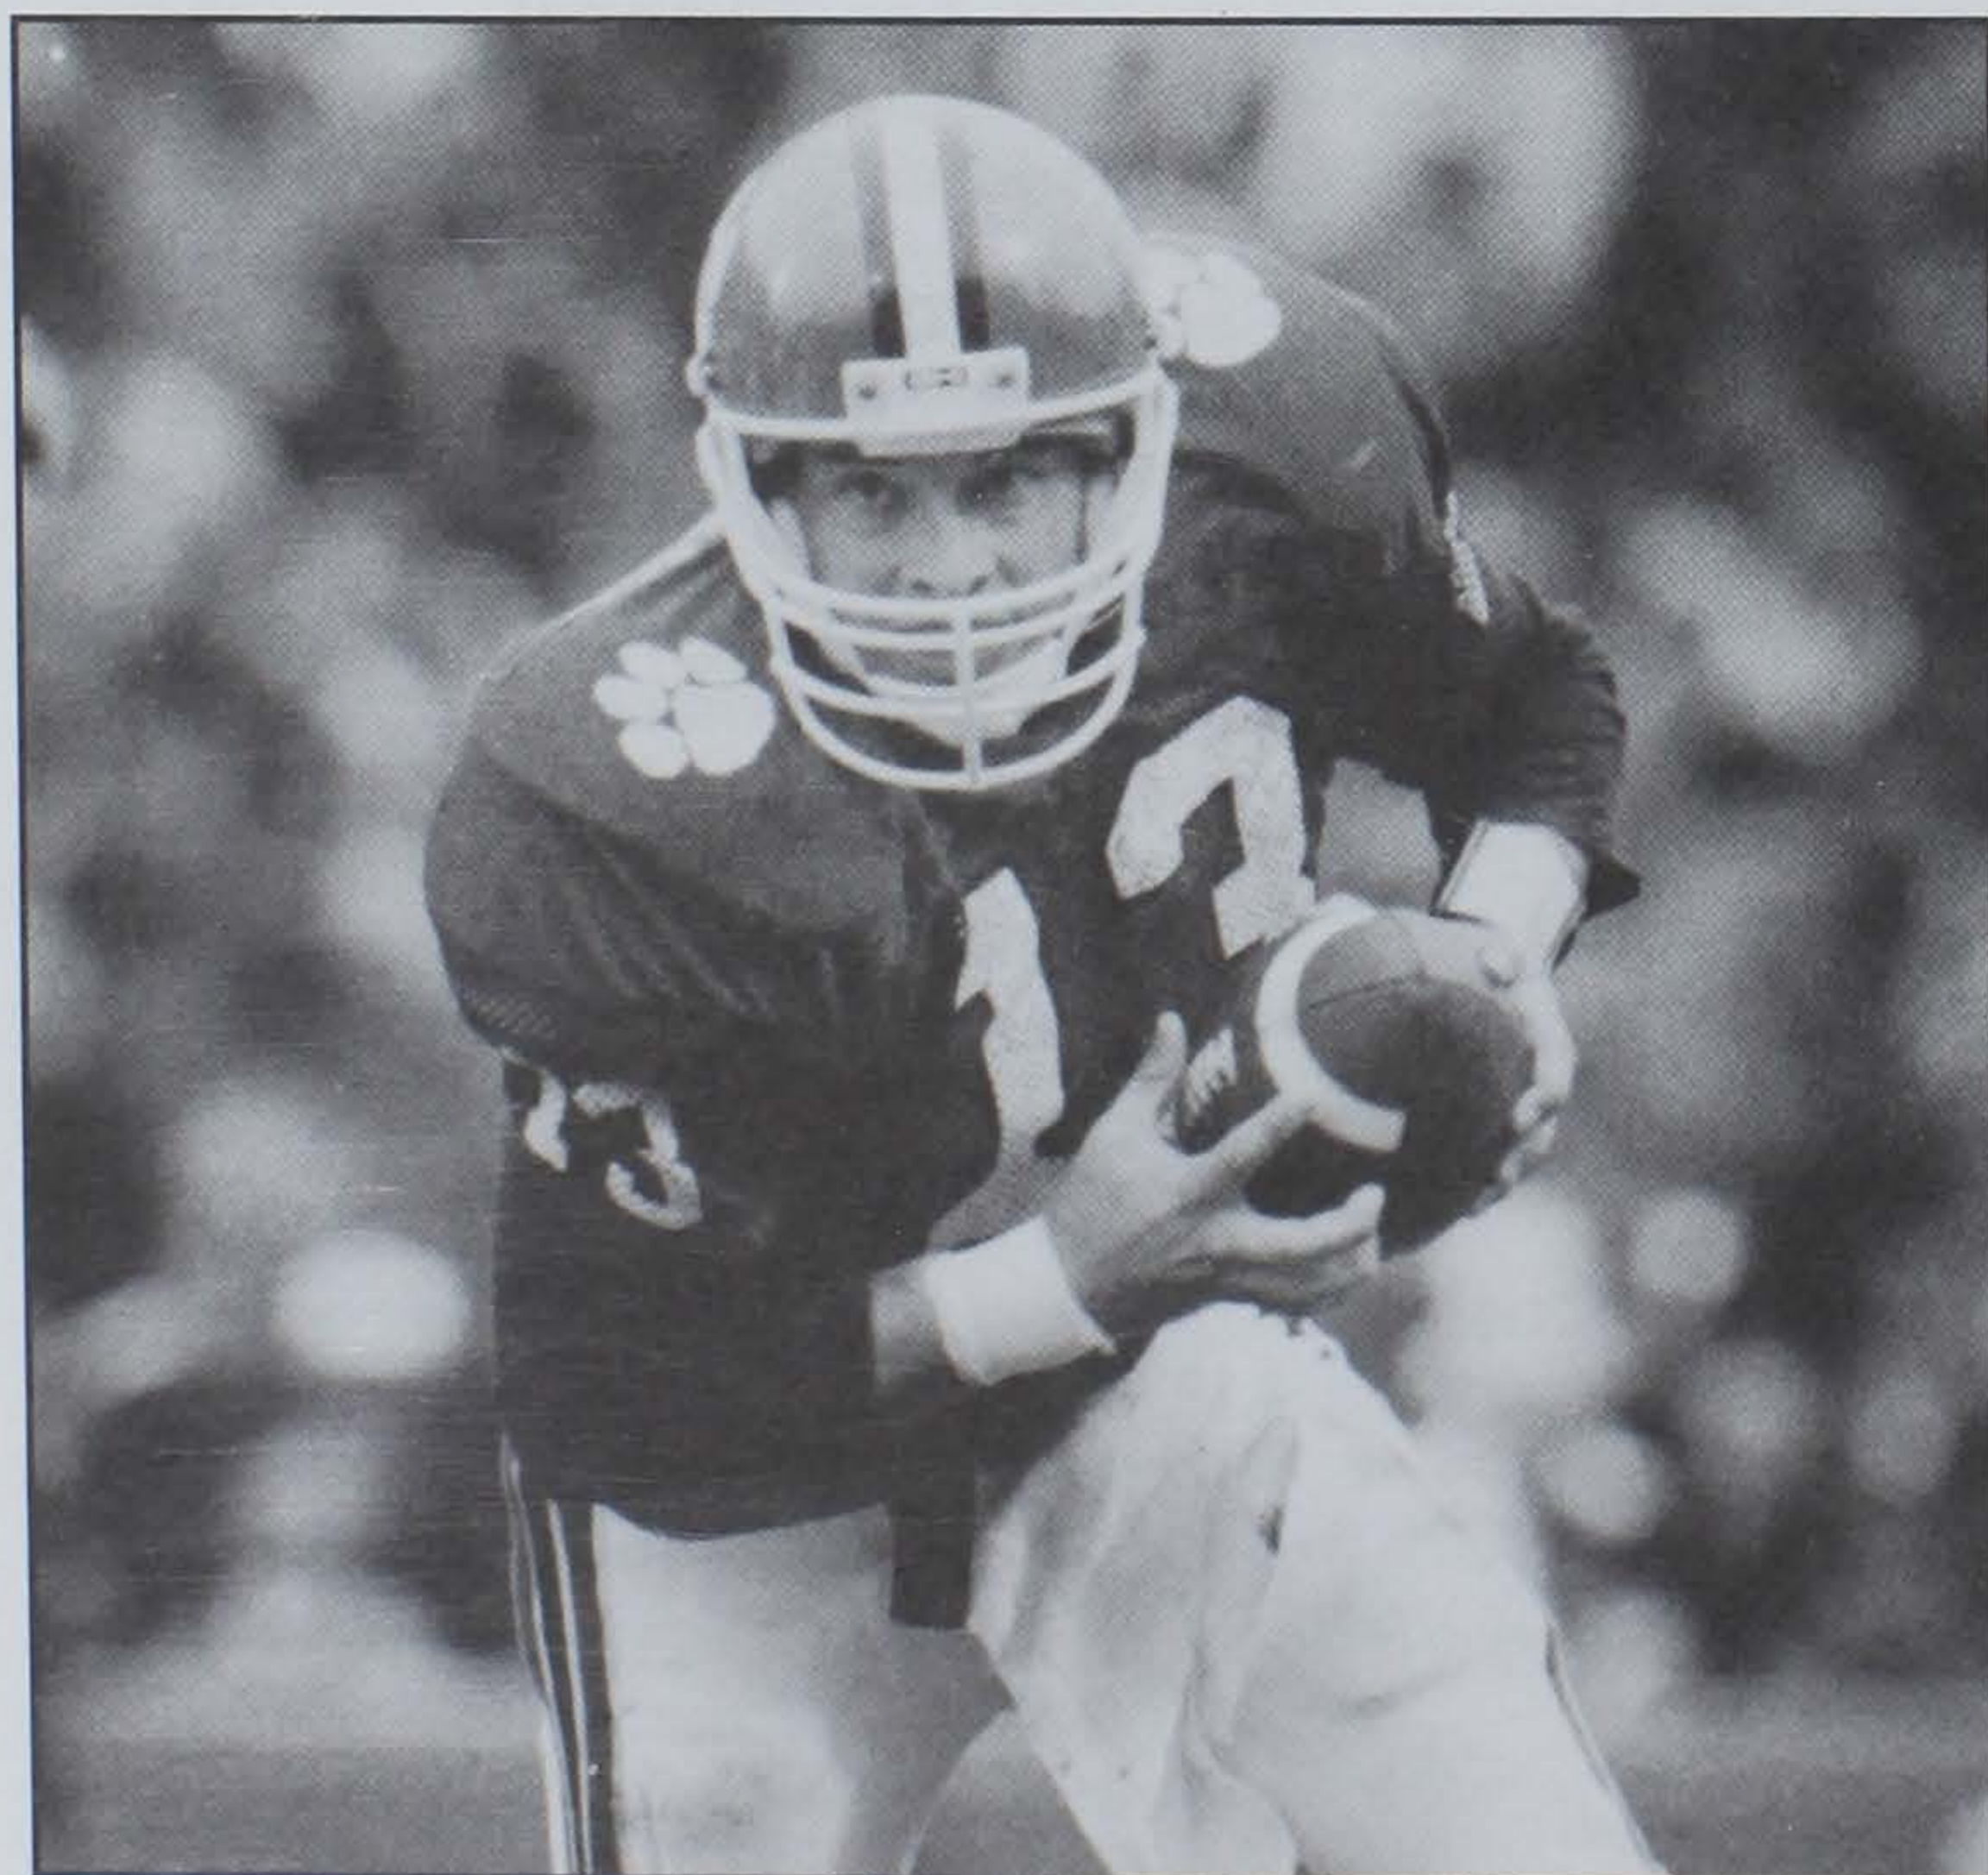

Christmas came two days late for the Tigers as they won their first bowl since the 1982 Orange Bowl. After a brilliant first half display of offense and defense, Clemson managed to hold off a second-half Stanford rally and go on to defeat the 17th-ranked Cardinal, 27-21. Before a Gator Bowl crowd of 80,104, the Tigers scored 27 unanswered points in the first half and appeared to be on the way to a rout. But the second half was a different ball game as Stanford came out strong and put up 21 unanswered points of its own.

Gator Bowl MVP Rodney Williams completed 8 of 11 passes in the first half for the Tigers, but it was his execution of the option that helped Clemson gain a 27-0 halftime lead. After punting on their first possession, the Tigers scored on their next five. With the score 17-0 in the second quarter, Reggie Harris knocked the ball loose on a Stanford kickoff return and the Tigers recovered on Stanford's 16-yard line. Two plays later, Ray Williams took a reverse in for a 14 yard touchdown, his first of the season. David Treadwell added his longest field goal of the year on Clemson's next possession, putting the Tigers up 27-0 at the intermission.

But the Cardinal came back from halftime a different team. Kodak All-American tailback Brad Muster rushed for a touchdown and caught two scoring passes while the Clemson offense came to a standstill. With 1:43 left to play in the game Clemson was forced to punt to the Cardinal with only a touchdown's lead. But the Tiger defense rose to the occasion, as Stanford gained only six yards on the next four downs. The offense fell on the ball to run the clock out and the Tigers emerged victorious.

Tailbacks Terrence Flagler and Kenny Flowers combined for 149 yards. Sophomore Ricardo Hooper led the receiving corps with two catches for 44 yards. Terrance Roulhac and Flagler each had three catches with 22 and 23 yards, respectively. Rodney Williams rushed 16 times for 18 yards and one touchdown.

Defensively, the Tigers were led by linebacker Henry Carter who recorded a career high 13 tackles. Gene Beasley added seven tackles and broke up two passes. The game also marked Michael Dean Perry's offensive debut, as he was put in as a blocking back on a goal-line situation in the first half.

Rodney Williams was the MVP of Clemson's win over Stanford in the 1986 Gator Bowl.

Rodney Williams was the MVP of Clemson's Gator Bowl win over Stanford. The Tigers scored 27 points in the first half, then held off three second-half TDs by Brad Muster.

1988 Citrus Bowl

Penn State	10

Everything went the Tigers way in sunny Florida as Clemson soundly defeated Joe Paterno's Penn State team, 35-10. Rodney Williams was selected the Citrus Bowl's Most Valuable Player as he led the Tigers in a brilliant air attack that took the Nittany Lions by complete surprise, and complemented it with a solid ground game.

The win was Danny Ford's fourth bowl victory in only nine seasons as Clemson's head coach. It also marked Rodney Williams' second bowl victory in his three-year playing career at Clemson and the second consecutive year that he was named the MVP of a postseason bowl. In 1986, Williams won the honor as the Tigers defeated Stanford in the Gator Bowl.

Williams, who was also named the Offensive Player-of-the-Game, completed 14 of 24 passes for 214 yards. His primary target was wide receiver Keith Jennings who hauled in seven passes for 110 yards, his best career performance. Gary Cooper also had four receptions for 56 yards against Penn State.

The Tigers rushed for 185 yards against Penn State. Terry Allen was the leading rusher with 105 yards and one touchdown. Fullback Tracy Johnson ran for 88 yards and three touchdowns. Joe Henderson added 54 yards and another touchdown.

Defensively, Clemson was led by cornerback James Lott's eight tackles. Safety Richard Smith also had seven tackles and one pass broken up. Strong safety Gene Beasley and linebacker Doug Brewster both had six tackles. Linebacker Dorian Mariable was selected the Citrus Bowl's Defensive Player-of-the-Game with his five tackles, including one for a loss. He also intercepted a pass in the endzone and returned it 46 yards in the third quarter.

1989 Citrus Bowl

Oklahoma	6

Clemson downed Oklahoma in a battle of two of the top five winningest active coaches in college football. Jesse Hatcher made his final game as a Tiger memorable with nine tackles, two PBUs, an 18-yard sack, and a caused fumble.

The Tigers rang in the New Year in fine fashion with a 13-6 victory over the Oklahoma Sooners, moving into the top-10 of the final AP poll for the first time since 1982 with a ninth-place ranking. The victory also gave Danny Ford a victory over the winningest active coach in Division I, Barry Switzer. Ford defeated the top-three winningest active coaches in the decade of the eighties with wins over Switzer, Tom Osborne of Nebraska and Joe Paterno of Penn State.

Although the Tigers faced a wishbone offense for the first time since Ford became head coach, the Clemson defense came through with flying colors, holding the Sooners to only 116 yards, and zero touchdowns.

The first five series of the first quarter ended in punts for both teams. Late in the period, the Sooners drove down to the Clemson one-yardline, and the Tigers defense faced a first-and-goal situation. Outside linebacker Levon Kirkland stopped the ballcarrier for no gain on first down. On second down Jesse Hatcher sacked Jamelle Holieway at the 19. After an incomplete pass, the Sooners were forced to settle on a field goal and moved up 3-0.

Doug Brewster intercepted a Holieway pass early in the second quarter to set up the Tigers' first score, a 20-yard field goal by Chris Gardocki. With time running out in the first half, Gardocki put the Tigers up with another kick, this time a 46-yarder.

A Clemson fumble in the third quarter gave the Sooners the opportunity to take the lead, but the Clemson defense held and R.D. Lashar hit again from 30 yards. The Tigers responded on the next series, driving 80 yards in 15 plays for the game's only touchdown, as Terry Allen scored on a four-yard run. Allen, the game's Most Valuable Player, rushed for 25 yards and caught two passes for 17 yards on the drive.

Defensive MVP Jesse Hatcher caused and recovered a fumble on the Sooners' next drive, but the Sooners would have one more opportunity to score before the final horn sounded. After the Tigers punted, Oklahoma drove from its own 20 to the Clemson 14, as Holieway put the Tiger secondary to the test by putting the ball in the air. On the last play of the game, freshman Dexter Davis knocked down a pass in the endzone to seal the Tiger victory.

Terry Allen was named the Citrus Bowl MVP for his performance. Allen rushed for only 53 yards, his season low, but scored the game's only touchdown and caught four passes to lead all Clemson receivers. Bandit end Jesse Hatcher was named Defensive MVP for what was his best career performance as he racked up nine tackles, had two tackles for a loss of 33 yards, including an 18-yard sack, broke up two passes, caused and recovered a fumble, and had four quarterback pressures.

1989 Gator Bowl

West Virginia	7

Clemson allowed Major Harris and West Virginia just 237 yards total offense in a 27-7 victory. Clemson's defense forced three Harris fumbles in the second half, and had four sacks.

The Tigers closed out the 1989 season with a stylish victory over West Virginia and Heisman Trophy finalist Major Harris, as a dominant Clemson defense held the high-powered Mountaineer offense to only 237 yards in total offense. The win gave Clemson's senior class the ACC record for victories as they became the first class in conference history to record 38 wins and the first Clemson team ever to win four straight bowl games.

WVU quarterback Major Harris came into the game ranked eighth nationally in total offense and ninth in passing efficiency but the Clemson defense, led by outside linebacker Levon Kirkland, enabled the shifty Harris to gain only 17 yards on the ground and 119 yards in the air on an 11-21 passing effort. Kirkland was named MVP for his efforts, as he had nine tackles, a five-yard sack, caused a key fumble, broke up a Mountaineer pass, and recorded three quarterback pressures.

The fourth quarter was all Clemson, as the Tigers moved the ball 47 yards on the ground to set up a four-yard Joe Henderson touchdown. Vince Taylor recovered a second Harris fumble and after a Clemson punt, freshman defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, the ACC sack leader, knocked the ball loose from Harris once again and fell on it in the endzone for a Tiger touchdown, upping the score to 24-7 in favor of Clemson. As the final seconds ticked off the clock, DeChane Cameron came in at quarterback for the Tigers and hit Rodney Fletcher over the middle for a 34-yard gain to set up a 24-yard Gardocki field goal, putting the final score at 27-7.

John Johnson and the Clemson defense were superb after the opening Mountaineer drive. West Virginia gained just 141 yards in total offense over the last three periods.

Senior tailback Joe Henderson led the Tigers in rushing with 92 yards on 22 carries and one touchdown, while Chris Morocco, who was shaken up late in the game, gained 65 yards on 11 carries. Rodney Fletcher was the leading receiver as he pulled down three catches for 66 yards.

Chris Gardocki kept the Tigers in excellent field position as he posted a 46-yard average on four punts, including a long kick of 63 yards. Defensively, inside linebacker Doug Brewster led the team in tackles with 10, followed by Kirkland's nine and strong safety Arlington Nunn and inside linebacker Ed McDaniel, who had seven stops each.

1991 Hall of Fame Bowl

Clemson

Clemson scored 24 points in the first 21 minutes in registering its largest margin of victory ever in a bowl game. DeChane Cameron hit 14 of 19 passes and Arlington Nunn had his third interception return for a TD in 1990.

After a separation of 22 years, two coaches found themselves once again on the same football field. This time, however, they were on opposite sidelines. Ken Hatfield and John Mackovic, who had been graduate assistants together at Army in the 1960's, were reunited in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl. But this game was much more than a reunion. Both head coaches were looking for a first win over the opposing team and Ken Hatfield was hoping to maintain Clemson's four-game bowl winning streak.

The Clemson defense dominated the line by holding Illinois to 247 yards, 150 yards under their season average. The Clemson offense surprised the Illini defense with an unexpected aerial assault. Tiger quarterback and game MVP DeChane Cameron, who was less than a 50 percent passer in the regular season, completed 14 of 19 passes for a Hall of Fame Bowl record 73 percent.

Cameron's passing yardage totalled 141 yards and he completed TD passes to Doug Thomas and Howard Hall. It was the first TD reception for both players in their respective careers. Thomas caught five passes on the day for 57 yards, career highs for both categories for the senior in his last game as a Tiger.

Clemson took its opening possession 71 yards to the Illinois two where Chris Gardocki tapped in an easy three. After Illinois fumbled on its first offensive play of the game, Clemson scored a touchdown with a 14-yard pass from Cameron to Thomas. Clemson had not scored a passing touchdown in any of its four previous bowl victories.

In the second quarter, the Tigers would score two more touchdowns. The first was the result of a 17-yard Cameron pass to fullback Howard Hall. It was just the third TD pass to a Clemson fullback in the last 18 years. Clemson then put the contest out of reach just three plays later when Arlington Nunn scored on a 34-yard interception return. It was the senior's third TD on an interception return in 1990, a Clemson record. It was especially gratifying for the Tiger senior playing his last game at Clemson because Nunn is a native of nearby Clearwater, FL.

The Clemson defense continued to hold Illinois throughout the remainder of the game. John Johnson led the Tiger pass defense as he picked up two sacks to lead a Clemson point prevention unit that had five sacks on the day. Illinois reached the Clemson eighty-yard line in the fourth quarter, but the Tiger defense forced a fumble which Ed McDaniel picked up. Illinois had the ball in Clemson

The Clemson defense earned its third shutout of the year. This was the first shutout at a Hall of Fame Bowl game and Clemson's third bowl shutout in 17 bowl appearances. The 30-0 triumph was a Tiger record for victory margin in a bowl game.

Clemson defeated South Carolina, 6-0, at the state fairgrounds in 1909. Looks like a lot of good seats are available, but those vacant seats are in the endzone (notice wooden goalposts). The two teams had not played in seven years prior to the 1909 game. The Tigers and Gamecocks have met every year since this 1909 game.

Riggs Field, Clemson's football home, 1915-42, was dedicated on October 2, 1915. This is the current site of Clemson's soccer stadium, which obviously now holds more for soccer than it held for football in 1915. Also, notice the prime parking locations just five yards from the sideline.

George Floyd and Billy Poe brought smiles to Frank Howard's face in the forties. Floyd ran 50 yards for a score against Presbyterian in 1940 on Howard's first play from scrimmage as head coach. Poe averaged 7.2 yards a rush in 1945, still a Clemson record.
